Oil Derricks Topple in Monday's Storm

Wind, hail and rain Monday night did several thousand dollars damage in the Talco oil field, including dwelling houses along its path and property in Talco. Hardest hit were oil companies. Thirteen oil derricks were blown over and mangled. The loss to oil field equipment was all on the west side of the field. Texas Co., Shlar, Stroub & Stroub, Magnolia, Byars, Housh-Thompson and Dean Brothers all lost derricks in the storm. Derricks cost about $750 each.

Lucy Petroleum Co. had about $500 loss to buildings. A roof was blown off one of their lease houses and two pump houses were destroyed. They also had a derrick to wobble, cracking the concrete pillars at one corner, but didn't topple over. Some of the derricks blown over pulled the huge concrete pillars completely out of the ground.

In the same area the wind destroyed the home of Hiram Holder, who with his family had just entered a storm cellar. Walter Smith, school bus driver, lost a barn, and tells about two calves being blown into his field, without serious injury. The gin at Lavada was also damaged.

In Talco O. R. Medlin had a $60 loss to two plate glass show windows in his grocery store building.

An empty service station building, property of E. W. Smith, located on the new highway adjoining Broad street was blown off its foundation.

A. V. McElroy, living in the eastern part of Talco, reports damage to his automobile top from hail stones the size of hen eggs.

In the negro section of Talco a house owned by Wm. Beatty was blown off its foundation and moved back about three feet, with the loss of its roof.

All dwelling and business houses that never had leaked, showed signs of a very hard rain, and some furniture and merchandise were damaged.

Old settlers in Talco report that this was the worst storm in this section in many years.

From Talco the storm coursed across the north part of the county, through Maple Springs, Wilkinson, Midway, Argo, Cooper's Chapel and Lone Star communities, where various amounts of damage resulted. Later the Naples area was hit. At that place a large cotton warehouse shed was demolished and other buildings wrecked.

Probably the greatest amount of damage over the county resulted to crops and fruit trees. Fields of corn and potatoes were completely wiped out by the rain and hail in some areas and fruit tree limbs were broken by the hail stones, many of which were almost three inches in diameter.

The storm, which wrapped this section in sheets of rain and hail, gathered in intensity as it traveled southward and struck with tornado force the Minter, Cunningham and McCrury communities. Houses, barns and sheds were unroofed or partly unroofed in those areas and at least one person, J. W. Isenberg of McCrury, was reported injured. Mr. Isenberg is said to have started from the Tient McCrury home to his own home when he was stuck by a piece of hurtling tin. He was not seriously injured.

Houses Damaged on Round Prairie

A large number of houses on Round Prairie were reported damaged by the wind, the school house roof and two garages damaged at Minter. Water tank at the Minter gin was missing Wednesday and it is thought to have been blown into the gin pool, where it submerged.

Jimmie Womack of Halesboro, reports considerable hail and a near waterspout in that area. Crops and gardens were reported damaged, as well as timber, many big trees being twisted up by the hurricane winds.

The storm lasted only twelve minutes in Paris, but damage done by heavy hail and fierce winds was estimated at a half million dollars in that city and surrounding area, besides injuring two men when a roof collapsed. Melvin Williams suffered a fractured back and head injuries and Edwin Cothran sus-

Titus Grand Jury Convened Monday

The Titus county grand jury for the April term, went into active session Monday morning following a charge from District Judge R. T. Wilkinson Sr., who has been appointed to fill out the unexpired term of his son, R. T. Wilkinson Jr., recently resigned.

At the present time it appears there will be no action taken in district court this term, and all work, except for a few compromise cases, will probably be carried over until the fall session, which begins on September 16.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD MAY 4-5

Titus County Singing Convention will be held Saturday night and Sunday, May 4 and 5, in the school gymnasium at Mt. Pleasant, and one of the biggest gatherings in the history of the organization is expected.

Invitations have been sent to prominent singers in all parts of East Texas and acceptances are pouring in. Several special quartets have been arranged for the occasion. Plans to provide plenty of chairs and to install a public address system are being made.

Titus county people are expected to carry their own lunches for Sunday. There will be no public dinner, and the lunches will be served picnic style as in the past.

The main program for the convention will be held Sunday with a preliminary session Saturday night.

Aged Woman Burned to Death in Home

Mrs. Liza Kennedy, 74, burned to death in her three room home at Garvin, Okla., Thursday of last week. The fire occurred in the afternoon and those who attempted to extinguish the blaze did not know she was in the house. Surviving are a daughter of Garvin and a son who lives at Clarksville.

