

Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

Anyone who spends much time around me soon learns that I am most definitely a reader.

I read any and every thing that comes my way, from the credits before and after a movie to the thickest novel I can find.

Occasionally I read a book while watching a movie on television at the same time.

Occasionally, too, I feel that I'm part of a dying breed...that most youngsters these days are interested only in video games and television.

My faith has been restored though!

Last week I was called upon to do a library program. I was faced with a roomful of eager youngsters, ranging from about 8 to 13 years old.

They listened attentively, asked pertinent questions, and were a delight.

Best of all, though, was their eagerness to check out books from the librarian before and after my little presentation.

They poured over those books with as much enthusiasm, as much interest, as I ever did.

These kids left with books, carrying them like treasure.

And...indeed...they are treasures. It was obvious these youngsters felt exactly the way I did long ago.

I can remember the little thrill of excitement every time I opened a new book that looked interesting.

I can remember having to be called two or three times to chores or meals because I didn't want to leave my new friends, found between those pages.

Most of all, I can recall feeling a little sad when the end to a particularly good book came along. It was hard to leave the characters that had become so real!

Back then my mother had to take me to Paris to the library, and I nearly drove the poor woman crazy wanting to hurry up and get more books each week.

It was wonderful to see that there ARE readers out there.

Perhaps we miss that fact because we are constantly reminded of how much time kids do spend in front of televisions and such?

At any rate, it made my day...in fact it made my week...to see that there are lots of boys and girls who are honing their reading skills. I wish them as much joy from books as I had.

Overton Perry Recalls Deport

We received a phone call from Overton Perry Tuesday morning. Overton was remembering that the alley that cut main streets west side in two had Griffin's Hardware (where the axe advertising was) and the other side was NOT a grocery store but Cunningham's Dry Goods. Mr. Perry's mother was Florence Perry, who worked in the dry goods store.

Mr. Perry remembers the exact order businesses were in, from the Ford house, First National Bank, Glover's Grocery, the barber shop, drug store and First State Bank.

Any time anyone has any memories like this, drop us a line...folks like to "look back".

Thunderstorms Rage Through Area, Cause Damage

By Nanalee Nichols

Violent Thunderstorms caused damage to barns, homes and livestock as they swept through the area last week.

In the early morning hours of Friday, July 3, a massive storm front rolled into Lamar County from the west. It flooded Hwy. 271 briefly, as swollen creeks sprang out of their banks, washing gravel roads severely. Three to four inches of rain fell within a two hour period.

Lightning caused damage to a number of homes. Volunteer fire departments from Pattonville and Deport responded to the call from Raymond Crossland when lightning knocked out all their lights, damaged their electrical appliances and exploded two windows. Oddly, the lights in Crossland's Garage, next door, were turned ON and fused that way!

Several other people reported lightning damage to televisions and antennas.

