What a difference a little moisture makes

If some of you haven't had rain yet, I apologize for writing this column. For those of us fortunate people who have received some of the much needed and welcomed moisture, things have changed!

While a few inches of moisture didn't cause any crops to "make", grow any hay immediately, or revive any trees that have died, it made a world of difference to the things that have survived...including the human race!

In only a few days roadsides that were brown are green. The ubiquitous dallis grass is sending up its stems for almost the first time this year, and yards that looked frost-killed are greening at a remarkable rate.

Trees that looked limp and miserable look perky and (I don't know how they can but they do) relieved!

The film of dust that dulled everything was washed away so that the light seems clearer and objects seem sharper and greener than before.

Crepes myrtles which have barely bloomed have burst within a few days into glorious color, and even a few wildflowers have popped out.

But the biggest change may be in the human race. Have you noticed it?

People who were grim and miserable, folks were hot and irritable, are smiling and much more relaxed.

Kids are running and playing more happily, parents are not as quick to snap at them.

And in conducting business and personal relations, I do believe I notice a change. Folks smile and mention the rain. They point out the fact that hopefully the hottest part of the year is now behind, and it may not go to 100 plus again this summer. Traditionally East Texans complain about the humidity in summer. Since we have had a summer without much, we aren't even grouching because now we have some...even though it makes it feel hotter!

Yes, our part of the world has been bathed, and taken a long drink. It feels better, and so do we, the citizens of it!

Rivercrest Athletic Booster Club encourages community support

By Julie Childres

A new school year has begun, and we, the Rivercrest Athletic Booster Club, would like to encourage all of you to come out and help us support the athletes of Rivercrest High School and Talco-Bogata Junior High School. These athletes invest a lot of time and work to participate on behalf of our schools and we owe it to them as parents, fellow students, friends and community members to support them in their endeavors. Participation in athletics is not limited entirely to the players; coming to the different athletic events is a way for everyone to participate. The players certainly seem to react positively to support from their fellow students, teachers, parents and the community.

The Athletic Booster Club will again this year help sponsor various fund-raisers and spirit boosters throughout the year and we would certainly appreciate the help and support of all of you. A hamburger supper and membership drive will be held on Thursday, August 20 at Rebel Stadium when the Rivercrest Rebels will host James Bowie in a scrimmage game which will begin at 6:00 p.m. Hamburgers will be sold until 8:30 p.m.

Rebel spirit items ready for sale

The Rivercrest Rebels are preparing to enter a new season on the gridiron and Coach Keith Brown and the Rivercrest coaching staff have been getting the team ready for a successful year. Along with training and working hard team support items are ready for sale. Rebel caps will be $10.00 each, bumper stickers will be .50¢ each and Rebel football T-shirts will be $10.00 each while supply last. The only sizes left are XL, XXL and XXXL. To purchase any of items see Coach Keith Brown at Rivercrest High School.

As the year progresses, we will keep you informed of upcoming events in our local papers. Plans are being made to try and sponsor activities during the entire year to help keep team pride high and school spirit going strong. We are anticipating a very successful and exciting year for all our athletes, so please come out and show your support and be part of a winning team!!

FIGHTING FIRE FROM THE AIR- Helicopters were called in to help fight a forest fire in the Maple Springs community on Sunday, Aug. 16. The 2 copters made trip every 2 minutes for three hours drawing water from a pool owned by Mr. and Mrs. Garner Bram. The 2 copters, the Forestry Service members and bulldozers, Talco, Bogata, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Pleasant and 5 Star Fire Departments all spent hours containing the blaze which threatened several homes. High winds, dry conditions and the location of the fire hindered fire fighters throughout the evening before they were able to contain the blaze. What locals call the Humble Woods, which covers several hundred acres had over 200 of those acres destroyed but no homes were damaged and no one was injured. The blaze is believed to have started from within the woods. It is undetermined how the fire started. (Staff Photo Nancy Brown)

Gardeners graduate

The Texas Master Gardener program has just graduated 14 individuals from Franklin, Morris, Titus and Woods counties. This program is designed to train volunteers to assist the county extension agents with plant related problems in their counties. While this program has been offered for over 10 years in Dallas, this is the first time it has been offered in the area.

