C. C. WALDEN RETURNS FROM AMARILLO THIS WEEK

C. C. Walden returned from Amarillo Friday where he has been for the past year and a half, and was cashier for the telephone company of that city. He resigned his place to accept the place of superintendent of the Rochester schools, which began the term last Monday morning. We are glad to welcome Mr. Walden back to Haskell county and are glad to see him take up his former profession. He has taught several schools in Haskell county, and is known as one of our leading instructors. Mr. Walden will also teach in the grades.

HASKELL COUNTY CHAPTER OF RED CROSS IS DISBANDED

The Executive Committee of the Haskell County Chapter American Red Cross met at the courthouse Sept. 24, 1920. Miss Mary Ann Cross, Division Representative of the Southwestern Division was visiting the Chapter. It was decided by the Committee that it would be best to disband the organization. The Chapter was officially disbanded by Miss Cross September 25th, 1920.

Leo Stephens, one of Haskell's best painters, returned from Blue Friday and reports painting the home of G. D. Flowers inside and out which has recently been erected. Leo says Mr. Flowers has one of the most beautiful homes in Blue. He also reports Judge J. G. Foster and others of Blue's progressive citizenship plan are going to have their homes repaired.

ON THE SUBJECT OF PAVING THE PUBLIC SQUARE

We are indebted to Judge Jas. P. Kinnard for the following article on a subject which should be of interest to every citizen of Haskell—the paving of the public square. This move has been on foot for some time, and is backed by practically every business man in the city. Judge Kinnard explains as follows:

"There seems to be a misunderstanding, or rather a lack of understanding as to the object and purpose of submitting to the voters of the city of Haskell the question of adopting the provisions of the Statutes authorizing the City Council to cause certain portions of the public square adjoining property owners."

"A movement has been on foot for several months to pave the public square, the expense to be borne jointly by the City of Haskell, the property owners whose property faces the square, and the County. A committee, consisting of J. U. Fields, representing the property owners; O. B. Nofman, the City Council, and Jas. P. Kinnard, the Commissioners' Court, has engaged a civil engineer to prepare tentative plans and make an estimate of the costs for paving the public square with concrete cement. The total cost of about $52,000 has been apportioned as follows: $25,000 to be paid by the county (which will be payable in time warrants, payable serially and drawn against the special Court House Jail and Improvement funds), $16,000 by the adjoining property owners, and only $11,000 by the City of Haskell.

"Practically all the property owners have agreed to pay their proportionate shares of the cost of construction, but in order for the City to be able to join the County in executing a valid and binding contract, it becomes necessary for the people by vote to adopt the provisions of the Statutes authorizing the City Council to pass an ordinance to pave the square, and to assess each adjoining property owner for his share of the cost.

"This is the sole and only object of submitting the proposition to a vote of the property tax-paying voters of the City.

"Some one may remark—Yes, but the question to be submitted does not say it is for the purpose of paving the square, nor limit it to this purpose alone. No, that is true, for the Statutes do not provide that the law can be adopted in sections, and to get the square paved it will be necessary for an election to be held and a majority of the property tax-paying voters to vote in favor of the City Council's adopting the provisions of this Statute, as a whole.

"Property owners off the square need apprehend no danger, for other steps will have to be taken before the pavement of other streets can be done. If you desire to see our present unsightly square paved and beautified, with boulevards covered with Bermuda grass, midway between the present square and the sidewalks, surrounded with a cement curbing against which autos will be parked, and with a forty foot driveway on each side, so that farmers and others wanting to load or unload their wagons or other vehicles, can drive right up in front of the stores and have a reasonable time in which to do so.

"A prospective investor, upon reaching the City, would be forcibly struck with the attractive appearance of our public square, and the enterprise and progressiveness of our people, and would be willing to pay several dollars more per acre for a farm in this County, or a residence in the City than he otherwise would.

"This much needed improvement would add a tax of only 80 cents on a 200 acres farm in the County for ten years, but nothing to our City taxes, for the City's portion will be paid with time warrants drawn against the 15 cent street fund tax, already being levied.

"It is now up to the people to say by their votes whether they desire to follow the progressive example of Seymour and other surrounding cities."

VENERABLE WOMAN PASSES AWAY LAST SUNDAY

Mrs. Martha Edge, one of Haskell county's oldest and most highly respected women passed away Sunday at the home of her son W. D. Edge near O'Brien.

