Patriots Remain Undeclared, 20-0

By Casey Bailey
The mighty Prairiland Patriots have moved their win-loss record up to 20 wins and no losses after last week's game with the Commerce Tigers at Commerce. The Patriots beat the Tigers by a score of 85-54 on Friday, January 16.

The Patriots took an early lead in the first quarter. The score at the end of the quarter was 18-10 in favor of the Patriots. The Patriots went way ahead at the end of the first half with the score ending at 46-22.

The Patriots rallied at the end of the third quarter with 20 points ahead of the Tigers, 62-42.

high point honors with nine field goals and six free throws for 24 points. Williams scored six points in the first quarter, 12 points in the second quarter, two points in the third quarter, and finished with four points in the fourth quarter.

Steven Crawford followed with ten field goals for 20 points total. Crawford scored four, eight, six, and two points in the four quarters respectively.

Brad Burks finished the game with two field goals and 10 free throws for 14 points. Randy Connot scored 12 points, Jeff Kennedy scored nine points, Carl Vaughn scored four points, and Brad Sessums scored two points.

This is the second time the Patriots have faced the Tigers from Commerce this year in basketball play. The Patriots faced the Tigers earlier on December 11, 1980 and took a victory with a score of 56-42. The Patriots faced the Tigers in the Prairiland Invitational Tournament held that weekend. The Patriot girls and boys took champion honors in that tournament.

After the game at Commerce last week, Coach Lloyd Simmons stated that he was exactly where he wanted to be as far as winning and losing was concerned. Simmons was cautious to not get too "ready" before district play started and have the players reach their shooting potential before conference games, but he reassured that the team was just getting started and would put up a good fight for the 13-AAA title.

THE PATRIOTS have learned that possession of the basketball is very important to win the game. That is why the Patriots are 20-0 for the year so far. Shown here are the Patriots in action on the court struggling for the ball in the game played against the Commerce Tigers. The Patriots proved their theory about possession of the ball and took an immense victory over the Tigers by a score of 85-54. (Staff Photo by Troyal Barker)

Alcohol Fuel Plant Under Consideration

Several local farmers signed on to sponsor a feasibility study for the construction of an alcohol fuel plant located somewhere in the Paris vicinity.

The goal was 50 farmers, and at last report, 49 had signed up to pay for the feasibility study.

It is hoped the cost of the plant can largely be paid for by a grant from Farmers Home Administration and other government agencies, with farmers signing a note and using the plant for present. Officers will be elected, and much discussion as the size of plant, ideas on location and other necessary items will be under consideration.

Settlement In Suit Presented

A proposal which would bring an out of court settlement to a police brutality suit brought against officers in Red River County has been presented to all defendants in the case, according to Red River County Judge Connie Sullivan.

Judge Sullivan said Tuesday that the proposal is being studied by the lawyers for the defendants, and she felt that something might be done by the end of the week.

Named as defendants in the suit were Red River County, the City of Clarksville, and Sheriff Bob Storey, deputies Doug Jackson and Kelly Slaton, and Clarksville Police officer Donald Parks.

The proposal was accepted by the Clarksville City Council January 12, following a meeting with attorney for the plaintiffs Jim D. Lovett. Lovett met with Red River County officials January 14, and with Commissioners January 15.

The proposal includes the establishment of a public review board which would investigate all acts of violence and assault alleged against police officers, Lovett said.

The board would contain five members, four of which would be appointed by state district judges. Two of those members could not be ever have been a police officer or judicial officer. The fifth member of the board, which would be the chairman, would be selected by the other four members and could not currently be a peace officer or judicial officer.

Lovett said that the board would be funded to the extent that they could hire private investigation and that they would have funds for administering polygraph tests. An officer could be fired for refusing to take a polygraph test.

Lovett has also proposed that the board would recommend the hiring and firing of officers and would be empowered to investigate the background of prospective officers and investigate mistreatment in the jail.

The board would also establish uniform operating procedures for all law officers.

Another point the council agreed upon in any settlement of the lawsuit was the issuance of a statement of principle saying that it is the duty of government to see that justice is done.

