You think

we want to do WHAT?
I must not be a very nice person. But I have the consolation of knowing that I'm not alone....Sunny Whitney feels the same way.

A few days ago Sunny and I had to go to the Lamar County Sheriff's Office to have our photo identification made. We are the newest members of the Deport Fire Department, since we are taking the 100 hour First Responder course.

Our husbands teased us about calling ahead and having us locked up.

Upon arrival we learned that the Enloe bank had been robbed, so we weren't going to be able to get our photos done that day, the evidence and camera room had been locked up.

We found our way into Velda's office (she being the person in charge of photo ID), and she said "you're the ladies who called?"

We answered in the affirmative and she handed us clipboards with a form to fill out.

We began filling the forms out. When I got down to the part that asked for our church affiliation I thought that was rather odd. What difference did that make? Then it began asking what church group we were with, and who the minister was.

Sunny's brow was furrowed too. Finally, I just flat asked what this had to do with anything.

Velda looked back, and her brow furrowed too. "Just exactly who are you with?" she queried.

We explained that it was the Deport Fire Department.

"Oh, I'm sorry, I had you confused with the church ladies" she said.

I asked why would church ladies need to fill out these forms.

She replied "for their security pass".

Sunny asked why church ladies would need a security pass.

"So they can visit the inmates here at the jail" she calmly replied.

There was a long, long silence. Sunny looked at me, I looked at her and then we both stared in absolute horror at Velda.

She began to laugh at the expression on our faces. Still laughing she said "Well, looks like you two don't want to do THAT!"

She's right. Not a word had to be said. Our Christian charity apparently didn't extend that far.

We're all properly identified now...but we aren't making any visits to the inmates. Give me medical emergencies any day. I don't have a clue what to say to a jail inmate!!

Several activities are planned at TNMP's offices. Some have scheduled training workshops focusing on "Absolutely Outrageous Service." Others have contests, food and prizes in store for customers who take the opportunity to stop in.

Happy Halloween! Here are some pumpkin facts that you may or may not know! Did you know that the pumpkin is really a squash? Read further!

Cucurbita is the family of plants that the pumpkin belongs to. This species also includes the squash family and cucumbers.

Cucurbita Moschata is the group of pumpkins that are commercially canned. They tend to be oblong and have a tan skin.

Cucurbita Pepo are the Jack-o-lantern and the cute little pumpkins that fit into the palm of your hand. Other varieties include most summer squash, gourds, pattypan summer squash, crookneck squash, scallop summer squash and zucchini.

Cucurbita Maxima are the beasts of the pumpkin patch and include the Prize Winner Hybrid, Big Max and the Atlantic Giant. These are all known for their record weights and sizes.

Cucurbita Mixta include the white pumpkins, hull-less seeded pumpkins and a variety of just about any color you can imagine. The blue variety can be found in eastern Europe and the red variety in the Caribbean.

Pumpkins are grown all over the world on six of the seven continents with Antarctica being the exception. They are even grown in Alaska! The self-proclaimed Pumpkin Capital of the World is Morton, Illinois where Libby has its pumpkin industry and plant.

Native American Indians used pumpkin as a staple in their diets centuries before the pilgrims landed. When white settlers arrived, they saw the pumpkins being grown and pumpkins soon became a staple in their diet.

Did you know that the origin of Halloween dates back 2000 years ago to the Celtic celebration of the dead. A Celtic festival was held on November 1, the first day of the Celtic New Year, honoring Samhain, the Lord of Death. Celtic rituals believed that the souls of the dead returned on the evening before November 1st. The celebration included burning sacrifices and costumes. These early events began as both a celebration of the harvest and an honoring of dead ancestors.

Halloween spread throughout Europe in the seventh century with pumpkins replacing the gourds and turnips that had been carved. The pumpkins were much easier to carve and candles were added to ward off evil spirits.

Did you know that Americans spend over $1 billion dollars on costumes and $958 million on candy for Halloween!!

Leaving you with this last thought, have a safe and happy Halloween. . . watch out for the youngsters and we will see you in the kitchen!

DAN AND MARY KATHRYN COTTEN are pictured wearing their I Love Talco buttons on their recent Western Caribbean Cruise with other Talco ex's and friends. The group had more than one ask, "What is Talco?"