REV. FRANK NORRIS TELLS OF A VISIT TO THE POPE

Rev. Frank Norris of Fort Worth, a noted Baptist divine, who is now in the Old World making a tour of Europe describes his visit to the Pope in the Vatican at Rome, Italy, as follows:

"No trick or pull is necessary to visit the Pope. Just so much coin. You make arrangements the day before by paying the secretary of the secretary of the Pope the required sum. Imagine a leper paying a certain sum of money to come into the presence of Simon Peter, 'The first Pope.'

"I paid my entrance fee just like I'd buy a ticket to Ringling Circus or as a passenger on a steamship. I am out studying things, events, persons, places, cities and countries and especially studying everything in the light of the Scriptures. Therefore, it is the height of folly, when no principle was compromised, not to see that office, position and person which has influenced human history more than all other earthly factors combined. The Papacy has made and unmade more crowns, changed and remade the map of Europe more than any other power on earth. As the Catholics count, there have been 272 Popes.

"He was in the Vatican. I don't remember how many guards and stairways we passed, my guide and myself. The famous Swiss Guards, dressed in loose blouses and striped with three long colors, helmeted, and with long medieval spears and battleaxes were at the main entrance. They were at every turn from there on. There were a dozen other kinds of highly uniformed guards. We went up and around six flights of broad marble stairways. They are fully twice as high as the ordinary stairway. Elevators are not in style in the Vatican yet. After going through a dozen different rooms and halls, we were at last landed in the throne room. It was in this room that the decree of Papal infallibility was promulgated and other historic dogma.

"By the time for His Holiness to appear there were about fifty standing in line around the wall. Presently, preceded by his secretary, Ferrari, the Pope came in. He is of low stature, not over five feet, weighing about 140 pounds, stout build and a little stooped. He has a high forehead, kindly keen, gray blue eyes, large Roman nose and a very fine personality. He appears about 60 years old, pale, not in robust health and needing out-of-door exercises.

"He passed around the room to every one. It sounded very much like the same thing each time. It was in Latin and I didn't take time to remember it or put it down. I took six courses in Latin in college, but know nothing of Papal Latin. A lady who could speak English told me afterwards it was the Papal blessing. She was so happy over having received it and said she would not take the world for it. I would take a smaller sum for mine.

"The only thing that I objected to was that I had to go in dress suit. I felt about as awkward in the thing as some of those old cowpunchers look dress-suited at a fashionable ball at the Country Club. I rented the thing in a building next door to the Vatican. This was just some more extra coin to keep the machinery going. I don't know how long that dress suit has been worn and by whom, but I was going to the show and was willing to pay the fare."

PLANS COMPLETED FOR HASKELL COUNTY FAIR

The program for the County Fair has been worked out and everything is being made ready for the best fair ever staged in the county. Exhibits of live stock, poultry, farm and garden products, domestic science, fancy needlework, and old relics and curios have all been promised by scores of people from everywhere. We know that the farm and garden products cannot be beaten. We expect a line of poultry that will class with the best in West Texas. The hogs to be seen here will be in the state fair winning class and the cattle will be in the same high class as that of the hogs. The old relics and needlework will be in charge of Mrs. E. D. English and you may expect to find the best in Texas on exhibition in this department.

The entertainment for the two days, Friday and Saturday, will be first class. There will be a merry-go-round, vaudeville and minstrel show, pony show, baby show with three prizes, $10.00, $7.50 and $5.00, with age limit up to two years. An aeroplane has been promised that will carry passengers both days. Volley Ball games each afternoon and night. The Old Timers Marble Game under the guiding hand of W. M. (Papa) Woods; Pecos Tom with his 24 head of bucking bronchos with a $50.00 prize to the man who will ride the famous bucking horse, "Blue Jay," under show rules.

Last but not least a barbecue of 11 heaves will be ready for dinner Saturday with plenty of pickles and bread. Many other concessions will be here for the entertainment of all. The fair will be held in the skating rink building and the old Guest Lumber Yard north of the square. Pens will be arranged for the stock in the lumber yard and the farm products will be housed in the skating rink building.

This fair will only be held for the two days and we urge everyone to come on these two days. Remember the fair will only be for two days and you will have the remainder of the year to work and look after your business. Don't let any business or work keep you away from the fair Friday and Saturday.

