CITY BUILDING NOTES

By L. M. Ward

Co-operation is the law of city building.

Health, harmony and happiness breed content.

A town knocker is the product of the Devil's industry.

A pessimist is a bane to the community in which he lives.

A successful commercial organization must be telescopic in its vision.

Perpetual plodding pays profitably. Cities are not built in a day.

You cannot dream your town into a city, you must build and boost it into one.

If you can't say a good word for the town in which you live, it's time for you to move.

The raising of more and better stock by the farmers is as much a factor in community development as are manufacturing industries.

If every man in your community was doing as much for his community as you are, how long would it take to build the city in which you live?

The three-thirty juvenile parade from the school house means more to the future development of your community than does the noon day dinner bucket brigade.

Some cities are spending millions to widen their streets today that could have been widened a few years ago at comparatively no cost. Are you building your city for today or for the years to come?

B. W. M. W. Notes.

The B. W. M. W. met in a missionary meeting Oct. 27th. After the business session was held, Bro. Sams gave us a very interesting talk on state missions. On account of sickness and gone to the Dallas Fair, our crowd was diminished to sixteen in number, with two visitors, however, our enthusiasm has not decreased any and we earnestly insist that every Baptist lady come and join us in these meetings. We need you.

The time of our meeting has been changed from 4 o'clock to 3 o'clock. Let's meet promptly at 3 o'clock and quit at 4 o'clock. Reporter.

Let the Free Press do your Job Printing. We are prepared to please you both as to workmanship and price. Let us figure with you on your next order.

FARM FACTS

By Peter Radford

The silo is prosperity's trademark.

Plan while you plow and give a lot of thought to seed selection.

The thoughtless farmer is a bane to his community; think as you farm.

The economic value of the silo has been demonstrated and proved to the farmer.

The highest attainments of science are yet to be learned, and they will come from the soil.

Cotton will continue to be our money crop as long as we buy our feed stuffs in other states and countries.

The highest duty of the State and Federal governments is to place agricultural education within reach of all.

The farmer cannot be helped until he organizes, and the government cannot help the farmer except through organization.

Co-operation among farmers in gathing, grading and marketing their products will enable them to secure better prices.

Statistics show that the cost of a plow is twice as much as 50 years ago, while cotton and other products are not twice as high.

The prosperity of the farmer is coincident with the prosperity of the state, and fundamentally, the welfare of the people depends upon the cultivation of the soil.

Come to the Free Press for your warranty deeds. We have them with or without the vendor's lien clause.

GIANTS-SOX AT ABILENE A WEDDING BEAUTIFUL

Through special efforts of the Young Mens' Booster club of Abilene, a commercial organization. The New York Giants of the National League and the Chicago White Sox of the American League, which teams are now on a world's tour which embraces practically every civilized country, will play one game at Abilene on November the fourth. To secure this aggregation of world famous ball players for one game in Abilene this Young Mens' organization has deposited perhaps the largest cash guarantee that has ever been offered for any attraction in this section of Texas.

The committee having the details of the game in charge have completed arrangements to accommodate 5,000 people at this game which will be played at the Simmons College ball park. An immense grand stand has been erected and brass band of twenty-five pieces has been engaged for this day.

All railroads into Abilene have announced exceedingly low rates for this day, which affords the people of West Texas an opportunity of a life time to see the greatest ball players the world has ever produced in actual play against each other. The total aggregation which are traveling in a special train, numbers about one hundred, including fifty ball players, newspaper men, managers, trainers etc. Among some of the most noted ball players is Christy Matthewson, perhaps the greatest pitcher in the world, also Tris Speaker and Tex Russell, two Texas boys who have put their home town on the map in the baseball world.

The game will be called promptly at two o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, November 4th, in the Simmons College ball park, Abilene. Those intending to go had best see their local ticket agent regarding cheap rates and train schedule.

A Dollar Saved.