To become a Texas Master Gardener this group went back to school and had ten days of intense training over a ten week period. Although many in this group were already a self-made master gardener they now have the official Texas Master Gardener diploma to prove it.

They were taught about all the latest research being done at Texas A&M university on what plants need in the way of soil, light and air requirements. They learned about the newest varieties of vegetables, fruit trees, plant an turf grasses that not only survived but thrived in the East Texas test plots. They also learned when and why to use insecticides, fungicides and mildicides. The one thing none of them had to be taught was the love of plants.

If you need help with your plants or have questions about them, you may reach the master gardeners through your county extension office.

Country Cooking

By Liz Irwin

http://www.1starnet.com/tp

Our cook this week comes to us from Blossom. She is Denise Harbison. Since next week is the beginning of the Red River Valley Fair, I wanted to feature someone who is involved in the Creative Arts division. Denise won the 1997 "Country Crock Creations Contest" sponsored by Country Crock and Lipton. The "creation" had to be an original idea and she had to use at least one Country Crock container. The item had to be either artistic or functional and a listing of all materials used to create it. Denise came up with a lamp made from a large "Country Crock" butter tub. She enjoys creating lamps of all types and sizes and came up with the idea of the lamp. She is also entering the contest this year and we are anxious to see what she will create!

Denise is the Assistant Cashier at Lamar National Bank and has been employed with them for 15 years. She came to this area from Brookston and is married to David Harbison of the Deport area. She enjoys collecting tea cups and plates and also old hat or clothes. Denise is one of those "crafty" people that can make just about anything and also sews and enjoys reading. They also have a 4 year old grandson, Dain, of Sequin.

We thank Denise for the use of her recipes and hope to see you in the kitchen!

Zipburgers-quick and easy meal to suit just about anyone.

Cheese Soup-mixture of vegetables, canned soup and Velveta cheese to make a hearty and delicious dish!

Corn-this recipe has the added ingredients of cream cheese, butter and jalapenos mixed with canned corn for a special blend of it's own.

Sour Cream Pound Cake-I have been looking for this recipe. It makes up moist and delicious and stays fresh for several days. . . it is last that long!

Easy Fajitas-who doesn't like Fajitas. . .this just makes them easier!

Simmering Pot-make up this recipe and you will have your house smelling wonderful!

DENISE HARBISON OF BLOSSOM is pictured here with her first place prize winning "Country Crock Creation" that she entered at the Red River Valley Fair last year. She will also be entering something in this years fair that starts next Tuesday.

In Loving Memory

Death of a Hero

by Amanda Ball

He saved me from monsters, and helped through worry. He was not afraid, he would do anything for me.

He was brave and understanding, he never cared what other people thought. He was determined and loving, and if I fell, I was sure to be caught.

I knew I was safe, so long he was near. If he was there, I had nothing to fear.

Then one summer's day, just after noon, His life was cut short, and it happened too soon.

There was pain and sorrow, crying and grief. Everyone was shocked, full of disbelief.

Nobody ever imagined it would happen to him. He is my father, my hero, and he still lives within.

Charlie, Daddy, it's already been one year, and we still love and miss you terribly.

Love,
Laura, Ashley, Amanda & Adam

Humor can be found near tragedy

On Sunday afternoon, August 16 there was a huge fire in the Maple Springs community east of Talco. A patch of woods known to the locals as the Humble Woods were either accidentally or purposely set afire. The area had been logged over several years ago and contained old rotting tree tops and under brush and several homes boarder the area.

The situation was a serious one. The Forestry Service was called in with dozers and 2 helicopters flew over dropping water from a local pool working for 3 hours making a trip every 2 minutes. Talco, Bogata, Mt.Pleasant and 5 Star fire departments assisted in fighting the blaze.

