The birthday cake. Have you ever given it much thought?

I had one the other day, and it was really cute...with some line or another about "Over Forty But Still Foxy" (was that calculated to please or not?).

After it had been left in ruins by all the hungry people, I began thinking about the various cakes I had had. The first one I can remember was pink with pastel flowers on it.

That chain of thought led to considering birthday cakes as a tradition.

Cake used to be a real treat. Back in ancient Greece small seeded cakes were given on special days (such as birthdays).

In pioneer times, when sugar was a precious commodity, a cake was a major event.

During wartime, when rationing was enforced, it was a pretty special thing, too.

Now, of course, cakes aren't that big of a deal, but it's hard to find anyone who doesn't enjoy one.

And they do come in some very special shapes, sizes and decorated states.

There are birthday cakes as simple as a pan of cake with icing poured over it.

Others are multi-layered confections with icing designs that are truly a work of art.

Cakes can be found with green ninja turtles, circuses, farms, hunters and woods, cats, dogs, motorcycles, dolls and a bewildering variety of other things on top.

They come with roses, violets, pansies, daisies and just about every imaginable flower created in sugar.

They have plastic figures on them, indeed, I saw one the other day that featured a doll...and the icing made the top of her dress and the cake made up the skirt portion!

They also frequently feature black icing or naughty verses for those who are proclaimed "Over the Hill".

Birthday cakes sometimes have candles, sometimes they don't.

They come in all flavors, colors and styles.

Birthday cakes are a whole lot different from what they were back when just the taste of something sweet made a whole day special.

But, there is one thing, I've figured out, that birthday cakes all have in common...and that, sadly enough is...that's right...you guessed it...CALORIES!

County Is Economic Loser As Planted Acreage Drops To New Low In 10 Years

By James Allcorn

What happens when agriculture takes an economic nose dive? Does it affect anyone but the farmer? If you attend a local meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, chances are the discussions do not center around the current price of milo, cotton or livestock. Frankly, the Chamber's focus is more on the businesses here in town than agriculture's business out in the country. Doesn't mean that's wrong, but just the way it is.

However, when agriculture hits the skids like it has been doing the last few years, that also affects the local business folks here in town. The impact is probably a lot more than they realize.

In last week's column, I discussed the fact that there are 46,323 fewer acres being planted on Lamar County farms in 1991 than in 1980. The big drops came in wheat, going from 58,440 in 1980 to 18,292 in 1991, followed by grain sorghum which fell from 15,490 acres in 1980 to 8827 acres in 1991. Where did these acres go and why aren't they in production? About 25,000 or so acres are retired on an annual basis by the farm program in one category or another. Both the CRP and the farm program require a payment by ASCS to the farmer and/or landowner. While some of that payment may "trickle down" to local business, the merchants are still big losers in economic terms.

What I'm getting at today is the cost of putting in a crop. When a farmer plants a crop, he (or she) spends so many dollars per acre for fuel, seed, fertilizer, parts and repair, equipment, land rent (or cost of ownership), interest on money borrowed, and all the other big and little expenses associated with farming.

Costs will vary somewhat by crop, but the average comes out to $161.91 per acre to farm an acre. I got this figure from the Extension Service and it includes ALL costs for ALL crops. If you think it is too high, you are welcome to your opinion, but I purposely included both variable and fixed costs of production for all crops in an effort to have a realistic figure that could be compared year after year.

That realistic figure multiplies into the millions. Yes, $7.5 million! That's how much the decrease in planted acres from 1980 to 1991 cost the economy of Lamar County in terms of money spent to put a crop in the ground and bring it to the point of harvest. In other words, if agriculture was growing 99,280 acres of annual crops instead of 52,957 acres, an additional $7.5 million would have been spent with local merchants this year. That may not have been enough to put the Dow Jones average over the 4000 mark, but every little bit helps.

