1st Congressional Dist. of Texas "Heart of the Gulf Southwest"

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY. America's Revolutionary War Commander, President of the Constitutional Convention of 1787, and the First President of the United States (1789-1797) was born on February 22, 1732, exactly 241 years ago today. More than any other individual, he was responsible for building a workable structure of government on the philosophic ideals of liberty and freedom.

WASHINGTON'S A D VICE FOR AMERICANS OF ALL AGES. In his Farewell Address, Washington offered valuable and timeless guidance on many issues, but his comments on the importance of a proper division of powers between the branches of our national government are highly pertinent today: ". . the hapits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department, to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government. a real despotism . . ." Kemember that George Washington prevented his supporters from making him King.

"CONTOCARIOUS." George Washington's Indian friends conferred this name upon him as their sincere compliment to a great warrior. It meant "decourer of villages.'

DISABLED VIETNAM VET-ERANS, which include many returning POW's, are now threatened by an Administration proposal that would lower disability payments. The proposed $160 million cut in VA benefits particularly hurts some 200,000 veterans of the Vietnam War where there was a high percentage of amputees due to mines and booby traps; the proposed new scale means that some amputees would lose as much as $169 in monthly Congress strongly onnose is unthinkable that we would fin-

Res. 255 to designate the Manned Space Craft Center in Houston as the "Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center." Without his strong leadership we would not have put a man on the moon. In addition, I have cosponsored H. R. 3857 to designate the Interstate Highway System as the "Rayburn-Johnson Highway System" in honor of both Speaker Sam Rayburn and LBJ whose combined leadership as Speaker of the House and Majority Leader of the Senate respectively was responsible for enactment of the National Defense Highway Act. Devaluation is regrettable, but under current conditions it is probably necessary to restore some semblance of balance of trade thruout the world. Gov. Dolph Briscoe spelled out his recommendations for complete revision of drug laws and promised to "lobby hard" with all the resources at his command as governor to get the bill passed.

As introduced in the House and Senate, it called for harsh penalties against dope pushers, annual registration of those who deal in legal drugs - and lowering the penalty for first offense possession of maijuana to a mis-

Briscoe's bill would allow possession of up to eight ounces of marijuana without risking felony charge on first offense. However, the misdemeanor would be punishable by up to a year in jail and/or $2,000 fine. The Governor also called for stepped-up education ond rehabilitation programs. The bill was drawn, said Briscoe, to mesh with the 1970 federal controlled substance act to allow governments at all levels to work more effectively to-

A few days later, however. former Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who headed a Senate study committee on drug abuse. assailed the governor's proposals as "an out-and-out fraud as a reform measure." Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena introduced in bill form the far-reaching provisions of Kennard's committee.

Brooks' bill would 'decriminalize" marijuana possession and set moderate felony penalties for sales. It would also make simple possession of most drugs (heroin excluded) a misdemeanor and provide for commitment of users to rehabilitation facilities. On the other hand, it would call for non-paroleable life sentences of convicted "big time" heroin dealers.

The controversy continues to boil on the reduction of penalties on use or marijuana - and increasing penalties on those who sen marijuana or hard drugs. H. B. 80 by Kep. Lindon Wil-

"The Legal Drug Control Society asks that concerned citizens write their legislators to express support for H. B. 86," Armistead says. "We realize that there is no simple solution on this complex problem of drug abuse, out removing the pusher and dealer from the scene will certainly be a giant step in the right direc-

OIL OUTPUT WIDE OPEN AGAIN - The Railroad Commission ordered wide-open. 100 per cent market demand oil production for the 12th straight month.

in making the announcement, Commission Chairman Jim Langdon offered "some good neys and some bad news." He said there were no "tremendously serious" shortages during the crucial winter months in spite of heating oil stock declines.

However, Langdon warned, the peak gasoline consuming season is just around the corner, and gasoline stocks are 19.2 million barrels below 1972 in the nation. Further, crude and products stocks in the U. S. are 70.2 million barrels off last year.

DELAP DENIED - Lt. Gov. Hobby gave repeated assurances that his plans for a March 20-21 citizens conference on ethics in government will not delay senate consideration of reform measures passed by the House.

Meanwhile, some House members blasted Hobby for indicating final Senate approval of the reform bills would be held up until after he receives advice of citizens on ethics legislation at the conference.

Hobby said hearings will move forward on ethics, lobby control and campaign financing measures. He noted it is extremely unusual for the Senate to vote on controversial measures before March 9 anyway. # Top Absentee Conservationist

Dr. E. L. Miller has been se lected by the Board of Director as the District's outstanding nonresident conservation rancher The Board hereby enters his name and record in the 1973 Texas Conservation Awards Pro-

Dr. Miller's primary income is derived from his medical practice in Talco, where he lives with his family; but he has always insisted his livestock operation be a paying proposition. Dr. and Mrs. Miller are good stewards of the soil.

Dr. Miller purchased 183 acres in the fall of 1967. He immediately contacted the Soli Conservation Service for planning assistance. The first on the groune inventory showed that Miller's farm had only about 30 acres on cleared land. The cleared area was partially established to common bermudagrass which wsa overgrown with broomsedge and weeds. The remainder of the place was overgrown with hardwood trees.

Dr. Miller had the trees doz d. piled and burned .but he was concerned enough to leave sufficient trees and cover along streambanks and fence rows for wildlife

Since his initial purchase Miller has acquired an additional 3. acres. The additional acreage. which joins the original, enabled Miller to establish a year-round grazing program.

Dr. Miller believes wise use without abuse benefits the landowner presently and preserve: the resource base for posterity.

