Magic Moments. That's those special moments in time that imprint themselves forever on the mind as soul satisfying and irreplaceable.

Almost everyone has them, and they are truly precious. They are, of course, different for each and every one of us.

Picking out a favorite would be impossible, they are too varied and too different.

These "bonus" moments come without warning, but last a lifetime.

Last Monday afternoon, having sprinkled myself down with the water hose to cool off during yard work, I suddenly found I was the center turning point for a cloud of dragonflies! Swirling and turning, some even lighting feather-soft upon my arms, the dragonflies took me away from the mundane into the world of beauty!

Their transparent wings glittered like diamonds in the sun, and then, as suddenly as they had come...they were gone.

Several times the swallows have done the same thing, suddenly the air will fill with gliding, aerobically twisting clouds of colorful swallows. Of course, they are only feeding on a swarm of insects...but they add their beauty to the world when they do.

Few moments hold more joy than the moment that a small aircraft lifts off from the runway... "unsticks" if you will. Suddenly, from an earthbound, lumbering machine the plane becomes a wind-borne wonder. The world becomes distant, beautiful...the textures so rich that it brings the heart upward with it!

Another mystic moment occurred at the top of a lonely hill in Scotland. Looking downward in a silence that made pine trees seem noisy, there was nothing visible except stone chimneys, thatched roofs and peaceful valley. Home of my ancestors, Scotland suddenly looked exactly as it must have when they left back in the early 1700's. It was a glimpse into the past, a look backward in time.

As a complete contrast, there can be few better moments than turning the last calf out of the corral after working cows all day. To sit down, lean against a fence post and listen to the sounds of mama cows bawling their babies back to their sides is a reward all to itself.

Waking up in the middle of the night and going to an open door or stepping outside is an open invitation to experience a "magic moment". Clear stars, howling coyotes, the world from a different perspective is a wonderful experience.

Peeking into a nest of newborn rabbits then leaving them alone is a special experience...oh, the list just goes on and on.

These magic moments never leave us. I'm sure parents experience them watching their children grow and learn. I'm sure each and every one has a different moment in mind after reading this.

Most ninety-five year olds can tell you a few of their special memories, because they are frequently more clear than birthdays or Christmas presents, or any of the other "official" markers in life.

Take a few moments, remember a few of those little magic moments...I'll guarantee, it'll make you feel better!

Tennessee Walkers Make Dream Come True

By Mollie Williams

June Stanley of Bogata always dreamed of raising horses. Now, with the help of her husband, Carlton, she has seen that dream come true by raising Tennessee Walking horses. Their first Walker named "Traveler" was purchased in 1982. Although they owned an American Saddlehorse and a registered Quarterhorse at that time, they found that trail rides on the Walker were by far more pleasurable. Traveler was also the pick of their horses to accompany Carlton on his Colorado hunting trips where he uses the horse for packing and riding the mountain trails.

In 1984, the Carltons bought another registered Walker mare named "Delights Glory Chessy". Pleased by the performance of the new Walker and interested in the Tennessee Walking horse breed, June began to learn more about the horses by attending shows and making acquaintances with other Walker owners. After a while, with the encouragement and support of her family, June gained the courage to enter the show ring with "Chessy".

By studying about the horses, the Stanleys learned that the Tennessee Walking horse is a true American horse, originating from many breeds. Careful breeding led to the true idea of the American "melting pot" to produce a horse suitable for peoples purposes. By 1988 there were over 250,000 registered in the United States. In Texas, they are found roping and working cattle, hunter-jumpers, in harness, field trials, trail rides and the show ring. They are noted for their overall gentle disposition, longer life, versatility, rocking chair gait and endurance. An endurance test or ride is 50 miles for an experienced rider and 30 miles for the inexperienced. "With increased interest in trail and endurance rides across the country, the riding value of the Tennessee Walker steadily climbs," said June. "Both horse and rider come through less fatigued because of the durability, strength and smoothness of the Walking horse gait."

To show the versatility of the horses, June, Scott Denny and Kahlayah Benson Rehkopf rode Walkers and dressed in English attire and tack during the Bogata Rodeo Parade. Anita and Kevin Stanley rode Walkers dressed in western attire and tack.

The Stanleys say that the Walkers are gentle and intelligent and are ideal mounts for youngsters. They have proved these qualities in their horses by allowing their grandchildren to ride them. Although the Walkers are gentle, the Stanleys say the Walker is strong, versatile, willing and a ready-to-go horse for the experienced rider. They have learned that Tennessee Walking horses can be found all across America thrilling the crowds in the show ring, providing smooth and fun rides along trails, working for their keep on farms and ranches or just babysitting the children.

According to the Stanleys, the Tennessee Walker doesn't claim to be better, just one of the best. Carlton and June now have six Walkers and although raising the Walkers is a lucrative business, they say their main reason for raising the horses is personal gratification in making a lifelong dream become a reality.

Paris Rodeo Opens August 2

The Paris Rodeo and Horse Club will be sponsoring professional regional rodeo at its best beginning August 2 at the Paris Fairgrounds arena. The rodeo will run August 2 through 5, Wednesday through Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. and will feature championship cowboys and cowgirls within the 7-state region of the Cowboys Regional Rodeo Association, sanctioning rodeo association for the rodeo.