Further, this does not count the expected RETURN from selling the crop, presuming that the farmer gets to harvest a decent yield at a fair price. By using the SWAG method (Scientific Wild Guess), we can estimate that the market value of the crops not grown would have been $5.2 million using today's prices. The total of those figures is $12.7 million that the local economy missed having go through its cash registers.

When you look at the bottom line and compare what it would have taken to grow the crop and subtracted what it would have been worth at harvest, trouble that would have been a NET LOSER of 2.3 million.

This brings us to the point of this two-column series, which is that agriculture is big business. It is a business that most folks take for granted when they go to the grocery store every day or three to pick up a job of milk, loaf of bread or package of bacon. But, agriculture is going through hard economic times right now, and unless the trend over the past 10 years is reversed, we will see more economic erosion in the rural area and that will tend to hold down the economic recovery of the businesses in town. We all need each other and when one is bleeding, the other hurts.

In other news, ballots have been mailed to all known wool producers. This is a referendum for growers to determine if they want USDA to continue making deductions from price support payments to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for sheep, wool and related products. Return voted ballots to ASCS not later than August 30. If you did not receive a ballot and owned sheep for at least 30 continuous days during 1990, contact ASCS as soon as possible to obtain a ballot.

Labor Day Holiday Costs Lives

It is sobering to realize that when this nation celebrates a holiday, hundreds of lives are lost and thousands of lives are irrevocably changed through carelessness and irresponsibility.

Traffic accidents, violence, recreational mishaps and children's injuries often mar the end of the summer Labor Day weekend.

During a typical Labor Day weekend, over 400 auto crash fatalities occur and about 20,000 people suffer disabling traffic related injuries. These grim statistics are doubly tragic because most traffic crashes are preventable.

The overwhelming majority of motor vehicle injuries are not accidents at all. By adhering to safety principles, crash related fatalities and injuries can be reduced. Exercise common sense in the holiday celebration, avoid alcohol, wear your safety belt when traveling, drive the speed limit and be careful when traveling close to home or on two lane roads.

Nearly 50% of all traffic fatalities are alcohol related. Drunk driving continues to be one of the nation's most serious public health and safety problems.

A holiday danger increasingly more prevalent is violence. Violent incidents are usually the result of angry, emotional outbursts fueled by alcohol and/or drugs. Americans would be wise to avoid holiday situations that might get out of hand. While primarily a drug and alcohol related innercity problem, violence is not limited to poor neighborhoods. One of this summer's hit movies, "Regarding Henry" revolves around the lifestyle changes one man makes after a shooting incident at a convenience store. A robber's gunshot instantly changes the life and law career of the central character whose mental ability is affected by his injury.

With the focus on fun, holidays are prime time for recreational mishaps. There are more than 60 million recreational boaters in the U.S. and on one lake, California's 35-mile long Lake Havasu, over 10,000 boats are expected over the Labor Day weekend. California beaches will be the destination for 1.8 million people's celebration.

Above all, on this Labor Day weekend use your common sense. Keep your end of the summer holiday safe by adding a bit of caution to your fun, picnics and barbecues. Nothing ruins a holiday more than a trip to a hospital emergency room.

Country Cooking

By Gerrie Bankhead

The Country Cooking column is being shared this week from the kitchen of Jerry and Dorothy Richey of Pattonville. Being married 26 years they have lived in this area most of their lives.

Jerry and Dorothy are the proud parents of two children: a son, Kent, age 22, a teacher/coach at Prairiland; and a daughter, Susan, age 19, a sophomore at Tarleton University in Stephenville. The Richey family attends the Blossom Methodist Church.

Both Jerry and Dorothy's careers, for many years, have touched and helped mold many lives. Both are teachers in public school systems and they have dedicated themselves to be a tool to pass knowledge from one level to another. Dorothy has taught for 18 years and holds certificates in Homemaking, Business and Elementary. Presently she is teaching fifth and sixth Math and seventh and eighth Life Skills at Blossom.

