DRILLING IS BEGUN ON BALLARJ WELL

Drilling begun at the Ballard well 12 miles east of town Tuesday afternoon. It will be a deep test for oil, as the owners of the company expect to go to a depth of 3500 feet or to the gas sands.

A number of tracts of land have been leased in other parts of the county with the view of interesting other parties in making a test.

It is understood that parties at Saginaw have been successful in interesting a Wichita Falls company in making a test in that part of the county.

It is also reported that R. O. Harlan, an oil operator of Wichita Falls, has secured a lease on the Scott Ranch in the southeast part of the county and start a well on this tract in the near future.

A tract of land has been secured in the Vantage community and it is confidently believed by those interested that they will be able to get a well in that section in the next few weeks.

Wichita and Rochester both have the oil and an effort will be made by people of these towns to have a drilled in their part of the county. This gives Haskell county the prospect of securing several test wells in the near future and it is confidently believed that if the prospects materialize into a reality, an oil field will be found in some section of the county during the next few months.

THEIR HUNT MOVES TO DALLAS THIS WEEK

Mrs. E. J. Hunt left Tuesday for Dallas where she will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. U. Fields.

Mrs. J. U. Fields has been appointed "Mother" Hunt, as she is affectionately known by everybody in Haskell, to be identified with the business of this city for a number of years and her leaving is a distinct loss to the town and community. We trust that in the near future she will decide to return to Haskell and be home among us again, "cause her going to miss her."

A. H. KING RETURNS FROM TRIP TO FRANCE

A. H. King of Throckmorton, representative of this district, who has been spending the past six months in Red Cross work in France returned Sunday. Judge and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wright of Throckmorton were in Haskell Wednesday, Judge King left France on September 9th, making the trip in a less than two weeks, without any mishap on the way.

GRADUATES IN FIRST AID TREATMENT

A class in First Aid Treatment was recently conducted under the auspices of the local chapter of the Red Cross reports the following graduates:

Miss Lillie Leflar, daughter of Mr. J. E. Leflar was operated on at the Haskell Sanitarium Sunday for appendicitis. She is reported to be getting along nicely.

Ervin Potest left Saturday for Dallas where he will enter Baylor University in compliance with the government plans. He resigned a position as principal of the Lott Public School.

T. Therwanger of Weinert has moved his family to this city, where his children can receive the benefit of a high school during the present year.

R. Wallace returned from Kansas City and the Panhandle country Sunday. He reports everything flourishing in the Panhandle.

MUST MAIL APPLICATIONS NOT LATER THAN SEPT. 30

Owing to the fact that seeding of winter wheat is now in progress and the branch office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Wichita, Kansas, will be closed early in October, it is requested that all applications for seed wheat loans be mailed not later than September 30, to Leon M. Estabrook, Assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture, care of Federal Land Bank, Wichita, Kansas. The expense of maintaining this branch office another month for the accommodation of a relatively small number of dilatory or doubtful farmers would not be justified.

Farmers should not delay applying for a seed wheat loan because of insufficient moisture, because the approval of their applications places them under no obligation to buy or sow seed before the ground is in good condition, and they can take advantage of the loan at any time after applications are approved, or have the approval canceled, in case they decide later not to sow.

Hereafter, applications will not be returned for correction, but will be approved or disapproved on the facts submitted. It is especially important that the application show age of applicant, his mortgages and personal debts as evidence that credit is exhausted, the staple crops grown the last two years as evidence of crop failures, and in case of tenants a landlord waiver should be attached, or application be made at a rate per acre proportionate to their undivided share in crops. In every case county agent should sign the certificate of verification.

M. D. Abbott of Rule passed through the city Monday en route to Fort Worth on business.

J. U. FIELDS APPOINTED MEMBER OF LOCAL BOARD

J. U. Fields has been appointed by Major Townes of Austin as a member of the Haskell County Local Exemption Board.

Mr. Fields will take the place of Dr. D. L. Cummins as a member of the Board. Dr. Cummins will be retained as Medical Examiner. This change was believed to be best by the department on account of the increased work which the new draft will put upon the Board, as this will give three active members of the Board, relieving Dr. Cummins of much of the detail work. Mr. Fields has been connected with the business interest of Haskell county for a number of years and is well and favorably known and his appointment will meet with the approval of the entire citizenship of the county.

BUYS MCCONNELL & LONG INSURANCE BUSINESS

McConnell and Long have sold their insurance business to Johnson & Williams, of this city. The change was made necessary on account of Mr. Long preparing to enter the service, it being impossible for Judge McConnell to secure clerical assistance at this time and on account of his extensive law practice he would not have time to give the business his personal attention.

Johnson & Williams have been in the insurance, real estate, and loan business in this city for a number of years, and with the addition of the McConnell & Long business they will have one of the largest insurance businesses in Haskell county. They represent a number of strong companies and will appreciate any business that may be entrusted to them, and will give you the very best service possible.

C. L. Creek returned Sunday from Collin county. He reports crops good in that section, and especially cotton, which is making from one-third to one-half bale per acre.

G. H. Cobb, a progressive farmer and ranchman, and an old-timer in Haskell county, was transacting business in the city Tuesday.