Officers of the highway patrol warned the area residents where we live to be prepared to evacuate and I jokingly asked if he was going to help me get 4 cats, 2 dogs, 3 snakes and a horse out.

For the first hours of the blaze my family and I and our neighbors watched as the fire changed directions 4 times. The winds and the location made it hard for the fire fighters to get to but no one thought we might have to get out. Just before dark the highway patrolman came back to my house and said "this is not a warning get out and get out now". Well, most everyone around knows our son and most think he might be one brick shy of a load due to his idea of a pet. The first thing he did was go into the house and get his snakes, 2 ball pythons and 1 over 7 ft. long Burmese python. When he came out the highway patrolman quickly rolled up the window of his car and took his leave. We did indeed gather up all our pets, some clothes, pictures and keepsakes and with the help of neighbors and friends moved down the road to the church. My niece rode the horse, my nephew took the Rottweiler, my car held the cats and one small dog and my sons car held his precious snakes.

The wind changed and without the change we would have surely lost our home and over 200 acres burned. Thank goodness no one was injured and no one lost their homes but the expressions on the faces of those who came to help or see if they could help when they saw those special pets of my son's brought a laugh to everyone.

1940 story features John Nance Garner as presidential hopeful

Polly Sherling of Denton sent an article from the Ft. Worth Star Telegram dated Sunday, February 25, 1940. It was found among her grandmMinnie Norris Lyle of Detroit's keepsakes.

She copied the article thinking (correctly) that it would be of interest to area readers.

The article featured a huge layout of photographs, some of which we have tried to reproduce here with some success.

The article was written by Robert E. Hicks.

It was titled "Garner's town eyes campaign".

The possibility that one of its native sons may become the nation's thirty-third President so far has not noticeably disturbed the peaceful tenor of this Red River County town of 1,200.

It was in a log cabin near here that Vice President John Nance Garner was born Nov. 22, 1868. What purports to be the building in which the event occurred is still standing in a section of the county known as Blossom Prairie, not far from the dividing line between Red River and Lamar Counties.

Situation about six miles south and west of Detroit, the cabin has not yet become a mecca for tourists. Four miles of the road are about like they must have been when Garner left these parts nearly 50 years ago. Only the most hardy sight-seers brave its bumps and ruts and then only in dry weather. After a heavy rain the road is all but impassable in an automobile.

More accessible and usually pointed to as the Garner home is the spacious two-story house near the business district of Detroit, where the Vice President lived for a time before moving to Clarksville to begin practicing law.

The house is still owned by the Garner family and is occupied by the Vice President's sister, Maud Blair.

Garner's father bought this house when John was about 16. Mrs. Blair said "It was here that their father and mother died" the father about 20 years ago, the mother in 1932, six weeks before her son's election to the Vice Presidency.

They are other members of the family are buried in a massive brick vault in the Detroit cemetery. The vault bears evidence of having been built many years ago, but there are no external markings to indicate that it is the final resting place of the parents of one of the states most distinguished sons.

Another sister, Mrs. John R. Wright, wife of a retired hardware merchant and a brother, Jess Garner, a farmer and trader, also live in Detroit.

Mrs. Blair said she hadn't given the possibility of her brother being elected President much thought.

"I would like to see him get it if he wants it" she said, adding "and I guess he wants it or he wouldn't have come out".

All of the old-timers around Detroit remember Garner as a young man, but they're too accustomed to seeing him climb the ladder of fame to get unduly excited over the possibility of his stepping up another rung, even though that step would land him in the White House.

His bid for the nomination, however, and politics in general are giving the town plenty of conversational material this Winter. Five snows since Christmas and prolonged seiges of cold weather have made the big wood stoves in the Rear of the stores and cafes more than usually inviting. And it isn't long after two or more meet at the heater before the talk turns to politics.