Dorothy enjoys sewing, reading, camping, fishing, making crafts, help in Jerry's woodwork shop and cooking. She makes most of her and Susan's clothes and for eight years has sewn for the public. Dorothy has made as many as 12 afgans in one winter. She has also made 42 bears and either sold them or given them away.

Dorothy prefers making desserts and casseroles most of all in the cooking line. She gets a lot of requests for her fabulous peach cobbler which she is sharing with you. Dorothy shared (not just a recipe) but a real Chocolate Chess Pie with my family and it was delicious.

Jerry teaches for the Paris ISD and occasionally the teachers have luncheons. Dorothy says he always gets signed up for the peach cobbler. She always makes it for him, but wonders if he is taking the credit for making it himself.

Dorothy enjoys camping at Lake Cypress Springs. When they began this hobby they camped in a tent. However, today they have modernized camping somewhat and enjoy their travel camper.

Collecting cups is also an enjoyment of Dorothy's. She began this hobby about 24 years ago. She recalls the first cup she received was from her late mother, Zetta Marie Salter. She is the one who suggested to Dorothy to begin the collection. So, since then she's collected from many cities and states.

Every cup has a story behind it, and Dorothy enjoys sharing them. The corn casserole being shared is her son, Kent's, favorite. This dish can be served as a main dish or side dish. She got the original recipe from her step-mother, Jo Salter, but has changed a few ingredients to meet her family's taste.

The chili recipe has been one of her favorite for as long as she can remember. This recipe is halved but she usually doubles it and freezes it.

The chocolate pie and oil crust recipes are ones she uses in her classes at school. She said if this is simple enough for seventh and eighth grade guys to make, then anyone can make them. The peach cobbler is an original of hers. She had to create the recipe to share with us. We hope you enjoy all her recipes.

If you've enjoyed the article, request a recipe or have a recipe to share or suggest a feature, please call 652-6032 or write Rt. 1, Box 67A, Deport, TX 75435.

Scudder Pitches Loser To Atlanta, 4-1

Scott Scudder, formerly of Blossom, pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds, doomed himself by giving up five walks in his five innings against the Atlanta Braves on August 22.

The Reds, defending World Series champions, dropped into fourth place 10 games behind LA, their biggest deficit of the season.

Atlanta limited the Reds to Joe Oliver's seventh homerun.

Scudder gave up a leadoff single to Otis Nixon in the fifth, and walked Ron Gant and Justice with two out to load the bases. Hunter, who flied out with the bases loaded in the first, lined a two-run single past diving third baseman Chris Sabo, who could only get the tip of his glove on the ball.

Hunter led off the eighth inning with his eighth homer off Milt Hill, the third Reds pitcher.

PRCA Champs Coming To Paris Rodeo

As the entries closed in Colorado Springs, CO for the Paris PRCA rodeo this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, champions appeared on the entry list to make a bid at the prize money offered in Paris.

Among the entries for the rodeo are Chuck Logue of Decatur, TX the reigning PRCA Bareback Riding Champion and Jim Sharp of Kermit, TX, the reigning Bull Riding Champion.

Logue, an eight times NFR qualifier, earned $112,906 in 1990 en route to his first world title. He has been a PRCA member since 1979 and has career earnings of $548,650.

Sharp, age 25, is the 1988 and 1990 Bull Riding Champion. In 1990 he earned $127,406 and has career earnings in the PRCA totaling $508,892. He has qualified for the NFR 1986 through 1990. Sharp's biggest win of the 1990 season came at Cheyenne, Wyoming when he won $12,334 in the bull riding.

Sharp was the first man to ever ride all 10 NFR bulls, a feat he accomplished in 1988.

At the 1990 NFR, Sharp had to fend off a strong attack by Norman Curry of DeBerry, TX and his traveling partners Clint Branger and Tuff Hedeman. Branger entered the NFR just $3,600 shy of Sharp's regular season earnings and led the world title race going into the final round of the NFR. Sharp scored 86 points in the 10th round, forcing Branger to score 87 or higher to claim the title. Branger was impressive, but hit the turf just before the buzzer, assuring Sharp of his second world title.

