Mayor Bond Calls Mass Meeting of Talco Citizens

Mayor G. W. Bond has called a mass meeting of Talco citizens to be held at the City Hall on Tuesday night, November 16, at 7:30 o'clock to hear a report of the attorney regarding the financial status of Talco's water system.

"It is important that all citizens attend this meeting and help us to solve the problem regarding the system that now confronts us," said Mayor Bond.

"It is to the interest of every taxpayer and user of city water and sewer to lend his counsel in this matter," added the mayor.

John Dvoraks Have A Second Son

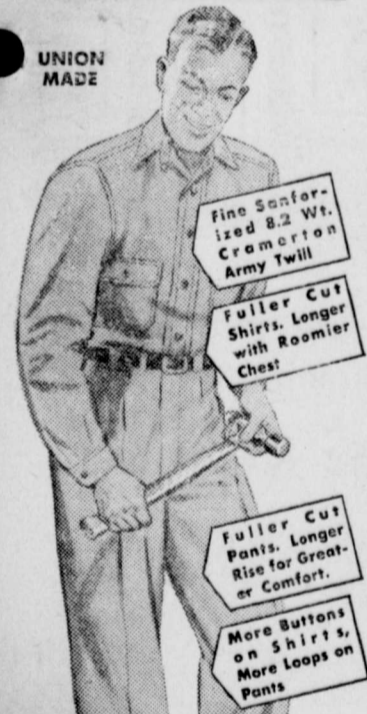

Rev. John Dvorak, former Talco Methodist minister, who was transferred to Dallas several months ago, sends check for his subscription and advises that their second son was born Nov. 7 at Methodist Hospital in Dallas. His name: Kevin Francis Dvorak, weight 8 pounds 4 ounces.

"Mother and son doing fine; father, as well as expected. Kevin Francis will probably break up many a church service in the coming years, but he can hardly do better than he did last night when he caused the postponement of a second quarterly conference for the Irwindell Methodist Church. He arrived at 8:20 p. m. The quarterly conference had been scheduled for 8:30 p. m. following the preaching service. Fortunately for all concerned, the District Superintendent, Wesley C. Hite, was preaching."

Seriously Injured Hunting Mishap

Joe Max Cook, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cook, Jr., of Chapel Hill, Titus County, was admitted to Titus Memorial Hospital Sunday for treatment of injuries sustained in a hunting accident.

Young Cook was hunting with another boy, Rex Gilleen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gilleen, also of Chapel Hill.

In some way a .12 gauge shotgun in the hands of the latter youth discharged and the full load struck Cook on the outer edge of the upper thigh.

Hospital attendants described the wound as serious but not critical.

Bulldogs-Trojans Play to 13-13 Tie Friday

By LON JONES

Bogata Bulldogs were almost too much for the injury riddled Talco Trojans to handle Friday night, but they came from behind to score on the last play of the game and earn a 13 to 13 tie in their fourth conference battle. The Trojans scored first, however, with Bobby Broughton spearheading a drive that carried 78 yards.

Broughton contributed the longest gainer of the night in this drive when he took a handoff from Kyle Leake, slanted off right tackle and fought his way for 50 yards. He scored the touchdown on a plunge through left guard from a yard out and Jerry Daugherty sneaked over the extra point.

The Bulldogs penetrated the Trojan 20 yard line twice during the first half but couldn't find the scoring punch. They came back in the second half with vengeance though and moved quickly to a touchdown. Bogie took a pass from the quarterback good for 12 yards for the score and Hudson plunged over for the extra point.

Then, after the kickoff a Trojan pass was intercepted and carried to the six yard line from where Hudson carried it over to send the Bogata eleven ahead 13 to 7. A mental lapse on the part of the Trojans nearly cost them the ball game as they allowed the kickoff to roll dead on the 8 yard line where the Bulldogs covered it.

The Trojan defense was equal to the occasion this time and held the Bulldogs on the 2 yard line. They moved the ball on short thrusts up the middle with Broughton and Jimmy Williams supplying most of the power. They lost the ball on a fumble deep in Bogata territory and again it appeared that all was lost for the Trojans. They wouldn't give up though, and playing inspired football held the Bulldogs for downs from where they continued their touchdown march. Leroy Cooper scored the marker for Talco on a 2 yard sweep of his own left end.

Tackle Neal Waddell was the outstanding lineman of the game as he repeatedly stopped the Bulldog runners for losses or no gain. Defensive halfback Charles Lewis played another fine game as did Billy Gurganus. Kyle Leake, playing his first full game at quarterback, ran the team surprisingly well, despite his inexperience at the position.