She had a fractured shoulder blade and leg.

McCrury Hard Hit

A fine young milk cow belonging to John Woodle at McCrury was killed and several cars were damaged when garages were blown down or were struck by flying timbers.

Later reports from McCrury disclose that a tree was blown down on a storm house in which Will Alawine and son had taken refuge and neighbors had to chop the tree away before they could open the door and free them. A 2x4 timber was driven thru a brood sow belonging to Earl Williams, killing the animal. Two negro houses were completely demolished and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bryson so badly damaged they were forced to move.

East of Bogata there was no storm damage and rain was light with no hail.

Just what the heavy downpour will mean to fresh-planted cotton in this area is not definitely known. In some fields, loose soil was washed over the rows and covered the seed too deeply for them to come out, unless it is possible to harrow the rows down before the seed rot. In other fields, terraces were overrun and seed washed out. On the whole, however, crops in this immediate section are thought to be in too good condition to plant over, though some replanting may be necessary.

SUCCESS OF CAMP CO. TEST MAY BROADEN ACTIVITY

Should the Moss-Venters well in Camp county come in with the expected production reported due about May 7, there is a strong possibility that tests will be drilled all the way to the Rodessa field, as experts are claiming there is good structure through Camp, Titus, Morris and Cass counties.

Cass County Gets Another Wildcat

Search for the Paluxy production in Cass county, aided by Standard of Louisiana's recent strike eastward in Miller county, Ark., is moving ahead as another location has been made definite.

Joe S. Griffin of Atlanta, holding a block of around 4,000 acres between Atlanta and Bloomberg, has staked his No. 1 W. H. Daniel as a 4,000-foot test to start before May 1. Location is on a 101-acre tract in the Willis Pittman survey, two miles northeast of Atlanta.

The county has one active Paluxy test to the north at Stillier No. 1 Glass, Paxon survey, west of Alamo Mills, now going ahead below surface pipe set at 120 feet.

Humble to Provide Talco Refinery with 3,000 Barrels of Oil

To prevent Talco operators from asking an allowable hike, Humble agreed, in a hearing before the Railroad Commission, to provide the Talco Refinery with 3,000 barrels, which Marion Church, speaking for the Talco field, said would enable it to continue operations without a field increase.

Another asphalt crude producing field, however, Cayuga, Anderson county, sought an increase to supply refinery demand. To supply the Pan-American, 15,8000 barrels daily was asked.

Daily Flow Will be Cut During May

A ten per cent horizontal reduction in Texas' oil allowable for May, agreed upon by the State Railroad Commission, was expected to be set today. The current daily allowable is 1,528,555 barrels.

The commissioners agreed on 14 days shutdown for the East Texas field, but whether the rest of the state would be closed would depend on further study of the situation and the detailed proration order. Commissioner Thompson said.

Thompson declared the reduction would bring the state's petroleum output into line with the Federal Bureau of Mines' estimate that 1,344,200 barrels would be needed daily from Texas during May to meet market demand.

The April schedule stipulated 12 shutdown days for the East Texas field and one statewide closing day. Operators, however, were permitted to produce 29 days allowable over a 30-day period if they chose.

Comparison Between Chickens and Cotton

A well known feed company makes a comparison of 100 hens with the income of five bales of cotton. Here is how they figure it:

1 bale of cotton 500 pounds.
1 pound of cotton 8 1/2 cents.
500 pounds of cotton $42.50.
5 bales of cotton $212.50.
1 hen lays 185 eggs.
1 egg brings 1 1/2 cents.
185 eggs bring $2.77 1/2.
100 hens return $277.50.
This shows a difference of $65.00 in favor of the hens.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

AUSTIN.—Withdrawal of Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, and entrance of the Fergusons in the governor's race, many political observers here believe, raises a serious question of the ability of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to win renomination for a second term as governor of Texas.

The Fergusons, all observers agree, will poll a considerable vote. It may be substantially lower than the big votes they collected during Jim's hey-day as a campaigner, but nobody here is willing to discount Jim's past record when he or Ma is the candidate, despite their failure to deliver the vote to other candidates they have supported. Sadler, too, will cut off considerable numbers of votes that went to O'Daniel last time, with his appeals to the old folks and his extravagant promises of wider social security benefits.

Thompson's decision to run for congress in his home district, where Marvin Jones will step out to become a Federal judge, has greatly strengthened the position of Harry Hines, highway commissioner, since most students of the situation agree that Hines and Thompson would have divided the "conservative" group of thinking voters, while O'Daniel, Sadler and the Fergusons are appealing to much the same group.