Dr. Miller with the help of the Soil Conservation Service fit the plant to the soil. Miller established the fine sandy loam upland to common and coastal bermudagrass. The clay slopes he established to Bahiagrass, and the loamy bottomland he put in fescue. He has his fances arranged to enable him to apply management techniques to each individual grass.

Through the wise use of fertilizers the forage stored for winter is of such high quality it is not necessary to feed suppple ments routinely.

Dr. Miller runs about 75 head of cattle on his 220 acres. He has enough excess forage to meet his hay needs and still maintain proper height on his grass. Because of the cost involved in labor he stacks his hay in the field where it is to be used

The Soil Conservation Service had furnished on-site assistance in planning and applying his conservation program.

Dr. Miller knows conservation pays. He is not reluctant to voice this knowledge to friend and acquaintances.

SECRETARIES NO LONGER TYPE FOR THE WASTEBASKET

How many times has your boss changed a letter or report that took you hours to type, and then asked you to quickly retype it? Chances are it was perfect copy, too - because that's the way you are, no matter how long it takes.

If you're like most secretaries, probably two-thirds of your typing ends up in the wastebasket. And it's not your

But from now on, you won't care how often your boss changes his mind - if he buys you a new typing aid called the Savin 900 Word Master. Working together with your old reliable typewriter, this new product from Savin Business Machines Corporation automatically types out finished work at speeds of up to 186 words per minute!

You can type at your fastest "rough draft" speed because you have no fear of errors. The Savin 900 Word Master has the amazing ability to save the good keystrokes and discard the bad ones. How does it do it? Every character you type is simultaneously recorded on a magnetic-tape cassette that looks like the kind you record music on. If you make an error, just backspace and type the correct character. On the tape, the incorrect character is automatically erased and replaced by the correct one.

Your boss change his mind? Simply move the tape back to the point of change and then type only the change. The Word Master automatically fits it into the original copy. Your boss saves time, too -- only the few new words you've typed.

The Word Master stores all your information in its tape cassette and allows you to insert, delete or skip over unwanted information with the touch of a button. Savin's magnetic-tape cassette Lolds up to 25 pages, and it types them the same way every time - perfectly!

If you type only part of each day (The typical secretary types 3 to 4 hours a day), the Word Master's light weight and unique design lets you share it with other secretaries in your office. Unlike other systems which include modified typewriter and permanently-attached control console, the Word Master can be plugged into any standard 13 or 15 inch IBM Selectric fitted with Savin's baseplate attachment. So it can go where

The Savin 900 Word Master lets you type more in less time - giving you more time to do other work for your boss. It's so useful for daily correspondence, legal documents, catalogs, promotional releases, reports, price lists, standard-form letters and statistical work.

Secretaries find the Word Master easy to use and easy to learn (it takes only about an hour). Best of all, the low rental cost -- as low as $25 a week - means almost any boss can afford one. Here's hoping you and your boss will be the first ones on your block to use the Savin Word Master. It'll take a lot of pressure off both of you.

THANKS, EVERYONE

In the past few months we have been made mindful by the concern of so many of just how much friends mean in times of difficulty. We want to thank our many friends and neighbors from the bottom of our heart for the food. cards. visits and flowers which were given while Mother was in the hospital and while she was ill at home. It meant a lot to her to know that you were trying to help her bear the burden of illness. Those of us who survive want to especially thank you for the many ways in which you have shown your sympathy in our great loss.

TECHNOLOGY FOR A BETTER WORLD

Just a few weeks ago the engineers of the nation joined with scientists in celebrating the invention of a device which has developed into a multi-billion dollar industry--tran-

William Shockley worked on amplification mechanisms, Walter Brattain brought experimental know-how to the team, and John Bardeen worked on bringing the physical theory into line with the experiments. All were then at Bell Telephone Laboratories and later on received the Nobel Prize for this invention which changed the electronics world. As a footnote, Dr. Bardeen, now at the University of Illinois, in 1972 received his second Nobel Prize in physics for his work on superconductivity.

Working under the stimulation of Dr. Mervin J. Kelly, Executive Vice President at Bell Labs, the three scientists, using all solid materials, sought a quick, reliable, and inexpensive replacement for the delicate, expensive, and shortlived vacuum tube and slow mechanical relay. It was on December 23, 1947 that a point-contact transistor (so named because of its two pointed gold contacts located less than two thousandths of an inch apart on one side of a piece of germanium wafer) was demonstrated.

The transistor led to an explosive growth in solid state research and development. One outgrowth of these advances was the silicon solar cell used in communications satellites to convert the sun's energy to electricity. Now thousands of circuits are made simultaneously on silicon wa- American life.

fers, whose area is less than a square inch. This has made integrated circuits possible. Other technological improvements have followed rapidly. The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, the world's largest engineering or scientific society, will honor these three transistor pioneers at a special luncheon in March in New York City. At that time IEEE will present them with the medal pictured above.

In dollar terms, the annual sales of transistors are approaching the $4 billion mark with millions of individuals employed in solid-state oriented business and industry.

Impact of the transistors is felt in commercial equipment and systems, medicine, education, broadcasting, musical instruments, automobiles, navigation, test and measuring instruments, industrial control and automation, aerospace and telephone communications. Transistorized computers have extended the capabilities of today's human

Everyone is affected by the transistor. The hard-ofhearing have been helped by solid-state hearing aids, those with heart disease with pacemakers, electrocardiograms can be sent from bedside by telephone to remote heart specialists, the blind can be warned of obstacles by semiconductor-operated devices. Then there are radios, power tools, cameras, jet navigation and radar systems, and even musical instruments powered by transistors.

In the two decades since the transistor's invention it has affected every aspect of