And this year is extra special for the Paris rodeo, it is the 30th anniversary of the rodeo and special entertainment has been planned as part of the celebration.

On Wednesday evening, August 2, Mason Dixon will be performing live at the rodeo. This popular recording group, who have gathered many fans in the northeast Texas area, will be performing their current and past hits for rodeo fans. Mason Dixon consists of Jerry Dengler, Rick Henderson and Frank Gilligan and their show is fully self-contained with lead guitar, bass, drums, full keyboards, synthesizer and rhythm guitar. The group also provides full sound and lights and their own production crew. They promise to give rodeo-goers a great night of entertainment.

And on Thursday evening, August 3, new singing sensation Garth Brooks will be on hand to sing his latest country-western hits for the audience. Brooks, a 26-year old Oklahoman, is the most recent neo-traditionalist to emerge on a major recording label and has one of the voices that gives a deeper, heartfelt understanding to mere words and melodies. From his initial single, "Much Too Old (To Feel This Damned Old)", a rodeo song with much broader implications, to the thoughtful love song, "If Tomorrow Never Comes", Brooks voice rings as true and pure as the wind whistling across the Oklahoma prairie.

Along with the special entertainment scheduled for the Paris rodeo, the audience will be thrilled and chilled with professional rodeo action and livestock, as the Wing Rodeo Company of Bogata will be producing the 1989 version of the rodeo.

The Wing Rodeo Company has been touted nationally for excellent bucking stock and has had its bulls and horses featured at every major rodeo across the United States. The Wing Rodeo Company has been producing rodeos for 22 years and brings a wealth of knowledge in rodeo production to Paris for its anniversary celebration. The Wing Rodeo Company is the 1988 Stock Contractor of the Year for the Cowboys Regional Rodeo Association and was also awarded the Bucking Bull of the Year, Bareback Horse of the Year and Saddle Bronc Horse of the Year honors last year.

The annual Queen and Princess contest will also be a part of the week's activities, as the new Queen and her court will be crowned during the rodeo.

The Paris rodeo is being co-sponsored by Radio Station KOYN and everyone is invited out each evening to enjoy rodeo action and fine entertainment, all in the same place.

TASP Test Not Required For Admission To PJC

Persons who have not yet taken the Texas Academic Skills Program test may still enroll at Paris Junior College for the fall semester, according to Mary Griffith, vice-president of instructional affairs.

The TASP test, a state mandated skills test, is used for placement purposes only, not to determine admission status, and can be taken after enrolling in classes. "The TASP test is not an admissions test. It is simply a device used to ensure that students have the skills necessary for the successful completion of college-level work," said Ms. Griffith. "Students who have not taken the TASP test should not let it keep them from enrolling for classes this fall."

Students who have at least three semester credit hours of college-level work prior to the fall 1989 semester are exempt from the TASP test, as are students enrolled in a certificate program containing less than nine semester credit hours of general education courses.

The TASP test is given five times a year at PJC, at the cost of $24.00. Fall test dates are Sept. 30 and Nov. 18.

ASCS News

By James B. Allcorn

Drought aid is about the last thing Northeast Texas farmers need this year, but it looks like we will be getting it one of these days. The argument in Congress right now is whether to spend $1 billion or $870 million on the program, and whether it will be available only to winter wheat growers or expanded to all crops. If I were to guess, a dangerous thing to do when Congress is awake, I would speculate that the bill will include program and non program crops alike, and work pretty much like the disaster program ASCS administered in 1988.

Such legislation, when it becomes law, will compensate farmers whose crops are adversely affected by weather conditions. The obvious condition will be drought, but it will probably include coverage for hail and flooding.

Wanting to do less and get paid for it? What about not work so hard? Maybe even retire? Sounds like one of the old advertisements selling Arizona ocean front property. The program may not be quite as good as the hype sounds at first, but the Conservation Reserve Program is a pretty good program removing eligible cropland from farming for 10 years. It also sees the acreage established in trees or other permanent vegetative cover.

Eligible CRP acres include erodible cropland, cropped wetlands, filter strips and cropland subject to scour erosion. The program has authorization to accept acreage only through 1990.

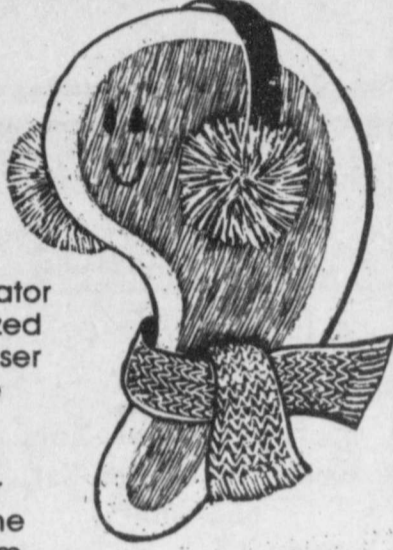

The voluntary program authorizes each farmer to receive up to $50,000 per year in payments, based upon a per acre rental rate and the number of acres under contract. Rental payments are made to producers with approved contracts on October 1 of each year. Cost share payments provide one-half of the cost of establishing permanent vegetative cover on contracted land.

