Rice Springs News

We are beginning to see a new light and a brighter view of the outside world as all the windows are getting washed at Rice Springs.

The calendar was rolled back this week as we had Corsie P. (Johnston) Jones back with us. It was Old Home Week. It was a very pleasant time as the patients reminisced old times with her. Mrs. Jones was the administrator of Rice Springs so many years and was here when it was founded in 1963. Mrs. Jones worked while Mrs. Klose took a vacation.

Joe Teague and Gene Sanders are working each day downtown at the Rehabilitation Workshop. They are packaging spoons and toothpicks. They are doing a fine job and we are so proud of them.

Toby Wilson Singers were out and the Gospel music was such a blessing to our people as always. We thank you for coming.

We are happy to have Georgia Davis back with us. Mrs. Davis fell recently and broke her hip. "Welcome Home!" Georgia.

We extend a special welcome to Mr. M. L. Blohm and Mrs. Susie Sloan who have moved here. We thank you for choosing us and you will be a special addition to us.

Our people are enjoying movies three times a week. We especially thank the Church of Christ for the loan of their projector. The Eastside Baptist Church will loan us their projector next week.

Our activities program still needs some volunteers. If you have an hour a week, we can Spurlack who operated a cotton gin where the Wallace Wooten Oil Company is now located. "I didn't know anything about gin work but, fortunately, every piece fit to perfection, and they told other gin owners and I have been swamped with work ever since. Even though the Jones & Son Sheet Metal has not seemed the beehive of activity in recent years that it once was, is no indication that business has fallen off. Countless jobs have continued to come into the firm but because of his desire to some day retire, he has farmed out most of the contracts to other sheet metal firms such as Fancher West Texas Sheet Metal of Haskell, Quanah and Dimmitt, Texas firms and others in the big country.

owners determination and desire to serve their customers with the best to be found in sheet metal products.

As long as King Cotton is the chief source of income for area farmers there will be a demand for large contracts for sheet metal equipment for our modern cotton gins.

It is highly in order to say at this time, "Hats off to the Jones Family" and to say, "Howdy" and extend a hearty welcome to the Fanchers and wish them continued success in their operation of this old established Haskell business firm.

THE LATE Rev. Jesse Jones, pastor of Jones Street Baptist Church.

JESSE JONES, co-owner of Jones & Son Sheet Metal, recently sold to Al Fancher, operated in this location for over 50 years.

County Library Receives Books

The Haskell County Library has received a five-volume set of books devoted to various aspects of Texas cultural heritage made available by the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art and the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities.

The five-volume set, Western art — from theater to folk to fine — range the history of the emerging West as depicted by the artists and artisans of the times. They tell of the battleground at Little Big Horn and the razzle-dazzle of the Wild West Shows; they picture the Texas homes of the 19th Century and life in a "Texasmost" city (Fort Worth) of the 20th Century.

Three distinct businesses were operated for many years by Jones & Son, to include the metal works, blacksmith shop, filling station and automobile accessories and many things now sold by auto stores to the public.

It would be difficult to name the many employees of the firm over the past half century, and an estimate of the many thousands of dollars paid out in salary to these employees, would be next to impossible, but rest assured that it meant much to the economy of Haskell.

One long time employee who is currently operating his own business in Haskell, is W. V. Felker, who was employed at Jones & Son for 17 years. Jesse said that he turned over the station, automobile accessories and their franchise with Firestone company to this employee. Money was scarce and he scared me to death when truck loads of new supplies began to arrive. However, he added, the only thing he bought and never sold was a two-wheel scooter which I still have at the house.

The C. Jones family made their arrival in Haskell in 1910 at which time the Rev. Jones began his service as a Baptist Missionary for three counties, Jones, Throckmorton and Jack. He held numerous pastorships in this part of west Texas and was the founder of the Fundamental Baptist in Haskell, which he served as pastor and which was served in that capacity for 10 years by Rev. Jesse Jones.

Jones & Son Sheet Metal has been in continuous operation through years of plenty and years of drought but has grown and prospered because of the

Bullock Opposes New Constitution

AUSTIN—Bob Bullock, Democratic nominee for Comptroller, said Friday that the proposed new constitution must be defeated for the good of Texas taxpayers and the state treasury.