B. C. Paxton of Dallas spent Friday and Saturday with his brother, R. J. Paxton and family.

W. H. Murchison left Tuesday for Bastrop, where he will look after business interests.

B. M. Whitaker and family motored to Hamlin Sunday where they visited with Mrs. Whitaker's parents.

FURNISHING BOOKS TO SOLDIERS

The American Library Association and the Army Y. M. C. A. co-operate in their plan to encourage good reading among soldiers. This is a corner of a Y. M. C. A. building in the Southern Department utilized as a library for the soldiers. "Foxy Grandpa" behind the counter is popular with the men, and each of the five hundred books in the little library are passed out on an average of twice each month. "Foxy Grandpa" has another responsibility. He presents a new khaki-covered New Testament to every soldier who asks for it, and a surprisingly large number of the men request the little book. In fact, most of the soldiers have made it a part of their equipment. They are furnished free by the Army Y. M. C. A.

Haskell Boy Tells of Visit to Historic Places in France

The following letter has been received by Emory Menefee from his brother Cole who has been in France for some time. The parties he refers to are "Spot" and "Crum" in his letter are Raleigh Lemmon and Gordon Odell, both Haskell boys. The letter is as follows:

August 15, 1918.

Mr. Emory Menefee,
Haskell, Texas.
Dear Bud:

You probably think that I have forgotten you, but I haven't. Have been a little sick for the past two weeks, but thanks to whatever powers that have intervened in my behalf I am feeling good once more and am getting my strength back. The doctor said that they could not do any thing for me and that I would just have to wear it out, and I did, but believe me when I tell you I was worn to a frazzle when the conflict was over. So, that is the reason that I haven't written anyone for the past two weeks. I have had several letters from most every one and I never expect to catch up with my correspondence again.

The next letter I get from you will tell me all about the election and I am waiting almost breathless for it. Of course I know, or I think I do, just about what the news will be, but your letter will confirm my thoughts.

"Spot," "Crum" and I took a little trip up into the country a few days ago, just before I was taken sick, and I must tell you something of our trip. We secured passes for twenty-four hours to the little town of Pont-Chateau, which is about seventeen kilometers from here. Now this said Pont-Chateau was the particular point we wished to visit but the place of interest was Calvary, (which being interpreted is "Calvary") which is some four kilometers from Pont-Chateau. About ten o'clock in the morning we secured three bicycles and started on the trip. Now, neither of us had been on a bicycle for years, but the knack seems to remain with a fellow and we rode off down the road just as glibly as though we were kids again. The clouds hung rather low and heavy, but one can never tell about clouds in this country as very often the darkest looking clouds will soon pass over and the sun will come out nice and warm, but as a precaution we took our raincoats. The truth was that we didn't care much whether it rained or not as the roads are all gravelled and there is no such thing as mud.

The wheel I had did not have a coaster-brake or any brake as to that. The one "Spot" had was a coaster but had no brake and the one "Crum" had was a coaster with a brake attached to the front wheels. He really had the only good wheel in the whole outfit, but it was heavier to pull than was ours. Of course I could regulate my speed at any rate desired as I could use my pedals for brake, but poor little "Spot" could only sit on his wheel and let it race down the hills at top speed.

We had hardly been on the road fifteen minutes when it began to rain, at first a fine rain driven by the wind, as the wind had risen, and then it got heavy enough to wet one through. We called a halt and put on our raincoats and got started again when, as a matter of course, the rain stopped. As it was rather warm we halted again and came out of our raincoats and started once again on our journey when it immediately started raining again. This time we did not stop to put on our raincoats, thinking that it would blow over soon, and of course, it didn't. We arrived at a little village by the name of Besne and pulled up in front of a wholesale winery where we could get shelter from the wind and rain.

Now, there is a law in this country which forbids the selling of liquors to soldiers before six o'clock in the afternoon, except on Sundays when it can be procured at any hour, but they did not hesitate to let us have a glass each of the famous "Vin blanc," which we drank, being afraid to drink "eau on account of germs. They had more barrels of wine and other liquors in this place than I ever saw in one place in my life and just think it was a village not larger than Weinert, and its no exception to the rule as they all have them.

After drinking our vin blanc we again mounted our wheels and continued our journey. "Spot" leading off down the road about a hundred yards just like a frisky little dog will, you know. We passed through some very beautiful country and got a glimpse for the first time of real rural life in France. The grain has been cut and most of it thrashed, but the lowly spud is the principal crop of this immediate section and they look as though the yield would be good. The roads have a fence of dirt about two or three feet high on each side and on this ridge of dirt there is a hedge which is thickly interwoven with berries of different sorts. Altogether it makes a very pretty scene when not in a hurry, but just lazing along, which we were doing. The whole country is intersected with canals which are literally full of water plants. There are big flat leaves spreading out on the water with here and there a big white flower and doing in between the larger ones. The bridges are built of stone and are very old and good to look at. Once after crossing one of these canals we came to a stretch of road that had chestnut trees on each side and the branches were so long that they almost met in the road making of it a sort of tunnel, or rather having the appearance of one.

Just before we reached Pont-Chateau the rain started coming down again

PRIVATE WILL L. YOE WRITES FROM FRANCE

The following extracts from a letter written to Mrs. M. A. Yoe by her grandson, Pvt. Will L. Yoe, who is serving in the American Expeditionary Forces in France. Private Yoe formerly lived in Haskell.

"This is a pretty country, most all of it is hilly. They sure have good crops here this year—their principal crops are wheat and oats. The people are behind the times on most everything. They cut their grain with a cradle and use one horse to their wagons. The old U. S. A. still looks good to all the soldier boys and I don't think that we will leave many of them over here after the war is over. I had a nice trip overseas, considering the number of soldiers that were on board. Believe me, Uncle Sam knows how to put his boys across safely, and he knows how to take care of them after he gets them over here.