A dollar saved is a dollar made. The Free Press can save some worthy young man or young lady several dollars on a scholarship in the Tyler Business College. Take advantage of this opportunity at once.

In the comfortable and commodious home of our friends Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hughes, at 8:30 o'clock last Wednesday eve Oct. 22, was celebrated the wedding beautiful when their daughter, Miss Martha Lucile, was married to Mr. Raul R. English of this city. The wedding was a most pleasing one because of the charm and beautiful simplicity of its arrangements and the loving heart to heart atmosphere created by the presence and mingling together of dear friends and immediate members of the two families. The wedding had been planned to be a quiet one, no invitations being issued, but the popularity of this couple forbade a strict adherence to this decision, and a few friends who made the request were graciously granted permission to be present. Roses, roses everywhere, roses the most beautiful and in bewildering profusion. Other decoration there were none, except the large tastefully arranged greenery before which the couple stood while Bro. Garvin performed the ceremony and in happy strain pronounced them man and wife.

Miss Anice Fields played the wedding march. As the sweet, deep, solemn chords were struck the entire house was stilled to a silence that could be felt. The little sprite, Miss Rebecca Meadors, was flower girl and thickly strewn with rose petals the path of the bride and groom.

The bride carried a large and most exquisite bouquet of bride's roses. After congratulations, happy, sentimental and otherwise the bride led the way to the dining room, where with much jollity and fun the bride's cake was cut. There, too, were assembled the wedding presents. Just a glance at these, and one realized what phenomenal love and esteem this couple enjoys and what a wide, generous and appreciative circle of friends they possess. Heaps and piles of the rarest china, magnificent sets of silver, choice cut glass and armfuls of such exquisite linens, of of every use. The gifts were so many and of such real worth, the mind was fairly bewildered in an effort to estimate the value of the whole. One gift that the bride especially treasures, is a quilt of beautiful blending and unusual workmanship, fashioned and finished by the hands of the grandmother.

The bride is beautiful, good, with the richest attributes of young womanhood. In her shimmering white satins, veil and orange blossoms, she looked the true and queenly descendant of the King Royal, a glory light to the eye and a joy to the hearts of her friends forever.

The groom is a young man of sterling qualities and profound honor, holding the trusted position of clerk of the affairs of our county.

Many and loyal are their friends, in town and county, who join hearts in the glad wish that the life of this favored couple may be a long, prosperous and happy one.

Notice to Land Owners.

About Our Overcoats

It's time to think about that new overcoat, and when you get it on your mind remember that R. & W. is a great line. Our store is the only place in town where you can see them.

MODELS which fall just short of being correctly styled cannot interest you, so we are careful never to have them. While our shop is more of a quality shop than a style shop, every overcoat you'll see here is quite correct—quite distinctive—quite worthy of your interest.

If you'll just slide into one of these great overcoats, you'll understand why they're so warm.

You can feel the fabric and lining, you can shove your hands down into the pockets, you can act like it was bitter cold outside and test the garment. Will you come in?

The New Game Law.

San Angelo, Oct. 22—James P. Wilson, the new federal district attorney, in an interview, with a reporter for the Standard, stated that the federal game laws went into effect the first of this month, that they provided a closed season for ducks and geese in Texas, from January 16 to October 1. In other words, the people of Texas can shoot ducks and geese between sunrise and sunset in Texas from October 1 to Jan 16.

There are many other features of the law that do not offect the people here. (There seems to be an error that destroys the closed season clause) It may be well to mention that there is a closed season on curlew; they can not be killed anywhere until September 1, 1913.