SINGING CONVENTION HOLDS AN INTERESTING SESSION

The Haskell County Singing Convention met with the Pleasant View class Sunday afternoon. A large congregation was present, including many visiting singers. The convention was called to order by the president W. M. Free, and after singing the opening song prayer was offered by Rev. R. S. Edwards. After which the program of the committee was carried out, which was very interesting. The features of the day were several songs led by Prof. J. C. Tremain of Foster, and Mrs. Jess Pennington of Haskell. Excellent class singing was enjoyed and some special songs were also rendered. Leaders from all parts of the county were present. The convention was a success and the Pleasant View people gave us a warm welcome with an extended invitation to visit them again when their time rolls around. The convention will meet on the Fourth Sunday in October at the First Baptist Church in Haskell. The hour for the opening of the convention will be at 2 p. m. and we expect to start on that hour. After the usual opening of the convention Rev. McHenry Seal pastor of the church, will deliver a welcome address. Everybody is invited to come. We are expecting some good singers from Abilene, Albany, Throckmorton, Knox City and other out of county towns and cities. Come to Haskell the next fourth Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. G. T. Scales and Mrs. O. W. Fouts were shopping in Abilene Monday.

CENSUS SHOWS DECREASE IN POPULATION OF COUNTY

Haskell county has suffered a loss in population of 2,056 according to the 1920 census, which gives Haskell county a total population of 14,193 compared to 16,249 in 1910. The loss in the population of Haskell is only 136 and is included in the loss of the county. The population of the city is 2,300 compared to 2,436 in 1910. The total population of Rule is now 890 against 891 ten years ago, a loss of only one. Weinert was less fortunate, losing 307 during the ten year period. Weinert now has 472 against 779 in the last census. But conditions are much better now all over the county, and we believe that the county can boast of as great a population as it has ever had in its confines. Every house in the cities and rural districts are full. We are unable to give the census on the cities of O'Brien, Rochester and Sargent, as they have not been received separately from the county's enumeration.

HASKELL DEFEATS STAMFORD IN FOOTBALL GAME

Last Friday the local gridiron warriors won in their first game of the season. The score read 25 to 0 in Haskell's favor. The game was featured by fast clean playing on the part of both teams. Stamford, the unfortunate home of the defeated aggregation, has a fast, though light team. On the other hand, Haskell has the best team she has had in years and under the expert coaching of Kuhn was in very good shape. Coach Kuhn used fifteen men in the game and had more in store.

In the beginning of the game Stamford tried to penetrate Haskell's line but after trying it a few times they were convinced that human heads were not made to buck against stone walls. Then they turned to forward passes and worked this mode of play with some success. Haskell's goal was never in danger.

Haskell worked her line bucks and end runs to much effect. Down after down was made in this manner. There was never a time when the back field did not pass across the required gain. In the first few minutes play Haskell lost a sure touchdown by a fumble. The ball went over to Stamford and Stamford completed two forward passes which netted 25 yards. The Stamford boys were beginning to see light but their hopes were shattered when their next pass was intercepted by "Froggy" Stewart who ran for a touchdown. Stewart failed to kick goal.

In the second quarter Haskell rushed the ball to the twenty-five yard line and there pulled a criss-cross and Stewart crossed the goal line for the second touchdown.

In the third quarter Haskell worked the ball to the twenty-five yard line, mostly by plunges by Fox and Griffin. Then another criss-cross was tried and Frank Kimbrough made the third touchdown.

In the fourth quarter the ball was carried to the 15 yard line and Fox carried it over, making the fourth touchdown. Stewart kicked goal.

Haskell's line-up was as follows:

Othello Anderson, Center.
George Crow, Granville Glenn, Right Guard.
Erwin Whitmore, Reynolds Wilson, Right Tackle.
Raymond Stewart, Right End.
Arthur Fox, Quarterback.
Hal McConnell, Frank Kimbrough, Right Half Back.
Lonnie Griffin, Full Back.

ANN AND ANDY

By BERTHA S. CARNEY.

Ann Vralmen had been a week now at Cousin Allie's in the city, and with each succeeding day Ann felt smaller and more awkward. Her hair had absolutely refused to "bob" at her ears, city fashion, and there were times that, despite her efforts, her tongue would slip back into the country vernacular that she had spoken for the eighteen years of her life. Substantial she looked, substantial she felt, and, besides all this, there was the terrible game of Ann for a hand-icap—and as for the nicest young man who lived upstairs—how could she ever get acquainted with him if one dared not speak?