"Tell Doll to send me Ben's address. I may run across him sometime, you can never tell who we will meet. One reason you have not heard from him might be that he has written to you and you failed to get it. You see, it takes from thirty to forty days to receive a letter and if one gets misplaced and you fool around for two or three weeks before you write it soon runs into months. So keep on writing us whether you hear from us or not, because we sure do appreciate getting letters from home—it is always news regardless of how old it may be.

"I can say one thing about the French people; they are certainly good to the soldier boys and they think the Americans are about "it." When I get back to the States I will have lots of things to tell you."

The letter closes with greetings and love for other relatives here.

NOTICE TO SEED GRAIN LOAN BORROWERS

All applications sent in from now until October 1, will be examined and approved if there is no need for corrections, but none will be returned for correction. When you have received an approval certificate be careful to follow the letter of instructions inclosed with the approval certificate. The method of planting the wheat will be left to the farmer, providing that he uses good farmer-like methods, and your planting will be approved if you use good farmer-like methods to put the seed in the ground. The farmer should choose the usual wheat sowing time used in this county, and after he has sown the wheat he should report to the Local Inspector so that he can secure Certificate of Planting properly signed. The other instructions in the letter should then be followed.

J. G. Foster.

MANY RAILROAD MEN BEING CALLED FOR

Railroad men at present unemployed desirous of entering overseas duties in their several lines may enlist through the United States Employment Service. Admirable fields are open from superintendent to telegraph operator, clerk, ticket agent, shop men, etc.

The railroads of the entire state are badly crippled for maintenance of way men, according to advices which have been received by Labor Examiner W. H. Wright. Evidence of this was obtained Monday when an order came from the International and Great Northern railway on its San Antonio division. One stretch of 116 miles needs 340 section hands. Bridgemen and others are also scarce. The Texas and Pacific railway is also needing a large number of men for this line of work.—Abilene Reporter.

Mrs. Ed R. Wallace is visiting her sister in Doddridge Ark., whom she has not seen in sixteen years. She will visit her son, H. D. Wallace of Arlington, before returning home.

Mrs. Lissie Sivills and son, Francis of Swearingner, Texas, are here for an extended visit with her brother, R. J. Paxton and family.

A. M. Hughes of Fort Worth visited over Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hughes.

Courtney Hunt and J. U. Fields left Thursday on a business trip to Ranger and other points in that section.

R. W. Cole and R. L. Vlek of Rule were transacting business in the city Monday.

LIBERTY LOAN QUOTA FOR COUNTY $75,100

Haskell County's quota in the 4th Liberty Loan has been set at $75,100.00 by the Treasury Department. Mr. R. E. Sherrill manager of the Liberty Loan campaign in Haskell county was notified of this effect by wire Thursday morning.

The County Committees are making arrangements for a limited campaign this time as they believe that the people are well enough informed as to the object of the Loan that it will not be necessary for them to put on a thorough educational campaign and make speeches in every school district in the county. However it has been suggested and approved by the Committee that a rally will be held on October 12, in the following places, Haskell, Rule, Rochester, Sagerton, O'Brien and Weinert. The Committees in each of these towns are requested to see to giving their respective rally the proper publicity and try and have everyone in their trade territory present for the meeting.

Half Rates on Seed

Farmers and Ranchmen are entitled to half-rate on freight on car load lots of feed shipped into this county, provided they make the proper application to place the order and have the Bank guarantee the payment thereof. Have the acting County Agent then o. k. this order. When car of feed arrives, secure your certificate for half rate. J. G. Foster.

SGT. RICHARD S. NOLEN RETURNS HOME FOR HEALTH

Sgt. Richard S. Nolen, returned home Saturday from Camp Pike, Arkansas, where he has been in the officers' training camp for the past two months. Sgt. Nolen will remain with homefolks here until he regains his health. He is one of the first boys to enter the service from Haskell County, going to Camp Travis, where he remained until he was transferred to Camp Pike. His many friends in Haskell are glad to see him at home again.

100,000 GERMANS ARE CAPTURED MONTHLY

German prisoners taken by the Americans, French and English since July 18 number approximately 200,000, according to French advices. The cable quotes French war correspondents to the effect that the German prisoners have fallen into Entente hands at the rate not far from 100,000 a month and that the German losses in killed and wounded have been heavier than generally reported.

James A. Greer, formerly one of the editors of the Free Press, who has been located at Gustine for the past three years as publisher of the Gustine Gazette, has turned that paper over to his brother F. M. Greer who was editor of the Rochester Express until it suspended publication last week. James A. has accepted a position with the Mart Herald and will move his family there in the near future. We wish both of these gentlemen success in their new location.

Jesse D. Hall editor of the Rule Review, who has boosted the "milk-brothers" of the west and the great Rule country for the past ten years, announced last week that he would suspend publication of the Review for the time being or until the west "comes back." Mr. Hall is one of the best newspaper men in West Texas and we regret that it has been necessary for him to make this step and we hope that conditions will soon be normal again, and we will find him back on the job. This leaves the Free Press the only newspaper in Haskell County and we feel that it is going to be a big job for us to take care of the entire county all by ourselves.

We will be glad to receive letters for publication from soldier boys who are already "over there." If you have an interesting letter from any of the Haskell County boys who are located in France, Italy or Russia, we will be glad to receive it. Do not hesitate to send it because it is from your son, or your brother. We all want to know how the boys are getting along across the Atlantic and there is nothing more interesting or encouraging than a real good letter from one who tells us of his own experiences.

