Emotions High In Civil Rights Case

By Robert W. Wright
Publicity resulting from a violation of civil rights suit filed in federal court in Tyler alleging that Red River County Deputy Sheriff Doug Jackson brutally beat and kicked a prisoner, Glen Shadid, "makes me feel about that high [indicating 1/2 an inch between his fingers]," Jackson said Friday afternoon in an interview with newspaper publisher Robert W. Wright.

Emotions were also high in the office of Clarksville attorney Jim D. Lovett, who filed the suit for plaintiffs Shadid and Peggy Mitchell. Lovett has suffered the loss of his law office building in a fire of unknown origin on Sept. 18 and received a letter threatening his family on Sept. 19, all since the initiation of the suit, and thinks there should be an investigation conducted which might link the fire to the civil rights case.

"The fire deal makes me damn mad," Jackson said. "I didn't have anything to do with burning his damn building."

Lovett said he was working on another major case at the time of the fire, an anti-trust suit between liquor interests at Sun Valley, on the east side of Paris, and Toco, on the west side of Paris. "We were ready to go to court the next day," Lovett said. "Now the case has had to be rescheduled."

No evidence was found at the fire which would incriminate anyone, Lovett said, but about 10 days after the fire, after the scene had been searched by three arson investigators, plus Lovett and his staff, a file on Connie Frugia was found in the middle of the ruins, scarcely singed around the edges. The note which threatened the Lovett family also eluded to the Frugia case. It was compiled with clippings from a newspaper, and read, "You saved the baby killer. Your family is next. Inferno."

Connie Frugia, who Lovett defended as a court appointed attorney in June of 1980, was accused of stomping her 19-month old stepchild to death. The Frugia trial ended in a hung jury, but is scheduled for a new trial Feb. 2. A new opinion by noted psychiatrist Dr. James Grigson holds that

Frugia was temporarily insane at the time of the death, Lovett said, and that he expects that she will indeed, be "saved."

Lovett said Friday that he has maintained private body guards, armed with M-16 rifles, since the day after the fire, when the note was received, but that Texarkana FBI agent Larry Wagster indicated to Lovett that he was over-reacting, commenting that Lovett had only received one threatening letter and had only had one building burned.

Lovett filed the civil rights violation suit on Tuesday, December 23, 1980, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Paris Division. Defendants are Jackson, deputy Kelly Slaton, Clarksville city officer Donald Parks, the city of Clarksville and Red River County.

The violation of civil rights suit alleges that on the night of Sept. 10, 1980, Shadid and Mitchell were passengers in a pickup truck driven by Roger Learned which was involved in an accident following a chase by city officer Parks. Jackson assisted in the chase, and Learned was arrested for eluding a police officer. The suit alleges that Shadid, under the directions of Jackson, drove the pickup back to Clarksville, following the city police car, having to drive at speeds up to 80 miles an hour to keep up. Upon arrival at the county jail, Jackson arrested Shadid for speeding, which Shadid protested. It was at this point that the suit alleges that Jackson started kicking, hitting, beating and slinging Shadid around by his previously broken arm. This was done in the presence of deputy Slaton and officer Parks, who the suit says made no effort to stop Jackson. Peggy Mitchell begged Jackson to stop and Jackson arrested her for disorderly conduct. Jackson then added disorderly conduct and resisting arrest to the charges against Shadid. According to the suit, an unknown person handed a flashlight to Jackson, who used the flashlight to beat Shadid. The suit further alleges that Jackson beat Shadid again after taking him into a cell out of the view of the other prisoners. "I'm not going to deny it," Jackson said Friday. "I hit him, but I just can't help it. When someone hits me, I'm going to hit him back." Jackson contended that Shadid hit him in the chest with the small cast on his arm, and then he (Jackson) hit Shadid on the head with his flashlight. "And that was all there was to it," Jackson said. "He quit and I quit." "He was told not to go to the jail," Jackson said, referring to Shadid, "and he was asked to leave after he got here, but he just kept raising sand. After he was put in the cell with the others they kept raising so much noise, I went upstairs and moved him to another cell, and we scuffled, but nothing happened."