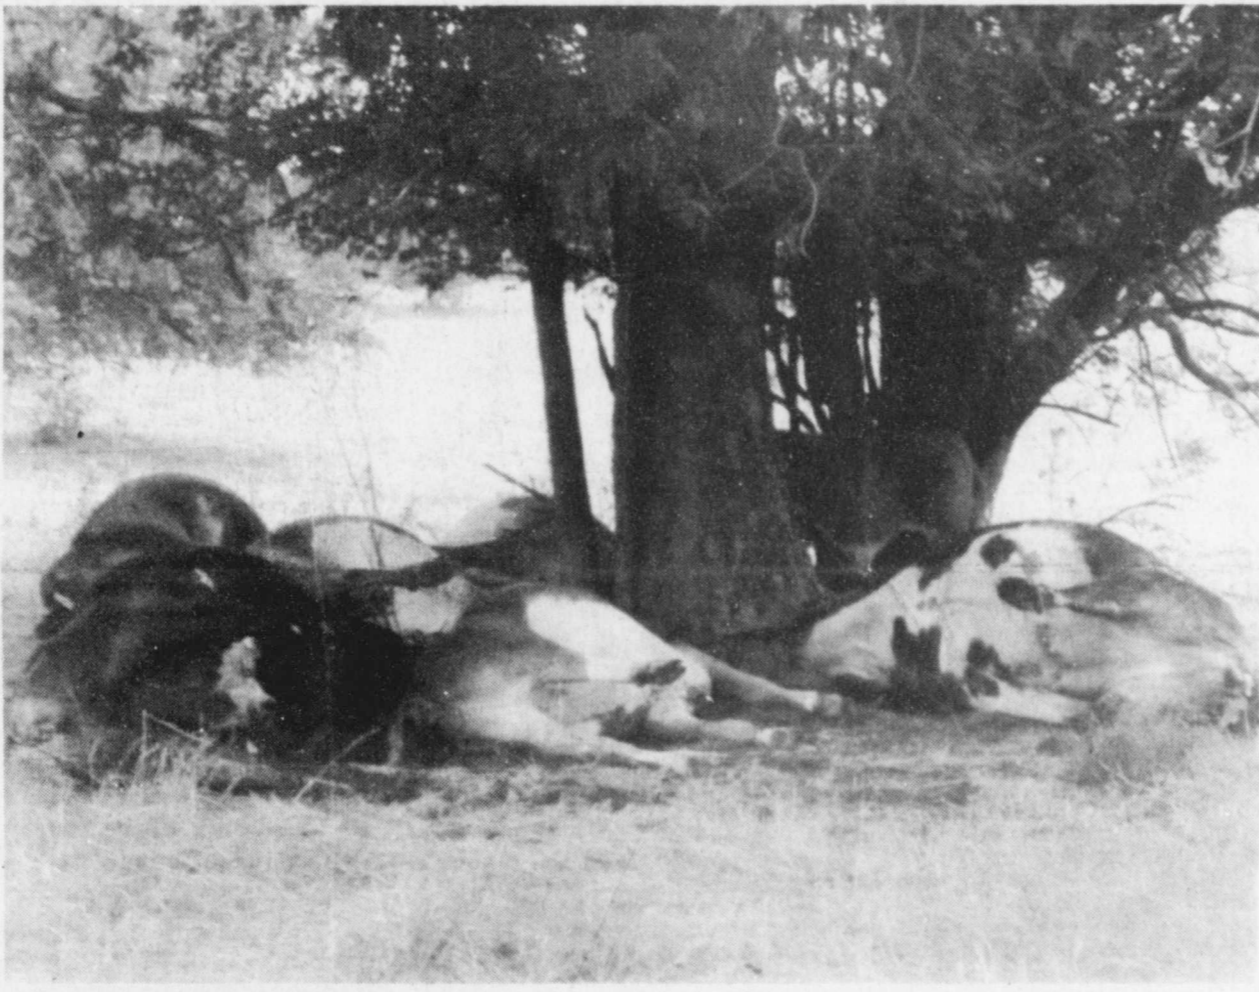

One of the biggest losses dollar-wise was the loss Jamie Barham suffered when seven grown cows and a large calf were struck and killed instantly by a bolt of lightning.

The storm system continued through Red River and Titus Counties, with an electrical display rivalled by none.

More damage to sheet metal buildings, electrical appliances and trees was reported in those counties.

The weather seems to finally be settling into a more typical "Hot and Dry" configuration this week, and farmers, gardeners and hay producers are undoubtedly ready for a rest from the constant thunderstorms and rain.

Newspapers Win Awards At Texas Press Association

Thunder Prairie Publishing's newspapers have once more won State-Wide Awards at Texas Press Association's Summer Convention.

The Texas Better Newspaper Contest was held June 26, 1992 in Austin.

In Division 7 the Bogata News won third place for Nanalee Nichols' column "Nichols Worth". The judges comments were that "Nanalee Nichols writes on subjects everyone knows and understands, and takes stands to keep the public thinking".

The Deport Times won fourth place in feature writing, with the judges saying "Wonderful Subject, good picture, good story, layout could have been better".

After winning two first place awards and a second and third place award at North East Texas Press Association in April, the State-Wide Awards were "icing on our cake" publisher Nichols says.

First place in column writing went to the Abernathy Review, second to Miami Chief. Fourth went to Lake Cities Sun.

First place in Features went to the White Oak Independent, 2nd to the Ingleside Index and third to the Freer Press.

The Awards were written up in the Winner's Circle, a tabloid newspaper put out by Texas Press Association.