Makes No Promises

Hines so far has kept strictly away from extravagant promises, and his advocacy of an omnibus tax bill that will raise a moderate amount of revenue to carry out the present social security program, appeals to common-sense voters, since the state's recent legislative history reveals that an omnibus bill, with the tax load distributed among natural resources and other lines of business, is the only important revenue raising legislation that has gotten by the legislature in many years. Allred used it successfully to get revenue during his administration, and neither sales taxes nor "single-shot" tax bills could be pushed through the House and Senate. Many believe that the same situation prevails today.

Indications here are that the O'Daniel advisors are becoming worried about their candidate's reelection. O'Daniel's establishment of a campaign sheet, which he calls a newspaper; the sloppy publicity over the O'Daniel gesture to the churches, in connection with his flour company's certificate scheme, and his rather desperate efforts to make some political thunder with some of his appointments, are seen as indications the O'Daniel camp is beginning to wonder what may happen in July. O'Daniel still has some big business support, based on a hope for another two-year stalemate on taxes; but he has largely lost the small-town businessmen who hoped for a "business administration," and got a sales taxer. Big business is very handy to have around, when campaign financing is to be done; but little businessmen cast more votes, and influence more of their neighbors, than corporation officials.

New Chief Justice

The appointment of W. F. Moore of Paris, chief assistant to Attorney General Gerald Mann, as chief justice of the State Supreme Court, placed an able lawyer on the state's highest court bench. It may also have created a friendlier feeling among the supporters of the Attorney General toward O'Daniel. Grover Sellers, former Court of Appeals Justice from Texarkana, succeeded Judge Moore as Mann's chief aide, and he likewise, is an able attorney with eminent professional standing. One of the secrets of the remarkable record Mann has made as the state's chief law officer has been his ability to select and induce capable attorneys to serve on his staff at the meager pay which is allowed assistants to the Attorney General. Judge Moore must stand for election to serve out the unexpired term of the late Justice Cureton (two years), and it is indicated he will have opposition. But the appointment gives him a distinct advantage.

Girls' Teeth Sounder Than Those of Boys

Hen Lays Egg by the Light of the Moon

The old hen that cackled in the pot is a back number compared to a hen belonging to Mrs. Will Clarkston of the Fulbright section. Johnny Kerbow of that area reports that one night last week Mrs. Clarkston was awakened about 3 o'clock in the morning by a loud cackling. Thinking someone was disturbing her hens, she got up to investigate and found one of her hens coming off the nest leaving a freshly laid egg behind her.

It is thought the hen got her visual senses out of order by the recent eclipse of the sun and mistook the moonlight for sunlight.

Why join a church? This is a good question. There are many reasons why. Many people do not feel the importance of the church and give it no consideration whatever. Here is my answer to the above question: For your own soul's sake, for your family's sake, for God's glory.

Do not seek to join the church without first finding the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal savior. If you have found Him as a savior, then you should join His church. Our church welcomes you. Come.

MEADOW WATERWAYS SAVE SOIL

Meadow waterways, such as the one shown in this photograph, are parts of the complete conservation system on many farms in demonstration projects of the Soil Conservation Service. These meadows, many of them developed from formerly idle land, provide additional hay for farm livestock, furnish a safe outlet for terrace water, utilize a part of this water in the production of forage, and often provide better land utilization for the area converted to meadow.

In the Bogata area over 200 acres are being used as safe outlets for water from terrace systems.

Boss Suggs established a meadow sod waterway on the Edna Howison farm north of Bogata last year and with one growing season this waterway has become well established and is now ready to carry the runoff water from the terrace system planned on this farm. In addition Mr. Suggs will be able to utilize the grass from this meadow for hay this year.

A complete conservation system is being established on this farm using a crop rotation, contour cultivation, vegetative protection in the form of erosion control strips and a planned terrace system which includes the meadow sod waterway in a coordinated attack on erosion.

An epidemic of rabies struck last week at Blossom and twenty-two persons were given vaccine after one death was believed due to hydrophobia. All dogs in the area were ordered killed or shut up for three weeks. Citizens of this section, who went through a mad dog scare last year, should be warned and take proper precautions against stray dogs.

Comes an invitation to attend the second annual Texas Farm Chermurgic Conference at Denton April 26-27 and see the wonders of chemistry as applied to the transformation of farm products into new and wonderful uses. This infant science is meaning more and more to the world each year and we would like very much to attend and become better acquainted with its application.