He also gave out a few more open seasons for shooting under the laws of Texas, as follows: Deer, Nov. 1st to January 1st; quail Nov. 1st to Feb. 1st; wild Turkey, Dec 1st to April 1st; doves, Nov. 1st to Feb. 1st; plover, Sept. 1st to Dec. 16th; snipe, Sept. 1st to Dec. 16; ducks and geese, Oct 1st to Jan. 10th.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicine.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. Citation by Publication

The State of Texas. To the Sheriff or any constable of Haskell County.—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summons C. O. Hefner, J. A. Lindsey, A. A. Stewart and C. A. Harris by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Haskell County, Texas, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Haskell, Texas on the 4th Monday in November, A. D. 1913, the same being the 24th day of November A. D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 22nd day of Oct. A. D. 1913, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 1738, wherein A. D. Harmon is plaintiff and C. O. Hefner, J. A. Lindsey, A. A. Stewart, J. L. Norris and C. A. Harris are defendants and the cause of action being as follows: Suit upon two promissory vendor's lien notes, plaintiff alleging that he is the owner and holder of same.

Plaintiff alleges that on or about May 7, 1907, by deed of that date, defendant Lindsey conveyed to defendant Hefner the southeast quarter of section No. 9, H. T. & B. Ry Co. survey by virtue of Certificate No. 10-329, located in Haskell and Knox counties, Texas; that as a part consideration for same Hefner executed and delivered to Lindsey seven promissory notes of even date with said deed, in which notes and in which deed the vendor's lien was retained to secure payment of said notes; plaintiff alleges that the first six of the said series of notes have been paid off and discharged, but that the last note of said series, to wit, a note for $287.00 due Jan. 15, 1915, is unpaid and is now the property of the plaintiff and by reason of defaults in the payment of the annual interest upon same plaintiff has elected to and has declared the said note due and matured. Plaintiff also alleges that the defendant Lindsey has endorsed his name in blank upon said note of $287, due Jan. 15, 1915, by reason of which he is liable to plaintiff for the payment of same.

Plaintiff further alleges that on or about the 30th day of September 1908, by deed of writing bearing that date, W. T. Mathis and wife conveyed to A. A. Stewart the West half of the Southeast Quarter of section No. 9, H. T. & B. Ry. Co. survey by virtue of Cert. No. 10-329, located in Knox and Haskell counties, Texas, being the west half of the above described tract; that as a part consideration for said land the said Stewart executed and delivered to the said W. T. Mathis one promissory vendor's lien note in the sum of $120.00 of even date with said deed and due Nov. 1st 1910, in which said note and deed a vendors lien is retained to secure the payment of said note. Plaintiff alleges that he is the owner and holder of said note.

Plaintiff alleges that the first of the two above described notes, to wit, the note for $287, bears interest from Jan. 25, 1907 payable annually as it accrues; that said note provides by its terms that if default be made in the payment of any annual installment of interest when due, the owner and holder of same may declare the entire note due and matured; that such default has been made in the payment of the annual interest on said note and plaintiff has elected to declare the entire note due and matured. Plaintiff also sues for 10 per cent attorney's fees on both of said notes, alleging that they provide if placed in the hands of an attorney or if suit is brought then an additional amount of 10 per cent of the principal and interest shall be added thereto as attorney or collection fees.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for his debt due upon said notes against the makers and endorsers thereof and also for a foreclosure of his vendor's lien upon the tracts of land above mentioned with decree for order of sale directing the sale of said lands in satisfaction of the judgement, as well as judgment for costs, etc.

Plaintiff also alleges that through mistake the land is described in said $120.00 note as being a part of the H. & T. C. Ry. land, whereas it is in fact a part of the H. T. & B. Ry. Co. land and plaintiff prays for decree of reformation or correction to the end that foreclosure may be had upon the proper land.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on said first day of the next term hereof, this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness my hand and official seal at my office in Haskell, Texas, this 22nd day of Oct. A. D. 1913.

NATURE'S GIFT FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH READY WELCOME IN THE TEXAS HOME.

Vegetation from West Texas Compounded into Famous Remedy.