This week the Trojans will take on their third Bulldog team in a row as they will do battle with Jefferson. Jefferson has been rolling over district opponents with ease and the Trojans will be hard pressed to keep the score down. Talco has been plagued with sickness and injuries all year long and played the Bogata game without their most valuable lineman, Ney Blackburn. The spirit they have maintained throughout the season is something to be admired and everyone should be proud of them. Here's hoping for some well deserved good luck and a victory over Jefferson.

Mercury Dips To 29 Here

The mercury slid to a seasonal low of 29 degrees as frost blanketed this area early Friday.

A rapid warm up of temperatures erased the biting chill as the morning progressed. By 10 a. m., temperatures climbed as high as 49 degrees.

While it was the third frost of autumn recorded in the area, many observers indicated frost of early Friday more generally covered the county. Cotton fields in bottomlands were nipped last week as frost burnished green foliage in lower places.

The previous low temperature this season was 32.

New Route Taken To Check Juvenile Lawlessness Here

A precedent-breaking criminal complaint was lodged in Lamar County Court recently charging the father and mother of a teenage boy, twice placed on probation by juvenile authorities, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Assistant County Attorney C. V. Flanary said charges are being studied in similar cases where juveniles have been released under probation to parents.

The complaint filed in County Court named J. M. Turner and Mamie Turner, who live on East Booth street in Paris.

Flanary said the action against parents, rather than the youths, could lead to a solution of problems of juveniles in similar Lamar County cases.

Talco's Nubbins Shade Queen City 13 to 12

Scoring in the third quarter, Talco High's Nubbins outpointed the Queen City Pups in a 13-12 game at Queen City Tuesday.

Ben Morris passed to Jackie Martin on a touchdown play that covered 40 yards in the third quarter. It put Talco ahead to stay, 13-12.

Talco scored in the second quarter when Jackie Martin ran 10 yards. Fullback Johnny Hood ran the extra point over.

Queen City scored twice in the second quarter. Fullback Carl Walls ran 10 yards for one, eight for the other.

Final statistics showed Talco with 133 yards rushing to 110 for Queen City. Talco had nine first downs to seven for the Pups.

Drouth Aid Ends Locally Nov. 20

Austin.—Agriculture Secretary Benson advised state authorities Tuesday that drouth aid for feed grain and hay will be suspended at midnight Nov. 20 in 45 Texas counties. Reason for the suspension was given as "improved conditions."

Meanwhile, 31 West Texas counties were added to the list of drouth disaster counties by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Among the 45 counties in this area to be removed from federal aid provisions were listed Bowie, Camp, Cass, Cherokee, Franklin, Henderson, Hopkins, Morris, Red River, Robertson, Rusk, Titus, Upshur and Van Zandt.

Four Injured In Collision

Four persons were taken to Red River County Hospital after a two-car collision west of Clarksville city limits. Extent of their injuries had not been reported, though none was believed to be seriously hurt.

They were Archie Melton Mitchell, 32, Lubbock, and his wife, Shirley Ruth, 16, and Miss Margaret Lucile Mitchell, 16, all of Negley all in Mitchell's car, and Swope of Talco, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spruell of Mt. Pleasant and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Spruell of Winfield, attended the funeral.

Mitchell was driving a 1952 Buick sedan, and Terrell, a 1951 Ford.

Highway patrolmen were continuing investigation of the accident which occurred about 7:30 a. m.

Estimate Cotton Crop Raised by Agri. Board

Washington.—The Agriculture Department predicted a 1954 Texas cotton crop of 3,850,000 bales.

This is 275,000 bales more than the department's Crop Reporting Board estimated in its October forecast a month ago.

The estimated Texas production of 3,850,000 bales this year compares with 4,317,000 bales produced in 1953 and the previous 10-year average crop of 3,239,000 bales.

The crop in Lamar and Red River counties is about 60% of last year's production, when restricted acreage was not in effect. Drouth had much more to do with the short crop locally than did reduced acreage.

The nationwide cotton crop this year was estimated at 13,206,000 bales, up 695,000 bales from last month's forecast. Production last year totaled 16,465,000 bales.

Even though planting controls made this crop smaller than in recent years, cotton supplies are still large enough so that Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson has called for the minimum acreage allowed under farm law for next year. Cotton farmers will vote Dec. 14 on whether they want to go along with the second straight year of production controls.