Bullock warned that "special treatment promised on a willy-nilly basis to so many segments of our economy by the proposed finance section threatens to break the backs of the taxpayers, their cities and possibly the state."

"Tax relief is as popular as motherhood, and as virtuous, but someone is going to have to pay the bills. The millions of Texans who aren't getting special privileges should remember that," Bullock said.

He said that the total impact of the finance section has been largely overlooked because of more emotional issues.

"Our present constitutional pay-as-you-go provision is already strained to the breaking point by state spending which has increased almost 200 percent in 10 years and more than 500 percent in 20 years," Bullock said.

Bullock said that the "most serious criticism I've heard about the present constitution is that it's too old and too long, but the truth is that it's no older than the last amendment put on it by the voters."

"As comptroller, I would rather work with amendments than with bankruptcy," Bullock said.

Bullock praised the efforts of the Constitutional Convention, saying that "the long, hard hours of work and strain endured by the delegates have been worth a fortune by showing us that we don't need change just for the sake of change."

"Their diligent pursuit of every possible alternative has proved that our present constitution is solid to the core and obviously in tune with the wishes of the people. Whatever the Convention cost will pay for itself many times over by giving us a map of constitutional chugholes to avoid in the future," Bullock said.

Tax Program Given At Rotary

An excellent turnout of members and guests were noted at the weekly meeting of the Haskell Rotary Club, held at the Haskell Steak House at noon, Thursday, August 15.

Rotarian Bob Beauchamp was program chairman for the day and he presented Haskell County Tax Assessor and Collector, Jimmy Owens, who in turn gave a most interesting and informative talk on the ad valorem tax structure of the county. He further explained the breakdown in the various types of taxes collected, to include school districts, automobile registrations and numerous others.

Mr. Owens stated that county tax rolls in his office showed 21-million-plus in evaluation and that 97 percent of the taxes were collected. He stressed that the oil industry paid the greatest majority of taxes and that in due time with fields now being water flooded, that this would decrease and that if we wanted to continue living with present services, some changes would have to be made in other areas. He mentioned the Honestead Law which provided a tax shelter along with the new law regarding people 65 years of age and older, which lowered the tax evaluation over $500,000 in the county last year. Four hundred and fifty thousand dollars were collected by his office in different phases of the tax program. He answered several questions from those present at the completion of his talk.

The invocation was given by Rotarian Dudley Bragg and the song session led by R. C. Couch, Jr., with Joan Dean providing accompaniment.

Guests were introduced by E. J. Stewart. They were: Albert Davis, Rotarian of Stamford; Curtis Jennings, new manager of Lone Star Gas Co. in Haskell and proposed for a new member.

Mr. Jennings was a Rotarian in Whitesboro, Texas, where he was employed by the company prior to moving to Haskell. Charles Riley of Western Texas College in Snyder, was the guest of Rex Felker. Rhonda Woodard was also a guest at the meeting with her father, Dr. Ian H. V. Woodard. Mr. Armon Swartz of Landsdale, Pa., Rotarian of that city, who was passing through Haskell, and stopped to make up for record in his home club.

President Ferrell Coston presided for the meeting and reminded club members to be thinking of a good date for their annual chili supper which coincides each year with a home football game.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I have never written an editor of a paper before, but I feel compelled to answer the question, "What is a hospital for?" I feel that eight pages of newspaper could not possibly hold all of my sentiments. Since a complete answer will not be possible, you might accept the following:

The hospital is a place of refuge and hope for a 19 year old ex-Marine who has been blinded and faces the prospect of spending the rest of his life in that condition.

The hospital is a place of joy for a young couple when their children are born.

The hospital is a place of real sympathy and sadness when the man who adopted you and raised you passed to a better life.

The hospital is a place of compassion when a father is confined there near Christmas and has to have his wife ask the administrator to come to his bedside. The father has sent for the administrator because he knows that when he will be discharged (and he will be) he will be unable to pay the bill.

The hospital is a place of comfort and understanding for a middle-aged man who is scared silly because he faces surgery . . . and the list could go on and on.