We have received a number of good letters written by soldier boys in the training camps to their relatives, with the request that we publish same. We would be glad to do so, but we received a request from the department a few months ago, asking us not to publish any of the boys letters who are still in the training camps on this side. If this order has been revoked we have failed to receive notice of it. However we have noticed a number of our exchanges publishing these letters and it may be possible that the request has been withdrawn, but we would not want to take the responsibility of printing them against the request of the officials of the war department. We are at liberty to publish any letter that may be written by the boys who are "over there", as their letters home have already been censored—while those from the training camps on this side have not.

We make this explanation because we have several letters on hand that have been sent in to us that we will be glad to return if the owners will send for them.

A DAILY DUTY

Each day every American soldier in France is confronted by a great duty. Our army there has a great task to perform for our country, for the world, for civilization, and for humanity. Our soldiers are doing their duty with a courage and fidelity and efficiency that thrill every heart.

Each day every American citizen at home is confronted by a great duty, a duty as imperative upon him or her as the duty of our soldiers is upon them. The American people have a great task to perform. It is to support to the limit of their ability our army, our navy, our country at war.

To work with increase energy and efficiency so that our national production may be increased; to economize in consumption so that more material and labor and transportation may be left free for the uses of the government; and with the resultant savings to support the government financially is the daily duty of every American. It is a duty that will be met by every American whose heart is with our soldiers in France, who glories in their courage and fighting ability and their success.

BOND VALUES TO BE

Buying a Liberty Bond today is simply investing money in what amounts to a call upon dear money fifteen, twenty, or twenty-five years to come, according to the life of the bond. For money today is cheaper than it has been in many years. Inevitably, after the world war ends and conditions gradually come back to normal, money values will increase. In other words your dollar then will buy considerably more than it does now. Not improbably twice as much. This is a period of unusual inflation. Prices of everything that goes to make for the comforts and conveniences of life are high; higher than they have been since the civil war. In many cases higher than they were then, when they set records. Yet, following the war, prices declined, money values went up, just as they will again. It is an entirely natural and to-be-expected condition.

Inevitably there must be readjustments in production costs that will affect not only prices but wages. Men who four years ago were content to earn three dollars a day are now earning double that amount. And if they are investing their surplus earnings in government securities they are not only just that much ahead, but moreover are practically assured that whatever amount they invest will eventually be nearly doubled. So present prices of Liberty Bonds are no indication of their real worth as an investment. Four and a quarter per cent now and after the war are two entirely different propositions. Just as 100 cents now and 100 cents then will be different. But our Liberty Bond purchases this time will not be governed entirely by market prices of the bonds, although those bonds are just as substantially backed as the treasury notes you pay for them. Patriotism will overshadow price. We all want to help the Yanks. We all want our investments to be good. We will insure both when we buy a Liberty Bond.

Red Cross Notes

A number of our people have responded to the appeal for clothing for Belgians. If any others have extra clothing, please leave them at the committee, the Boy Scouts will come for them. In sending the clothes, please leave them at the Hub, instead of the Red Cross.

P. Davison, chairman of the Council of the A. R. C., says: Every household in the land has spare clothing worn or out-grown, and the value here, but desperately needed by the destitute Belgians. They have been fashioning garments from sacks, old blankets, sheets and cloths, which have almost disappeared. Today it costs dollars to have a pair of shoes made. For bedding, sacks stuffed with dry leaves or moss, serve as mattresses. Everywhere the need is tremendous. Your unused garments will be our suffering allies, as human beings should be clothed.

The time to give is limited this week—the week closing Monday. Another call which has come to the Red Cross and one in which most of us can have a part, is the saving of the different kinds of fruit stones. Perhaps an extract from a letter received will explain more fully: To save our soldiers from German poisoning, the Red Cross has been urged by Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson of the War Department, to collect certain fruit stones, fruit pits and nut shells. A nation-wide campaign for the collection of these materials should be carried on immediately and with the utmost vigor. These materials are greatly needed to make carbon, which is used to protect our men overseas from German poison gas. Remember, your saving of these pits and stones will help in the saving of our beloved soldiers, for death from gas is horrible torture.

All pits and nuts should be thoroughly dried in the sun, or the oven, before they are delivered to collection centers. Following are the materials to be collected: Peach stones or seed. Apple pits. Plum pits. Olive pits. Date seed. Cherry pits. Brazil nut shells. Hickory nut shells. Butter nut shells. A barrel will be placed in front of the Reynolds grocery store as a receptacle for these materials. We hope that all who eat nuts or fruit down here will remember this conveniently placed barrel.

Our stationery appeals to people of good taste. It is a likeness to other good values we carry for you. Jno. W. Face & Co. 38-2c

FEDERATED CLUBS MET WITH WHITMAN

The Haskell County Federation of Women's Clubs met in annual session at Whitman September 24, 1918. A large and enthusiastic crowd was in attendance.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Hutto, the County Chairman, after which the audience sang "America." Mrs. J. B. Smith of Sagerton then led in prayer. Mrs. Sam Treat of Whitman in a very pleasing manner, welcomed the guests, and Mrs. Ben Clifton of Rose responded.

The County Chairman then delivered her annual address, which was very fine. Mrs. O. E. Patterson of Haskell rendered a piano solo. The "Haskell County Unit of National Council of Defense" was ably discussed by Judge Kinnard. "Woman's Work in the Council of Defense" was interestingly explained by Mrs. J. U. Fields. Miss Neathery gave a vocal solo which was a treat to all. The reports from Clubs were interesting and showed good work done by each. These reports were made by Mrs. C. D. Long for Haskell Magazine Club; Miss Vera Neathery for the Haskell Symphony Club, Mrs. Sam Treat for the Whitman Club, and Mrs. Ben Clifton for the Rose Club.