Dierks is president of the Forest Inc., Lumber Company, which owns some 300,000 acres of timber in Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Women can serve on Texas juries after Nov. 19, Attorney General John Ben Sheppard has ruled. Now that they have this privilege, we wouldn't be surprised if some of our lawyer friends don't change their tactics before juries. Old lawyers, thru years of study, have learned how certain classes of men will vote, but women are unpredictable. How can they tell how women will vote when they can't tell which way they are going to turn or stop on their driving signals?

November 11, known since World War I as Armistice day, has been redesignated by Congress and the President, as Veterans day, so as to honor veterans of all wars, and will probably be more generally observed this year. Many are not old enough to remember signing of the armistice that ended World War I. Old timers will recall the shriek of gin and oil mill whistles and the tolling of church bells. Radio was in its infancy on Nov. 11, 1918, and TV had not made its appearance. It is well to remember and honor those who fought in any of our wars, but the most important are our wounded veterans. Read the article by Bruce Catton in this edition concerning them.

Titus and Lamar County Attorneys are taking a new approach to the matter of controlling juvenile delinquency. They are filing complaints against parents of children who violate the law, charging them with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.
Believing that responsibility for most of the juvenile delinquency rests upon the parents of such children, County Attorney Alford Flanagan of Titus County announced that he will take definite action, especially on parents whose lawless children are too young to be sent to reform schools. In Lamar, cases are being studied where teen-agers have been placed on probation to parents. One case has been filed.
It all resolves into the matter of home discipline. We don't know much about the subject, but we do recall that our parents taught us respect for parenthood and for others, and when words failed to

Editor Returns Mrs. Cotten's Compliment About Ex-Students

Newspaper folk are very human and sincerely appreciate any recognition of their efforts to render a good newspaper service. From Mrs. Dan Cotten, recent secretary of Talco Ex-Students Association, comes this note, along with a check for the advertising the association bought:

Mr. Holloway: Again I'd like to thank you for all your wonderful cooperation with the Ex-
Students in all their activities.
We appreciated very much the publicity. Thanks, too, for printing the story afterward.

With Ex-Students now on our mind, here is another quote from School Superintendent S. O. Loving, in discussing Talco Ex-Students:

er impression upon that part of

DR. JACK A. KING KILLS LARGE 180-POUND MULE DEER IN UTAH

DR. JACK A. KING of Deport, and his 180-pound, 10 point mule deer, killed near Blanding, Utah on Oct. 26.

Dr. Jack A. King, Deport physician and surgeon, killed his first buck near Blanding, Utah, on Tuesday of last week—and what a buck!

It was an enormous animal with ten points and weighed 180 pounds after being dressed and his feet cut off at the knees.

The antler spread was so great the Doctor could stand, broadside, between them.

Two bucks were killed on the trip, the other being brought down by Bryan Chambliss of Detroit. This buck weighed 100 pounds. Others in the party were ing while they were students here."

E. B. Strickling of Detroit, Tom Strickland of Dallas, and Ed Froctor of Detroit, who was the cook.

When asked if he suffered an attack of buck fever in killing his first buck, Dr. King replied that he did so the previous day when he got a shot at a big buck but missed him at a distance of 400 to 500 yards.

The killing shot struck the buck in the side and ranged upward, breaking the backbone as it left its body. A hunter never loses his game when he breaks the backbone. The distance was about 100 yards.

posed of Hayes Johnson, Morris

DRILLING MACHINERY MOVES SAM READ TRACT FOR TEST

The oil test well on the Sam J. Read tract was spudded in Tuesday afternoon, and drilling is now underway.

Oil well drilling machinery was moved to the Sam J. Read location Monday in preparation to drill one of Deport's two oil test wells, scheduled to get underway this month.

Contractors F. G. Dorsey and M. L. Winegart of Gainesville, moved a cable tool rig to the location, which is 330 ft. north and 330 ft. west in the Luke Roberts survey of the Read property. This is about 1 1/2 miles northwest of Deport.

Drilling is scheduled to get underway as soon as the machinery is set up. Permit for the well calls for 2700 feet, according to D. W. Shelton of Denton, who assembled the lease for the test.

Another test well on the Mrs. W. I. Lawler tract, 1232 ft. west of Raymond Hight tract in the W. S. Rogers survey, is scheduled to get underway about the middle of this month. Jess Cross of Denton, who drilled the Davis test at Halesboro in 1953, is the contractor for this test. Permit calls for 4580 ft. Mr. Cross expects to move in rotary equipment about Nov. 19, according to Shelton, who assembled the block for the test.

Little Things Count With Science

A thing cannot be too small to deserve attention. The first thing Sir Isaac Newton had, leading to his most important optical discoveries, was derived from a child's soap bubble.