Lovett said that a money settlement had not been reached, and further stated that he and his clients were interested only in attaining enough to cover actual costs and damages incurred in the beating. He stated that they were more interested in the policy changes than a large amount of money.

The council requested the session with Lovett, which lasted for ninety minutes.

Additional time in which to answer the lawsuit has been requested by city attorney Clayton Hall. The suit was filed December 23 in U.S. District Court in Tyler.

The suit alleged that plaintiffs Gene Shaddid and Peggy Mitchell were subjected to police brutality while being held in the Red River County Jail.

THIS BARN was completely destroyed by fire Saturday night. The barn and hay in it belonged to more than keep the flames from spreading to other areas, since the

Sick Pay Is Taxable

Taxpayers who become sick or injured on the job and receive sick pay benefits from their employer must include the payments as income on their federal tax return, the Internal Revenue Service says.
The payments are taxable whether they were made directly by the employer or from a welfare fund, a state sickness or disability fund or an insurance company, provided the plan was paid for by the employer.
Benefits received under an accident or health insurance policy for which the employee paid the premiums are not considered taxable by the IRS.
More information on sick pay benefits is contained in the free IRS Publication 525, "Taxable and Nontaxable Income." It can be ordered on the handy order form in the tax package or by calling the IRS Tax Forms-Information number listed in the telephone directory.

Readers who are descendants of Bantley Ann please contact me and I will answer all correspondence and share the history I have on all other family members.

Any local historians, genealogists and others who may have any information on Bantley Ann (Oliphant) and Jake Bartley they would send me I would be so very grateful. Can anyone help me find these descendants?

Thank you for considering my request for help and all response will be appreciated.

Payments Made To Texas Cities

State Comptroller Bob Bullock recently made payments totaling $33.1 million to nearly a thousand cities levying the optional one percent city sales tax.
The payments represent the first rebates to cities this year who collect city sales tax and about $10 million more than the cities received in January of last year.
The biggest check—$6.6 million—went to Houston, a 31 percent increase over last January's year.
Locally, Blossom will receive no net payment this period, in accordance with no net payment for the same period the prior year.
Clarksville has received $4,654.98 in 1980 payments, with no net payment this period.
Deport, along with Detroit will receive no net payment this period, with no 1981 payments to date.

Mount Pleasant received $16,609.87 in payments in 1980, while Mount Vernon will receive $3,071.87 this period, with that total being 1981 payments to date.
Talco also will receive no net payment this period.

The city sales tax is collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller.

Agriculture Briefs

By Paul D. Payne
Very poor insect control can be expected when insecticides are applied during periods of low temperatures.

For either parathion or disulfoton to work against either green bugs or the winter grain mite, two to three hours of 60 degree weather is needed after application of the chemicals.

As a general rule it takes more than four hours of 70 degree weather for malathion to do the job. This is not to say that some insects will not be killed at lower temperatures, but these are thumb rules to follow.

Insect problems continue to be a problem in the county and area wheat fields. Some winter grain mite damage has been noted in fields where wheat has been grown year after year. Rotating wheat is the best management practice to follow in reducing this insect problem.

The open weather has enabled area producers to topdress fertilizer during the last few weeks and wheat should really begin to grow once rain is received.

The first session of the Lamar County Crops Short Course will be held Tuesday, January 27 in the Lamar County Electric Co-op Association Building beginning at 1:15 p.m.

Several areas of crop production will be covered by Texas Agricultural Extension Service Specialist, Dr. Dave Weaver and Dr. James Robinson. These include chemical weed control in wheat, milo and soybeans, insect control in milo, wheat and soybeans and the prevention and control of insects in farm stored grain.

The two-hour session is open to all area producers and will give producers a chance to get an update and the latest recommended practices in these areas.

The second short course session will be held on February 16 and will feature a discussion of some possible new row crops for the area. Sunflowers, sesame, mung beans and guar will be looked at by Texas A&M agronomist, Dr. Leland Tripp.

Both sessions are being presented by the Lamar County Crops Committee and the local County Agent's Office.