County Sheriff Bob Storey, who was not on duty at the time of the incident, said that Shadid had no obvious bruises when he appeared before Justice of the Peace J.B. Holley the next morning, other than the stitches taken in the back of his head resulting from the flashlight blow. Lovett, however, said that it was obvious that Shadid had been severely beaten.

The suit alleges that Jackson left Shadid in the cell bleeding for about two hours, but Jackson said that Learned was arrested at 2:14 a.m., and that Shadid was treated at the hospital after 3:00 a.m. "A lot happened in

Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols
This Christmas is over, and New Year's approaches. Can't say that I particularly wanted to see Christmas leave us. It's a beautiful time of the year, and if folks don't like it, well, I'm prone to put it down to something missing within them, not any lack of the season.

Of course, I'm hopelessly childlike when it comes to the holiday.

It seems blank and dull when the Christmas trees lay out in the yard, with nothing but a few lone icicles trembling in the breeze.

The truly nice part about the season is that it will come again. That is the beauty of Christmas. Small children believe, old folks remember Christmas past, and the rest of us simply enjoy. Merry Christmas, now and next year!

81 have a nice weekend...

Accident Seriously Injures One

Three people were injured, one seriously, in a two car accident occurring on Tuesday, December 23 on Highway 271 about two miles east of Pattonville.

Peggy Carr of Bogata was proceeding east on Highway 271 in a late model Chevrolet. There was dense fog at the time, which was around 9:00 p.m.

A car, driven by Lindsey Maddox of Paris, attempted to turn around, and struck the Carr vehicle. Lionel Sitz of Paris was also in the Maddox vehicle.

All three were transported by ambulance to McCuiston Medical Center in Paris where both Carr and Sitz were treated and released. Miss Maddox sustained severe head injuries, and has since been taken to Dallas Medical City, where her condition is listed as serious-stable but guarded.

Six Lose Lives In Accident

Ribbons, candy canes, new boots and a child's stuffed animal were scattered at the scene of the six fatality accident which occurred at the intersection of FM 115 and FM 21 near Mount Vernon Friday afternoon, December 26.

Mrs. Jerry (Carol) Stidham Sulsar of Mount Vernon, age 22, her mother, Mrs. Leslie (Jo Ann) Cobier Stidham, Clardy, age 43, Mrs. Sulsar's aunt and a sister of Mrs. Stidham, Mrs. Robert (Ruth Ann) Walker of Bellville, Illinois, age 28, and her three children, Cheryl Ann, age 9, Robert V. Junior, age six, and James Allen, age two, were pronounced dead at the scene by Franklin County Justice of the Peace B.E. "Stacker" Cowser, shortly before 3:00 p.m.

Taken to the Franklin County Hospital via Franklin County Ambulance Service were Benjamin Franklin Snell, age 19, of Shamrock, and Robert Vernon Walker, age 30, of Bellville, Illinois. Snell, driver of a 1966 Ford pickup, was south bound on FM 115, when he apparently failed to yield right-of-way at the stop intersection and struck the 1977 Pontiac coup, driven by Jo Ann Stidham which was west bound on FM 21.

"I didn't see the actual crash," stated off duty DPS trooper Steve Blake, "but the dust was still flying when I stopped."

The first person on the scene after the accident happened, Blake alerted local officers, ambulance and rescue units.

The impact carried the vehicles across the intersection to the south. The cab of the pickup was separated from the frame and bed. Traveling an additional 100 feet, the cab came to rest upright, less than 10 feet from its engine, and 20 feet from the Stidham auto, which rolled and came to rest on its top.

The bodies of the six killed were trapped inside and beneath the car. Rescue and law enforcement personnel could not find any signs of life within the car. First checks by rescue officials indicated five trapped in the wreckage, however still another body was found an hour later after two wrecker units were used to lift the compacted vehicle.