These were the thoughts that were running through the back of little Ann's head, as she threw the rug over the piano railing and attacked them vigorously with the carpet beater.

She made a pretty picture there in the morning sunshine, the sleeves of her pink smock rolled up to her elbows, and her cheeks flushed with the exercise, and as she worked an old bit of doggerel that she had learned as a child came into her head, and she sang, because the morning was so bright and the young man upstairs was so handsome—No! That wasn't what she had meant to think at all, but she kept singing and keeping time with the carpet beater.

"Good morning, Jenny Wren! Will you kindly stop your housewifely activities long enough to allow me to see my way down the stairs? Your great clouds of dust have blinded my eyes to everything except the comeliness of my industrious neighbor."

Ann stopped—mouth open, just as she had been about to carol forth the highest soprano note, and carpet beater raised. He was speaking to her, but he was only joking with her, for even at her most vigorous swings only a feeble trail of dust floated out on the air; but the last thing he had said—Ann's eyes sought the toes of her sensible round-toed shoes before she looked across at him shyly.

The young man from upstairs was looking at her, and it seemed as though if he really wished to navigate the stairway in such a terrible storm of dust there was nothing to hinder his doing so. Instead, he leaned against the railing.

"This is a fine chance to get acquainted," he said. "Fate sends me out on an errand while you are on the porch and as we are going to be such near neighbors, it's all perfectly proper. I'm Andrew Leonard. Andy suits me better, and you're Ann Vralmen. I saw your name on your trunk in the cellar, and you're not yet old enough to be called Miss Vralmen."

Ann, who wasn't old enough to be called Miss Vralmen, found herself shaking hands with Andy, whom she thought, was old enough to know better, and after that it was easy.

When she had beat back the redness into the roses, and the greenness into the grass, Ann tugged one of the rugs down from the rail and Andy dropped on his knees and began to fold it with deft turns of his wrists.

"Where did you learn to do that?" Ann inquired. Andy was a gentleman, at least, even though there had been no formal introduction, and the warm voice of her staid county ancestors for the first time in her life went unheeded.

"Handy Andy, that's me," he grinned. "I lived for five years on my uncle's farm, 30 miles out."

Underneath the pink smock Ann's heart gave a flutter of pure joy. Now she could own up to her 18 years of country existence. He wouldn't care.

He didn't—for on the following Sunday Andy was helping her over the stubble and exclaiming with her over the five little pigs that had just arrived at his uncle's farm.

It was the third month of their friendship and they were on one of their frequent Sunday excursions to the farm, when Ann broached the subject of changing her name to Annette, or Marian, or any other form of Ann, as long as there was trimming enough to take away the plainness.

"Cut it out, kiddie," Andy advised. "It surely was fine to be able to boss Ann. I like your name fine. My grandmother's name was Ann, and just look at mine—Andy! But you don't catch me calling myself any fool name like Androclus, do you?"

Ann laughed. How could she tell him that all the time she had been planning to change it only for him?

"I like Andy for a name; it's so—so substantial," and then she laughed again, for was that not the very quality that three months ago she had most hated?

"That's it," Andy nodded. "a good substantial name, just like Ann. Why I knew you could do housework like all possessed the minute I lapped the name on your trunk."

He drew her down beside him on an old fallen tree trunk.

"Ann and Andy," he mused, holding her close, "a good combination. Don't you think we ought to make it a substantial one, Ann dear?"

In his pocket dictionary he found the word substantial and pointed out to Ann its meaning—"actually existing, not imaginary, true, strong."

"Don't you think we could be all that—together, Ann dear?"

Ann's heart was so happy that she forgot just one feeble little word, which, evidently, pleased Andy.

"Yes, honey," he whispered. "That's about it."

J. M. Everheart Buys Fine Cockerel

J. M. Everheart, a progressive poultryman who is a breeder of the Rhode Island Reds, received this week a cockerel from the Tomkins strain, of Concord, Mass. He is now engaged in the poultry business to make a success.

There is but one way to keep up your breed and that is by adding the best blood your can purchase from time to time. This cockerel is a young fowl, but he comes from one of the greatest utility and prize winning strains of Reds in America. It is the belief of the writer that he is an excellent bird and will add to Mr. Everheart's flock the beauty and type of this famous breed which is prized by fanciers.

