> No new school records were broken due to a very slow track. Point getters for Rivercrest were Danny Black, Terry Giddens, Randy Jones and W. M. Simpson first place for 440 relay. Terry Giddens, Sammy Ellis, W. M. Simpson and Randy Jones first place mile relays. Terry Giddens won fourth place long jump, fourth place high jump and third place 100 yard dash. Jimmy Curties won fifth place high jump. Ricky Norman won fourth place in the 120 yard high hurdles. Randy Jones won fourth in the 440 yard dash.

Ricky Norman had the fastest time in the preliminaries of the 120 yard high hurdles, but hit a hurdle and fell in the finals and had to settle for fourth place.

Vet Vaccinates Pets At Clinic

Approximately 140 small animals were vaccinated for rabies by Dr. Sam Kelsey at three clinics Friday, March 15, at Cunningham, Prairiland High School, and Blossom. The clinics were a public service project for the Prairiland FFA Chapter.

The clinics were a result of notice given to Kelsey in his capacity as mayor of Deport and as a veterinarian that twelve positive rabies cases in skunks had been reported in Titus, Red River, Lamar and Bowie Counties during the calendar year of 1973, according to the Texas State Department of Health.

Kelsey urged that all pet owners who could not attend the clinics take their animals to a veterinarian and have the animals immunized as soon as possible.

The message is teletyped to radio, television and National Weather Service stations in the area.

"A 'tornado watch' alerts people to the possibility of a tornado," expains the Texas noted for her work with A&M University System specialist. "When a watch is announced for your area, there is no need to interrupt normal activities except to listen for weather advisories and watch for threatening weather. Be sure a batterypowered radio is available in case power is lost."

A tornado watch identifies a specific time and area, but everyone in the general area should be alert for threatening conditions.

"When a tornado has actually been sighted or detected by radar, a 'tornado warning' is issued. The warning tells where and when a tornado was sighted, the direction it is likely to move, and the time it is expected to move through the warned area," explains Keese.

If a tornado warning is issued for your area, move immediately to a cellar, basement or civil defense shelter. If you are in a home or other building with no basement, go to the lowest level in the center of the house or other building. Take shelter in a small room or closet or under heavy furniture.

Keese also lists other safety precautions.

At home, open a few windows to allow for sudden air pressure changes. Then find shelter.

Stay away from windows and buildings with wide, free-span roof.

In open country, escape by moving at a right angle to the tornado's path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in a ditch or ravine but do not stay in your car.

Get far enough away from a trailer or mobile home to avoid injury if it is overturned.

Redeemed, And Saying So

DAN SMITH

In Psalm 107:2 we find these words: "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is our Savior - our Redeemer. It is by His atoning grace and through our faith in Him that we are "the redeemed of the Lord" mentioned in the Psalm.

A genuine Christian should be glad for every opportunity to share Christ with those about Him. Thus, the psalmist says that if we are saved

Rangeanns In National Women's Basketball Tournament

The Ranger Junior College Rangeanns basketball team met in Amarillo Thursday, March 14th, to participate in the National Women's Invitational Basketball Tournament

The three day tourney (14th, 15th, 16th) saw the top women's teams in the USA competing for the National Title. Among the eight teams were perennial powers, Wayland Baptist College Flying Queens, Defending champions John F. Kennedy College of Wahoo, Nebraska and Belmont College of Nashville, Tennessee.

Ranger and Temple were the only Junior College teams competing in the tournament. Three teams, University of California Los Angeles, Mississippi State College and Phillips University of Enid, Oklahoma made their first appearance at the annual affair.

The tournament, sponsored by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and played in the Civic Center Coliseum, also honors 10 women collegiate players as All-Americans. Another feature of the agricultural engineer specializing in animal waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that odors from runoff can be settled out confined livestock and poultry before reaching retention feeding operations can often be reduced by heeding, or taking advantage of, natural processes that influence odor ors are temperature, moisture and oxygen supply.

"For instance, feedlot odors weather than during cold, dry periods," explains Sweeten. 'Bacterial decomposition virtually ceases below 35 degrees but is extremely active in warm weather. Hence, proper waste management is more critical in the summer when odor production is the greatest."

"Experiments have shown that manure odor intensities are also proportional to moisture content. This is readily evidenced by the fact that feedlot odors are maximum soon after rain. Also. handling manure in liquid form in confinement buildings usually produces more intense odors than does handling of manure in solid form." notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

With a moisture content of 65 percent or more, manure is effectively saturated and thus poorly aerated, so that anaerobic bacteria (those that need no free oxygen) can decompose the organic matter. The end products of anaerobic digestion include carbon dioside, water, heat and methane plus odorous gases such as hydrogen sulfide, ammonia and several volatile organic compounds.

On the other hand, manure with a moisure content below about 50 percent will have enough free oxygen for aerobic bacteria to digest the organic matter. These bacteria to digest the organic matter. These bacteria do not produce odorous compounds. For deep pits of lagoons used for handling liquid manure, aerobic digestion could be accomplished by injecting air with floating aerators or air suggests Sweeten believes that redispersion patterns.

"Meanwhile several livestock and poultry feeders are caught between public pressures for clean air on the one hand and a lack of technology for odor abatement on the other. Better understanding on the part of feeders, rural residents, regulatory agencies and the courts as to the technical and economical limits of odor abatement will become increasingly important in the future," contends