Onlookers at the scene made removal of the bodies difficult for officials, who had to request that "persons not involved in the operation" move back several times.

The area was littered with baggage, school books, wrappings, ribbons, children's toys, and tools. The last of the debris and vehicles were not cleared from the area until after 5:00 p.m.

Snell was admitted to Franklin County Hospital in Mount Vernon where he remained until Monday. At that time he was transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas. Local hospital spokespersons termed him in stable condition with head and chest injuries at the time of the transfer.

Walker was transferred to Saint Joseph's Hospital in Paris after receiving emergency treatment for multiple broken bones, head and internal injuries at Franklin County Hospital. At last report, Walker remained in the intensive care unit, but was termed in stable condition.

Joint funeral services were held Monday, December 29, for Mrs. Sulsar and her mother, Mrs. JoAnn Stidham at the First Baptist Church in Paris. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Sulsar was born June 20, 1958 in Berryville, Arkansas, the daughter of Leslie and Jo Ann Stidham. She married Jerry Lynn Sulsar on June 21, 1980.

A graduate of Paris Junior College and East Texas State University, Mrs. Sulsar was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She taught developmental mathematics at Mount Vernon High School.

She is survived by her husband, father, and brother, Russell of Paris.

CONTINENTAL TELEPHONE ANNOUNCES A NEW PLAN FOR PROVIDING PHONES AND BUSINESS SYSTEMS

Direct sale of phones and business communications systems is being introduced by Continental Telephone. It's a significant change in our way of doing business.

The shift was brought about by recent rulings of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) which regulates telephone companies at the national level and by recent court decisions. These actions are already transforming the telephone industry into a competitive, retail type business.

By advice letter dated December 4, 1980, Continental Telephone of Texas filed tariffs with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to implement some of these changes. There will be no increases or decreases in monthly rates. However, monthly rental costs of phones and/or equipment can now be avoided through their direct purchase.

Continental's Plan, as contained in the tariff filing, (1) assures customers of continued availability of standard telephones on a rental basis, (2) limits rental of all other phones and equipment to existing customers, or to new customers as equipment becomes available from service, (3) allows additions to existing communications systems on a rental basis subject to equipment availability, and (4) provides for direct sale of any phones or equipment now in use or their equivalent.

Continental Telephone has a complete line of communication products now for sale that will meet practically any business or household need. Financing and maintenance agreements are available from the phone company for many business systems.

For full details on purchasing your communications equipment, call your Continental Telephone communications consultant or service representative. At this time, FCC limits direct connection of customer owned telephone apparatus to single party lines only.

that length of time for me to have left him on the floor for two hours," Jackson said. Jackson, by his own admission, has had charges of brutality levied at him on two other occasions, both while serving as a police officer in Paris. Formal charges were levied on one occasion, Jackson said, but were later dropped. Brutality charges were also levied against Sheriff Storey following an incident in Midland approximately 15 years ago, but those charges were also dropped, Story said.

The suit, in which Lovett, a former president of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, has been joined by 39 other law firms across the United States, seeks $300,150 in damages. "We are not in this alone," Lovett commented.

Lovett said his investigators have matched the typewriter type used in addressing the envelope which contained the threatening letter with a letter which was sent to the Red River County Sheriff's office. "The connection, if any, needs to be worked out," Lovett said. "All that has been turned over to the FBI, and I had to call them and demand that they do something or give me my evidence back before they ever got moving." According to reports, the FBI has finished their investigation.

Jackson said Friday that he would not take a polygraph test. "I don't believe they work. I've seen them when they were right, and I've seen them when they were wrong," Jackson stated. All three of Lovett's major witnesses, Learned, Shadid and Mitchell, have taken the test, and according Shadid was not permanently injured in the incident, but Lovett said he agreed to take the case because he was "outraged."

Jackson said he was to meet with his attorney, Jim Hooper of Texarkana, on Monday to reply to the questions in the suit. "The county is not paying my legal bills," Jackson said. "I have to pay for my own defense."
