Miss Sulphur Springs, Judy Borden of Talco, had a lot of catching up to do. Most of the other 65 Miss Texas contestants were selected in March or April. Some were even chosen as early as last summer. But Judy won her title June 27 with the state pageant only two weeks away. She is in Ft. Worth this week for a week of Miss Texas Pageant

Miss Borden will sing a country and western song made popular by Judy Collins, "Both Sides Now," in the Miss Texas competition. She will have a built-in fan club in the audience - her mother and dad, four sisters and two brothers. The coed credits her father with teaching her to sing and play the guitar.

What will Miss Sulphur Springs do if she wins the Miss Texas Pageant? "I'm so buny I don't have time to worry about it," she said. "I'll just have to face that if the time comes. I would probably faint." But from now until the final night of the pageant, July 18, Miss Borden will be in a mad

Course July 20

A pasture short course for adult farmers will be held July 20-23, under the sponsorship of the Rivercrest High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to Talmadge Morgan, superintendent, and Charles Sharp, president of Red River County Young Farmers Chapter.

Phillip Nix, pasture specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Soil and Crop Sciences at Texas A&M University, will do the instructing in the course. He is headquarter at Texas A&M Uni-

Mr. Nix holds a B. S. degree in Agricultural Education from Texas A&M University, and has completed work at A&M toward an M. S. degree. He has also done work in Agronomy. He has had nineteen years of field experience as a county agricultural agent, where much of the emphasis was on pasture production.

"Many pasture short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Mr. Nix and al! have met with outstanding success,' according to Ira Black, area supervisor of vocational agriculture, Sulphur Springs. Arrangements for adult education short courses in pasture and in other field are made through Mr. Black's office.

The short course at Rivercrest is scheduled to begin July 20 at 8:00 p. m. in the high school building. Other meetings in the series of four will be held July 21-23. During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Nix will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Morris Trimm, L. P. Taylor and Craig Ingram, Vocational Ag. Teachers

Rivercrest. Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools, Talmadge Morgan or one of the vocational ag. teachers. An entry fee of $2.00 will be charged. Pasture Short Course State Bank No. 836 Certificates are to be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions. Mr. Nix states that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such $392,848.25 subjects as adapted grasses and 321,847.19 trol, grazing management and grazing systems. The primary 100,000.00 purpose of the course is helping 116,994.37 farmers and ranchers to make 1,576,567.50 the most profit from their pas-

Austin. - Cold figures submitted in major agency budget proposals left top state officials and legislators little room for optimism about the amount of next year's tax bill.

Texas Education Agency calculated public school operations during the next biennium will cost about 2.3 billion - $2 billion in state money alone. This is an increase of about $377.1 million over the present level.

Nobody was too surprised about that, but the Texas Public Welfare Department came up with a shocker.

Welfare staffers figure that the rising assistance rolls will require a budget of nearly $2 billion overall for the 1972-73 fiscal period. That represents an increase in state welfare funds of $300.4 million over the current biennium.

So, two vital functions of state government alone - public education and welfare - are seeking some $677.5 million in additional reveiues. It is expected that most of the other agencies will request more than their present appropriations instead of less.

Welfare requests, as large as they are, do not take into consideration larger grants for the needy and ill.

However, a Senate committee has recommended the $80 million a year ceiling for state spending on categorical assistance be abolished and aid payments be matched to actual need. If enacted by the Legislature, this would mean millions more in welfare spend-

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes expressed grave doubts that legislators would accept tremendous increases in welfare spending without "substantial reform" of the entire welfare system.

Welfare officials note that assistance rolls continue to expand uncontrollably (due largely to federal court rulings and rising nonulation).

COURTS SPEAK - Supreme Court upheld tough rules defining guests and requiring food service at private drinking clubs. In another decision involving the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, the Court refused to outlaw the purchase of liquor by "agents" for private lockers of members of dry area clubs.