W.E. Bledsoe, who has known Garner all his life, said there is no doubt his ability to handle the job properly, if he is elected.

"This town's mighty proud of him" he declared.

J.A. Robinson, another old friend is optimistic about the Garner candidacy.

"He's never started anything yet that he didn't finish," he declares.

As for Garner's qualifications for the post Robinson said "he'd make a good one, and I'd like to get a chance to vote for him for President".

Around the stove at the W.T. Norris store, Thomas Crittenden and George M. Sharp were discussing not only Garner's chances of landing the Democratic nomination, but the caliber of the Texas leadership in Congress at this time.

It's the first time Texas has ever had the honor of having the No. 1 man in both the House and the Senate at the same time." Crittenden pointed out, referring to Sam Rayburn of Bonham, majority leader in the House and Garner, presiding officer of the Senate.

Sharp acquiesced and added that the district was fortunate in having such men as Senators Sheppard and Connally and Congressman Patman to represent it in Congress.

C.D. Bourne, Jr., attorney and representative of Red River County in the Forty-third and Forty-fourth sessions of the Legislature said nearly everybody in Detroit is watching with keen interest the political developments from day to day and carefully weighing the significance of every move made.

Postmaster General Farley's entrance into the Massachusetts primary was interpreted here as almost conclusive proof that President Roosevelt will not be a candidate for a third term. It also gave rise to speculation over the possibility of a Garner-Farley ticket being nominated at the Chicago convention.

As we know, Garner did not receive the nomination, and FDR went on to serve once again.

We really appreciate Polly for sending us this fascinating article.

Grants available for small businesses

Texas USDA Rural Development is awarding a $200,000 federal grant to the City of Clarksville to assist new and existing small businesses. The grant is being made through the Rural Business Enterprise Grant program which specifically targets small businesses that do not meet the requirements for other loan programs.

The funds will be used to assist small businesses seeking to locate to or expand in the City of Clarksville. Many small businesses lack start-up capital and a revolving fund such as this will provide financing at an attractive interest rate. Qualified businesses may borrow from up to $50,000 with repayment terms from 6 months to two years.

The RBEG program is an excellent program for such an endeavor.

Potential businesses in rural communities interested in the program must employ 50 or fewer new employees, have less than $1 million in projected gross revenue; have or will utilize technological innovations or commercialize new products that can be produced or manufactured in rural areas; or have new processes that can be used in such production. Public bodies and not for profit entities including Federally recognized Indian tribes located in rural areas or in communities under 50,000 population are eligible. Priority is given to applicants from communities of 25,000 or less.

Interested parties may contact J.

Pat Liles, Rural Business Service, at 254-742-9780 for information.

Good prayers never come creeping home. I am sure I shall receive either what I ask or what I should ask.

Another ETMC First

At age 77, F.B. Hearon went to the doctor - for the first time.

His doctor discovered prostate cancer. F.B. discovered the ETMC Cancer Institute - and a new treatment called Radioactive Seed Implant.

HUBERT WHITAKER won the money drawing at the Reno VFW sponsored by the Reno VFW Post 3990 Ladies Auxiliary last Friday night.

Understanding El Nino helps predict climate changes

COLLEGE STATION - Scientists cannot control a phenomenon as vast and powerful as El Nino, but being able to predict its occurrence would enable people to prepare for the erratic climate conditions it brings, said a Texas A&M University researcher.

El Nino, a warming in the tropical Pacific, can cause heavy rainfall and occasional flooding, often followed by drought. In some countries, such as Peru, farmers deal with these seasonal variations by planting crops that can withstand heavy moisture during the El Nino season and crops requiring drier climates during the drought months. But because El Nino is difficult to predict, this can be a game of Russian roulette. Guessing incorrectly can lead to heavy crop damage or loss.

Dr. Benjamin Giese, an assistant professor of oceanography at Texas A&M, is studying how El Ninos have changed over time in an effort to understand the processes that control them. This may someday help scientists to predict El Nino events, Giese said.