The above are some of the many services I have personally received from the Haskell Memorial Hospital. The last one I mentioned happened last week and I am now convalescing at home. I have not mentioned the excellent care I received from the staff or the many things they did extra for me, such as fruit juice in the middle of the night, or coffee at five o'clock in the morning. To me, these are some of the finest people in the world.

As for our doctors, I think we are fortunate to have such fine Christian dedicated men. I can't see them kicking anybody out of the hospital when a lot of the services they render are free and they know it at the time. I am proud to call them my friends.

I will have to admit our clinic will overcharge you sometimes; however, they are just as apt to undercharge you or not even charge at all. I have been in business and the same thing happened to me. Things like that happen all the time and it is very embarrassing, or as Jimmy Durant would say, "It's hum-datin'!" I gather that Haskell has had at least one business man that never made such a mistake. I'll bet our banks wish they were completely error-free; however, as accurate as they are, they, too, make mistakes.

I wish that I felt that all of the taxes I pay were as well used as the hospital tax. I think we are fortunate people to have the fine medical facilities we have.

Close down the only medical facility in Haskell County? As far as I'm concerned, it will be after the battle!

Sincerely yours,
Howard Brass

To the Editor of Haskell Free Press:

We would like to commend our Haskell Memorial Hospital for the very fine service that they give. We are so very fortunate to live in a small town and have such a well equipped hospital and trained staff.

We have three very fine Doctors and a well equipped clinic and a well trained staff. We are so thankful that we do not have to drive miles and miles to get medical attention. We are proud of our hospital and clinic and appreciate all of you.

Sincerely,
Don and Gayla Nanny

To the Editor:

I would like to express my feeling of pride in our Haskell Hospital, the personnel and the general practitioners who serve us there. I feel fortunate to live in a town such as Haskell.

Mrs. Howard (Thula) Perry, Jr., Box 394, Haskell, Texas 79521

and hospital facility that we are privileged to have in our small town. One has only to live in a large city for a short while to appreciate the personal attention received from interested physicians and hospital personnel.

I would never consider living in a town of any size that could not afford me and my family medical attention and treatment when needed.

Sagerton News . . .

Representatives of West Texas Utilities Co. from Abilene and Stamford met with members of the Sagerton Community Wednesday evening, August 14, and presented the Community Center with two large evaporative coolers for the auditorium. This gift was about the best gift the Community Center could receive because it would have been hard for us to raise enough money to buy them ourselves. We are looking forward to using them for our monthly musicals and our "See-Haw" which will come up soon.

Curly Hays, West Texas Utilities representative from Abilene, made a short talk and praised the Sagerton Community on the progress they have made since entering the TUP contest and urging them to go on and keep up the good work. Reece Clark, Community chairman, responded with a "thank-you" and welcomed all guests.

The ladies of the community served homemade cakes, pies, and drinks and some played dominoes while others just "visited."

of Lewisville visited with Mr. and Mrs. August Balzer last weekend.

Randy Stone of Abilene visited with Kent LeFevre Sunday and Monday of this week.

Reece Clark was a patient at Haskell Hospital the first part of this week while he had some teeth pulled.

We welcome another "young" family to Sagerton! Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Bell and family have moved into the Cotton Bell house. Mr. and Mrs. Don Bivins and family who did live there, have moved into the Jimmy New house in town. Patsy Bivins should feel right at home, because it is the house she lived in while she was growing up here in Sagerton!

We are sorry to lose the Eddie Jones family, who have moved to Stamford.

Congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Vahlenkamp, who have a baby boy born Sunday at Stamford Memorial Hospital and to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vahlenkamp, the proud grandparents.

Fred Kupatt spent several days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. B. Kupatt in Fredricksburg and Kerrville. During his absence, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hewitt of Stamford stayed with Mrs. Kupatt, Kris and Kraig.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Tredemeyer hosted a fish fry in their backyard Friday evening of last week. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Spitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Letz, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Letz, Mr. and Mrs. John Letz, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Letz, all of Old Glory, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jennings and children of Haskell, Mrs. Barber of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Zenor Summers, and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert LeFevre, Kent and Jill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hertel were dinner guests in Stamford in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hertel and family, Sunday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cleveland of Breckenridge.