Mr. Everheart lives in the city and is raising Reds on a large city lot and has more than a hundred birds of beautiful color and type that he has raised this year. He is putting energy, work and money into the poultry business and he is getting results.

Bear Cat Activities

The Bear Cats, a literary society of the Haskell High School, asked the use of the Library for their meetings, and were graciously granted this privilege by the Magazine Club. In order to show their appreciation of the club's kindness, they offered to improve and take charge of the Library yard. These grounds afford unlimited opportunities for landscape gardening.

So on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock the Bear Cats, eighty-five strong, each armed with a rake or hoe tied themselves to the Library to begin operation on the weed-covered yard. For four hours these girls and boys, with Supt. Minatra, vigorously slow and raked weeds until the entire grounds were perfectly cleaned.

As the camera man happened along, several pictures were made of these industrious young civic citizens. The regret was, though, that a revolving camera could not have been used, thus including not only the girls and boys, but also the many, many heaps of weeds.

After the completion of the work the Bear Cats were invited into the Library where the Civic Committee with the assistance of the club members served iced punch and heavily laden baskets of sandwiches. The club members gave nine "rahs" for the Bear Cats, and they in turn answered with nine "rahs" for the Club. The friendly spirit of co-operation and helpfulness between the girls, boys, Supt. Minatra and the club women was plainly evidenced. Mrs. Posey, president of the club, expressed the thanks and appreciation of the Magazine Club for what they have done and are going to do for the improvement of the Library grounds.

From the very beginning the object of the Library building was to serve the public, and happy indeed is the Magazine Club to now know that this building is serving the town of Haskell as a Community Center.

The Civic Committee, and in fact, the entire membership of the club, are grateful to the Bear Cats for their help and co-operation in the beautifying of the Library grounds. Their example of unselfish work to improve the beauty of their town is one every man, woman and child should emulate, and thus have a Haskell Beautiful.

Mr. Hill says he has 320 acres he has not been able to thresh of his own crop.

You Will Be Proud of This Wagon

When you hitch your team to a new John Deere wagon you can be assured that the same proud feeling of ownership will still exist even after the wagon becomes old and scarred through years of hard use.

As you use it, the fact that it is made of the best materials, that it "stands up" under severe strains, and that it pulls lighter than any ordinary wagon you ever used, will manifest itself from day to day—and you'll realize that you made a "good buy" when you got this John Deere wagon from us.

If you haven't had a John Deere Wagon, ask any user if his John Deere wagon pulls lighter than the ordinary wagon. We are willing to leave the verdict with you after you have investigated to your satisfaction.

Here are the reasons why this is a light draft wagon—the wheels carry the correct dish; the axles have accurate gather so that the wheels run straight ahead—there is no binding or dragging; all the skeins have the proper pitch so that the heaviest load is carried on plumb spokes.

Drop in at our store the next time you are in town and look at this wagon. ASK US ABOUT THE GUARANTEE.

YOUR SENSES

Do you know that your vision is the most important of all your faculties? Do you realize that, according to the foremost psychologists, the five senses rank in the following importance:

- Sight, 87 per cent.
Sound, 7 per cent.
Touch, 3 1/2 per cent.
Smell, 1 1/2 per cent.
Taste, 1 per cent.

Then Why Neglect Your Eyes Any Longer?

A. E. WOODS, Opt. Dr.

R. W. Herren, Sr., was in the city Monday on business. He is one of Haskell County's old timers and a mighty good citizen. He has been a successful ranchman on a limited scale for many years. He says that he will continue to raise cattle and keep hogs for his own meat, and in addition to his livestock he has added a line of pure bred Plymouth Rock chickens, in which he expects to take a great pride. He believes that it is the best way to grow your own living and eat what you grow, and what manner of man is he who would or could take any issue against this fact? Mr. Herren has made a success in life and is a man in whom we can place confidence as a man of ability. When men like Mr. Herren, who have made a success in cattle raising and other industries can save the money to be made in poultry, is it not time that every one should give heed to the fact that there is money in poultry? It is a business in which we can engage with very little capital. The poultry business is the business for the little man or the man with small means. Don't let another year pass without giving it a trial.