During the World Champions Award Banquet held at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Nevada following the final round, Sharp good-naturedly expressed his gratitude to Hedeman and Branger. "I'd like to thank Tuff and Clint for falling off today," he said. Sharp said a strong friendship is important. "We go to 100-125 rodeos a year together. I hope they win just like I do. If I didn't win today, I'd have hoped one of them would have won. They want to win first, but if they don't win, they want me to. We're just good friends."

Other names included in the Paris rodeo roster were Chris Lybbert of Argyle, TX, former All Around and Calf Roping Champion; Ronnie Sewalt of Chico, TX, former Calf Roping Champion; Tuff Hedeman of Bowie, TX, 1989 Bull Riding Champion and Norman Curry of DeBerry, TX, 1990 NFR average winner in the Bull Riding, the second man ever to ride all 10 NFR bulls.

Comprehensive Cancer Center To Open In Paris In Summer, 1992

The first all-inclusive cancer treatment center in the northeast Texas/southeast Oklahoma region is being constructed in Paris. Paris Regional Cancer Center, a new $5.5 million, 20,000 square foot facility, will add to the local medical community and will help transform Paris into a regional referral center for cancer treatment.

The new center is scheduled to open in the summer of 1992. This year long construction project will add new jobs to the Paris community both during construction and upon completion of the center. The center will provide on-site radiation therapy, chemotherapy and lab work for cancer patients. It will also have a special community room which will provide on-going cancer education.

The ground breaking for the facility will be held Thursday, September 5 at 11:30 a.m. The center will be located in the 3500 block of NE Loop 286, north of the Holiday Inn.

"This new center will certainly compliment the inpatient facilities in Paris as well as other community hospitals," says Ernest Cochran, M.D., medical director of the Paris Regional Cancer Center. "I am pleased that we are able to build such an extensive facility to serve northeast Texas and southeast Oklahoma," adds Dr. Cochran. "We feel this new center will offer patients convenience and a comfortable environment when they come for treatment."

The new center will bring comprehensive cancer care to the residents of Lamar County and the surrounding area. "Outside of surgery, approximately 90% of cancer therapy is provided on an out patient basis," says Dr. Cochran. "Paris Regional Cancer Center, which will be the only one of its kind in the area, will offer these treatment services in one location and provide maximal patient convenience." The cancer center will serve Lamar County residents and patients from neighboring counties in the northeast Texas/southeast Oklahoma region.

In addition to being a treatment facility, the Paris Regional Cancer Center will also provide education and support services for patients, their families and the community. "Education is important both in the prevention and treatment of cancer," says Dr. Cochran. "The new community room will offer patients and family the opportunity to learn more about cancer. We want to provide them educational materials to help them through their treatment and recovery."

The center will furnish free literature and books on loan to help individuals learn more about cancer and its treatment.

Ernest Cochran, M.D. is a board certified medical oncologist who has served the Paris community for eight years. He is active on numerous committees at both St. Joseph's Hospital and McCustion Regional Medical Center. For five years, he served as the Medical Director of the Elsie McFadden Hospice, a program which helps dying patients spend their final days at home in a medically-supervised treatment program. Dr. Cochran will be the chief medical oncologist at the center. Additional physicians will be added to the staff including another medical oncologist and a radiation oncologist. With the opening of the new center, additional nursing staff and radiation technicians will be added.

Paris Regional Cancer Center will be fully operational by the summer of 1992. Harrison-Walker-Harper Construction Company of Paris is the construction company hired to build the new center designed by Brinkley Sargent Architects of Dallas.

Remember The Red River County Fair Sept. 18-21

By Jorene Carpenter

Always of interest in Fair-goers are the following divisions. We appreciate all of the many hours of labor and love that goes into these items on display for judging. Youth and adults judged separately.