The Faith Lutheran congregation has voted to begin work on an annex to their church, and the contract has been let to Matt Verhalen of Knox City. Work should begin soon.

L. B. White of Haskell visited with Mr. and Mrs. Reece Clark and Mrs. G. A. Leach Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Laughlin of Fort Worth visited here with old friends and relatives Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kolb of Rotan visited with Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Counts and Margie last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Letz and Mrs. Edwin Thane went down to McGregor last weekend where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thane and family.

Homebound Program On In Schools

The homebound program in public school education is free, fully accredited, in the homes of children to attend school due to problems. For a student eligible for homebound, a doctor must certify he will be out of school four weeks and that he is able to study at home. He must not be retarded.

Broken bones, operations, rheumatic fever, muscular dystrophy, and other conditions which may cause a student to be unable to attend school are eligible for homebound. An enforced period of "easy" at home.

The homebound teacher spends four hours a week with the student. Homebound instruction is of great value to the student. It is a supplement in the student makes him feel that he is not losing out and getting behind. Guided study temporarily to forget problems, endure the pain, erate the long hours bed or otherwise rest.

Mrs. Dudley Bragg is homebound teacher.

WHAT IS A HOSPITAL FOR?

Dictionary says that a hospital is an institution for care and treatment of the sick and injured. It is from the same word group: HOSPITALITY, which means a liberal and kindly way.

When those two words into the picture as I bring attention to the growing number of complaints that are being made to my attention.

Let me say that the article Mr. C. P. Woodson in the paper last week has a lot of truth in it that I can confirm from some of the complaints I have received.

There is a need of hospital service here in Haskell every time, but because of Haskell County Clinic years ago at the clinic, we decided rather than to have policies that we would go to another hospital. Our policies include the patient in a very liberal way from first contact until bill is paid.

Agreement with the Haskell Clinic and Hospital since that time until now, has been with friends and in full capacity for others.

There are a few complaints as I know them and I will list any names until this every gets before an inquest.

One incident that happened similar to Mr. Woodson's patient in the Haskell County Hospital that was not tried and tried to receive it by the call light. This incident and after some time had passed, a friend in the hospital went for help because they thought the light was not working. The light was found working and the nurse came to help.

It is my understanding that it is hospital policy that if a doctor turns the hospital that you will not get into the hospital until you get to the hospital and the on-duty nurse if you need one. This has happened through the hospital capacity.

There was a stroke victim and it took 45 minutes before a doctor arrived. I would almost bet the Abilene Safety Hospital has a better record than that. If you have had a stroke or handled a victim, you know what time it takes in an emergency.

Woodson's case is the first one I know of a person who was taken out and had money and government funds for Social Security and Insurance.

It has been reported to me this past week the opinion of the Haskell County Hospital is nothing more than a building. The fine building we have that is supposed to be a hospital seems to be set up on policies concerning the support personnel minus all but a few patients.

We have some fine people working there and I have some good friends out there and I will say that it is one person to cloud the image of the clinic and hospital however he or she might be.

I expect this article will change the policies at the Haskell County Hospital. My purpose for this article is in support of Woodson's article and to let the readers know that he is the only one that has to seek medical aid.

Bill Cody Wild West Show Will Benefit West Texas Rehab Center

Bill Cody, grandson of world-famous Colonel William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody, will headline the Bill Cody Wild West and American Heritage Show set for August 22, 23, 24 in the Sweetwater Coliseum. Cody, an attorney in Cody, Wyoming, is an author, national lecturer, television and radio panel personality; owner-operator of Bill Cody's Guest Ranch and public relations representative for special events.

Cody was born Jan. 4, 1913, at Buffalo Bill's Scout's Rest Ranch, North Platte, Nebr., the son of Fredrick and Irma Cody Garlow. Soon after young Bill's birth, his parents moved to Cody, Wyoming. Following the death of his famous grandfather in 1917, and his parents in 1918, Bill was legally adopted by his grandmother, Louisa M. Cody.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska and Harvard Law School, Cody served five years with the U. S. Army, discharged with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Bob Estes, producer of the Bill Cody Wild West and American Heritage Show, says it is a "nostalgic re-creation of the thrilled frontier audiences of yesteryear." According to Estes, the show will follow the same format as the original Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, providing a thrill a minute for every member of the family.

