Oh, ye of little faith, look here!

If you lack faith in the basic goodness of the human race, take a look around here.

I really wish that it didn't take tragedy to re-enforce my faith in people, but it sometimes seems that when things are at their worst we are at our best.

Last Friday morning there was a tragic house fire that claimed the life of a fifteen-year old girl, and in addition to that, the family lost all they had.

Mom, Dad and three children were left without anything except their grief.

The response to these people's need was instant and tremendous, as it was only two weeks ago when a family lost their four year old son.

Clothing, offers of aid, money and food began to pour in.

A list of sizes for the family was available from the school at Detroit almost immediately.

At the Deport Fire Department garage sale Saturday a bucket was set out at the check-out table explaining the family's loss. Immediately people began putting their change into the container.

One family read the bucket's note and carefully handed over a one hundred dollar bill!

A man read the label and tears came to his eyes. He reached into his wallet and pulled out all the bills he had left in it to add to the growing stack of money.

People from the fire departments that were at the blaze went home to have their families go through their household goods. In all the towns around people began to reach into their pockets find things in their homes to send.

As one family member said "I can't say thank you enough. As we try to get through this we are given offers of every kind of help over and over again. So many people want to help it's just unbelievable".

There, once more, shines the light that keeps us all toiling on through troubles and sorrows. That offer of help, that lending of strength, that vibrant desire to do whatever can be done to help pull a family out of the depths of despair to where they can function once more and go forward.

Of course the one thing this family wants and needs more than anything is the one thing no one can give them. There is no way to return their most precious possession to them. But, we can help, all of us, by sharing our goods, our money, or faith with them.

And we do that. Oh, yes we do. And that proves that as humans we are more good than bad, more generous than not, more loving than uncaring. So do not be of little faith. Have faith in human kind. It is not misplaced.

This week I am bringing you some tempting treats for Mothers Day that will make you just want to get up off that couch and head for the kitchen!

With fresh fruits in abundance at local markets, try some apples in the first recipe to make the Apple Streusel Cake. Pears can also be substituted... but try a mixture of both for that special taste! Fresh fruits also top the Ultimate Cheesecake. The area around us gives us a choice of wonderful flavors and tempting combinations.

So, I hope you have enjoyed this week's column and the recipes and we will see you in the kitchen!

Apple Streusel Cake-this one is a keeper! Can also be made into apple streusel muffins by alternating layers of batter with streusel mixture in greased muffin tins. Also make a Skillet Apple Cake by using a cast iron skillet. Watch closely because cast iron absorbs and retains heat!

Chocolate Cake Roll-slice this cake and place it over some chocolate sauce with fresh strawberries or raspberries! Cooled chocolate and coffee granules can be added to the filling to add a wonderful flavor!

The Ultimate Cheesecake-this recipe instead of preserves, just top cake with fresh fruit slices or instead of using graham crackers, use gingersnaps!

Edible Cookie Bowl-with the end of school near, this would make the perfect gift for that teacher or someone special... fill it with M&M's or other candy or cookies and wrap it up in some colorful cellophane paper and tie with a matching ribbon!

In Loving Memory of Paul Woodle

I did not feel the pain you felt
Or hear your final sigh
I only know you went away
Before you said good-bye.
I know God had to take you
But you didn't go alone.
For part of me went with you
The day He took you home.
To some you are a memory
To others just the past.
But to me that loved and lost you,
Your memory will always last.
God gave me the courage to face it,
The strength to stand the blow.
But what it means to live without you,
No one will ever know.

The Paul Woodle Family

There are no words that would express our thanks for all the prayers, visits, cards, calls, food, flowers and kindness during the loss of our husband, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, brother, uncle, FRIEND, Paul Woodle.

Special thanks to Barbara and John Trussell, for the donations to McCrury Cemetery, Wood Funeral Home, Bro. Bob Freeman, Charley Lewis, the staff of the ETMC and the EMS employees for all the love and special care given to our loved one and family members.