"I never went to the doctor till I was 77 years old. But when the wife found out my brother has prostate cancer, there was no way around it, I had to go to the doctor.

F.B.'s urologist sent him to the ETMC Cancer Institute.

"I was impressed with this place, I really was. I was impressed with the people, the cleanliness and everything. Everybody's been real professional.

The ETMC Cancer Institute offers a treatment option that dramatically reduces side effects: Prostate seed implant, a one-day procedure in which radioactive seeds carefully placed inside the prostate gland apply radiation directly to the cancer.

"I had the implant the 16th of September, and I've done just real fine. I've never had a problem of any kind.

F.B. Hearon made some new friends here.

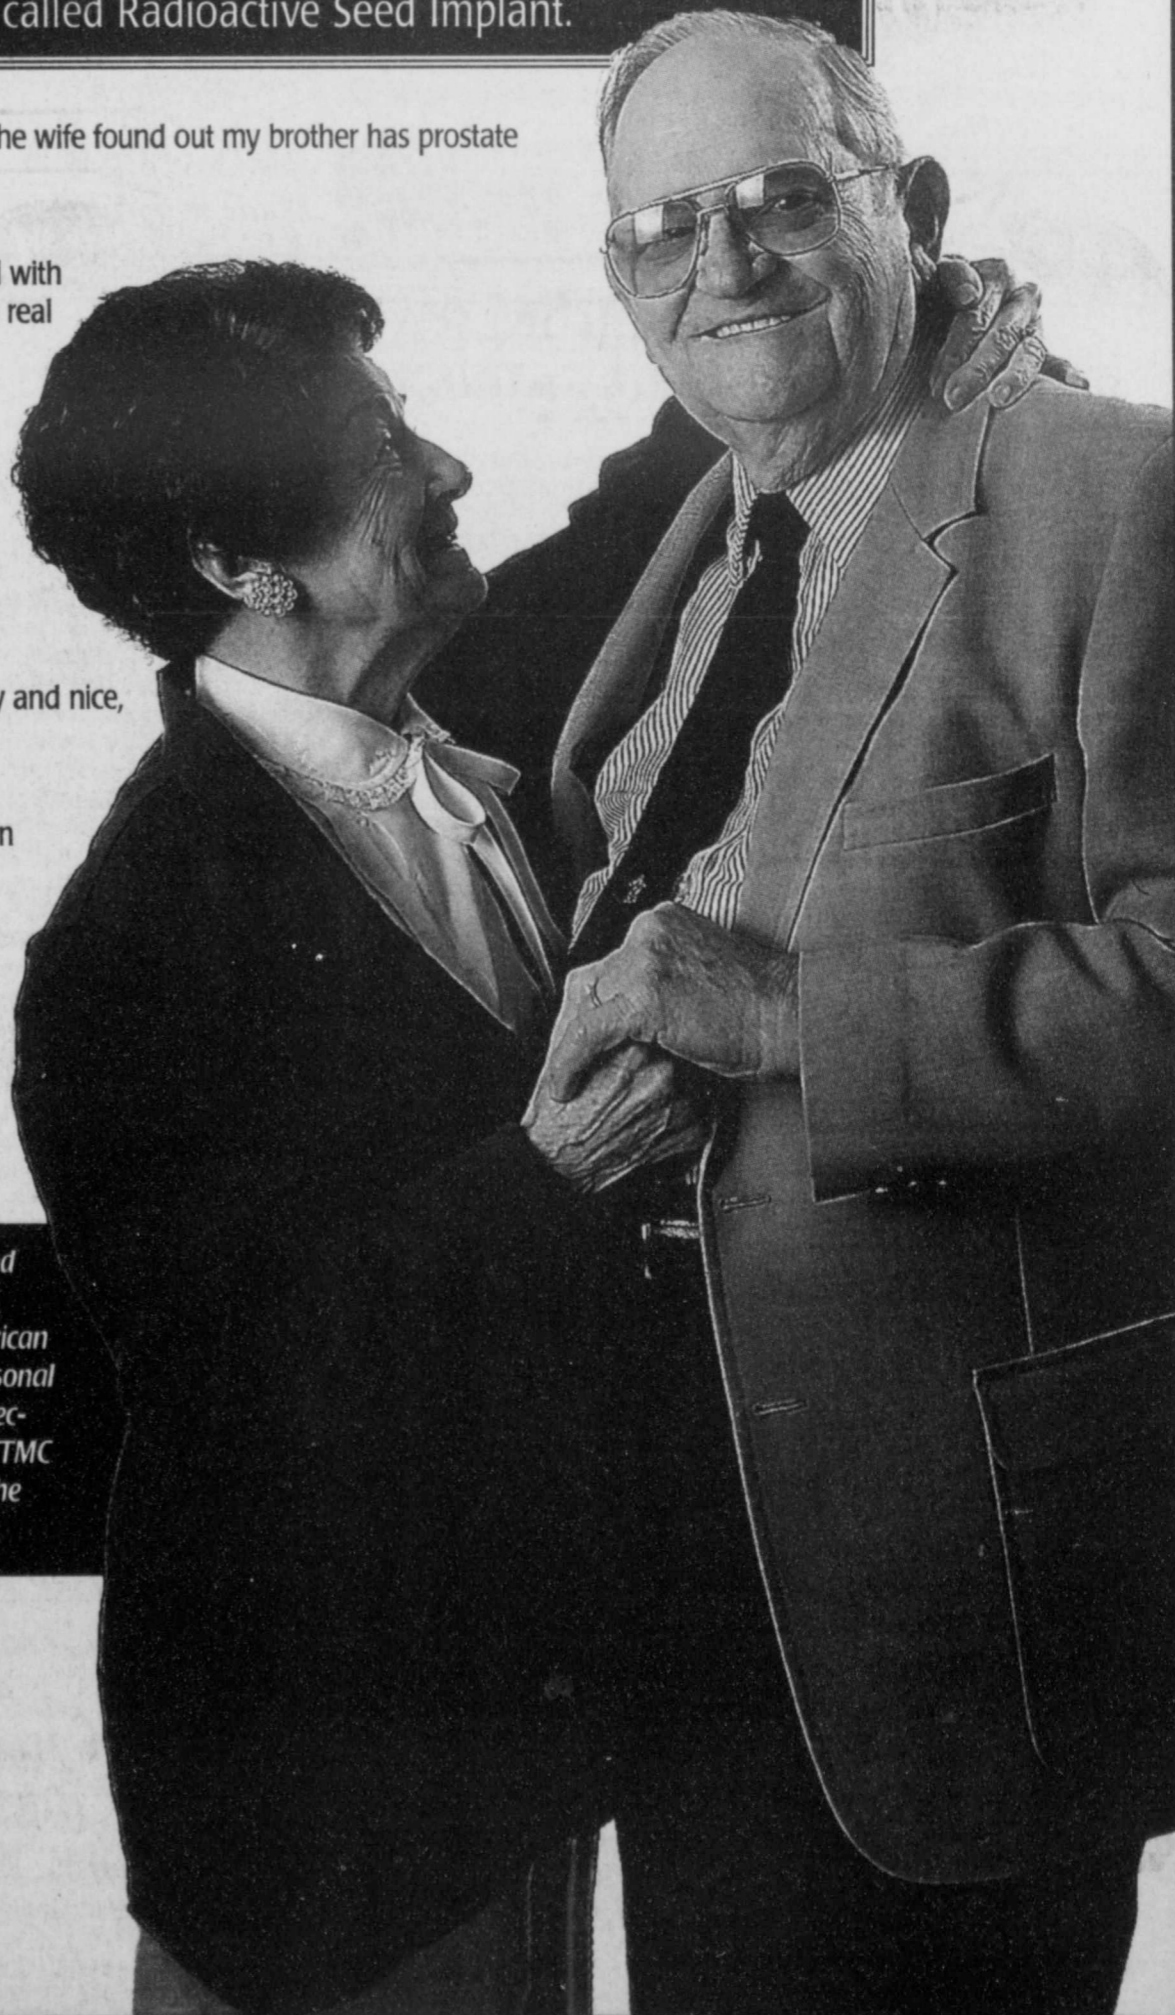

"It starts with the front desk. Everybody's been just as friendly and nice, and after the first visit, everybody seemed to know me.

And he has a new attitude about getting regular checkups.

"It's not something to be afraid of. It's like what they told us in the army about a hand grenade: Don't be afraid of it, but respect it. This cancer's the same. Don't be afraid of it, get hold of it early and respect it, because it's the number two killer of men. So every man ought to get hold of it, from the time he's 40 years old or so. Get a checkup, go in for a PSA, they draw a little blood, and it doesn't hurt. Get it checked, find it early, it's curable.

"I think you can beat it."