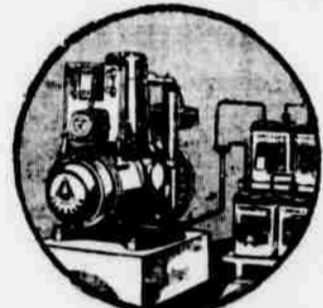

Fruit Color is Sunlight.

The color of fruit is the result of chemical action, in which sunlight is transformed into red or yellow or orange or purple coloring matter. WIT AND HUMOR

The cub reporter saw a hearse start away from a house at the head of a funeral procession. "Who's dead?" he inquired of the bereaved storekeeper, who was watching from his door. "John Smith," exclaimed the cub. "You don't mean to say that John Smith is dead?" "Yes," said the grocer, "and you think they are doing him something?"

The Fear of God

During a "Sunday school" a minister fell into conversation with a timid girl on the outskirts of the town. "And where is your papa?" he asked. "He's on up the canyon after rabbits," came the reply. "On Sunday? I'm afraid your papa doesn't fear God, Bertha." "Oh, yes, he does," came the response. "He took his shotgun with him."

The Keensake

A Red Cross visitor was making his rounds of the soldier patients in a government recuperation hospital (No. 21) when a colored soldier greeted him with, "Say, boss, what is they keeping me here in this hospital for—a souvenir?"

His Cool Head

A traveling salesman during an extensive journey, took his wife with him. Being nervous about fires, he frequently impressed upon her the necessity of keeping a "cool head" should a danger ever occur.

At one hotel where they were stopping a fire really did break out. The salesman roused his wife, assisted her to dress, and, to demonstrate the value of presence of mind, reached for his trunk coat, silk hat and umbrella and accompanied his wife into the street. There they watched the fireman in their work of subduing the flames.

"And now," remarked the husband to his wife, "you see the advantage of having a cool head."

"Yes, John," was the reply, "but you might have put your trousers on."

Untrained

The lawyer was cross-examining a witness to a robbery.

"When did the robbery take place?" he asked.

"I think—" began the witness.

"We don't care what you think, sir. We want to know what you know."

"Then if you don't want to know what I think, I may as well leave the stand. I can't talk without thinking. I'm not a lawyer."

He Picked Up a Live Wire

The small son of a well-known electrical engineer one day picked up a hornet. When his father hurried out to discover the cause of the commotion the little lad was ruefully sucking his thumb, while tears streamed down his face.

"Why, what's the trouble?" asked the father.

"It was that bug," explained the boy between sobs. "I think his wire is defective. I touched him, and he wasn't insulated at all."

More Fitting

A Kansas farmer bought a fancy pig of a breeder at a fancy price. What he thought of his purchase may be judged from his letter acknowledging the receipt of the pig:

"Dear Sir: The pig which I bought of you came today, also bill for same. Judging from the comparative size you must have made a mistake. You should have sent the pig by mail and the bill by express."

Snake's Power Over Birds. The bureau of biological services states that snakes do not charm birds in the understood sense of the word "charm." For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. H. Whiteside, of Koon, Okla. She continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating—light, uncomfortable feeling—and this was very disagreeable and brought on headaches. I was constipated and knew it was indigestion and inactive liver. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of a torpid, or slow-acting liver. Indigestion, biliousness, colic, coated tongue, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—any or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something the matter with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name, "Thedford's Black-Draught," is on the package. "At all druggists."

Baptist Ladies

Circle No. 3 met with Mrs. T. J. Arbuckle Monday afternoon with eight ladies present. Mrs. Reynolds opened the meeting as we were late beginning we omitted the scripture reading. Business was called for. Our secretary and treasurer read the minutes of the last meeting. She then reported over thirty five dollars collected on our first payment to Miss Hawkins, who is studying for a missionary in Simmons. This money however, came from the different circles, and a number of members of our church. We were led in prayer by Mrs. Waldrop. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Seal, who conducted a most interesting mission study.

There being nothing further, we were dismissed with prayer. Will meet at the church next Monday in a general meeting. Bro. Seal will begin our study "What Baptist Believe."

Let all the ladies of the church be present.