The art of printing was suggested by a man cutting letters from the bark of a tree.

The telescope was the outcome of a boy's amusement with two glasses in his father's shop.

Charles Goodyear neglected his skillet until it was red hot, and this guided him to the manufacture of vulcanized rubber.

The web of a spider suggested to Captain Brown the idea of a suspension bridge.

Watching a spider weave its web gave Robert Bruce the courage to try again.

Henry Ford's idea about a perfect watch plant gave him a plan for his giant motor industry.

Cape Horn was named after Hoorn in the Netherlands, by its discoverer Schouten, a Dutch navigator.

The first major national labor organization in the USA was known as the "Knights of Labor."

Ford 1955 Model Trucks on Display Friday, Nov. 12

Twenty-four series including 190 models of 1955 Ford trucks ranging from 30-ton tandem-axle "Big Jobs" down to F-100 pickups, all designed to make money for operators on every hauling job, will be introduced by Ford dealers throughout the country Friday.

The 1955 models have new larger parking lights and larger, shield-shaped tail lights adaptable to class "A" turn signals. They are manufactured in five lines and 24 series which include: nine conventional series, six cab forward series, four school bus chassis series, two tandem axle series and a new Courier custom delivery truck styled like the 1955 Ford passenger cars. GVW ratings run from 4,000 to 40,000 lbs. and GCW ratings to 60,000 lbs. There are 15 wheel-base lengths for custom-built bodies from 5 1/2 to 19 ft. long.

Ford has designed its 1955 truck cabs for even greater driving ease and efficiency than current models which paced the industry. The optional custom "driverized" cabs, available in all models, have a new full foam-rubber seat.

We cordially invite everyone interested to see these new trucks, said Joel Steed, Titus County dealer.

THE DOCTOR'S ORDERS

The doctor received a visit from a man who was worrying about his heart.

"Do you smoke much?" inquired the doctor.

"About 15 cigars a day."

"You'll have to cut down. It will be hard, but try to be satisfied with one after each meal."

A few weeks later the man returned for a check-up. The doctor complimented him on the improvement in his health. "You see, that's what happens when patients follow their doctor's orders."

"Well, it isn't always easy to do," said the visitor. "Sometimes it's hard to eat 15 meals in one day."

HOW DARE YOU

A man stood gazing at the Statue of Liberty for such a long time that a policeman asked: "You like Miss Liberty and her torch?"

"Well, yes and no," the visitor answered. "It just seems to me it might be more appropriate if she were holding the bag instead of the torch."

Next of Kin
The rookies were driving the garbage wagon through the Army camp when one of the mules fell over dead. Jumping from the wagon, he ran to where the sergeant was standing. "Hey, Sarge," he called, "my mule just fell dead."

ESSAY ON NORMALCY
An elderly man sat on the park bench, muttering to himself. Anxious to be helpful, a second bench sitter said: "You seem terribly worried. Can I help you?"
"Oh, my no. Excuse me, please," explained the old gent. "I didn't realize . . . it's just that, well, for 20 years after World War I, we tried to get things back to normal; and ever since World War II, I've been bothered by two great fears. First, that things may never get back to normal; and second, that they already have."

DIED A NATURAL DEATH

A couple of Hamlin hunters, during the recent deer hunting season, after being caught a long way from camp at meal time, reportedly went to a house in their hunting area to see if they could buy their lunch.

"Reckon so," said the farmer's wife, "effen you like pork chops—that's all I got."

The hungry men fell to with a will and ate up the pork chops. Afterward they complimented their hostess on the quality of the meal.

"Well, I should hope so," she replied. "That's none of your old butchered meat. That hog died a natural death."—The Hamlin Herald.

Alcorn Works Out System So All Football Fans Leave Stadium Happy

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur, has an unworkable idea on football this week, but most of his ideas on most topics are unworkable, the same as he is.

Dear Editor: After reading my letter to your newspaper last week discussin football, one of my neighbors asked me how come I was writin about football, since it was entirely out of my field, but I explained to him I was only following custom, the fellow who knows least about farmin is frequently the fellow who has the most to say about how farmin ought to be done, and I was usin the same principle.

As I said last week, the trouble with football is that too many fans are comin away from the big college games every Saturday afternoon unhappy over the results, on account of the nature of the game, one side has to lose, and I said I had worked out a plan to eliminate this.