Nature in all its glory has given to Texas a national reputation that will live throughout the ages and cement the affections of man for all that is pure and beautiful in life. It has placed Texas in the front rank as a crop producing state and we could supply the world with food for a period of thirty days. Texas is the garden spot of America. We produce more cotton than any other two states in the Union. Our grainaries are filled with cereals from the Texas farms. Our fruits decorate the tables of the nations while the products of our forests play a prominent part in the construction of empires. To build and progress should be the ambition of man, but to preserve what we have is far more important. The rich juice of the Texas vegetables does both. It builds clear, pure blood and preserves the corpuscles of rich fluid that surges through our veins, combating disease and fortifying against the ravages of pestilence. When compounded properly it becomes an elixir of life and is a great aid to increasing the population by prolonging life. The correct blend has been discovered in RENALT REMEDY, which for years has been a staple medicine in the home of the Texas farmer and ranchman. It is a medical compound made from the vegetation of Texas and is an excellent remedy for all bodily ills. It contains the elements that lend themselves readily to administering quick relief to disorders of the kidneys. Liver, bladder, blood and stomach, are strengthened and built up through personal contact with RENALT. It has a pleasing taste and leaves no after effect.

In speaking of RENALT, A. C. Chase, Master Mechanic, Stock Yards Company, Fort Worth, said: "I have used RENALT as put up by the Ferrel-Saunders Company and cheerfully recommend it to sufferers from Kidney and Stomach troubles. As a sufferer for years RENALT was recommended to me and has done more good than any or all of the doctors and other remedies tried."

If your druggist cannot supply you accept no substitute, but send us $1.00 in stamps, postoffice order or express order and full size bottle will be sent you prepaid.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

Magazine Club Notes.

The club met in regular session Oct. 15, with quite a number present. Mrs. McGregor is to be our next Librarian. The library hours have been changed to Tuesdays and Thursdays, 3 to 5 o'clock.

On account of raising the dues of members 'twas decided not to solicit help from the business men but we wish to thank them for their donations.

The study of Marble Faun was taken up with Mrs. Fields as teacher. The following program was rendered which was especially interesting and instructive.

The Faun in Literature—Mrs. Williams.

The Faun in Mythology—Mrs. Sutherland.

Art Treasures of the Capitol—Mrs. Rike.

Ode to St. Cecelia Dryden—Mrs. McGregor.

The ideal day brought out a goodly attendance of the Magazine Club on Oct. 25. The roll call Early Italian Painters brought out the strong points of the great masters such as Guido and after the reading of the lesson by Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Fields told us about the catacombs which was very instructive.

Mrs. Graham's story of Judith and his bravery to save the city, also Mrs. Robertson's story of Just were interesting.

Mrs. Long told us of Beruini and his great works. With Mrs. Reynolds as teacher many good ideas were brought out making the lesson interesting. Press Reporter.

Missionary Notes.

The Auxiliary met Monday afternoon. Mrs. Alexander read a lesson from the Bible. Mrs. Sanders lead the prayer and asked God's blessings especially for the children, whose names are on our baby roll. We have now 25 names of babies on the roll. Mrs. Rike made a splendid talk, telling the purpose of this baby roll, how it was a dedication of their little lives to God's service. The contributions of these little fellows go to help the poor and helpless babes in cities where help is needed.

Mrs. Cahill sang a much appreciated solo.

After the program came a social hour which everyone seemed to enjoy. Everyone seemed to be busy making preparations for our Xmas bazaar.

Next Monday we have our regular business meeting. Every member is requested to be present.

On Thursday, Oct. 30th, we have our week of prayer program. The contributions this year go to the Sue Bennett School and the Ruth Hargrove School. Let's put our hearts into this service and get much good from it.

The program for Thursday evening, November 6th, is as follows:

PROGRAM:

Instrumental Solo—Mrs. Patterson.

Hymn, "Rescue the Perishing." Bible Lesson—Mrs. Turrentine. Prayer.

Introduction of Subject, "Social Problems of America"—Mrs. Bell.

"Prohibition"—Mrs. Fields. Vocal Solo—Mrs. Cahill.