Talco ex-students enjoy cruise

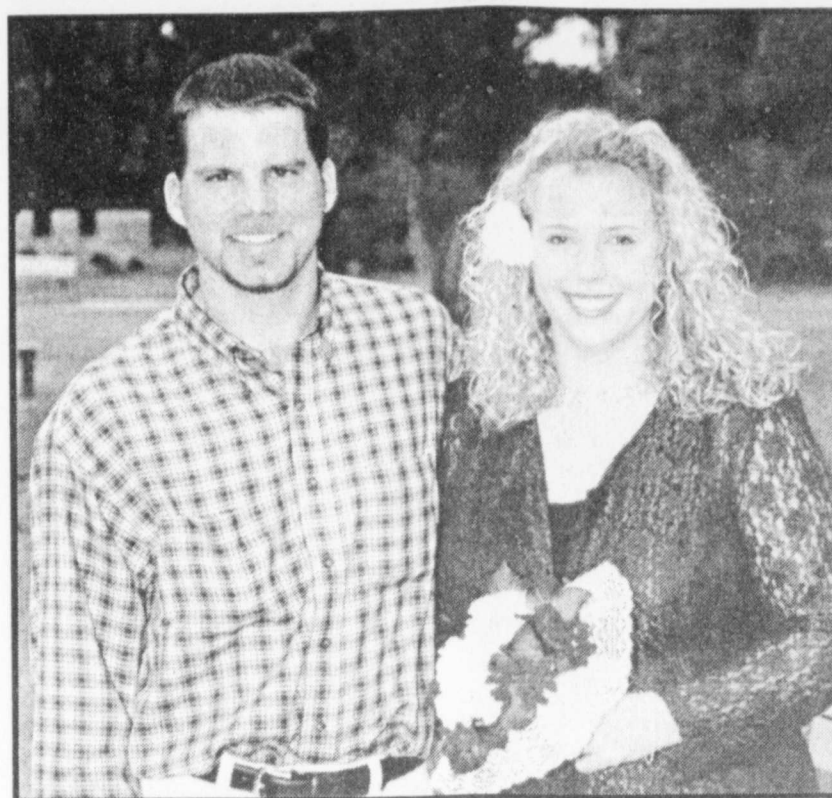

A group of Talco ex-students and friends have just returned from a Western Caribbean Cruise, visiting Cozumel and Cancun in Mexico. The ship, Celebration from the Carnival Cruise Lines left Galveston on Saturday and returned on Thursday. The cruise group put Talco on the map by wearing the I Love Talco buttons provided by the Talco Guaranty Bank several years ago. Many people on the ship, including workers, asked what was Talco? When on shore they were also asked about what Talco was. They thought the group were referring to Talcum Powder!

The group tried to attend all of the activities on board, but could not do so. The food was very good and plentiful, but they were glad to be back to hot bread, (hard rolls were served) and country cooking. One set of cabin mates said they spent all their time with one repeating everything said so the other could hear and the other showing where to go, as one seemed lost all the time. One couple, Mary Catherine Hahn and Victor Price were participants in the Guest Talent Show the last night on board.

The group report excellent accommodations with all on the same deck and near each other. Their travel consultant was Blanca Wellborn, wife of Bud Wellborn and they were the instigators of the cruise, after talking with others at the April Talco Homecoming. They hope to publicize the next trip early enough for as many ex's as can to plan to go. Bud presented a crystal candle holder to Mary Kathryn Cotten for the time she spent working on the yearly homecoming meetings. He also thanked Dan.

Those attending were; Maguriette Cato Dismuke, class of '38, from Grand Prairie; Christelle Cato, class of '40, Mt. Pleasant; Dale Watts, class of '46 and wife Peggy of Sulphur Springs; Forrest Wimbish, class of '49 and wife Dorothy of St. Charles, MO.; Mary Hahn Price, class of '47 and husband Victor of St. Francisville, LA.; Dorothy Jones of Mt. Pleasant, Ann Hall Clevenger, class of '48 of Daingerfield; Bud Wellborn, class of '47 and wife Blanca of San Antonio; Dan Cotten, class of '45 and Mary Kathryn Cotten, class of '48 of Joliet and guest Bill and Doris Santon of San Antonio.

Red Ribbon Week being observed

Rivercrest ISD along with schools nationwide are observing Red Ribbon Week this week. Each year during the last week of October, the event is held in an effort to present a unified and visible commitment to the creation of a drug-free community, state and nation.

The Red Ribbon Campaign is designed with all ages and regions in mind and focuses on: creating an awareness of the problems related to substance abuse; abuse prevention strategies; supporting substance abuse free life-styles and encouraging neighborhood prevention planning activities.

Parents in Illinois and Virginia, angry and sick of the destruction and killing caused by alcohol and other drugs, launched the first Red Ribbon Campaign (RRC), which was proclaimed by the Congress of the United States in 1988. Since then, it has grown powerful, reaching millions of Americans. No other single drug prevention movement in history has impacted so many lives.