Memories of Long Ago

The following clipping from the Marshall Morning News will bring back pleasant memories to those of us who have crossed life's meridian and long for a vision of the old days again:

"Did you ever have your face washed with ice soap? Did you ever make a whip out of a leather-wood or hickory bush? Did you ever wear a pair of homemade shoes that you had to keep well greased to keep them soft? Did you ever wear a shirt with a false bosom? Did you ever have a pair of pants made with a flap in front instead of buttoning up in front? Did you ever have a homemade cap? Did you ever rob a bumblebee nest? Did you ever come in close contact with a polecat? Did you ever tie the tails of the house cat and an opossum together and hang them across a pole? Did you ever tie paper slippers on a cat to see it dance? Did you ever go to Uncle Ben's cabin after supper and listen to him and Aunt Dinah tell ghost stories until your hair would rise? Did you ever go 'possum-hunting with your neighbor boys and stay out so late that you built a fire by the new-ground fence out of bark and roasted cushaws and peas and relished them more than you do the most sumptuous meal? Did you ever sweep the yard Saturday evening to get your mother to make biscuits for breakfast Sunday morning? Did you ever hang around the kitchen the day the preacher came and beg old black Minny to let you sop out the skillet that she fried the chicken in? Oh, my! but it was good! Did you ever bring the mail for your dad, and when he found some one had sent him a Whig paper see him drop it and get the fire tongs to pick it up and place it in the fire? Same old spirit in some of us yet."

"Made-over" Style Show

The ladies of the Magazine Club are planning a "made-over" style show to be given at Dick's Theatre both afternoon and night on October 19th. The entire proceeds from the show will go toward canceling the debt on the public library building.

This is a splendid opportunity to utilize all the out of style dresses by working them over into attractive ones for the winter, and, incidentally, helping to make the style show a success.

All garments sent in will be divided into four classes, and prizes given as follows:

- The oldest made over ladies dress, $2.50.
- The best looking made over ladies dress, $2.50.
- Cheapest new woollen dress, $2.50.
- Best looking made over child's dress or coat, $2.50.

W. F. Draper living west of town filled his big silo last week. He says that he had the best success this time filling it he has had since its construction several years ago. He attributes his success to the efficiency of J. M. Woodson and his excellent machine used in cutting up the silage. Mr. Draper says he will be hooked up for plenty of feed this year. He also finished threshing his grain on his farm west of Weinert. He says the grain was badly damaged and that his loss on the grain was very heavy, caused by the continued rains of the past summer.

LET'S BUILD A WAREHOUSE

WHO? EVERY BODY

WHY? For Most All The Reasons.

There is practically none against us. AND BECAUSE:—

1st.—This is a cotton country and we never expect to pass a year without raising some of it.

2nd.—We will always either want to hold our cotton, ought to hold it or else will have to do it.

3rd.—It will be easier and more satisfactory to hold our cotton in a properly bonded warehouse in Haskell than in Houston.

4th.—If cotton in the bale is not worth protecting it is not worth putting in the bale.

5th.—If the farmers ever expect to develop a marketing system the beginning and foundation is a warehouse.

6th.—If a warehouse is properly patronized and managed we will get part of our expense for housing back in dividends instead of it all remaining in Houston.

7th.—With a properly bonded warehouse we are more or less independent of the weather and commission men. Without it we have no options except to sell when we can.

8th.—Our cotton supported by a properly bonded warehouse receipt will afford us as good collateral as can be had. If money can be had at all we can get it on this. Cotton that is thrown out in the open weather that will rot one-fourth in eight months is not dependable collateral for any one.

9th.—We believe that in the establishment of a gradual marketing system we have a better chance to a fair and just price for our principal money crop. We cannot carry out this plan without a place to store the crop.

10th.—We believe that the principle of encouraging the saving and caring of what we make is better than the encouragement of over-production.

Every farmer, business and professional man is requested to meet at the courthouse next Saturday evening October 2nd, at 2:30 p. m.

Low-Cost Mileage—in Goodyear Tires for Small Cars

There is no economy in buying so-called bargains in tires offered at sensationally cheap prices when a well-made tire delivers mileage at a considerably lower rate of cost.

Add the time and trouble occasioned by frequent replacements and it is fully apparent why tire users, seeking real mileage economy, are not attracted to very cheaply priced tires.

The popularity of Goodyear Tires, of the 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch sizes, is based on the fact that they are built to deliver exceptional mileage at low cost and consistently do so.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Maxwell, Dort or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires—for true Goodyear mileage, value, economy.

Which?