"Woman and Child Labor"—Mrs. Montgomery.

Consumption Takes 50 People Every Day

The United States and the surrounding truth is that most cases are curable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medicinal nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction.

Scott's Emulsion is used in tuberculosis camps because of its rare body-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

Often Lost Sight Of.

We call attention to a few of the points that are often overlooked when selecting a school to attend.

Typewriting is one of the most important parts of a business education. Most schools have different makes of typewriters in their school rooms, but the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas, is the only school in this part of the country that has the different makes of machines and teaches each and every student to operate accurately by the touch method, the different make of standard typewriters. No difference upon what machine the student may learn, when he goes into an office he may find an entirely different make of machine; therefore, it is very necessary, that he learns to operate with speed and accuracy all the standard makes of machines.

System of short hand: Most schools teach the old Pitmanic systems which were put out in 1831. The Tyler Com'l. College teaches the famous Byrne Simplified, which is a modern system that produces greater speed than any other system and in less than half the time required by any other system of short hand now in use.

System of Bookkeeping: Most schools teach a theory course; the student reads about what some one else has done, and posts up his work theoretically. The students of the Tyler Com'l. College have to transact every item of business for which they make an entry; they learn to do by doing; they buy and sell goods; write up deeds, mortgages, es, drafts and all kinds of commercial papers, ship goods just as they would in actual business life. They not only learn a thorough course of bookkeeping, but they obtain a practical business training as well. This business training is worth as much to them as a course in bookkeeping. Bookkeeping thru practical business transactions is much easier learned, and the student gets both the bookkeeping and the business training in much less time than he could get the bookkeeping alone by the theory method used in other schools.

Positions: The Tyler Com'l. College secures positions for every worthy graduate. It fully realizes that practical trained students placed in good paying is the strongest advertisement a school can put out, and that this kind of advertisement brings in over 75 per cent of their enrollment.

Write the Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas, for large free catalog, giving facts and figures that will convince you of the wonderful cash producing education given by this, America's largest training school.

Tracked to the Heavens.

In the home of the wealthy porcelain manufacturer lives the young and beautiful ward, Martha. Her only protection is Greendale, her guardian. Highly fascinated by the girl's charms, we can hardly say that his feelings were those of a guardian, but rather the egotism of an old man. He surrounded her with spies to avoid the acquaintance of strangers.

Martha was unhappy under the roof of her adopted father. Daily new obligations are forced upon her in the way of hard work connected with the porcelain factory. "Away from this place of tyranny, far away from this place of burden is her only wish.

Then the message in the vase. The vase makes the trip through the commercial channels. The sending of the message is not without result. The vase lands in the hands of a young man of a young man of the best society who is just the man for the desired adventure.

"Save me from this place of tyranny."

Martha. A young millionaire, Jack Morton, has bought the vase. Jack is subject to the weakness of using costly ornaments as a target to shoot at.

Martha's vase is subjected to this treatment and the letter is found. Without delay he arranges to visit the factory and its painting studio. Jack arches

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Beautify your hair! Make it soft fluffy and luxuriant. Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of Danderine or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness, and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and as soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D.D.D. Prescription. This prescribes to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done. A 50 cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief. We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this D.D.D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our positive guarantee. D.D.D. ## Their Strange Guide

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Everybody in Paris dines in a cafe. That's what gives that city its special flavor. After dinner this same "everybody" devotes himself to pleasure. Edward Fawcett, an American, and his bride were in this city of joyful adventures and were dining at a cafe on Rue Rivoli. They had both heard of the view of life to be had in Paris and had come there to witness it, having agreed that they would do so together, the husband not going anywhere that he could not take his wife.

But they did not know where to go. What is the use of being in a city where strange sights are to be seen without knowing where they are, what they are or how to get to them? Then, dinner finished, they were ready to go forth to take a peep at this gay city, but they still sat over their wine, for they had no guide. A man sat at a table near by, and Fawcett, who spoke French fairly, said to him:

"Monsieur, my wife and I are Americans who have come to Paris to see what is to be seen, keeping within the bounds of what a lady may witness. Can you tell us of some of the places of interest and how to get to them?"