The fast-paced show will include champion Indian dancers of the International Indian Exposition of Anadarko, Oklahoma, bucking horses, Longhorn bucking bulls and steers, Hackberry's Buffalo Stampede, a stagecoach, trick riding and roping and lots of cowboys and cowgirls.

Estes is a well-known rodeo producer, having produced shows all over the nation as well as Europe. Proceeds from the show will benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in its work with handicapped children and adults from throughout the Southwest.

8:00 p. m. shows are set for August 22, 23, 24 in the Sweetwater Coliseum. Tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for children. Tickets are available now at Boss 'n Boss Western Wear in Sweetwater, Laskey's Western Wear in Abilene, and at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Estes added that the purpose of the show in addition to benefiting the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, is to provide "honest-to-goodness" family entertainment for people of the Big Country with heavy emphasis on the frontier traditions that serve as the foundation for this great nation.

What Our Symbol Means to You

We hope you like our new Independent Community Bank symbol. We think it says a lot about us and what we try to be.

The Liberty Bell suggests independence— independence from outside control, free to serve our community with a total dedication to local needs, without a large holding company or chain operation telling us what to do.

The buildings in the symbol suggest the community. That's what we serve: the community. The scope of our activity is not worldwide, nationwide or statewide. We concentrate on the community in which we live.

The shield suggests the strength of the American banking system, reinforced by our commitment to the community. Out of our local independence, our concern for the community, comes a special kind of banking for you, personal and deeply committed to your financial wellbeing. Remember, you're an important part of us.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Another new agency of government is being created out of an existing program which provides legal services to the poor.

As of now, the office of legal services is in the Office of Economic Opportunity. It is able to provide legal advice to those who cannot afford to pay, but a new measure passed by the House of Representatives and now in the U. S. Senate, creates a Federally funded program run by a private corporation with a Board of Directors.

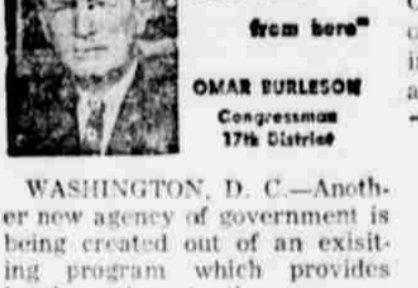

As the bill was first drawn, there was provided what is known as "back-up" services. This meant that the corporation could contract with universities to research legal questions sent them by its lawyers. It was argued that these back-up centers for research would be a waste of money and it was dropped out of the bill. Also deleted was a wide range of services in connection with any legal difficulty. The latest version would provide aid only in civil cases and not including criminal matters. It also has a prohibition against government lawyer's taking cases involving school desegregation, abortion, selective service or military desertion and matters dealing with political activities, labor matters or demonstrations.

Under the Office of Economic Opportunity there is evidence that in many of the larger cities, lawyers went out and brought in clients in whose name all sorts of claims were filed. In other words, the lawyers found the people to fit certain cases instead of cases fitting the individual. In many instances the clients realized no benefit of any kind but were used as a tool for all sorts of suits.

No one should be denied access to the courts when they have a real cause but for legal grievances to be created is something else. The record indicates that hundreds of suits were filed with little expectation of being finally successful but with a hope of settlement out of court or for a fee from the Government.

At least it is a hope that with changes made in the pending proposal, some of these ridiculous activities may be ended.

With consumer protection and 1,001 other governmental services, this appears to cover just about everything, except spiritual advice. This would probably be added if there were not a Constitutional provision separating church and state.

Scattershootin' For Boll Weevils
 By FRED PARKER
 Entomologist
 Texas Dept. of Agriculture

Blackie Sherrod, a well known sportswriter with the Dallas Times-Herald, has staked his claim to fame with a Sunday column headline "Scattershootin' while wondering what ever happened to (a once famous name long since faded from the scene). Perhaps someday, farmers and entomologists can add the name of the number one pest of cotton to this list, and magazine articles, research papers, and coffee drinkers might open with "Scattershootin' while wondering whatever happened to the boll weevil!"