Recess was taken for lunch, which was enjoyed by all, and especially by the two men present.

The afternoon was opened by singing the "Star-Spangled Banner." Little Robert McGlamery sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning." His sweet baby voice made it especially beautiful.

The talk around which most interest centered was that given by Miss Mary Haag of the College of Industrial Arts. Her subject was "Child Welfare," and every father and mother in Haskell County should have heard it. She brought her subject home to all, and made its vital needs strong.

A round table on "Child Conservation" was led by Mrs. J. B. Smith of Sagerton. Mrs. Smith made a very strong appeal to all and showed by statistics how slow we are to correct the terrible evils that are sapping the life of our children. Mesdames P. D. Sanders, Bailey of Whitman, and McGlamery made fine talks along this line.

The "Benefits Derived from Federation" were fully discussed by Mesdames Hines of Rule and Reynolds of Haskell.

It was decided that all officers hold office for two years.

The Committee on Resolutions made the following report:

"We, the County Federation of Women's Clubs of Haskell County assembled in annual session, do hereby resolve: That we highly appreciate the hospitality of the Whitman community and the courtesies tendered us. We also wish to express our sincerest thanks to the College of Industrial Arts for sending Miss Haag. And we value most highly the presence of Miss Haag and her instructive and helpful information upon child welfare and

In The Years She Suffered Nothing Relieved Her Until She Took Tanlac—Five In Family Praising It

When my wife showed a gain of six pounds on her first bottle of Tanlac, another member of my family started taking it and now there are five Tanlac boosters at my house," said Will Prentiss, who lives at 135 Porter Place Detroit, Michigan.

"For several years," he continued, "My wife suffered terribly from stomach trouble and what little she had no appetite and what little she forced herself to eat, formed gas that kept her constantly belching up sour, undigested bits of food and made her miserable night and day. Her head ached most of the time, she was too nervous to sleep well at night and felt tired and worn out in the morning.

After trying many other preparations searching for something to relieve her, I finally got a bottle of Tanlac and she is like a different person already. She is entirely relieved of that gas trouble, her headaches and nervousness are gone and she sleeps like a babe all night. She says she feels better than she has in a long time, and she sure loves it."

THE STATE OF TEXAS, To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Throckmorton County:—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Henry Parsons, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Throckmorton, to be held at the Courthouse thereof in Throckmorton, Texas, on the fourth Monday of October same being the 28th day of October, 1918, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 9th day of September 1918 in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 442 wherein Frankie Parsons is Plaintiff and Henry Parsons is defendant, said petition alleging in substance as follows: That on the 6th day of April 1915, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant, then a single man, by the name of Henry Parsons; that they continued to live together at husband and wife until on or about the 28th day of June 1915, when defendant with intention of abandonment, and without any cause on the part of the plaintiff, left the plaintiff, and has since that date continuously resided separate and apart from the plaintiff, and that since the 28th day of June 1915, they have not at any time lived together as husband and wife.

Plaintiff alleges that during the time she lived with the defendant she was at all times kind and affectionate to her husband and at all times conducted herself as a dutiful wife should, but defendant, unmindful of the duties and obligations of his marital vows, on the 28th day of June 1915, abandoned and left this plaintiff as aforesaid. That plaintiff neither caused, procured nor consented to such abandonment, and that plaintiff at all times has been willing to live with defendant, as his wife.

Plaintiff asks for judgment dissolving said marriage relations, for costs of suit, and for general relief.

"Gels-It" on any corn or callus dries it up once. The corn finally loosens off from the toe, so that you can peel it off with your fingers in one piece, painlessly, like peeling a banana. Great stuff, wish I'd done that before. There's only one corn-peeler—"Gels-It." Toes wrapped up big with tape and bandages, toes squirming from irritating salves, it's all a barbarity. Toes wounded by razors and knives, that's butchery, hideous, unnecessary, dangerous. "Gels-It," the liberty way—simple, painless, always sure. Take no chances. Get "Gels-It." ALLOTMENTS OF SUGAR CAN NOT BE INCREASED.

The Federal Food Administrator for Texas announces that the total allotment of sugar for all purposes in Texas for September is 16,700,000 pounds. Certificates for that amount have already been mailed to those manufacturers and merchants entitled to participation in the distribution of this sugar. It is obviously impossible to increase any of the allotments.

Requests from retailers in all parts of Texas, even from the drouth area of West Texas, are pouring into the office of the Food Administration asking for increase in the amount of sugar allotted to them for September over their allotments for the previous month. These requests are based on various and sundry contentions, but back of it all seems to be the desire on the part of the retailers, to sell more sugar.

In meeting the contentions for larger allotments the Food Administration has advised distributors through the County Food Administrators as follows:

"It must be taken into consideration that whereas certificates held by retailers in July and August represented only 66 2/3 per cent of their face value, certificates held by retailers in September represent their face value and have been issued up to the amount of 80 per cent of the sugar asked for by all retailers. In other words, the allotments to retailers on their statement 'E' for September is an increase of 15 per cent over the amount of sugar going through that channel in August. This increase has been made possible by a special allotment of two million pounds over the August allotment on account of sugar sold by retailers for preserving purposes in July and August.

"While these two million pounds will not fully replace all sales made on account of preserving and canning, the amount will help to even matters up somewhat. Therefore, District and County Administrators will please explain to those dealers submitting claims for additional sugar that THERE IS NO ADDITIONAL SUGAR." and this time we got into our rain-coats. We didn't discover the little town until we were right on top of it, you might say, for we came around the side of a hill when a low wall appeared before us and when we came alongside the wall and peered over it there was the town below, and its beauty was a thing of wonder as we stood there and looked down upon it. The hundreds of little whitewashed houses—that look so clean but usually are so dirty—with their slate roofs; the casual winding around through the town; the stately looking cottonwoods there in the valley and the people moving around here and there all seemed so peaceful and restful.