"Would monsieur like a guide?"

"Most assuredly."

"Then I am at your service."

A bargain was struck wherein Fawcett should pay 50 francs, or $10, and the stranger should show them where to go. A taxicab was ordered, and the three entered, the stranger directing the coachman where to drive.

"Are you a professional guide?" asked Fawcett as they rolled along.

"No, monsieur."

"I suppose you took pity on us," rejoined Fawcett.

"I go with you for company. I am very alone in the world. I do not make friends easily."

"What is your regular business?"

"I am a surgeon."

Both bride and groom looked surprised. A surgeon was not a man to act as guide for a couple of Americans. Besides, the man did not have a professional cut. On the contrary, he was a very ordinary looking person.

"What is your name?" asked Fawcett.

"Call me monsieur. It would not do for me to give you my name."

"I see. You, a surgeon, would not like to have it known that you have been a guide. You need not fear for us; we do not know a single person in Paris. But I can understand your fancy for taking up with a couple of strangers for a few hours, especially since you say you are in need of companionship. There is nothing so depressing as loneliness."

"Besides, my professional work is not inspiring."

"By no means. The severing of human limbs, to me, would be horrible."

They drew up to a building where the tango was being danced. Monsieur told them to go up to a gallery and he would wait for them in the carriage. Fawcett asked him to go with them, but he said that it would not do for him to be seen. Fawcett could not understand where the companionship in such a course came in, but acquiesced. Indeed, there was something about the man that gave Mrs. Fawcett a dread of him, and she was pleased that he had remained behind.

Those foreign curiosities that one hears so much about seldom come up to the expectation. Mrs. Fawcett was not especially interested in the dances, and they did not remain long. Monsieur drove them to several other sights, but they were not especially charmed. About 11 o'clock they stopped at a restaurant and invited their guide to go in with them and drink a bottle of champagne.

"There will be no need for you to pay for the wine," said monsieur. "I esteem myself honored by having been admitted to your company. The fact is that I must perform an operation in the morning, and I dislike to be alone in the meantime. I feel under great obligations to you for keeping my mind off my work."

They entered the cafe, and the guide refused to take the fee offered him, saying that he only agreed to it thinking that Fawcett would not accept his services gratis. When the party were seated at a table he ordered a supper and champagne. Fawcett insisted on paying the bill when it came, but it did not come. Finally Fawcett said:

"Monsieur, I think we had better pay for our supper and go; madame is getting tired."

"In five minutes," returned the other, looking at a clock. "I must go at 12 to prepare for my operation."

"What—an operation so early in the morning?"

"The law prescribes the hour."

Mrs. Fawcett looked at her husband uneasily. There was something about this strange man that repelled her. But she held her ground till midnight, when monsieur, bidding them good night, departed.

"Waiter, the bill!" said Fawcett as soon as their guide had gone.

"There is no bill."

"Why so?"

"Monsieur de Paris never pays. All is free to him."

"Who is Monsieur de Paris? He said he was a surgeon."

"A surgeon! Yes, he is a surgeon in a specialty. He cuts off the heads of criminals."

Mrs. Fawcett shuddered. "Come, she said; 'let us get away at once.'"

His First Lesson In Medical Practice

By THOMAS R. DEAN

Miss Elsie Tisdale was engaged to marry Mr. Bert Sawyer, a medical student. Mr. Sawyer was aware that Miss Tisdale was as sensitive as a bird. All she knew about physicians was when one of them came to the house, felt some one's pulse, asked about sundry symptoms and, taking out a square bit of paper, wrote certain hieroglyphics on it that an apothecary understood.