In order to enroll in the CRP, both the land and the landowner or farm operator must qualify. The land must have been farmed in two of the five years from 1981 to 1985. The landowner or farm operator must have owned and operated the farm for the three prior calendar years. Eligible persons may submit bids to ASCS indicating the per acre rental payment they would accept to keep these acres out of crop production and in conserving uses for 10 years. Harvesting and grazing of CRP land is prohibited during the life of the contract.

Many of you know the struggle we've had since our tragic fire October 6, 1985. The loss we sustained, combined with the weak Texas economy, forced us to make a decision to do one of two things: put in major additional capital or close the store. From an economic view we decided to close forever.

Keeping Cool

It is difficult to keep your cool during a hotter-than-usual summer. Not everyone can afford or wants to have air conditioning. A whole-house attic fan can also be a great help. The thermostatically controlled fan is the most efficient. It usually costs 50 to 75 cents a month to operate.

Hand Protection
Working with hands is considered good for mind and body, but is hard on hands. A weekend bout with automobile repairs, stripping, painting and refinishing old furniture or building a bookcase or desk can create havoc on skin.

To retain finger dexterity while protecting hands against the ravages of dirt, grime, grease, wallpaper glues, and irritating oils and paints, there is a skin barrier cream that protects against water-insoluble irritants and acts like a strong but gentle, invisible barrier film.

The cream is called Kerodex 51 and is applied like a fine cosmetic skin cream. Its protection lasts for three to four hours unless hands come in contact with water. After a project is completed the cream is easily washed off with soap and water.

Kerodex 51 also makes clean up faster and easier because its "lifting action" helps rid skin of dirt, grime and other irritants which can become imbedded in the skin.

If not available at a local drug store, the pharmacist can order Kerodex from Ayerst Laboratories.

(1) The Suzuki QuadRunner (2) Suzuki Zero-Down Financing

Few things in history are worth repeating. But there's one thing that's definitely worth redoing. Suzuki, the pioneer-wheeling and zero-down financing, is repeating history by offering their zero-down deal on every '89 QuadRunner and QuadSport in stock.* Choose from seven different models. Everything from the fun-loving QuadSport 80, to the value-packed QuadRunner 160E, to the hard-working 4WD. No matter how inventive you may be, Suzuki has the Quad you've been waiting for. But you'd better hurry, or this deal will be history.

SUZUKI
The ride you've been waiting for.

Please ride safely. The Suzuki QuadSport 80 is recommended for riders 12 years of age or older. Adults must always supervise riders under 16. All other Suzuki QuadRunners are recommended for riders age 16 or older. Suzuki highly recommends that all ATV riders take a training course. For safety and training course information, see your dealer or call the Specialty Vehicle Institute of America at 1-800-852-5344. ATVs can be hazardous to operate. For your safety: Remember, always wear a helmet, eye protection, and protective clothing. Never ride on paved surfaces or public roads. Never carry passengers or engage in stunt riding. Riding and alcohol/drugs don't mix. Avoid excessive speeds. Be extra careful on difficult terrain. Please "Tread Lightly" and respect the environment. Ride only where authorized.

*Offer good at participating Suzuki Dealers with approved credit through Suzuki Retail Financing until July 31, 1989. Offer excludes QuadRacer 250R and 500R.

Obesity: Treatment and Prevention

Obesity is the most important nutritional disorder in the United States today. Children as well as adults are afflicted, and the percentage of obese individuals ranges from 10-30 percent.

According to the Academy's nutrition handbook, the tendency for childhood obesity to persist into the adult years is well-known. Recent evidence also suggests that overweight infants are more likely to become fat adults. Thus, it is possible to identify children at risk early on: those born to obese parents, those who gain weight rapidly during infancy and those whose mothers use food to control behavior.

Reasonable, though as yet unproven, preventive measures include:

- breastfeeding;
- delay in introduction of solid foods and counseling of mothers to give foods only in response to hunger, not as a pacifier;
- a reorientation of family life toward low calorie foods and the ritualization of total mealtime behavior;
- promotion of physical exercise.

4-H News

By Robin Goodwin

Citizenship can be a lot of different things, such as helping hospital patients or senior citizens, solving community problems or speaking out on community issues.

Yet, citizenship is more than an act or activity, and more than the sum of a series of acts or activities. It is an attribute of the individual's character, a value system which leads the individual to demonstrate social responsibility and contribute to community development.

This is the 4-H Citizenship Program, a vehicle allowing young people to both demonstrate and strengthen their commitment to building a better nation. Citizenship means getting involved and being responsible individuals and is a basic good of the entire 4-H program.

4-H members enrolled in the citizenship program develop an insight into the principles, processes and structures of democracy. They learn how issues affect the nation and the world and how an individual can become involved in addressing these issues.

The National 4-H Citizenship Awards Program recognizes the achievements of 4-H'ers as they develop the skills they need to be active, well-adjusted community leaders.

More information on the 4-H Citizenship Program is available at the County Extension Office.