Household Textiles with Irene Lyons, Superintendent. Division I Embroidered or cutwork Textiles; II, Rugs; III, Crochet; IV, Tatting; V, Knits; VI, Decorating Stitching; VII, Sewing and Fancy Work.

All quilts must be cleaned or completed since October 1, 1990 (except heirloom quilts) completely finished, standard sizes are twin, full, queen or king. Label quilts with pattern names, if known. Quilts are judged on both sides.

The classes are too numerous to mention. They have been expanded to include a wide range of quilts. See Fair Catalog for information.

Clothing Division has Sarah Grizzle as superintendent. There are many classes under the following sections: Sewing & Fancy Work, Baby Clothes, Blouses, Dresses, Jackets, Shirts, Skirts, Shorts, Pants and Suits and Miscellaneous.

One of the largest divisions is the Crafts and Hobbies having Dorothy Dawson as superintendent. There are 82 classes of items so please refer to the Fair Catalog for the class you can enter. Please note: Anything that hangs on the wall must have a hanger. This group works hard to see that every item is placed for viewing.

Remember the general rules are in the Fair Catalog along with a complete listing of all the above divisions and classes. Come to the fair to enjoy the county resident's wonderful talent.

New Law Changes For Motor Vehicle Registration

Beginning September 1, Texans will be required to show proof of financial responsibility before they can get a driver license, renew a license or have their motor vehicle inspected, according to DPS Director Col. Joe E. Milner.

"This may seem like an inconvenience to law-abiding Texans, but in the long run, this new law should help protect all motorists by increasing the number of persons who have the legally-required auto liability insurance," Milner said.

Texans motorists have been required since 1981 to have auto liability insurance, but only about 75 percent of the state's drivers have valid policies in force.

Also effective September 1, the fine for not having liability insurance will be increased from $75 to $175-$350. Repeat offenders will have to $350 to $1,000 and face the possibility of having their vehicle impounded for 180 days.

"Starting September 1, anyone wishing to renew his driver license, get a license for the first time or needing to get a motor vehicle inspected will be required to show proof of financial responsibility at our Driver License offices or Motor Vehicle Inspection Stations," Milner said. "For most Texans, it will be a simple matter of showing a wallet card issued by their insurance company."

The new law also requires a person to have proof of financial responsibility before obtaining vehicle license plates, which are made available through the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

CHOLESTEROL — What You Don't Know that Can Hurt You! The National Heart Savers Association reports some food labels are misleading. For example: "Cholesterol free" or "100 percent vegetable oil" on the label doesn't always mean the product is good for you. It may contain saturated fats from coconut, palm, or palm kernel oils. These saturated fats raise blood cholesterol levels in the body, and increase the risk of heart disease.

Words such as "lite," "lean" or "lower fat" are practically meaningless. "Lite" may indicate less cholesterol, but it may also mean that portions are smaller, so there's less cholesterol per serving, but not in the product. "Lean" may mean less visible fat in some cuts of meat, but most of the fat may be in the tissue where you can't see it, and can't trim it away. "Lower fat" has no meaning unless we know it's lower than what??? "Non-dairy" on a label doesn't always mean you're home free on cholesterol either. Some milk and cream substitutes are made with tropical oils (palm, coconut, palm kernel). Even margarine can be a non-dairy deceiver. Some solid form margarines are hydrogenated, which changes the fat molecules. Use soft or liquid margarines.