What Bertie, as she called him, was going through to acquire a medical education she had no idea. That he ate peanuts off the breast of a cadaver he was at work on in the dissecting room, that he used the top of a skull, inverted, for a tobacco box; that he frequently took a hand, a foot or some other member of the human body to his room to cut to pieces, she had not even a suspicion. She supposed that a medical school was like other schools—books, books, nothing but books, and nice, clean books at that—while gentle professors lectured on how to cure a stomach ache and when to give the baby paregoric.

Bert, aware of her innocence, was very careful not to disturb her notions of the medical profession by enlightening her. By an unfortunate contretemps he suddenly burst upon her in his true frightfulness. She had been visiting a friend in a neighboring city and was returning by rail. She had been in the car but a few minutes when she saw the back of a head that looked familiar. It was turned aside toward a man who sat beside its owner and displayed the profile of Mr. Bert Sawyer. Facing the two sat a figure done up in a big shawl.

Horrible to relate, the face of the figure was that of a skull. Mr. Sawyer and his friend Billy Peterson had learned where the skeleton of a human being could be bought cheap. They had gone for it, purchased it and were taking it home. There were but few persons in the car, and the conductor had good naturedly permitted them to seat it opposite themselves.

Just as Miss Tisdale got into the car, recognized her lover and caught sight of the grinning face with no nose and empty eye sockets the conductor came through the train and, passing the two medicals, punched their tickets.

"Fare, governor," said Mr. Sawyer, addressing the skeleton. "Produce your ticket or you'll be put off."

The skeleton continued to grin, the conductor smiled, and the men in the car seemed to think it all very funny. There were two women besides Elsie, one sitting in the next seat and one farther forward. Neither of them seemed to consider Mr. Sawyer's action a bit funny. As for Elsie, she was paralyzed with horror.

"Oh, he's all right," said the other medical. "He's no deadhead," and, slipping his own ticket in the band of his hat, he put the hat on the skeleton's head.

This caused a burst of laughter from the men in the car and a scowl from the women.

"Smoke, governor?" said Bert, thrusting a cigar between the skeleton's toothless and gumless jawbones.

Another laugh from the men and a murmur of indignation from the women. The train rounding a curve, the skeleton lost its balance and fell against the arm of the seat.

"Sit up, governor," said Bert. "Don't be rolling around that way. The passengers will think you've been drinking."

"I smell his breath," said Billy—"gin and lemon peel."

The conductor was sitting at the end of the car, and one of the women called to him and told him that if he didn't stop that indecent behavior on the part of those young men she would report him for negligence of duty. At this the conductor went to the two medicals and told them they had better roll their bony companion in his shawl and stop the fun. To this they assented, and that ended the performance. Soon after the train rolled into the station the medicals and the "governor" went out through the front end of the car, while Elsie left it at the rear. She held her handkerchief to her eyes to conceal her tears and to avoid being recognized by Bert, whom she intended never to meet again as her fiancé.

The next morning's mail brought him a note from her containing the few words:

"Our engagement is broken."

Sawyer looked at it sidewise and endwise, then shook it as if it were a toy puzzle. He could not understand it. Anyway something was wrong, and he went right over to the house to find out about it. Mrs. Tisdale came down with a suppressed smile and told him the cause of the break. Elsie had come home the day before heartbroken. She had supposed she was going to marry a gentleman and found that instead she was to marry a ghoul.

Bert was crushed.

"You'd better drop the whole affair," said Mrs. Tisdale, "and let Elsie get over it by degrees."

"She'll never get over it," groaned Bert. "She'll have a horror of me so long as she lives."

The affair was a good lesson to Bert. He became a famous physician and never forgot that the doctors and the lady are two different peoples. As for Elsie, he was right in assuming that she would always have a horror of him. She married another.

AUNT BETTY'S PRISONER

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

When Stephen Ellis was elected sheriff of Ingham county the old jailer, not being of his party, had to go. To everybody's surprise the place was given to Uncle Jerry Stills.