Recently, ETMC waged war on prostate cancer with $5 PSA blood tests for East Texas men at risk, and more than 12,500 men responded. If you are age 50 or over, or if you are African American or have a family history of prostate cancer, please call your personal physician or urologist to schedule a PSA blood test for early detection. Prostate cancer is 93% curable if it is detected early. The ETMC Cancer Institute stands ready to help, with treatment that is at the forefront of the fight.

GOING UP-the Johntown Missionary Baptist Church is constructing a new gymnasium. Work has just begun on the facility. (Staff Photo by Judy Screws)

MBC to construct new gym

A new 4,500 square foot gymnasium is being constructed by the Johntown Missionary Baptist Church. The sand was hauled in for the foundation on April 18 and the foundation work began about June 10. Most of the work thus far has been done by members of the church. The concrete foundation was done by a subcontractor and poured and finished on June 19. The all steel building was purchased from Midwest Steel Company in Houston and the framework has been completed including the installation of exhaust fans.

The building will be insulated and will be heated by natural gas. The work on the building will continue as soon as the church members can schedule it. Most of the work is being done on Saturdays.

The estimated cost of the new gymnasium is $50,000 and the building is being donated to the church by Steven and Kathy Hawkins. The church plans to use the new gymnasium as a multipurpose activity facility.

Rev. Billy Turpin, pastor of the church, is very happy about the construction of the gymnasium and looks forward to the completion of the building.