In a Texarkana-area case, the Court held that victims of uninsured drivers must prove there was no insurance coverage on the other motorist before he can collect on his own uninsured motorist policy.

A Houston nurse, who claimed purchases were charged against her on a bogus credit card, lost her appeal to the top court in her effort to collect damages from a discount house and bill collection service which persistently tried to make her pay.

DRIVING SCHOOL — Drivers who collect too many moving traffic violations may be going to night school to learn better behavior.

Thirty new sets of drivertraining equipment will be provided to 20 regional education service centers over the state to teach students by day and adult traffe violators by night. This is in line with a new plan approved by the State Board of Education. National Highway Safety Bureau will pay $698,100 for simulator equipment and supplementary educational programs. INTEGRATION AID ASKED

-U. S. Justice Department has called for state aid in meeting federal integration guidelines by 48 Texas school districts. Among the larger districts named as not in compliance were Amarillo, Austin, Odessa, Lubbock, Modland, Port Arthur, Beaumont (Sooth Park), Temple, Richardson and Wichita Falls.

State education agencies, federal authorities noted, have control over local districts in such vital matters as state aid accreditation and textbook distribution. INSURANCE HEARING DE-LAYED - A delayed hearing date on auto insurance rate-making in effect assures Texas car owners that any premium hikes won't be effective until around December. Raises were expected by September.

Inscrance board put off the hearing slated for July 14 on whether investment income of companies should be considered in the rate base and at the same time postponed an August 17 hearing on the rate itself.

Investment income hearing now likely will be set for September 9, and another hearing will follow by a month or more.

SCHOOL GROUP FORMED-A new schewide group called "Citizens Association for Public Schools' has been formed to oppose diversion of public funds to non-public elementary and secondary schools.

Organization made no secret of the fact that it will "work for keeping public tax money for schools confined to support of the public schools." Some private and church schools have indicated they will seek state assistance next year.

Affiliated organizations include Texas State Teachers Association, Texas Associaton of School Administrators, Texas School Boards Association, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Anti-Defamation League, Baptist General Convention of Texas and Americans United for Separation of Church and State. SHORT SNORTS

Two members of the Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, Dr. Horace Cromer Austin and Isaac Arnold Sr. of Houston, have resigned. Comptroller Robert S. Calvert is in the process of moving to the brand-new State Finance Building and will be followed quickly by Treasurer Jesse James. Pollution experts now say some Texas Gulf Coast air pollution may come from as far away as Chicago and Cleveland. A team of 34 law enforcement leaders began its fight against organized crime in Texas, bolstered by a $213,669 federal grant. Texas ranks third in sales of fishing licenses and fourth in hunting licenses, according to Parks and Wildlife Department. Eighth annual Texas Youth Conference summer session will be held July 30 - August 2 in Seguin and Austin. More than 100 government and business leaders will participate in Texas Transportation Congress at Arlington on Friday.

Taylor - Ingram Attending State At Tractor School FFA Convention

L. P. Taylor and Craig Ingram, teachers of vocational agriculture at Rivercrest High School, recently completed three weeks of training at Texas A&M University in Farm Tractor Reconditioning. The course consisted of electrical systems, fuel systems, hydraulics, and engine overhaul farm tractors. During the course nine tractors were completely overhauled, tuned-up and repainted.

The course was designed to prepare teachers of vocational agriculture to train high school students in preparing for a career as tractor mechanics and farm machinery repairmen.

There are less than 75 high schools in the state offering a tractor mechanics course. Rivercrest Vocational Agriculture Department has offered the course for the past thre years and has the distinction of being the only multiple teacher department with all teachers qualified to teach this course.

Grants Approved R. R. Co. Schools

Congressman Wright Patman (D-Tex) announced today that the U. S. Office of Education has approved grants totaling $24,152 to two Red River County public schools in accordance with Public Law 874 which provides financial assistance to schools in Federally affected areas. The schoots receiving the Federal funds are the Talco-Bogata Consolidated School District, $2,645, and the Avery Independent School District, $21,507.
