Fact from Fiction It's a scary world right now. isn't it? Terrorism, the world hovering on the brink of World War III, threats of bioterrorism, all of this conspires to keep us from having a good night's sleep.

But, somehow, we need to separate fact from fiction, possible from impossible. And, we need to learn to live with the tensions as normally as we can.

Over the weekend north east Texas was beset by a phenomenon that happens every fall. Balloon spiders! These little fellows spin webs that the winds catch and carry. Spider webs literally come drifting down from the sky.

But, this year, when the balloon spider web began to fall, people began to call authorities, fearing some hideous form of biological or chemical warfare. Better safe than sorry, I'll admit. But, we need to keep from panicing,

The rumors on the internet are amazing. Rumors of terrorist attacks at malls on Halloween, rumors of massive government cover-ups, rumors of events and warnings before September 11th

How about the one which alleged that the National Guard was armed only with rubber bullets at the airports? That one is totally false.

As is often the case with rumor, there is frequently a grain of truth imbedded somewhere deep. But that truth is usually overshadowed by flights of fancy, frequently misheard or incomplete information and just plain old

What do we do about it? Well, we learn to live with it. And we learn to try and find out what is real and what is not. And, we take a page from those people who lived through World War II. Did they live in fear? Of course they did. Rumors abounded. The threat of invasion was very, very real. News from Europe or the South Pacific was frequently not good. Did they believe everything they heard? Probably not.

We have to strike a balance, some sort of realitybased way of dealing with the huge amounts of information today's world has out there for us to "graze" on.

We must realize that this may go on for a long time, that we will never again be free of the threat of terrorism, which may take many forms. And, we must place our faith, to a certain extent, in our military, our government and ourselves.

Now that I've expounded on all of this, I confess that it's hard to do.

Once more, we need to ask God to help us "accept the things we cannot change, change the things we can, and give us the wisdom to know the difference"

RED RIVER ROOTS

This week's query is from Ina Wallace, whose e-mail address is stamperi@mindspring.com She is researching Thomas C. and Mary Bryan, who moved from Columbia County, AR to Red River County about 1858 and are found on the 1860 Red River County census with their children, Ann, Latha, Bethel and Laura Bryan. Living next door to them was Thomas Bryan's brother, James. Joshua Bryan believed to have been another brother, was living in Thomas' household with wife Laura and daughter amy. Also in the household was one solomon Cole, born ca. 1843. Ms. Wallace thinks that descendants may have remained in Red River County or possibly lived in Lamar County. Any information about any of these Bryan individuals would be appreciated.

A New Health System. Well Into The Future.

The Spirit of Healing.

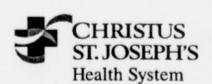

Advanced medical technology and quality facilities are important tools in our hospitals. However, we believe the people who use these tools are our most valuable resources. At CHRISTUS St. Joseph's Health System, our Associates work together to treat the whole person, both physically and spiritually. We may provide the technology, but our Associates truly provide the spirit of healing.

The Spirit of CHRISTUS.

Each day our physicians, nurses, therapists, technicians, administrators, volunteers and other Associates work tirelessly to fulfill the Mission of CHRISTUS Health – to extend the healing ministry of Jesus Christ. Our goal - from birthing, to cardiac care, to rehabilitation - is to combine the very best technology available with compassionate care to improve the health of those we serve.

The hospitals and health care centers of CHRISTUS St. Joseph's Health System are proud to be united in the healing spirit of our faith-based organization. And we are proud to be part of the community.