Uncle Jerry was fifty years old, and his wife, who was always called Aunt Betty, was a couple of years younger. They were nice old people. They were liberal with what they had and knew about as much of the wickedness of the world as two children. The sheriff had lived with them for four or five years when he was a homeless orphan, and he owed a debt of gratitude which he wanted to pay. He knew their soft spots, and when they were ready to take possession of the stone jug he said:

"Now, listen to me! This is a jail and not an orphan asylum. No one will be sent here who is innocent or deserves pity. All prisoners are here because they deserve to be. Every last one will lie and play the hypocrite and must be carefully watched. There must be no foolishness with them. Uncle Jerry, you mustn't trust one of them as far as you can sling a bull by the tail."

"And, Aunt Betty, you must harden that kind heart of yours. I know you'd like to adopt every tramp in the state and let him swing in a hammock and have ham and eggs every meal, but it's a different thing here."

The jail was without a prisoner just then. At length a prisoner arrived to be cared for by Uncle Jerry and Aunt Betty. He had been tried for grand larceny and given a sentence of six months. He did not look more than eighteen years old and had a face as innocent as that of a child. He had tears in his eyes when he arrived at the jail.

"What a shame!" exclaimed Aunt Betty after a look at the prisoner.

"He is rather young," replied Uncle Jerry.

Aunt Betty sighed and said nothing more. She didn't know whether or not she'd tell the boy she pitied him. There was something she did do when she passed in the next meal, and she couldn't help herself. She looked sorrowful, and she asked the prisoner if he had a mother. He studied her face for a moment and then answered that he had.

At Aunt Betty's next visit to the cell she carried two extra dishes not provided for by the rates, and when the prisoner had thanked her he timidly asked:

"Good woman, dare I ask you to write to my mother for me?"

"If I write her she'll know you are in jail, and that will hurt her terribly."

"You must tell her, but you must tell her that the whole world has been against me. Nobody is willing to give me a show."

"You poor boy!" she pityingly said.

"They say I stole a watch from a farmhouse, but I never, never did. A tramp who came later took the watch."

"And didn't they get him?"

"No, and because they didn't they arrested me and sent me here. I was a poor boy, you see, and had no one to befriend me."

"What a shame! What a burning shame! Why, the judge and jury ought to be here in your place!"

"I want you to write to mother and tell her so. I don't want her to think I've become a wicked boy."

Uncle Jerry had to go out on business one afternoon and was not expected home until 9 o'clock in the evening. At 6 o'clock Aunt Betty prepared supper and invited the prisoner to sit at table with her. She reasoned that it would uplift and make a man of him. He ate a full meal, speaking words of gratitude between mouthfuls, and then rose up and took her by the throat and banged her head against the wall and took the prison key off its nail and opened the door to liberty. It was cold weather, but he went without hat or coat.

It took Aunt Betty about ten minutes to realize what had happened, and then she ran to the street bareheaded—not to shout for help, however. At a venture she turned to the right and ran for her life down the street and out in the country. Half a mile from the jail she caught sight of her "poor innocent boy." So did he of her, and he legged it like a rabbit. Over fences and across fields he led her, but she was a hound on the trail and ran him down at last.

Then, as soon as she could get her breath, Aunt Betty cuffed and walloped and spanked and pulled hair until that young man cried for mercy. On the way back to jail he got a cuff about once in every twenty feet, and when he found himself once more in his cell he was a thankful boy, indeed.

"Is everything all right?" asked Uncle Jerry as he arrived home.

"Yes, all right," was the answer.

"I found out about that boy today. He's a tough one. He has no mother and has been in jail about ten times. He's a slick thief and the biggest liar in the United States. I hope you won't let him bamboozle you with his talk and his tears."

"Jerry Stills, my name is Betty, hain't it?" asked the woman as she drew herself up.

"I've allus s'posed so."

"Did you ever hear of a Betty letting anything that walks on two legs bamboozle her?"

"Can't say I ever did."

"And you never will!"