The annual meeting of the Texas Soybean Association will be held in Plainview, Texas, January 30. Directors Don Blacketer and Robert Ledbetter of Lamar County encourages area soybean producers to attend.

Location is the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview with registration to begin at 8:30 a.m. Soybean production and market outlook will be the focus of the program.

According to Blacketer, the 1982 state meeting will probably be held somewhere in Northeast Texas.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

About 50 million metric tons of sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide are spewed into the air every year in the United States, as by-products of fossil fuel combustion. Car engines, home furnaces, coal-burning power plants, and smelters all contribute.

According to a Foods and Nutrition Specialist with the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service, Jane Aitchison, apples are well suited to drying. The best are the late-autumn or early-winter varieties, including: Baldwin, Ben Davis, Northern Spy and Spitzenburg. Other satisfactory varieties include: Wine-sap, Jonathan, Greening, Rome Beauty, Delicious, and the Russets.

Apples dry well in dehydrators, ovens, or in the sun. Be sure to pretreat them with either sulfur, sodium bisulfate, or by steam blanching. You should also remember that apples change color quickly when cut so coat the slices as you go with ascorbic acid solution to prevent darkening. Do not use a salt-water solution to hold the fruit because it can affect the color and flavor when drying.

Drying time for apples varies depending on the method used. When dry they will have a leathery, suede-like appearance and be slightly crisp. It is best to consult a book on food preservation or your local Extension office for specific times.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP Different Methods Are Used To Sharpen Kitchen Knives

My kitchen knives are getting dull. What is the best method to use in restoring them to their original keen self? What about serrated-edged knives?

Kitchen knives can give you long wear if you keep them in condition, and not allow them to deteriorate so that regrinding the edges is necessary. A sharpening steel will do the job if your knives have not gotten too dull, an oilstone for those knives with hollow edges. Depending on the quality of the cutlery, some sharpening methods are too severe. Abrasive stones which wear down the edge through friction would be too harsh for inexpensive kitchen knives, and a hardened steel sharpener should be used instead. Do not sharpen serrated knives. Stainless steel knives should not be subjected to scraping which is how some of the above methods work. A silicone carbide stone is needed for this type of cutlery.

What can be done to discourage mildew from growing on the aluminum siding of our home?

Any material, glass included, that has contact with dirt and the dampness that is associated with it is susceptible to mildew. Although some surface textures on sidings are said to be mildew-proofed, mildew is a problem which can only be cleared up temporarily. Wash the siding with a chlorine bleach solution, diluted with three times the water.

fered by the Continuing Education Division of Paris Junior College beginning Wednesday, January 21.

Mrs. Jimmie Hancock, a reading specialist at PJC, will teach the course from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays in the Learning Center.

Mrs. Hancock will teach students to overcome poor reading habits such as vocalization, regression, lip reading, and eye span problems. The course will be helpful to executives, professionals, teachers, salesmen, and others who read a great deal in their daily activities. Skimming and scanning will be explained as aids in increasing reading speed.

Anyone interested in reading faster and understanding better should take rapid reading, says Mrs. Bill Jones of the Continuing Education Division of Paris Junior College.

Brewer Appointed To Organize Cystic Fibrosis Event

Mrs. Francis Brewer has been appointed by the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation to organize a Spring Special Event for Cystic Fibrosis in Blossom. CF is the leading genetic killer of children and young adults in this country. Presently there is no cure nor long-term control, nor is there a test to discover the one in every 20 persons who is a symptomless carrier of the CF gene.

The facilitate the early diagnosis and treatment that lengthens lives, the CF Foundation urges parents to be alert to the signs of CF in their children. These signs include: recurrent wheezing; persistent coughing with excessive mucus; pneumonia more than once; excessive appetite but poor weight gain, clubbing (enlargement of the fingertips); persistent, bulky diarrhea; and a salty taste to the skin.

Along with the primary goal of finding a cure for CF through support of research, the CF Foundation also conducts programs of public and professional education, and supports diagnosis, care and treatment centers across the United States. For more information on the event and how you can help, please contact Mrs. Brewer at 982-5842.
