FELIX JONES,

This is Clean-up week in Talco and if there are any rubbish or fire hazzards and eye-sores left in town by Friday evening it will not be the fault of public-spirited citizens, Talco's City Commission ous condition in a Mt. Pleasant and the Chamber of Commerce.

Talco has had annual Clean-Ups before, but more effort is being put into the job this time

Grass was being cut all over job to haul away all the debris that residents have boxed or sacked and placed on their curbs.

If you have put off gathering up your cans, glass, old maga zines, and newspapers, discarded tires and other litter, do it Thursday afternoon or night and have it ready for the disposal trucks Friday morning.

Any receptacle that will hold rain water will breed mosquitoes. All litter is a distinct fire hazzard. Let's have a clean town by Saturday morning. For your own health and protection, as well as that of your neighbor, Clean-Up.

BUCK STANSELL probably wondered what the heck he had to do with a Spinet piano when he read last week's Talco Times. We were pleased to see him up after a heart attack and said so, or tried to do so. There was also an error in the piano ad we tried to correct. A good line was pulled from the story about Buck Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McAfee. and the piano ad didn't get corrected. But such is the life of a newspaper man, and we can't do anything about it until the following week. This is our apology, Buck.

WE WONDER by what line of reasoning the State Legislature has the authority to tell cities of Texas how much they shall pay their firemen and how many hours they shall work. It has recently done just that. What we would like to see is something done for our volunteer firemen who work for nothing except the satisfaction of knowing they are rendering a service to their fellow citizens and keeping fire insurance rates down. Every Texas town with a volunteer fire department owes a debt of gratitude to men who leave a comfortable bed or their work to protect property from destruction an instructor in journalism there time term. by fire, regardless of the weather. The legislature could well do something for these men, rather than sticking their noses into what paid firemen should be paid and the number of hours they shall work.