Oh, advertising, the crimes that are committed in thy name! Looks like it has gotten to the point where any organization or society which desires to raise money, hatches up some scheme to get merchants' names on this or that program, school curtain, song book, ad libitum. It is a racket—pure and simple. The merchant spends his advertising money for this, that and the other, which does not help him to sell goods, cuts down on or passes up entirely his newspaper and then wonders why his trade is "falling off." The reason is very simple.

If it is true that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," then there is all the more reason people in this and surrounding communities should attend the Titus county singing convention to be held in Mt. Pleasant on Saturday night and Sunday, May 4-5, though we don't mean to say that any person in this section hath a savage breast—that's the way the poet wrote it, and everyone is a savage to a poet except the poet himself. What we mean is that we hope people will turn out for this singing in grand style, for music does soften the soul and brings a new sense of harmony into the heart. Any fellow with a hymn book in his hands and his vocal cords stretched to capacity is safe company for even the most timid of Mr. Milktoasts. A little old time gospel singing in Germany might rid that country of the germ of Hitlerism and drown the threat of expanding dictatorship in a flood of harmony.

Advertising Saved Industry Ice Man Asserts

Liberal and intelligent use of advertising over the last five years has checked the downward path of the ice industry and started it on the upgrade, O. T. Clark, Fort Worth ice operator and one of the organizers of the movement, told the Dallas Advertising League at the Baker Hotel.

"It was no simple task to start

EDITORIALY SPEAKING

BURT LOCKHART

Another great American joke is passing laws limiting campaign expenditures.

In this streamlined age it seems that life consists mostly of doing and undoing.

As we understand it, a transaction tax by any other name is still an obnoxious tax.

What the country needs is a candidate whose promises to do are only exceeded by his ability to do.

Saving for a rainy day would be more of a joy if we did not have to spend all our money for umbrellas.

As soon as the campaign gets under way, we will hear our favorite candidate in a roast-to-roast hook-up.

Nobody knows what is going to happen to television. Scientists have the vision, but time will do the telling.

The opera singer evidently feels that life is just one long sweet song, as long as she gets a thousand dollars for each song.

If old man Ananias were to come back to earth he would take one look at Europe and pride himself that he was not such a liar after all.

Money is not everything. There's the seventeen billion dollars in gold buried in that Kentucky hole. Nobody can buy a sack of peanuts with it.

Up in Massachusetts there is a town named Ware. It is two hundred and sixty-seven years old. A striking sign just on the edge of the little city reads: "The Town That Can't Be Licked." We'll bet that town has one hundred per cent co-operation among its eight thousand people.

RED RIVER CO. SOIL DISTRICT ELECTION SET

Saturday, May 25, has been set as voting date on which farmers will decide if a soil and water conservation district is to be created in Red River county. As a part of a series of meetings which are being held over the county, County Agent W. T. Posey and Pat Beadle of Clarksville, spoke Tuesday night at the Bogata High School auditorium to farmers of this area.

It was explained that the existence of such a district will involve no obligations or financial considerations. Such a district is expected to place the county in line to share in any program in the future where federal or other agencies would be available to assist in essential conservation projects.

Judges and assistants for the election are being named and polling places, with number of eligible voters for Southwest Red River county are:

- Cuthand, 50.
- Johntown, 25.
- Rosalie, 50.
- Bogata, 250.
- Halesboro, 20.
- Rugby, 50.
- Fulbright, 100.

7,000 ice operators to thinking about advertising, when they had gotten by so long without it," Mr. Clark said. "We tried a regional radio program over WFAA and it was so effective we turned it into a national show and augmented it with newspaper and other advertising.

"This year the ice industry will spend $10,000,000 for advertising.

"The results have been highly satisfactory, and today the industry is stabilized and prosperous."

Ain't that Sump'n

By NUMBER SEVEN

It is said that Mark Twain was much given to swearing and that for a long time his wife did not know about it, but when she finally detected him, she decided to break him by adopting the same habit. However, when Mark heard her trying to swear he only smiled and said, "You have the right words, my dear, but you don't know the tune."

We may all speak the same language, but swearing is an overtone to which man, by right of inheritance and environment, is peculiarly gifted. Women may learn the words but they never quite master the music.

For beauty that rings the bell of the subconscious being, nothing quite equals the intermittent play of moonlight on broken storm clouds. There is enough of eerie and grandeur in the mighty spectacle of wind-torn cloud and rain-washed sky to lift the slight figure of man out of the chains of his environment and for a moment give him a glimpse of that strange and haunting existence that might have been his before he was born or that might be his after he dies.