The Federal allotment of sugar for Texas during August was approximately 14,600,000 pounds.

TELLS OF VISIT TO HISTORIC PLACES IN FRANCE

Without other effort than to hold our wheels in check while drifting down the hill we arrived in the city of Pont-Chateau and pulled up in front of a house and requested information as to how to reach Calvary. Getting the desired information we did not tarry long in Pont-Chateau, but started toward Calvary which was four kilometers distance and which we found to be up hill most of the way. When we arrived at Calvary it was raining again and we went into another bazaar and bought a number of post-cards and a little guide book of the surroundings. They told us that we could not visit in the grounds around mid two o'clock, but as it was only about eleven-thirty a. m. then we didn't want to wait so long and we thought we would ride down the road and look around a bit, but we found that riding was a little old especially as it was a little hilly, so we started on the trip through the grounds with the knowledge that the only harm that could come to us would be for someone to invite us out of the place.

By accident we got started right and made the whole trip from beginning to end without a guide and without an error. The first thing of interest was a little brick house which looked rather rough on the outside, but which was very nice on the inside. There was some statues on the inside which appeared to be an angel appearing to Mary before the birth of Jesus; some small benches to sit upon and some smaller to kneel upon before the statues, and, of course, there was the usual stand for candles.

The next little building had some more statues in it, but I was unable to get the meaning of it due to my lack of knowledge of things pertaining to the bible. This little building was not more than fifteen feet square. After this we came to the birth-place of Jesus which was a sort of a cave which had been made there for that purpose. Inside this cave was the manger with Joseph, Mary and the baby all life-size and very natural looking. Then we followed Him through the different stages of His life and finally arrived at the garden of Gethsemane where the apostles were gathered around Him. Also it showed Him where he was alone with the angel during the dark hour just before His trial. Then we went down in front of a stone structure that looked like the front or entrance of a building, but there was nothing but the front with stairs consisting of about twenty flights. This was the Roman court where they were trying the Good man. There was a family of French visiting the place also and they were just before us at this point and we watched them and they started from the ground and went up every step on their knees, and at each step they would kneel and offer a little prayer.

After leaving this place we went to a well that has some connection also, but again my ignorance was annoying, and then we followed the path that led to Calvary. The first statue showed Jesus alone getting under the cross and at intervals of about twenty or thirty yards there would be other statues depicting Him in scenes enacted on that tragical day. The path that he was supposed to have taken was covered with rough stones and the entire distance from the Roman court to Calvary is something between a quarter and a half-mile and I understand that at certain times of the year some of the priests and members of the church walk this stony path with bare feet the entire length. The path finally leads up to Calvary which is a high place, about twenty or thirty feet higher than the surrounding ground, and there it shows Him being nailed to the cross and finally it shows Him and the two thieves hanging on the crosses of Calvary. One of the thieves is facing Him as though in supplication and the other is looking away. Then we descended the hill—from which, by the way one can see all the surrounding country for miles—and went to the tomb and there was the stone by the door and the two Marys and some men discussing the event. Then the last thing is the ascension which shows Christ leaving the earth from a small mound of rocks. You must remember that all this statuary is life size and is scattered over probably more than a hundred acres of ground.

Before leaving Calvary hill we could see a forest, or rather a jungle off to the south and we decided to visit it, so we climbed down into and out of a deep ditch that surrounds the hill and found ourselves in the back yard of a very old stone building with some nuns sitting there sewing, and that yard is one of the most inviting that I have seen since I've been here as there is an elm with long branches reaching in every direction making a shade on the grass that tempts one to lounge. The sight of the nuns sort of nonplussed us for a minute when a little girl came along with a pail of water and we asked her if we were permitted to walk in the garden and she said we were, whereupon we entered. It was the darndest jungle that I have ever seen. The little road that led down into it was only a narrow wagon road and the trees barely permitted a wagon to pass. The trees close to the road were of a fair size, but a short distance away they were so thick that they naturally were small and with all the undergrowth one could hardly penetrate into the thickets. The moss covered the ground almost entirely and it was real moss about two inches deep and as I would stroke it with my hands it would turn different hues. Then there were ferns all over the place something similar to the Boston fern, but they were from knee to waist high. These, with a good sprinkling of shrub holly, made a sight worth seeing and everything was as still as death. It seemed that there were no birds there and I wondered why, still I guess it is too gloomy for birds as the sun never strikes the ground except at rare intervals. There must be several hundred acres of this jungle, but I do not know what it is there for unless it is for the priests' place of solitude. I wish it was closer so that I could also use it when I get tired of looking at soldiers, but they would probably run me out.

When we returned from the priests' retreat, or whatever it was, we visited a small building at the foot of Calvary hill and there were some more statues there but they were of life-size. Inside of this building everything was very beautiful as it was perfectly clean. The ceiling was painted like the heavens on a starry night. I do not know whether we were supposed to enter the place or not, but I was determined to see everything that was to be seen until they asked me to stop. This little building has been there for more than two hundred years.

After making all these rounds we visited the cathedral. Of course it is not so fine as some others I have seen but it is rather nice on the inside.