One Dies In Shooting At Blossom Tuesday Night

Details were sketchy Wednesday morning at press time, but one man is dead after a shooting in the 900 block of West Front Street in Blossom.

Lamar County Sheriff's Investigator Gary Thompson reports that at 7:28 p.m. Tuesday, July 7 a 911 call was answered by the Paris Police Department reporting the shooting.

Lamar County Sheriff's Deputies were on the scene shortly, and the ambulance arrived at 7:36, moments after law enforcement officials.

Investigator Thompson says the victim's name is David Decker.

Thompson also says the shooting appears to be the result of an argument and that murder charges are being pursued against a 28 year old male suspect currently in custody.

Pattonville Holds 2nd July Fourth Picnic

While the turn out of people for Pattonville's 2nd annual Fourth of July picnic was not as large as the first year, due to other activities that were scheduled for the same day, they nearly doubled the money they made.

New activities, such as the craft corner helped to raise funds for the community center and fire department.

Dan Tatum gave both children and adults rides on his team of horses and wagon.

The horseshoe pitching contest was won this year by Rickey Moore of Clarksville.

The day long activities ended with a beautiful fireworks display in honor of July 4.

Everyone enjoyed the day, and seeing the new building.

Country Cooking

By Gerrie Bankhead

Hi, I'm Judy (Roach) Screws. In the coming weeks I will be attempting to continue the column that Gerrie Bankhead has done so well for the last year and a half. I just hope I can do it justice.

My mother, Donald, and I live in Bogata. He works at Campbell Soup and I work in the kitchen at Red River Haven Nursing Home. We've only been back in Bogata eight years, but it seems as though we never left. The only problem I have is that anyone who has been here less than 25 years is a newcomer to me!

Donald and I had four children. We had two sons and two daughters. Mike, our older son, went to Roxton and married Lila Fletcher, giving us a third daughter. Mike and Lila have three daughters, Bren, Kara and Hali. We lost our younger son, Kevin in a traffic accident in 1984 at the age of 23. Tana is our oldest daughter and Chris Anna is the younger one. Chris has three children: Christopher, Yolanda and Jerred.

When it was suggested to me that I introduce myself and share some of my favorite recipes for my very first column I thought "How Easy". WRONG!

I really enjoy cooking. It is one of the most relaxing things I do. I tried cooking at the nursing home but I prefer to cook at home. My cooking is king of "hit or miss" so recipes weren't as easy to come by as I had imagined. I'll share a few this week that my family enjoys and as we go on, maybe I'll slip in one of mine every once in awhile.

Donald and I hadn't been married long when he told me that he like chocolate syrup and biscuits for breakfast. I'd never heard of such a thing. So I went to his mother and asked how to make chocolate syrup and how to serve it after I made it. She said I should look on the cocoa box for the recipe and that I should serve it over buttered biscuits. The rest is history. My children grew up on it. The Green Enchilada dish is also one which my family likes. I don't remember where I got it. The pecan cream pie was one of Mama's recipes. The fudge and Chineses Tinga. A Lings are easy and also easy to carry places so that you don't have to worry about bringing home dishes.

You can also just take them on paper plates if you like. We are also fortunate to have another chocolate chip pie recipe from Mrs. Audrey Scott in Athens, Texas, just in case you missed the earlier one.

I welcome all suggestions, recipes, new ideas and anything you all can think of that I don't. My address is Box 293, Bogata, Texas 75417 or call me at 632-4543. Have a nice week.

LOOKING FOR BIDS- John "Rooster" Davis has full filled a life-long dream. He has just graduated from the I.Q. School of Auctioneering in Quitman, Texas. (Staff Photo by Denise Wood)

Davis Graduates From I.Q. School of Auctioneering

John "Rooster" Davis has just arrived home from Quitman, Texas, where he has graduated from the I. Q. School of Auctioneering. The school teaches every phase of the auction business and was established by Gayle Ingram, well-known auctioneer. The school employs ten of the successful auctioneers in their special field who explains to the students their art of how to become a successful auctioneer.

Bona fide sales were conducted so that the student had actual experience under the guidance of these instructors, and the students are really seasoned auctioneers when they receive their diplomas. Eighteen students attended this summer term. All of them were more than pleased with the training which they received, and the future the auction holds in store for them.