The national campaign is sponsored by the National Family Partnership (NFP). Many statewide prevention organizations have also taken on the Campaign and have created specialized state Campaigns.

Everyone is encouraged to show their support for a Drug-free community by wearing their red ribbons each day during the last week of October.

Vote set on removal of Lamar Electric board members

A vote has been scheduled for November 8 on a removal petition signed by 1,000 Lamar Co-op Members calling for the removal from office of board members Darrell Coats, Glen Gambill and Richard Weems. Controversy has swirled at Lamar Electric since last December when a vote of the membership approved the sale of all coop assets to Cap Rock Electric Co-op of Midland.

An informational meeting for all interested members has been scheduled by several of the petitioning members for 2:00 p.m. Saturday, October 28 at Love Civic Center.

Earlier this year, co-op members Philip Risinger, Jack Nelson, James Sam Cooper and Bill Ross filed a petition signed by over 1,000 co-op members charging that the board members had agreed to accept approximately $80,000 each in financial benefits as a result of the sale to Cap Rock, had agreed to take all means necessary to get the members to vote to approve the sale, but kept the financial gain secret from the membership. The financial benefit was not disclosed to the membership until several months after the vote to approve the sale, when a judge in Midland ordered release of the contract signed by the Lamar Electric board and Cap Rock. The Midland judge has also signed an order which would prevent the sale from being completed.

Risinger, Nelson, Cooper and Ross have pressed Lamar Electric to hold the meeting for months. Finally, the co-op board voted on October 16 to schedule a special membership meeting on November 8 at Love Civic Center to vote on the removal and consider the election of three new board members.

Philip Risinger said, "Our purpose is to return control of our co-op to the membership, through an accountable responsible board. We want to put a stop to secret deals, secret meetings and total disregard for the views and opinions of the members of the co-op we have seen over the last couple of years. Board members are elected by the members and should be accountable to the members for their actions. No matter how good a deal the board thought Cap Rock was, we have serious questions about how their judgment was affected by what they stood to gain personally. This special meeting and vote is not about Cap Rock. It is about telling the whole truth to the members, when you ask them to vote to sell their co-op."

Jack Nelson said, "Rumor has it that the board voted last week not to accept any financial gain if the Cap Rock deal goes through. Why is it they vote now not to take the money? Last December when none of the membership knew about it, they apparently thought it was okay. Now, three weeks before a special meeting of the members to vote to remove three of them for keeping it a secret, they want to just say they won't take the money. That's not good enough. The purpose of this meeting is to elect board members who will tell us the whole truth up front, not wait until they're caught trying to pull a fast one. For all we know, if the members aren't removed, they will turn around and vote to take the money again."

Bill Ross urged Lamar Electric members not to sign and return any proxy forms they receive from the co-op. Ross said, "Last year we saw proxy forms sent out by the co-op asking members to just let the board vote for them to sell the co-op. I looked back at that proxy and it didn't say anything about the board members getting $80,000 each."

James Sam Cooper said, "This is the most important vote Lamar Electric members have had to consider in years. We encourage every member of the co-op to come to the meeting personally on November 8 at 6 p.m. We got into this mess last year when a great many co-op members took the board at their word and sent proxies in. If they send out a proxy for this meeting, the board will be asking the members not to vote themselves, but to allow the people who made this secret deal to vote on their own misconduct."

As a general thing, people marry most happily with their own kind. The trouble lies in the fact that people usually marry at an age when they do not really know what their own kind is.

Director of Bands, Clayton Taylor added, "All the compliments the group received came from people who were very impressed with the pride that was shown in the performance of the group, especially after they realize that the majority of the group is made up of junior high students. Many of the students are looking forward to next year when they have the opportunity to compete at the state level, which has never been done." Congratulations Rebel Band!!!!