There are a number of inscriptions on marble tablets in there, but it was in French and I couldn't read many of them. Just inside the door, and on each side of same, there is a small shell containing water and I noticed some French ladies when they would come in they would moisten the tips of their fingers in this water. What the meaning is I couldn't say for the life of me. Also they have the place for the candles and there were several burning when we entered. The candles were hanging along the wall with the price of the various sizes marked by them. If there had been no one there I would have bought the largest one there and started it burning, but I was afraid it might hurt their feelings, so I didn't. They never let the candles stop burning and light the ones from those already burning.

This concluded our visit at Calvary and it was about three-thirty in the afternoon and we had failed to bring a lunch and you can imagine how hungry we were after tramping all day, so after getting our picture cards together we once again mounted our wheels and started for Pont-Chateau and something to eat. We were rather stiff from the morning's ride, but the going was mostly down hill and it only took us a few moments to cover the four kilometers to Pont-Chateau. As usual "Spot" was in the lead and before I arrived at the corner of the street I saw him dismounting and I wondered what was wrong with him, but when I came up with him I saw that the street was fairly choked with people and I also dismounted for fear of colliding with some of them. At first I didn't know what it all meant and then I realized that it was Monday, and market day, which seems to be the biggest day with the peasants. They come from all the surrounding country and bring their chickens, butter, eggs, garden sass and whatever else they had to barter or sell.

We soon parake our wheels and I had a cafe already spotted for I saw a couple of good looking mademoiselles standing in the door and so we headed for it. No sooner had we reached the door than one of the mademoiselles beckoned with her hand and we followed her through the room where all the French were eating and drinking and she took us to a private dining room that was the swellest place I have been in since I've been in France. There was a real table which she covered with a nice linen cloth; a buffet; a china closet and a piano. The floor was waxed and I almost hesitated before sitting in one of the chairs or stepping on the floor. Everything was absolutely clean and as nifty as you will find anywhere and that is something that the common soldier seldom sees in this country unless he is putting up at a swell hotel and paying a princely sum for it. We ordered four eggs each, an outlet, butter, etc., and when she served it, boy howdy! It was the best meal I ever had in my life I believe. Of course my hunger had lots to do with it and then eating once more in a decent place had more to do with it than anything else. You know one can have just an ordinary old spud, or rather two spuds, cooked in the same spot and one served on the end of a fork under surroundings that are not any too clean and the other served at a place such as I have mentioned and it makes all the difference in the world. Well we had our meal with three bottles of beer and the mademoiselle was there most of the time to see that we wanted for nothing and the lady owned the establishment would come in every once in awhile and ask if everything pleased us. The mademoiselle could speak pretty fair English and she told us that she was only maid, but she looked good to me. She wasn't pretty at all, but the treatment she gave us won our hearts and we will always have a tender spot for her even though we never see her again. I asked her if she liked the American soldiers and she said: "Yes, I love the American soldiers." When we paid for the meal it was so cheap that I suspected them of not charging us the usual rate, but of course we said nothing, but we understood their generosity and in our hearts we were very appreciative. It was the first time that I have been treated real white since I've been here and I know now that all of France is not filled with people like these around St. Nazaire. Of course it is the same at most any big army camp in any country; the people lose sight of the big thing through greed and selfishness. I know that there are many of just such people in San Antonio.

After leaving Pont-Chateau we came back to the village of Benne again before we rested and I happened to be behind and saw a good looking mademoiselle standing just outside a door and I smiled at her, she smiled back and I called a halt a short ways on. We debated the question as to whether or not to go and but in and finally decided that we would. We found two good looking mademoiselles instead of one and a very friendly old lady and man. One of the girls could speak fair English and we parlayed with them for some time. They always want to know two things about an American soldier and they are: first whether or not he is married and, second, whether or not he is a Catholic. We can answer to their satisfaction the first question but the second we can't answer so favorably and they always seem perplexed and can't understand why so many Americans are Protestants.

Leaving this place we started on the long stretch for Camp Montoir and we were getting tired and would rest at the top of each hill and by the time we had covered half the distance our legs were getting shaky and my knees seemed to be getting wobbly. At one place we told "Spot" that we were going to stop and take a rest just as we reached the top of a long hill, but when he arrived there before us he kept going and went around a bend in the road. When we stopped we found the finest patch of berries that I ever saw and one could pick them with both hands and eat just as fast as they could be conveyed from mouth to stomach. "Spot" got tired of waiting and came back and then cussed us out for not telling him the berries were there.

We arrived in camp about eight o'clock and believe me I just barely made it over the last hill and I was glad when we got off those wheels for the last time. The wheels cost us a frank an hour and it was one of the hardest days work that we ever did. "Spot" said that it was the first time that he ever paid a whole hand-full of money to get to work like hell all day but it was money well spent and we had a good time and lots of fun. Sometimes I would get so tickled that I would almost fall off the wheel and all day long there was something to laugh at even when we were so tired that we could hardly drag in. We probably covered sixty kilometres on the wheels besides walking for three or four hours.

I don't know whether this will interest you much or not as there is far too much "we" in it and not enough of interest, but I had nothing else to do and wanted to pass the time some way. I have your letter of July 21st and it is a nice long one, but I am looking for the next one with more interest than any other for I know it will tell me all about the election and that is what I want to hear most just at this time. Regard, and write when you can. With love, Cole Menefee.

MAGAZINE CLUB ENTERTAINS TEACHERS AND PATRONS

The Magazine Club entertained with a reception at the Library Building in honor of the teachers and patrons Friday evening. The members of the School Board and the Public School instructors formed the receiving line.

Before the rendition of the program for the evening, the guests entered into a general, get-acquainted, hand-shaking conversation.