Mr. Davis' friends will be glad to know that he had taken up this pleasant and profitable occupation. With his natural talents and the training received at this school, we predict a bright future for him as an auctioneer. He will be glad to contact anyone expecting to put on an auction sale. In addition to this, he will conduct auctions for the benefit of the charitable organizations or any other organization that wants to raise money for a worthy cause.

Worms and Lawn Problems On Increase

By Paul D. Payne

The Fall Webworms began constructing their webs or tents in area pecan trees about the time local Army reservists arrived back in town from Summer Military Camp; however, there is no connecting between the two events. Many call the insect a Tent Caterpillar, but these are the insects that build tents in such trees as the persimmon.

The Fall Webworm will be with us for the remainder of the summer as there are normally two to four generations each year. Now is the best time to take control of the insect while the web is small and the number of webs are few.

There are three methods of controlling the worm. One method is to remove the cluster of leaves where the web is located. These leaves are easily stripped off of the limb at this time. You may need to cut the end of a limb off as the web becomes larger. Another method is to burn the webs out of the tree. Most use a long cane with a sack or cloth on the end. Others use a long pipe. Be careful that you do not burn yourself or that the pipe does not come in contact with an electrical wire.

The other method is to apply an insecticide to the weed to the immediate area surrounding the web. For the insecticide to be very effective it must reach the worms which will require more spray pressure than can be derived from a hose-on sprayer or gallon pump up sprayer. However, one has a chance of controlling the worms if the insecticide is applied to the leaves next to the web while the worms are eating voraciously and constantly expanding the size of the web by incorporating the leaves that have been treated.

It is not an absolute necessity that the Fall Webworms be controlled. They are not going to kill the tree and neither will they prevent a nut crop. Sure, they can weaken the tree if a large part of the leaves are eaten, but seldom does this occur. They are unsightly and tend to take away from the attractiveness of one's landscape.

The following insecticides may be used: Sevin, Malathion, Diazinon and Bacillus Thuringiensis. Keep in mind that the key to success is getting the insecticide where the worms are located.

Lawn Problems:

We are seeing some brown spots appear on some of our St. Augustine lawns. These could be caused by either a fungus or insect. The present weather conditions are ideal for some of our disease problems to thrive.

There are primarily two disease problems that will affect St. Augustine-Brown Patch and Leaf Spot. The insect that causes a similar symptom is the Chinch Bug. All three problems will affect grass in a circular pattern. Brown Patch fungi attacks the tissue that connects the leaf blades to the stems. Chinch bugs suck as sap from the plants while the Leaf Spot disease will cause spots on the leaves, crown, roots and rhizomes.

Since the Brown patch fungi attacks the connective tissue, the blades are easily pulled from the stems. On the other hand, the blades are not easily pulled where Chinch Bugs are working. The Chinch Bug is a relatively small black insect with a white dot in the center of its back. They move rather fast in the grass and can be difficult to find in a dense stand of St. Augustine.

Since the Chinch is a sucking insect, they can be controlled with Diazinon or Dursband. Brown Patch can be prevented by the application of a number of fungicides. Daconil is a good all purpose fungicide that controls all the major lawn diseases. Stop by our office and pick up a copy of bulletin L-732 "Control of Diseases in the Home Lawn."

Pet Care

by Cleo & Brad Conrad

This is the time of year to start thinking about flea control. Of course, if you live in a place that is warm all year, you should be on top of this problem constantly.

What should you do if your pet has fleas? First, you must know that treating the animal alone will not get rid of the fleas. Flea control should involve treatment of the infested pet(s) and thorough environmental flea control. Anywhere the flea-infested pet has access, flea eggs will be deposited.

Treatment of the indoor environment should be conducted by using flea products and mechanical control measures. The pet's bedding or other places the pet frequents (throw rugs, behind furniture, feeding areas) should be washed, shampooed or vacuumed before treating. Then, these areas should be vacuumed weekly, and the vacuum bag discarded each time.

Treatment of the flea-infested pet should be conducted the same day the home is treated. When flea control in the home is properly conducted, the once or twice weekly application of a non-residual shampoo or short acting flea spray is often all that is needed. If treatment of the home cannot be properly conducted, or if pets are allowed to roam freely, the application of residual dips or the continued reapplication of other products will be necessary.