Fire Takes Lives of 297 People in Texas in 1939

Austin.—Two hundred and ninety-seven Texans died during 1939 from effects of burns, according to figures compiled by the state fire insurance department, with the most deadly type of accident—trapped in burning dwellings—claiming 82 lives.

These incomplete reports made available to the department indicate a slightly higher death toll than in the preceding year. Clothing ignited from being too close to open fires and stoves was the cause of 44 deaths during the year, including 12 children.

Fires from collisions and wrecks took 13 lives; burns, boiling oil and asphalt took four lives; scalds from coffee or tea claimed the lives of two children, and 16 died of burns received by falling into hot water; burns from electricity took two lives; explosions of unknown cause brought death to eleven; explosion of gas took eight lives; cleaning body with gasoline caused three deaths; improper use of gasoline took a toll of 31 lives, including seven children; lamp explosions claimed eight.

Once-A-Year Health Inventory Urged by Cox

Stock-taking or inventory time will be at hand in a few days, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer, urges every one to visit his family physician and have a thorough physical examination.

Each year merchants take an inventory of their assets to determine the condition of their business. Personal health is a big business for every one, and they should take stock of their physical condition at least once a year.

Perhaps it is a lack of persistent warning, but it seems to be mere carelessness that permits one of the greatest life-savers yet developed by science to be neglected by the majority. For, in spite of repeated statements concerning the advantages of early discovery and treatment of conditions which are only possible by way of a physical examination at a time when one looks and feels well, the antiquated idea of forgetting the physical until pain and illness overtakes one still rules.

Cancer, tuberculosis, nephritis, diabetes and heart ailments are below the belt hitters. Being master criminals, they attack silently, and frequently have their victims in their power before they are aware of their presence.

It is urgently recommended that those who wish to live throughout the year and other years to come, as healthy and happy as possible, should have a complete physical examination. The correction of any defects in their early stages will save much time, suffering and money.

Cows Have Ketosis When Fail in Milk

When a cow gradually gives less and less milk the average farmer says, "She's burned out." Agricultural experts, however, claim she has ketosis, a disease which can be corrected, chemists have found, by addition of carbohydrates in the form of corn sugar or molasses to the animal's diet.

NEWSPAPER ADS CALLED BACKBONE OF BUSINESS

San Francisco.—Newspaper advertising was described as the backbone of business by Arthur L. Scaife, Bridgeport, Conn., General Electric sales and advertising chief, when he returned from a survey of Hawaiian sales and prospects.

"We are expanding our advertising this year by nearly 15 per cent," Scaife said. "Last year we stepped it up 15 per cent and gained 22 per cent in business."

"Newspaper advertising is the backbone of our whole sales program. It exceeds all other media combined, and is the only growing medium. In our effort to educate retailers to be better businessmen we are seeking to help them to advertise more intelligently and more consistently."

More Fat Women Than Fat Men, Dr. Says

There are more fat women than fat men, says a Chicago doctor. The ladies might howl at that, but the medico's findings are substantiated by numerous scientific studies. Fat isn't a danger to health until it reaches a great excess. Then it may be a death warrant—as in the case of a 4-year-old French girl who weighed 256 pounds. But the heaviest man on record, an Englishman, lived to be 40. He weighed 739 pounds.

Rising to the Occasion

A small boy was asked to dine at the home of his teacher. His mother questioned him on his return. "You are sure you didn't do anything that was not perfectly polite?" "Why, no; nothing to speak of." "Then something did happen?" "Well, while I was trying to cut the meat, it slipped off to the floor. But I carried the situation off all right." "What did you do?" "Oh, I just said carelessly, 'That's always the way with tough meat!'"

Drug Farming May be New Industry in Texas Some Day

AUSTIN.—Dr. C. C. Albers, University of Texas professor, grows weeds in his garden.

While neighbors are busy weeding their home truck patches, Dr. Albers watches with pride his strange crop.

He is pharmacognosist of the university's college of pharmacy and his hobby is attempting to raise medicinal herbs.

Among his prized "weeds" is a row of mahuang. It is a plant from which ephedra, an asthma medicine, is extracted. The country's supply is imported largely from China.

Also thriving in his "weed" garden is coriander, which yields a tasty seed often found in the center of canny. It is a source also of an aromatic oil flavoring.

Wormwood, a prime constituent of vermouth and liniments, grows in his garden.

The drug patch is about one-fourth the size of the ordinary city lot, and in it is crowded plants from many countries and climes—fennel, chickory, madder, garden rue and many plants from which medicinal uses still are obscure.