Miss Vera Neather favored us with vocal selections, after which Mrs. Reynolds, president of the Club, gave a welcoming address. Mr. Alexander, representing the School Board, was followed by short talks from Supt. Miss Glamery; Principals John Keeter, Miss Ellis and Mrs. Rike; patrons, Mr. Clyde Elkins, Mrs. Posey and Judge Sanders. Mrs. Cook of the North Ward gave an interesting account of playground work. Miss Gladys Hunkabee, of the Music Department, and Mrs. Patterson furnished the music. Punch was served throughout the evening.

Every teacher was present, and the one regret of the evening was that more patrons were not present.

"THY WILL BE DONE"

On last Friday morning there came into the home of our friend and neighbor Mr. Barnett, a sadness that always wrenches our hearts, in the death of his son John Calvin Barnett. On the 15th inst. John fell, as a result of which followed his death. He never regained consciousness after the fall. It was a sad hour when the loved ones were called upon to give him up. God knows best. He is too good to make a mistake and loves us too well to allow anything to happen that is not for our ultimate good. For we know that all things work together for good to them that love God. All that comes to our lives will work out not only for the glory of God but also for our good.

We greatly sympathize with the loved ones in this hour of trial and commend them to the God of all grace who is able to supply all their needs through his riches of grace in Christ. May His Spirit comfort them in this sad hour, and may they be able to say as Jesus did, "Not my will, but thine be done."

John Calvin Barnett was born September 29, 1884. Was converted and joined the Baptist Church in 1898. He lived a beautiful christian life since that time, a comment to be coveted.

R. A. Seranton.

Alex Edwards left Tuesday for Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he will attend the Old Confederate Reunion and visit relatives and friends.

Card of Thanks

We are at a loss to know how to thank our many friends for the loving kindness and sympathy shown us in the recent illness and death of our beloved son and brother.

It is our earnest prayer that when sorrow comes into your home you may have the same tender thoughts of love shown to you.

May God's richest blessings rest upon you all.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Barnett and Children.

The message reads:

CLOCKS TO BE SET BACK ONE HOUR ON OCTOBER 27

Sunday, Oct. 27, at 2 a. m. is the day and hour when Haskell and the rest of the country will officially see the passing of the first five months of "summer time" and will revert to astronomical time as the method of computing going-to-bed and getting-up hours.

The daylight saving plan has been in effect since 2 a. m. of March 31 through an act of Congress which provides that the system shall be permanent.

The law says:

"On 2 a. m. of the last Sunday in March of each year the standard time of each zone shall be advanced one hour and at 2 a. m. of the last Sunday in October of each year the standard time of each zone shall by the retarding of one hour be returned to the mean astronomical time of the degree of longitude governing said zone so that between the last Sunday in March at 2 a. m. and the last Sunday in October at 2 a. m. in each year the standard time of each zone shall be one hour in advance of the mean astronomical time of the degree of longitude governing each zone, respectively.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS ANXIOUS TO GET IN THICK OF FIGHT

George W. Titus, Y. M. C. A. worker, tells on his return from France, of the fighting spirit of our American boys.

He says "Our boys are so willing to give up the rest and easy time which they have earned by hard work in the trenches that they very often remain at the front and go into action with relief units, sometimes French or British troops, days after they should have been in a leave camp recuperating for another tour of duty at the front. At Soissons many wounded men came back to our field hospital after their own units had retired to the rear.

"It is difficult to understand how this could happen unless one had seen how our fighting men may become separated from their units in hard battles. They go over the top together but after that anything may happen. Thus it may turn out that when units are withdrawn to make way for relief forces, small groups will become detached from their own companies. While waiting around for some of their fellows the lure of battle will become so strong that they rush back into action with units that they have never seen before.

"In one instance where it was necessary to divide a company that was scheduled for leave and detail half of the men for reserve duty, the captain stated the case briefly and asked for volunteers. Every man in the company volunteered for the service that would keep him at the front."

At Cantigny, men were coming out of action practically shot to pieces. But as they lay on their cots in the field hospital they joshed and laughed in spite of the pain that they suffered.

"At one moment a wounded man would groan as a sudden pain darted through his body, and the next minute he would be laughing and saying: 'Gad, did you see those Huns run?'

"Men severely wounded would go unaided to the dressing stations. One man with both arms dangling helpless by his side refused the aid of two stretcher bearers, telling them not to mind him, but to keep on and bring in a man whose legs wouldn't bring him in."

Mr. Titus was with a trench mortar battery at Cantigny in May when the battery threw 776 big bombs into the village in one day. These trench mortars, which never had been used before by the United States forces, were most destructive and sent the Germans on the run in such a hurry that heavy guns which they had abandoned were found loaded and ready to be turned upon them when the Americans captured the village.

Disgusted by two Germans on the Junius Heights street car Friday night who persisted in a conversation their native tongue, a strapping foot man addressed them in this manner:

"Say, you squareheads, if you can talk any other language but the you'd better shut up and if you can't English you'd better talk it."

Has Never Been Down Sick Since Taking PERUNA

Read this letter from Mr. Robt. Minniek, Grass Range, Montana: "In 1906 I was out in Kansas running a threshing outfit and the threshing crew had to sleep out of doors. One of the crew brought a Peruna Almanac to me and I was feeling very ill from sleeping out. I decided to give Peruna a trial and sent for a bottle of Peruna and a box of Peruna Tablets, which straightened me out in a hurry. "I have never been down sick since that time. I do not take any other medicine except Peruna. I always keep it on hand. If I get my feet wet, get a cold, feel chilly, or a little bad, I take Peruna. People should not wait until they are down sick and then take it, but should keep it on hand like I do and when they feel bad, they should use it."