A special thanks to the ladies who prepared the meals for us at our homes and at the community center. Thank you to the pastors, Bro. Ronny Ross and Bro. Randy Sinclair for your words of comfort. To Geneva Norwood, Neva Jean Oats, Stacy and Linda Musgrove, thank you for providing such beautiful music at the service. ### Green Thumb celebrates the many faces of aging

Since 1963 the month of May has been designated by the President to officially honor older Americans and Green Thumb joins with the Administration on Aging to celebrate the diversity of America's aging population and the richness that this brings to our nation.

This year's theme, "The Many Faces of Aging," spotlights and acknowledges the unique characteristics of our aging population and how their myriad of distinctive ethnic, cultural, inter- and intra-generational, geographic and gender-specific interests and needs can best be served. There are many faces of aging today. By the year 2030, one in four Americans will be 65 or older, representing 88 million people. Yet as the may faces of aging turn to the future, they will confront new challenges in health care, finances, long-term care, and employment. Working together, we can meet the need and acknowledge the contributions of America's seniors and the people who love and care for them.

As a provider of senior employment and training, Green Thumb encourages everyone to set aside this month as a special time to pay tribute to older Americans and to affirm our obligation to sustain and improve their quality of life. As we celebrate and recognize their contributions to our great nation, let us also focus upon our senior work force who are skilled, dependable and productive partners in business and industry. As a member of the Senior Community Service Employment Program initiative, Green Thumb offers older jobseekers the opportunities to upgrade their skills and gain valuable experience for transition back into private sector employment. For more information, please call 1-800-880-5292.

Guaranty Bancshares, Inc. reports first quarter results

Guaranty Bancshares, Inc. (Nasdaq: GNTY) the parent company of Guaranty Bank, reported first quarter earnings of $738,000 or basic dilutive earnings per share of $0.24 up $195,000 or 35.9% compared to the same quarter in 2000 when earnings were $543,000 and basic dilutive earnings per share were $0.17. The increase in earnings for this quarter compared to one year ago was due primarily to a gain on sale of securities during the quarter, net of tax, of $212,000. There was no gain on sale of securities during the first quarter 2000.

Art Scharlach, President of Guaranty Bancshares, Inc. commented, "Loan and deposit growth for the past twelve months was no target with our expectations. Guaranty Bank continues to have good loan demand as is evidenced by the $33.6 million, or 12.9% loan growth during the last twelve months, all internally generated since the Company had no acquisitions during the period. The deposit growth showed similar results. Deposits grew $33.7 million, or 9.9% during the same period. We are pleased with first quarter results and are positioned to show even stronger earnings as the interest rate environment continues to show signs of further declines."

Net interest income remained steady at $3.1 million for the first quarter. The interest income component of net interest income increased to $7.6 million. The increase was due in part to the growth in average loans to $289.4 million for the first quarter 2001. Interest expense increased due to growth in average interest-bearing liabilities of $39.1 million to $331.1 million for the first quarter 2001.

Non-interest income, disregarding the one-time gain on sale of securities of $266,000 during the first quarter increased $115,000 to $992,000 or 13.1%.

Shareholders' equity was $30.5 million at March 31, 2001. Total capital was equal to 7.23% of assets.

On an annualized basis, the company realized a return on assets of 0.72% and a return on equity of 9.90% versus 0.58% and 7.70% respectively.

Operating under a community banking philosophy, the company seeks to develop broad customer relationships based on service and convenience.

Scharlach added, "Guaranty continues its plan to leverage relationship banking with improved technology in niche markets by providing additional products and services to new and existing customers. Guaranty has been able to sustain good growth in loans and deposits due to the strength of the target markets and the focus on exceptional staff and personal service. We are now concentrating on improving efficiencies, maintaining high asset quality and controlling expenses in order to accomplish a stronger return for stockholders."

Last week when I wrote up the Lady Rebels Bi-District Softball win I, from habit, wrote in Jamie Daniels as the team's first baseman. Jamie has been out due to a back injury and Rachel Case has been filling the position and doing a fine job I might add. Please accept my apology Rachel for my oversight and may I wish Jamie a speedy recovery.