From his experimental weed farming, Dr. Albers foresees a possible new industry in Texas, that of drug farming.

Charge Account Paid After 40 Years

Hale Center.—H. S. Cline had his faith renewed in human nature recently and the charge account system of buying.

More than 40 years ago Cline was in the hardware business in Packwood, Iowa. One of his customers bought a bill of goods and said "Charge it."

Recently Cline had a postoffice money order from the customer in full payment of the old account—$10.

United States No Longer Depends on German Ingenuity

New York.—Remember when the hospitals and doctors suddenly found they couldn't buy medicines at any prices?

When your colored shirts and dresses came back from the laundry faded white? and textile mills were frantic for dyes?

When tulou and carbolic acid, needed for explosives in industry as well as war, reached fantastic prices and special glass products for household and scientific use disappeared from the markets?

The whole world was dependent on Germany 25 years ago for such commodities, including near essentials of daily human life. Then a war blockade cut off the source of supplies. Worse still, the rest of the world didn't know how to duplicate these products.

Today the scientists of America and other countries have guaranteed that a similar crisis can never come again. American authorities declare that Germany hasn't a single important chemical invention which this country doesn't have.

Texas stands first among all the states in the production of cattle, sheep and goats, but cattle remain dominant. There were in the state on January 1, last year, 7,547,000 cattle, approximately one-ninth of all those in the United States; 1,700,000 hogs; 8,920,000 sheep; and 3,000,000 goats.

PATMAN'S WASHINGTON PARAGRAPHS

(CONGRESSMAN—TEXAS)

War Picture

A few days before the Scandinavian affair, the Allies suddenly placed a large order, on an emergency basis, in the tool industry, although previously negotiations had been lagging. No special concessions are made by the Treasury in depreciation allowances for income tax purposes to encourage the expansion of war plants. In one case where the Allies loaned a large sum of money for plant expansion, the Treasury agreed that it would not be taxed as income. Manufacturers are afraid if they build or enlarge plants to furnish munitions or war supplies that the war might stop and leave them holding the bag. Therefore, they are requiring foreign countries to protect them against this possibility before accepting war contracts. This will greatly help the United States, if we should need the output of these factories, since all contracts are made with a provision in them to the effect that the United States government will come first in the event of an emergency.

The American plane industry is having no trouble obtaining adequate financing for expansion. The amazing progress made by this industry (including engines) over the past few months promises a production that, within a year, the Germans could not hope to duplicate. Therefore, quite aside from the blockade, Hitler must win this year or not at all, if the Allies continue to purchase our planes. Observers in Washington look for a "total war" most any time now, and there is scarcely a prospect that the Balkans can escape involvement. Troops sent into Norway were, in the main, young and inexperienced, indicating that the best troops are being held for intensive operations elsewhere, probably on the West Front.

More Liberal Credit

The Jones bill to standardize all farm mortgages at 3%, with 40-year maturity, is making fair progress and, after some modification, is expected to become a law. It outlaws deficiency judgment; it permits farmers to default and then recover their property, after five years, they, in the meantime, holding it under lease. The opponents of the measure claim it is socialized credit and will, in effect, underwrite all farm mortgages now in existence. If the bill passes, one who owns stock will be given credit on his note, and if the note is more than paid, the remainder will be paid in cash.

Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas, the farmer's friend, former tenant farmer, Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, recently appointed Judge on the United States Court of Appeals, here in Washington, D. C., will remain on the job until the major farm legislation of this session is disposed of, although his nomination was promptly confirmed by the Senate. Congressman H. P. Fulmer of South Carolina is next in order of rank on the Agriculture Committee and will, according to the seniority rule existing in Congress, become the chairman when Mr. Jones vacates his place. This will give South Carolina the chairmanship of the Committee on Agriculture in both the House and Senate, as Senator "Cotton" Ed Smith is chairman of this committee in the Senate.

The Jones credit bill, if passed, will prevent a series of foreclosures regarded as certain within another year unless prices for farm commodities significantly rise.

Congress

Leaders are now planning to adjourn Congress by June 15. The House has passed all the supply bills (some in conference) except Relief and the Final Deficiency. The Senate, a few days ago, under its very liberal rules and, doubtless, depending upon the thorough consideration given the bills in the House and House Committees, passed 155 bills in one day. A bill to put a 10 year limitation on claims against the United States has passed both Houses.