The thing to do is play the game without any spectators on hand on Saturday morning, take complete motion pictures, and then cut the film up into sections, with one half showing all the fine plays your side made, the other section showing all the good plays the other side made, let the spectators file into the stadium as usual Saturday afternoon, play the school songs, stand up for the kickoff, then settle back down to watchin the movies of the game. With a two-sided screen in the middle of the field, one side showing favorable pictures of your team, the other showing those for the opponents, everybody could have a fine time and come away feelin victorious.

The only thing about this is the score. Word would finally leak out on which side won, but if the radio stations and newspapers would hold up for a few hours, most fans would have forgotten how important it was to win and would be at home thinkin about something else. Or if this system won't work, why not eliminate the stadiums altogether, and each Saturday send out on television seven different games filmed in previous years, each one showing one of the seven teams in the Southwest Conference winning. I figure they've got enough films on hand to show a game every week during the fall for the next ten years, after which they could revive the game, film up some more games, and be set for another ten years.

If you don't think any of this will work, you ought to see some of the advice I get on how to run this farm out here. It won't work either. Yours faithfully, A. A.

"A Stillness at Appomattox"

A long time ago, Rudyard Kipling remarked that the soldier is a national hero during a war and a forgotten man as soon as peace comes.

In a democracy, that is only natural. We have no militaristic tradition and we do not want one. The citizen-soldier steps forward in emergency to do his duty—doing it so heroically and faithfully, incidentally, that to date he has always turned out to be a better fighter than the hopped-up, over-drilled professionals from the totalitarian states—and then he goes back to civilian life. His war-time experiences belong with the past. They become part of the haunting and abiding memories that go to make up our national heritage.

But in thousands of cases the soldier does not get off so easily. He has something that he cannot simply file away with his memories: a painful reminder that he can never escape from—not even for a moment, as long as he may live—of the price that is sometimes exacted of the man who serves his country in battle.

That man is the disabled veteran: the man who took wounds that will not heal, who went back to the peace-time round wholly or partially handicapped and for whom there can never be a complete and final healing.

He cannot forget. His tragedy is that the rest of us unfortunately can. Too often we do forget, even though we are permanently in his debt.

November 11 is Veterans Day: a day set aside, by act of Congress and Presidential proclamation, to honor the memory of those who served in war. It has particular reference to the living—for it is on Memorial Day that we pay our tribute to the men who never came back—and unless the day is to be a complete mockery it must include a renewed awareness of our obligation to the disabled ex-soldier. The Disabled American Veterans—the D.A.V.—aptly points out that the disabled serviceman is asking for nothing more than a fair chance to make his own way in the world.

He doesn't particularly want tears, and he is not demanding huge appropriations from the public treasury. What he does want is the kind of sympathetic understanding and active support that will make it easier for him to resume his place, in spite of physical handicaps, as a regular member of society.

That is not very much for him to ask, and it is assuredly the very least that we can give. If we feel a sense of continuing obligation for services rendered, and make it a point to discharge that obligation in the attitude that we carry over into our regular workaday routine, life for the disabled veteran will be a good deal easier and happier. There could be no better time than Veterans Day for us to renew our awareness of what we owe to the man who took wounds in battle—for us.

Pinhook Area Is Designated As Game Preserve

A 25,000-acre area on the Lamar-Red River County line in northern Lamar and Red River counties has been officially designated as the Pinhook Wildlife Management Area.

Final approval of the game preserve has been made by the Texas Game and Fish Commission, and the area will be restocked with deer in the near future.

Farmers and landowners in that area gave the Game and Fish Commission a five-year lease for game rights on the land with a three-year option. All leases have been secured and approved.

Deer hunting will be banned on the area for five years. State officials explained, however, that small game hunting will be up to the individual landowners.

TEXAS WATER STARTS FIRE

Denison.—A jug of water was responsible for a fire at Dial in Fannin County Saturday.

Joyce used his drinking water to put out the fire.

THANKSGIVING SET NOV. 25

Washington.—President Eisenhower has proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving Day and called on all citizens to observe the day with prayer.

"Let us demonstrate in our lives," he said, "our humble thanks to God for his beneficence in the year which is past, and let us ask His guidance in the year to come."

The proclamation expresses gratitude that "our beloved country, settled by those forebears (the Pilgrim Fathers) in their quest for religious freedom, remains free and strong, and that each of us can worship God in his own way, according to the dictates of his conscience."

Veterans Day, Nov. 11 Is Observed

Thursday, observed as Veterans Day instead of Armistice Day this year, is a postal holiday. No business transacted or rural deliveries were made on that day.

Numerous other business establishments were closed in observance of the day.