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing in concern for our school system. My four year old started Pre-K this year. She loves school already. I was excited when the first day rolled around, and of course nervous and concerned, as any parent would be, but we got through it. After only three days of school my concerns have grown a great deal. The first two days I drove my daughter to Talco and picked her up there also, but on the third day I decided to put her on the bus in Bogata and let her ride to Talco. When she saw that "Big" bus, she cried, she wasn't going to get on that bus, so again I drove her to Talco. That afternoon she did ride the bus back to Bogata, and said it was fun. She told me that on the bus they didn't have to sit in a car seat or wear a seat belt. This troubled me. Most parents start from day one putting their children in car seats with a seat belt on it, and now that they are in school they think it's OK if they don't wear a seat belt. I find myself asking the other parents these questions: Why are we putting our four year olds on a bus to Talco and back everyday when there is a school right here in Bogata? And, if we are going to have to put them on that bus, shouldn't there be seat belts on the bus? I am definitely in favor of the new school in Johntown, but this may take several years to complete. If the school can come up with $9 million dollars, I think some of that money should be used to put seat belts in all of the busses. And until the new school is built, why doesn't Bogata have Pre-K at Bogata? I know that I'm not the only parent who is concerned about these issues, but now that I am bringing them to the communities' attention, maybe some of the other parents will speak out. We've got to get together, for the safety of our children.