WPA

Congress is now considering whether local sponsors should be required to contribute 25% of the cost of WPA projects. This is the present law, but it is claimed that some cities with a large number of unemployed cannot meet its provisions.

Re-Appportionment

Congress has passed a bill to freeze the House Membership at 435 after the 1940 census and force re-apportionment on this basis. Texas

Poultry is Worth $45,000,000 to Texas Farmers

COLLEGE STATION. — Poultry production in Texas is a $45,000,000 industry.

A check-up of figures from the USDA of agricultural economics and the bureau of census shows that poultry ranks fourth as a source of agricultural income in Texas, behind cotton, beef cattle and dairying, but ahead of hogs, horses, mules, sheep and goats, wheat, oats, grain sorghum, rice, peanuts, potatoes, onions, pecans and citrus.

Cotton brings in around $125,000,000, beef cattle $100,000,000, dairy products $80,000,000, hogs $30,000,000, sheep, both wool and lambs $30,000,000, goats $7,000,000, mules $6,500,000 and horses $4,000,000.

Texas ranks first in the United States in turkey production and fifth in chicken production, including eggs.

TIME ON HIS HANDS

Gent (engaging chauffeur): "And when you're not driving the car there's the poultry house to clean out, and the dogs to look after, and you can give the gardener a hand in odd moments."

Chauffeur: "Yes, sir, what sort of soil is it?"

Gent: "Soil? Why?"

Chauffeur: "I thought if it was clay soil I might make a few bricks to fill in the time."

Fulbright Is 1st in State FFA Contest

Cotton classing team of the Fulbright school swept that division at the annual Smith-Hughes state judging contests at A. & M. College on Monday, scoring 236 points. Approximately 3500 Future Farmers took part in the contests.

The classing team, composed of Bee Scott, Aaron Brumley and Ted Tompkins made the 236 point score out of a possible 300. John Harkrider, Fulbright vocational teacher, who accompanied the boys to the state contest, was highly pleased with their work, though winning important contests is not unusual for the Fulbright classes.

The cotton classing team was composed of two senior students, Tompkins and Brumley, and Scott is a junior. Brumley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brumley, Tompkins the son of Mrs. Callie Tompkins and Scott son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Scott.

Besides the cotton classers, Fulbright entered poultry and field crop judging teams and had one contestant in wild life judging. The cotton classers worked 25 samples of all grades and staples in the contest.

Though only the cotton classing team won a state trophy, Fulbright has other teams which have won consistently in district contests. Last year the class won a terracing machine in a state-wide contest.

Vocational agriculture was introduced in the Fulbright school four years ago under direction of Mr. Harkrider, who has continued as teacher. Each year his classes bring home trophies won by judging teams. Projects are also stressed and conservation practices, livestock and agriculture work carried out by the boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Harkrider are former Titus county folks.

Prize Producing Sow Gives Birth to Another Litter

That prize producing Poland China sow owned by Wayne and Forrest Grogan of Rugby has made another bid for more blue ribbons by giving birth to a litter of ten pigs last Friday. Two of the pigs, however, died, leaving eight, the identical number of the litter that copped the prizes in the recent Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth.

The boys have not decided yet what they will do with this litter, but are considering entering it at the State Fair at Dallas this fall.

A feature article concerning the prize-winning litter produced by this sow was sold last week to the Country Gentleman by Edgar Bryson, Number Seven on this newspaper.

PLAYING SAFE

A Scotchman and his wife walked from their farm home to the county fair, the wife laden down with a heavy lunch basket. Once arrived at the fair, he considerably turned to her and said: "You'd better let me carry the basket now, Mary, we might get separated in the crowd."

"John, dear, I am to be in an amateur theatrical. What would folks say if I were to wear tights?"

"They would probably say that I married you for your money."

Lonesome Bill Says Machinery Will Break Backbone of Nation

Editor's Note: We have received the following letter from Lonesome Bill, who it seems has been pondering the social insecurity problem as it relates to farming and has arrived at the conclusion that machinery will ultimately break the backbone of this nation's chief industry.

Dear Editor: I don't know what you think about it, but it's my opinion that if the backbone of this country is ever broke it won't be because of hard work but because there won't be any hard work to do. And I think machinery will do the breaking. I been studying this problem lately and it looks like to me that any machine that takes the load off the shoulders of the farmer is apt to also take the roof off his head.

Notice now they have come out with a new cotton chopping machine which they claim will take two rows at once, cover ten acres a day and do the whole job for as cheap as a dime an acre. That's what I call getting a big job done for a mighty little money, but it looks to me like the main purpose of the thing is to make farmers feel like they are really getting the breaks instead of going broke when they raise and sell cotton for ten cents a pound and then buy it back in house dresses and night shirts for four dollars a pound.

