Wright Patman's Weekly Letter

First Congressional Dist. of Texas "Heart of the Gulf Southwest"

TO SPEND OR NOT TO SPEND — That's the big question facing all of us, and the decisions of the Federal Government in this area will determine the future of this nation for generations to come. Frankly, there have been too many high-powered Madison Avenue attempts to lay the blame for inflation and big spending at the doorstep of the "other fellow," and too little real action to hold down the costs of government. There are many worthwhile and badly needed programs that must be funded and they can be continued — without new tax burdens — if we eliminate the fat, waste, and at times, corruption that infiltrates many areas of the Federal bureaucracy.

CAREER SERVICEMEN and employers will be helped by a new computerized service which has been set up by the Department of Defense to assist retiring military personnel in finding civilian jobs. Those who plan to retire after 20 to 30 years of active duty should register qualifications and the type of work preferred with the service about six months before retirement. Employers, both government and private, can make use of the computerized service through a State employment office or by writing direct to: OSD Referral Program Coordinator, The Pentagon, Washington, D. C. 20301.

WHILE THE WEATHER was hot and the rainfall scarce in much of our area this summer, both were a long way from setting new Texas records. The hottest temperature officially recorded for our state is 120 degrees Fahrenheit, set at Seymour on Aug. 12, 1936. The lowest temperature was 23 degrees below zero, set at Tulla on Feb. 12, 1899, and matched at Seminole on Feb. 8, 1933. One record does belong to the First District, however, since Clarksville holds high mark for the most rainfall in a single year — 109.38 inches — set in 1873. Compare this with Wink, Texas, which had all of 1.76 inches of rainfall in 1956.

"SOUTHERN FIELDS AND FORESTS," by Dr. Francis Porcher, has been referred to recently in this newsletter, leading to numerous inquiries and requests for more information. This book was first published by the Surgeon-General of the Confederate States in mid-1865, a copy of which may be consulted by researchers here in Washington in the rare book section of the Library of Congress. A second edition was published in 1869 but, to my knowledge, it is not generally available outside of the larger libraries in the U. S.

MANY OF THE WORLD'S FINEST and most expensive collections of firearms are owned by Americans, some of them right here in Texas, and the hobby of gun collecting is one of the most challenging to those who follow it. A scarcity of fine antique firearms, coupled with the growing number of collectors, has driven the value of high-quality firearms upward. Collectors may pay from $10,000 to $250,000 or more for a prize antique rifle or pistol.

THIS FASCINATING HOBBY as well as the great American sport of hunting, might well be curtailed and eventually outlawed if pending gun control legislation is passed by the Congress. The emotional, ill-advised efforts of those who urge gun registration and confiscation as a deterrent to crime would rob Americans of their traditional right to possess and bear arms. I have vigorously opposed these measures and will continue to do so. This is another area that should remain as much as possible within the jurisprudence of the 50 states.

WITHOUT FIREARMS we might again be reduced, in time of emergency, to the plight of the poorly armed soldiers of the Confederacy, some of whom were obliged to use pikes or lances, or even Bowie knives lashed to poles as offensive weapons. These makeshift arms are also now highly prized by collectors.

Those enjoying a fish fry at the Henry Cooper lake Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Worthy of Talco, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Worthy and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Lovelless, all of Mt. Pleasant, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Hopkins and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Honeycutt Jr. and son, all of Mt. Vernon.

Austin — Top-flight business and industrial executives are getting an invitation to study the administration of state agencies and tell them how to do a better job, hopefully for less money.

House Committee on Efficiency and Economy urged Speaker Gus Mutscher to take the initiative in setting up an outside committee of experts.

Proposal actually originated with a Chicago consultant's preliminary review of 12 selected agencies. Consultant called for seven study teams of experts to do in-depth surveys.

Chairman, Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston, said nearly everyone advocates "economy in the abstract," but "seldom is a studied, rational set of specifics advanced as a plan for saving tax dollars."

Committee is under no illusions that additional state spending will not be required as the state grows.

"The citizens are entitled to know that every tax dollar is being spent with maximum attention to efficiency and economy," said Cummings. "I feel that most of state government is being operated efficiently, but I am also convinced that additional savings can be pinpointed by experts from private enterprise organizations, studying operations within their own expertise."

JUNIOR COLLEGE SHIFT ADVISED — A far-reaching recommendation to discontinue financing junior colleges through local property taxes and turn the job over to the state has been offered by the Texas Research League.

During the next biennium, if this proposal were adopted, local taxpayers would be relieved of $72.9 million. State taxes of that amount would have to be provided. An alternative League recommendation is for the state to pay the operating costs and cost of future construction but to leave existing bonded indebtedness as the obligation of local property taxpayers. This would reduce the local-to-state tax transfer to $56 million, instead of $72.9 million.

League recommends a $200 million bond issue for 1971 and a $200 million issue for 1975 to pay for construction at all state colleges. Community colleges, League claimed, should be operated through locally-elected regional boards which might supervise several campuses.

League Director James W. McGrew said appropriations for community colleges, which will enroll two out of three freshmen and sophomores in state schools by the end of this decade, should be handled through the Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and University System.

TAXES EXAMINED — A new committee study notes that Texas state and local taxes have increased 15 times — from $207 million in 1932 to $3.1 billion in 1969.

Property, sales, severance and business taxation make up 93 per cent of the total state and local tax revenue, reports the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy. Yet the other seven per cent amounts to more than $200 million a year (motor vehicle registration fees, inheritance taxes and drivers' licenses).

Frys Vacation In 13 States

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fry returned home from a four weeks vacation. Mr. Fry joined Mrs. Fry who had been called to bedside of her mother, Mrs. A. F. Yates in Rockford, Ill., June 30.

After leaving Rockford they toured 13 states. One most interesting thing to Mrs. Fry was Pioneer Days held in Queen City, Mo., her hometown. She saw many friends, relatives and school teachers she hadn't seen for 40 years. Main attraction was cooking of buffalo which was served barbecued.

They visited many friends and relatives in Missouri, then went to Rock City, Tenn., visited the Hulen Westerner family in Buras, La., went to New Orleans and to Natchez, Miss., where they visited the C. T. Whitehead family. Mrs. Fry had reservations for a free trip to Miami, Fla., for five days, but due to illness of Mrs. Yates, was unable to get that far from home. It rained on them for the last 15 days of the trip. Mrs. Fry said Talco sure looks good, having been gone two months.

The Ford ran over it and the driver lost control and went off the embankment at Trent Lake bridge. Terry Giddens was the only one hospitalized and his injuries are thought not serious. The Goodroe car was demolished.

Mrs. J. L. Perry is in the Titus County Memorial Hospital after receiving injuries in a car wreck at the intersection of Broad and 6th St. late Tuesday afternoon.