Sincerely,
 Jim Ann Ward

Area 4-H youth attends state contest

The Red River County 4-H Wildlife Teams recently participated in the State Wildlife contest held in Beaumont, Texas. The event serves as a tool for teaching youth and adults about wildlife management.

Contest activities included wildlife food identification, habitat interpretation using aerial photos, on-site habitat management recommendations and a rural wildlife management plan.

Wildlife foods identification involves wildlife foods and the species of wildlife that consume them. Youth also rank habitat quality for different wildlife species using aerial photos. The on-site management recommendations activity requires contestants to decide what management practices need to be implemented to benefit wildlife species found in a given area. For the rural wildlife management plan, senior teams are given a list of landowner objectives and are required to develop a complete wildlife management plan for a given area.

Placing on the 2nd place team was the senior team of Heather Smith, Benji Holt, Bobey Acree and Michael Childres. Heather was 2nd high over-all senior and also placed 2nd over-all in Foods. Bobey Acree placed third over-all on areal photos.

The 2nd place state senior team consisted of Jessica Whitaker, Kristi Smith, Heather Green and Gunner Hagler. Jessica was high point junior and placed third over-all on foods and 3rd on land management. Green placed 3rd on land management.

Placing 3rd at state in the junior division was Amber Tucker, Chris Cannon, Zachery Luckett and Amy Holt.

The 4th place junior team was Jeremy Ward, Lillian Baird, Payden Franks and Kimberly Gupta.

Placing 6th at state was Jake Sands, Brandie Holt, Jefferey Abernathy and Micah Upchurch. Holt tied for 3rd on land management.

Zach Sands competed as a senior individual.

All teams from Red River County placed in the top 6 teams. The youth represented the county very well at the state contest.

Rebels gearing up for a new season

The Rivercrest Rebels have 57 boys on the field to participate in Varsity and Junior Varsity football. The school has the smallest enrollment of the schools in the district and is proud of the number of boys out. Coaching the teams will be Head Coach, Keith Brown, Coaches Terry Hill and Gary Schultz and Junior High Coaches, Jeremy Abshier and James Daughtery.

Coach Keith Brown said, "We have a nasty bunch of boys this season who like to hit hard and play rough. The line is one of the biggest ever at RHS averaging 259 lbs. We will run the ball 70% of the time and pass 30% this season. The team is working hard and our offense is solid. Our defense has worked hard and we will wait and see. There have been some adjustments made in our plays and we expect to compete with our district well. Our pre-district schedule is a tough one and will help get us ready for district".

The Rebels motto for the season is "Who's Next".

Coach Brown predicted Paul Pe-witt to take the district lead followed by Cooper and Rivercrest. This season the Rebels will match Cooper in size and it will be a game to the final buzzer. Rebel running back positions will be held by Scotty Goodwin, Bryce Watkins and Joey Taylor. Full back positions will be held by Shane Crabtree, Luis Torres and Phillip

Rolen, all experienced players. In the quarterback spot Jason Freelen will take the starting position and will be backed up by Cole Warren and Nathan Carroll. And then there is that awesome line, Will Noey, Jeremy Jones, Tye Mankins, Craig Eudy and Eric Aldridge. This team is the second team that Coach Brown has had from day one all the way and he is excited about them. It is his 5th season at RHS and last year's team, which was the first team Brown had on the field that he had coached from day one, took 3rd place in the district. "The number of experienced players is going to make a difference", Brown said.

Coach Brown is looking for key plays from Keith Hines, Brodie Belcher, who is a threat on the return, Aaron Martin, Coleman Brown, Michael Galloway and the entire Rebel team. Plus, fact that the Rebs have 10 Seniors, Jason Freelen, Joey Taylor, Aaron Martin, Shane Crabtree, Jerry Cruise, Stefan Cannon, Will Noey, Jeremy Jones, Tye Mankins and Eric Aldridge is an asset for the team. The Rebels and their coaches invite everyone to come out and support them as the work toward the playoffs. Go Rebels!!!!!!!