Maybe that's the machine Gov. O'Daniel had in mind when he come out for less Johnson grass in Texas.

I guess my neighbors will laugh at me when they read this, for they are bound to know that I've put my share of time to sleep with a fishing pole instead of a hoe handle in my hands. But I'm older now and I can see that if I, and a lot of others like me, had bent my back more when it was limber instead of holding my hands and stretching my neck so much I wouldn't be complaining about the cut in my pension check and O'Daniel would never have got to first base in the first place.

What I think this country needs is not a factory on every hill, though one now and then would be a help, but more farm houses and silos and a lot more farmers in the fields instead of at the county seats waiting for their pea checks. But I see my wife coming now and I remember that she wanted me to weed the garden to day. Looks like a man living with a woman is of many days and few pleasures.

Yours truly,
LONESOME BILL.

Talco Sewing Room Increases Production of Garments

Talco sewing room is showing an increased supply of finished garments. From March 3 to April 3, 778 garments were turned out, each employee averaging two garments daily.

According to Miss Lois French, supervisor, the ladies are being trained to keep up quality as well as quantity in their production. A goal of 800 finished garments has been set for next month.

Miss French says that women employed in the sewing room are all cooperative and appreciative. She and the employees express their appreciation to the merchants of Talco who are contributing toward the upkeep of the project.

Talco merchants furnish money to buy buttons, thread, dress trimmings, needles, etc. The government, aside from paying salaries, buys all material for clothing manufactured.

Letter from Youth Who Didn't Want Unearned Praise

Among the green hills of Vermont, in the farmhouse where, by the light of an oil lamp, Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office which made him the 30th President of the United States, there hangs a framed letter. The letter bears the signature of Calvin Coolidge Jr., son of the President, who died while his father was in the White House. Here is an inspiring letter written by a boy still in his teens which should be read by all boys everywhere.

Someone had written to Calvin Jr., calling him "the first boy of the land." In his answer, the son of the President in substance said: "I have earned no right to be called the first boy of the land. I deserve and want no recognition until I have earned it by my own actions."

One takes off his hat to any boy who refuses to bask in the reflected glory of a fathers' richness or greatness—who jumps into the arena of life and says, "I'll stand on my own feet. I'll fight my own fight. I want no credit for the deeds of other men—judge me by my own." America needs more boys like that!—The Silver Lining.

"Well," said she helpfully, "there's that flashy suit son wore at college last year."

"Yeah, but I want to scare the crows, not make 'em laugh."

Johnny's Chances to Become President are Pretty Slim

A Harvard university anthropologist recently came out with discouraging news for those millions of proud parents who fondly believe Little Johnny has an even chance to grow up to be president.

Nothing, declared Dr. E. A. Hooton, could be farther from the truth than the legendary theory, "All men are born free and equal, and all have a chance to be president."

Sixty percent of this nation's population are constitutionally, mentally and socially unfit for the position he added in an interview, and any educational program that anticipates such a possibility is just plain "screw."

"Half the persons put through the courses in United States schools cannot absorb the instructions, and more than half don't know what to do with the information when it is absorbed."

Referring to a survey being made in the nation by the Harvard department of anthropology, Dr. Hooton said:

"What we are trying to do is to grade persons according to their capabilities, mentally, socially and biologically. To do that, we are cooperating with economists, medical authorities and sociologists to obtain all the data possible on the great maladjustment that is causing more and more of our citizens of average capacity to land in insane asylums through trying to achieve a higher position to which they are not fitted

"We are greatly concerned about the senseless multiplication of humanity without economic or social use or reason. There is not work available for them when they do arrive and without work to spur man on, it is certain a tremendous deterioration of humanity will take place."

While we are taking the census in the United States, war is taking the senses in Europe.

Spider Farm Would Be Profitable

If someone could only find out how to rear spiders in large numbers for commercial purposes and start "a spider farm" he might have a gold mine. But it is a pretty difficult thing to tackle.

In the first place, the little creatures are cannibals and that makes it bad. Secondly, they demand living-insect food, and a lot of it. Thirdly, it would require about 57,000 spiders to produce a pound of silk. But their silk is so fine, strong and elastic that it is better than any other substance for the cross hairs in optical and precision instruments like telescopes, bomb sights, range finders, etc. It is stronger and finer than steel or platinum wire of the same size and elastic enough to hold itself tight and straight. — This Week.