Annual Methodist Bazaar set for November 11

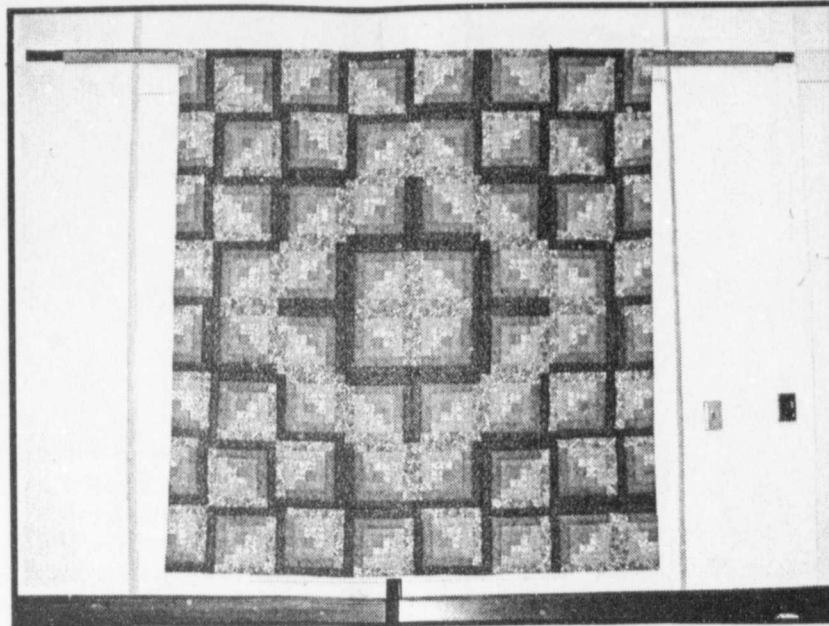

The days are being counted down to the Annual Methodist Bazaar, Saturday, November 11, 2000. The weekly workers are excited about the items they have this year. Quilt ticket sales are reported doing well. Anyone who would like a chance on the quilt may get one by stopping by the church Education Building on Wednesdays. The quilt will be on display in the church sanctuary during the month of October.

The most exciting news about this year is the ladies group has voted to donate all profits from the event toward the purchase of a church van to replace the current one. The administrative board has voted on this project and the ladies can't wait to help out.

Everyone is encouraged to support the yearly event and help the church purchase their new van which will be used in many ways to help the community.

Along with the prize quilt there will be two silent auction quilts that were pieced by Anna Belle Patton and were quilted by the Wednesday ladies group. There is also one other quilt for silent auction, a framed cross-stitch which has been donated by Melba Knight.

Jack and Clay Dodd will again be on hand with their corn meal wagon and a wonderful array of craft items will be available. Please make plans to attend and get some early Christmas shopping done.

YOU COULD OWN THIS BEAUTIFUL QUILT-pieced by Anna Bell Patton and quilted by the Methodist Women of Bogata. Tickets are being sold for $1.00 each and the lucky winner's name will be drawn at the annual Methodist Church Bazaar November 11, 2000 at 1:30 p.m. The quilt pattern is the Log Cabin and its colors are soft blue, pinks, peaches, ivory and more. To get your ticket contact any of the ladies of the church or stop by the church office located beside the ladies on North Main in Bogata. (Staff Photo Nancy Brown)

Bogata Mission announces service October 28

The Bogata Missionary Baptist Mission has announced plans to organize into a church. A service for this purpose has been scheduled for Saturday, October 28 at 4:00 p.m. During this service, the members of the mission will transfer their letters from the sponsoring church and will no longer be recognized as a mission but as a church.

Bro. Gary Copeland, pastor of the sponsoring church, will bring the Organizational Sermon, with Bro. Larry Neeley, Bro. Calvin Permenter and other pastors from sister churches having a part on the program.

The Mission began a little over three years ago with Hughes Springs Missionary Baptist Church serving as their sponsor. After meeting for two years in the Rosalie Store, a building was constructed on property on Highway 271. The Mission has seen steady growth, from thirty members in the beginning to one hundred and one members at the present time. During these three years they have rejoiced in seeing thirty-five saved and baptized. They have Sunday School classes for all ages, Sunday morning and evening worship services, Wednesday evening and Adult Bible class, Teen Discovery and Discovery Bible Club with well qualified teachers for all classes. A nursery is available for children under three with workers provided for all services.

Besides the spiritual and numerical growth, they have been blessed materially also. The nice new facilities were constructed and furnished with the final note on the building being only $130,000. The low amount of the loan was due to the donated labor by Texas Mission Builders offerings from Texas Mission Development and the Texas State Ladies' Auxiliary. In 14 months, the note has been paid down to approximately $78,000, thanks to generous offerings from the members, from the sponsoring church and from other churches and individuals to the Building Fund. The Mission has been able to pay all operating expenses from the General Fund since the beginning.

Everyone is invited to attend the Organizational Service. There will be a meal served in the fellowship hall following the service.

Attention:
 La Tonya Miller would like to announce that she will be opening a Group Day-Care Home by August 1, 2001. After many years of babysitting children in the community, she has decided to make it a career. The Day-Care, "Rivercrest Rugrats", will be located in the home directly across from Rivercrest High School on Hwy. 271. The maximum number of children enrolled will be no more than 12 and they must be 18 months or older. La Tonya also plans to have an after school program if everything goes well. More information and enrollment forms will be provided closer to August. If anyone has a question, please contact La Tonya at 632-9632.