Unfortunately most Rolling Plains producers currently report that "ole B-W" is alive and doing well! In fact, one-two seasons past, he was doing so well, that several counties, including Knox, Haskell, Stonewall and Jones, formed Boll Weevil Associations and approached the Texas Dept. of Agriculture for what's known in baseball circles as a "little relief pitching."

The boll weevil bullpen still contains basically the same old relievers, TAES, USDA, TDA, etc. Good men all! but so far, lacking that killer pitch so necessary to K.O. ole king weevil.

Fortunately, thanks to spring training and research, the group has come up with some new pitches, namely, sterile male release, pheromone traps, trap crops, early season control, and a few others showing less promise. However, the big gun continues to be what's now ole hat to most Diapause Control.

Although a fairly difficult pitch to master, once employed, it has been likened to Bob Feller's fastball. The theory employs spraying cotton fields in September-October, thus killing potential overwintering weevils before they leave for hibernation quarters. In this way, next season's parent generation is drastically reduced, thus, In-Season Control or spraying during the growing season, a policy somewhat similar to tap-dancing in a minefield is hopefully avoided. The cycle is renewed for the next season's crop by applying diapause measures again during Mid-September-October.

With this in mind, a joint relief effort using the TDA, TAES, Producer's Associations and featuring the Diapause fastball was brought to the mound. As for effectiveness, only this season's population will tell. However, Jones County, which has sponsored the program for the past two seasons, last year reported generally improved yields while counts showed weevils to be significantly lower in most areas of the county. Another TDA—TAES sponsored diapause county, Caihoun, a coastal area employing total participation with complete blowdown immediately following harvest, showed initial average counts of 4,000 adults per acre now averaging about 400 adults per acre after two seasons.

This year's program has been somewhat revamped in hopes of gaining more information on population suppression, program effectiveness, "hotspot" concentration, and in getting population information to producers.

Also, another pitch, Early Season Control, was added to the Diapause fastball by some counties. Dizzy Dean once told an opposing team, "Today I ain't throwin' nothin' but fastballs", and—he won the game! Something perhaps only Dizzy could have done. Early Season Control is like giving a good fastballer a super curve ball. Or, in short somewhat akin to having a team composed of the ole Gas-house Gang of the 30's beefed up with a few Yankee Clippers from the 50's.

Two of the most important members of each county's team are the cotton scouts. This year, they'll be employed as early as possible, July 15, and will check approximately 40 fields per week. Fields checked will be scattered over the area and results will be delivered to the producer for consideration should economical levels develop. Since most fields in a small area frequently harbor similar populations, results will also be summarized on a community basis by the CAA and will appear on a weekly basis in local papers. An entomologist with the TDA will also monitor the reports each week and assist in the checking procedures.

Cotton scouts are employed jointly by the Producer's Association and the TDA. Jones County scouts are Mike and Herman McGee of Funston; Stonewall County is represented by Miranda Meadows and Sue Parker of Pecos; and Haskell County by Darby Carmack and Mary Hollingsworth of Rochester. Knox county scouts are expected to be in service about August 1.

For additional information, producers may contact Association Presidents: Tommy Brown, Jones Co.; John Kidd, Stonewall Co.; Vernal Zetzel, Knox Co.; and Joe B. Cloud, Haskell Co.; for CAA's or cotton scouts. The entomologist working in the area will also be more than glad to offer any assistance possible throughout the growing season.

Remembering the boll weevil from a time when he's a member of the ranks of the forgotten may seem a little far fetched. But, there once was a USDA scientist, Dr. Knipping, who thought the screw worm might be eradicated after its successful culmination as a major pest, he began work on "ole B-W" and almost brought about a Federally sponsored eradication program beginning in 1975 Who knows, perhaps Blackie Sherrod may someday be able to refer to one of the world's most famous insects by "Scattershootin' while wondering whatever happened to the-boll weevil."

Trophies Awarded Sheriff's Posse

The Stamford Junior Sheriff's Posse awarded trophies at their annual swimming party held on Tuesday, Aug. 13, at Stamford Park. Trophies are awarded on the number of points earned at play nights during the summer.