The National Heart Savers Association suggests the following foods to keep cholesterol levels low:

- * Fruits and vegetables: No cholesterol; little or no saturated fat. Most are low in calories.
- * Rice and Pasta: No cholesterol and very little saturated fat. Avoid meat, cheese, or cream sauces.
- * Cereals and Breads: Generally low in cholesterol and saturated fat. Check ingredients to make sure they don't contain tropical oils, other saturated fats, or eggs.
- * Vegetable Protein (dried beans, peas, legumes): No cholesterol, and very little saturated fat. Use as a meat substitute in main dishes.
- * Soft Margarines: (diet preferred). No cholesterol and low in saturated fat.
- * Low Fat Cottage Cheese: Low in cholesterol, saturated fat and calories.
- * Skim Milk: (NOT 2 percent milk!). Low in cholesterol, saturated fat, and calories.
- * Liquid Vegetable Oils: No cholesterol, low in saturated fat.
- * Fish: Choose cold water varieties, e.g., swordfish, clams, salmon, ocean perch, haddock, flounder, cod, mackerel, scallops.
- * Poultry: Remove the skin before cooking. (The skin contains some 50 percent of the saturated fat.) White meat is preferred. * Red Meat: Limit your intake and use only the leanest cuts.

Social Security Notes

By Ray Hudson,
District Manager

People who owe money to Social Security as a result of Social Security benefits overpayments should be aware that a new rule authorizes the Internal Revenue Service to deduct what is owed from their Federal income tax refunds.

This authority, known as the Tax Refund Offset provision, was mandated by Congress in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990. It provides the Social Security Administration an avenue for recovering overpayments from individuals who are no longer receiving benefits, and who are delinquent in repaying their debt.

When people on the rolls receive overpayments, Social Security generally deducts the amount of the overpayment from future checks. However, for people no longer receiving benefits, the agency can only request voluntary repayment. If the overpaid individual was unwilling to make payment or could not be located, SSA had to wait until he or she became reentitled to benefits before recovery could take place.

Under the new law, SSA will send notices to former beneficiaries who have not repaid overpayments to provide them an opportunity to arrange for repayment or request a waiver of the overpayment. If no response is received, Social Security will notify the Internal Revenue Service who will withhold the amount owed from any Federal income tax refunds due the individuals.

SSA records show that there are approximately 300,000 former beneficiaries who meet all the criteria for a tax refund offset. Of this number, about 75% are former recipients of student's benefits.

Beginning in August, SSA will mail the tax refund offset notice to these former beneficiaries. After receipt of the notices, some individuals are expected to make voluntary payments to avoid being referred to IRS for offset. These voluntary payments, along with the tax refunds that will eventually be offset by IRS, are expected to generate $47 million in Fiscal Year 1992, and again in 1993. All monies recovered will be returned to the Old-Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance Trust Funds.

Armyworms Pose Potential Threat

By Herb Brevard

Armyworm infestations are becoming a potential threat to hay meadows, permanent pastures and newly planted winter pastures.

"Infestations may continue until frost," said Dr. James Robinson, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Forages, including home lawns, can be destroyed within a few days if control is delayed."

Repeat treatments with an approved insecticide may be necessary since reinfestations can occur. Robinson says that producers and home owners should continually watch for new infestations.

Several approved insecticides are available for controlling armyworms, either with ground rigs or by aerial application.

"Producers with hay reaching maturity at the time of infestation may want to harvest the hay before applying the insecticide," Robinson said.

In home lawns, centipede, St. Augustine and bermudagrass are all susceptible to armyworm infestations. Generally, the armyworms do not kill grasses but do cause them to appear ragged. There is no established economic threshold for controlling armyworms. Economics depend on the need for forage or the aesthetic value to home owners.

Good neighbors with good advice for saving energy

Carolyn Cudd, clerk in Texas-New Mexico Power Company's Perryton, Texas, office, can help customers with their energy questions. Employees in all of the communities TNP serves are a good source of advice for using energy wisely.

The right windows and window treatments can help you prevent energy waste. When buying windows, look for insulating, double glass, triple glazed glass or storm windows. Exterior shades, such as shutters or awnings, can also help save energy, as can shades inside your home such as lined drapery or blinds.

To learn more about window treatments that save energy, call or visit the neighbors at your local TNP office and ask for the free fact sheet, "Straight Talk About Window Treatments."
