When the World Shrinks Well, we finally got that rain, and a few days of cooler temperatures. Did it make for cooler tempers too? I do hope

Of course, it's hot again, and school is beginning. It doesn't seem possible that it's back-toschool time already! If the summers go faster for kids than adults, they must feel like they only had a weekend off!

I've enjoyed the commercials on television that show parents roping, caging and carting their children back-to-school. I especially like the one of the dad doing ballet-like leaps as he grabs school supplies off the shelf, singing "it's the most wonderful time of the year" while his little ones plod along behind the shopping cart, heads dropped in dejection.

I can remember that it used to feel just about like that when it was time to go back to class. And, I feel quite sure that my mother gave a big sigh of relief when she had some peace and quiet during those days when we were in school! Sometime I'll tell you about roller skating in the house. What patience my mother had

When school let out, summer was endless. But, somehow, it sped past. Where had my summer gone? It couldn't have been three months already!

Then, came the excitement of buying notebook paper, notebooks, pencils and tablets. Somehow, I would begin to think going back to an education wasn't so bad after all. Perhaps there would be some neat classes, some great new books to read, some new friends

And so, I, like almost everyone, went back to the educational process.

Back then, school would let out for two or three weeks a little after it began for kids to help "pull bolls" in the cotton fields.

Younger students were also allowed to come to school barefooted until the first of October.

I would beg and beg my parents to let me do that ... and they always said no (they wouldn't let me wear my Davy Crockett hat, either) How I envied those kids who had "free feet" when mine were in those clunky new school shoes. It wasn't until years later that I realized they couldn't afford new shoes until the cotton crop was in and sold! In my perception, they were the lucky ones.

So now the school bus runs once more, carrying yet another generation of children to their school to be educated, socialized and brought ever closer to the adult world.

As always, some student go back with joy, others with hatred, others with timidity. And some just go back and accept whatever comes their way with equanimity

Do your part and watch out for them, on the roads, crossing streets, whereever they may be.

School is back in session....and the students have much to learn!

Back to school breakfast held at Rivercrest

The teachers and staff of the Rivercrest ISD met Tuesday morning for the annual "Back to School Breakfast". The meal this year was sponsored by the Guaranty Bond Banks of Talco and Bogata. Joe Rose and Connie Kay Brooks of Bogata and Jo Anschutz and Virgil Jones of Talco were on hand to serve fruit, donuts and drinks to the group. Prayer was given by Joe Rose.

Following the meal Dr. Vandeaver called the meeting to order and welcomed everyone back. He recognized special guests and introduced all the new staff as well as reporting changes of position for staff members and reporting members who have moved. Those who have moved out of the district this year are Kelly Stansell, Talco Principal who will now be a middle school principal at Spring Hill; Coach Michael Jones who has moved to the Como-Pickton School, Brandon Oats who has moved to the Prairiland School District, Jill Watson who will be awaiting the birth of her child and Gayle Reeder who has moved to the Paris School District. All of these people will be missed and are wished well.

New positions will be taken on by Elementary Principal, Bill Mabry who will also be the Junior High Principal this year. Teresa Taylor who in the past served as an elementary aide will be the high school principal's secretary. Tammie Case who has served as aide, junior high coach and history teacher will be teaching high school history and Mikel Ann Haynes who served as office assistant at the high school will be in the cafeteria at the high school this year.

New employees to the school are; David Terry-Band Director; Jody Burns-Junior High Coach; David Pasternak-High School Coach; Susan Schmidt-Junior High Math and Science teacher; Debra Jeffcoat-High School Coach; Donna Jessee-Office Assistant; Julie Davidson-Elementary Aide; Elsa Whitehurst-Elementary Aide; Judy Brown-Cafeteria worker and Princess Antone-Bus Driver/Custodian. All of these people are welcomed and wished well in their new po-

Following the introductions Dr. Vandeaver reported on the construction. He said December 24 is the projected date for the high school completion and moving in. He reported the junior high may not move this year unless repairs to the present Rivercrest building can be made in time for a move.

Dr. Vandeaver reported Rivercrest was randomly chosen to be audited in 2003-2004. He said the DEK visit would involve everyone at the school.

On a serious note, Dr. Vandeaverr requested that the staff put forth an effort to restore school spirit. He said, "Rivercrest is quickly becoming like a college campus. Students come, get their lessons and go home. Participation in extracurricular activities is suffering". He reported the FFA received an all paid trip to Ft. Worth and could only find 4 students willing to go. The number of band members is down as is the numbers of boys coming out for football. He encouraged the staff to put together groups for activities and pull Rivercrest student body back together with school spirit. He said," When one of the high academics or high extracurricular activities fall, the other in not far behind".

Dr. Vandeaver reported a new insurance company for employees this year. Aflac will carry the new plans and representatives were on hand to speak with the group following the meeting.

In closing Dr. Vandeaver reported individual campus meetings and wished everyone a successful year.

Jessica Westerman

There's a girl on our football team!

by Nancy Brown

Yes, there is a girl on our varsity football team at Rivercrest High School. Her name is Jessica Westerman, the 16 year old daughter of Roy and Kim Barrett of Bogata, and she is very much a young lady. I talked with Jessica Monday morning, the first day of school, after seeing her on the practice field and taking Rebel football pictures on Friday.

But first, and on Friday, I asked Head Coach Gary Schultz the question everyone will ask, What's a girl doing out for varsity football?" Coach Schultz was very quick to defend Jessica. He stated she had shown up after hearing there were not enough boys coming out for football and told him, "Coach, I want to play so we will have a team at Rivercrest." Since joining, Jessica has went through all the tough preseason work outs as well as the boys and has told her coach, "I don't expect to play alot, but, if someone gets injured or I can fill a spot I will".

In our conversation on Monday Jessica told me she moved here last year from Houston. She says she really likes Rivercrest alot. She said she has always loved football and has played with her brothers and when she heard the team was short of players it seemed like a good time to go out for the team. She knew she would be helping in numbers at least. When asked what she likes best she said, "I like to hit those people!" Outside of her love for football Jessica's pride and school spirit are exceptional. She said, "If I get to play, great, but if not, we'll still have a team". The band will march, the cheerleaders will cheer and the fans will attend, all to support the Rivercrest Rebels who are one member stronger, even though she is a girl.

I'd like to say I admire Jessica and the hard work she is putting in for her team and school I don't know the reason for so many boys not playing but if Jessica's teammates have her desire, even if they don't win a game, they have already had a successful year!

Coach Schultz said, "We will take one game at a time and will do the best we can". He stated he was very proud of the team in their scrimmage game with Ore City on Saturday and reports an exciting 50 yard gain at one point in the scrimmage. The players will get tired since they are having to double up on offense and defense, but, they are a good group and will put all their effort into the game. The team will scrimmage Union Hill on Thursday, August 22 at Rivercrest beginning at 5:30 p.m. Come out and support our local team. Go Rebels!!!