Teen drinking kills

Teen drinking kills. Too often, it takes not only lives, but hopes, dreams and families with it. Too often the same parents who express shock over marijuana, heroin and cocaine use among teenagers ignore the No. 1 problem among our youth, alcohol.

But the statistics are clear. Alcohol is a factor in the three leading cases of teen deaths, accidents, homicides and suicides. In 1998, the deaths of 640 Texans under the age of 21 were blamed on alcohol, almost five times the number of deaths due to all illicit drugs combined. More than 80% of Texas seniors and 40% of sixth graders say they have used alcohol. More than half of those sixth graders say they had their first drink when they were nine year old or younger.

Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse surveys show that parents attitudes play a powerful role in a child's decision not to drink. Only 23% of secondary students who said their parents disapproved of underage drinking had consumed alcohol during the past school year, compared to 56% of the students who said their parents approved of their drinking, according to the commission's 1998 survey.

Have A Great Weekend!

Come buy, sell & eat, Deport's getting ready for all three!

Deport's Trades Day is coming right up! November 4th is the big day. Anyone wishing to set up on main street and sell garage sale items, crafts or any kinds of goods is welcome to do so. There are no fees, no charge for doing this. Sellers may keep all the money they make, and prior reservations are not necessary, it is on a first come, first serve basis.

The Deport Volunteer Fire Department and Bucket Brigade will be holding a huge garage sale at the fire station.

Also available at the fire station (located at the north end of Main Street, just around the corner) will be sausage and biscuits and coffee for breakfast, and at lunch stew, chili and hot dogs will be for sale along with soft drinks.

The money cleared from the garage sale at the fire station and from the food sales will go to help fund the fire department. Already donated for the sale are a recliner, a working under counter dishwasher, many craft and yarn items, books, framed prints, four new ladder back chairs and much, much more.

The event draws a big crowd to town, and is a fun day for all.

Anyone wanting further information may call Nanalee, Thomas or Mike at 652-4205 (the Deport Times) or Juanita or Dawne at Darden-Sparks Department Store 652-4515.

Anyone with items they would like to donate, please call the above numbers or contact any fireman. Pickup is available for anything donated short of an elephant...which may take a little while longer to arrange transport for!

Teacher raises good start: TEEP study

COLLEGE STATION - When it comes to keeping teachers in Texas, the 1999 flat salary increase, approved by lawmakers, was a step in the right direction, but Texas school districts still have work ahead of them, according to a study conducted by the Texas Educational Excellence Project (TEEP) at Texas A&M University.

Study authors believe the 1999 flat salary increase of $3,000 should result in a 2.8 percent reduction in annual teacher turnover for Texas school districts, but other factors could come into play.

The TEEP study found issues such as class size, quality of classroom materials and experience affect teacher retention.

"An increase in the average class size of only five students will cause a 2.3 percent increase in teacher turnover," says Carl Doerfler, a study coauthor.

In addition to class size, the study found the cost of living in each particular district is significant. Districts with a relatively high income have a greater problem with teacher retention because teachers can find better paying work outside of teaching. The TEEP study found that district income is relevant in teacher turnover, most likely because of the quality of facilities and materials.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Today as I watched and listened to the USS Cole, remembering the sailors who were lost and wounded I noticed there were many prayers from both the old and the new Testament.

To me it seems so wrong and unfair to our young students not to be able to have school prayer.

Dear Country Cathy,

"Hope you had a great weekend. Wasn't the rain great? I got out my rubber boots and jumped in all those mud puddles. Tell me how you enjoyed the rain and mud puddles."

Dear Country Cathy is waiting to hear from you at P.O. Box 345, Bogata, TX 75417.

Dear Country Cathy,

My boyfriend and I have been seeing each other for six months and now he is not paying attention to me at school. He is always looking at other girls and never meets me at my locker or at lunch. What should I do? Signed, Lost in Love

Dear Lost, Aw, the heartache of teenage love! Girl, you need to kick him to the curb!! If someone seems as they are not treating you the way you think you need to be treated, you do not have to put up with it. There is always someone else who is interested. Remember, you don't have to put up with a bad situation, be true to yourself and you decide what you need to have or to be to BE HAPPY!

Tip of the Week

Ways to make your wife happy: treat her to a picnic with her favorite take-out, or take the kids out for the day so she can have some peace and quiet.