A 1000 per cent Investment

That's the way to look at painting—as an investment, not an expense. Look around you at the houses going to rack and ruin. What is doing it? The weather. There is only one defense against weather and that is paint. But paint, like weather, is of many kinds. Beware of the fair weather paint. It does not protect, it only deceives. Buy a paint that has proved its staying power.

SWP (Sherwin-Williams House Paint, Prepared) has a fifty-year record. Its ingredients are what experience has proved to be most efficient in protecting property. It puts an armor between your buildings and the elements and also adds beauty and cleanliness.

WELCOME!

We extend the Fair visitors a cordial welcome to our store. Haskell County Fair promises to be a great success and we earnestly hope that this year's fair is just a beginning of a permanent Haskell County Fair. Haskell County has the products, the stock, the enterprising citizens to have one of the best County Fairs in West Texas. All we need is co-operation. All worthy causes and undertakings have modest beginnings. Everything cannot be accomplished in a day, but anything can be accomplished by the proper thought and co-operation. We predict that this will be the beginning of an annual Haskell County Fair and we hereby pledge our support from now on, unreservedly. Come to the Haskell County Fair Friday and Saturday and have a good time and go home with a resolve to help make next year's County Fair a greater success.

From Bloom to Open Boll
Owing to the fact that cotton is quite generally late this year the question of the length of time between the blooming and open bolls is of special interest to the northern third of the cotton growing area. With cotton late, the date of the first killing frost influences very considerably the cotton yields.

The following information relative to the time from blooming and first forms to open bolls is given out by the Farm Bureau of the Memphis Tenn. Chamber of Commerce:

Blooms appearing in June made open bolls in 52 days.

Blooms appearing in July made open bolls in 65 days.

Blooms appearing in August made open bolls in 52 days.

Forms appearing on May 24 made open bolls August 9th.

Forms appearing on June 24 made open bolls September 21.

Forms appearing on July 24 made open bolls October 8.

Forms appearing on August 24 made open bolls November 9.

Average killing frost date, November 3. Average light frost, October 21.

Period from planting to first open boll, minimum 120 days; maximum 157 days.

Blooms after September 1 cannot be safely counted upon.—The Progressive Farmer.

The Consumer Pays the Freight

The railway executives of the nation, through their association, have advised the consumers that any attempt to advance prices on account of the recent raise in freight rates, should be considered profiteering. Notwithstanding this warning, it is well understood that some one must pay the freight, and in the final analysis, the consumer goes into his pocket and squares the account.

An advance of 25 to 35 per cent in freight rates may figure only a few cents on a pair of shoes sent direct from the factory to the consumer, if business was transacted in that manner, which it isn't. By the time the consumer gets his shoes he has paid several advances in transportation charges. He pays the freight on the hides to the tanner and on the bark and other material used in the tanning process; he pays the freight on the leather to the manufacturer and on the shoes to the jobber and from there to the wholesaler, perhaps, or in any event, to the retailer. All not only add the increased freight rate, but as they do business on the percentage basis, an additional charge is made to cover the larger investment. Any way you take it, the consumer not only pays the freight once, but from three to four times. The marketing system of farm products is not the only system that needs revising.—Farm and Ranch.

Teachers' Homes

Teachers who reside in the rural community in which they teach are apt to take more interest in the neighborhood and strive to render more social service as well as educational leadership. The interest in good roads, churches, Sunday School, markets and living conditions will be fortified by personal as well as neighborhood pride when teachers live in the community.

The teachers' services should be almost indispensable as leaders, as helpers and as advisers in community meetings. Their usefulness has scarcely begun when the short term of the rural school closes. School gardens, agricultural clubs, religious, social and educational meetings in the community need their assistance. Why not build a teachers' home in the community and give the teachers employment all the year? There is more to be done than the teachers can do, and their leadership would be worth more than their services cost.—Farm & Ranch.

Methodist Missionary Society

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mrs. Guest in her efficient and instructive manner conducted the Bible lesson.

Sixteen ladies responded to roll call with a quotation from the Bible.

Mrs. Fields read a letter from Miss Mildred Smith of Stamford, who is soon to sail as a Missionary to India.

Miss Smith said she wished to tell the society how deeply and sincerely she appreciated the gift, and the assurance of the interest and prayers of the auxiliary that would follow them to India.

The gift made it possible for her to take a three piece silver tea set that she so much needed. Each time she served tea it would bring to her a message from Haskell.

The Society will meet next Monday at the Church in a business session.
