Avery Constable Sues Sheriff In Federal Court

February 16, 1976, has been set as the hearing date of a civil suit between Red River County sheriff M. E. McGuire, defendant, and precinct four constable Gregg Woods of Avery, plaintiff, who charges McGuire with violation of his constitutional rights. The case will be tried in the Eastern District Federal Civil Court of William Wayne Justice in Paris, Texas.

The suit arose from an incident in the Red River County Courthouse December 31, 1973, in which Woods alleges McGuire assaulted him. Woods, a former Red River deputy sheriff, was in the courthouse to be sworn in as constable of precinct four. McGuire signed a complaint against himself that day before Red River justice of the peace Bill McDonough charging himself with committing an affray. The civil suit was filed in federal court late in February, 1974.

The setting of this civil suit court date is the latest in a series of events in the past few weeks involving Red River County law enforcement officers. Bogata News publisher Robert W. Wright signed a complaint charging assault by Tommy Eddins before precinct one justice of the peace Fate Smith on Sunday, August 31, following an encounter between Wright and Eddins Saturday night, August 30.

Eddins, who became a Red River County deputy sheriff five days after the alleged assault, was riding in the car with Sheriff McGuire that night.

The circumstances leading up to the alleged assault involved a number of Bogata juveniles and young adults, about 45 of which had gathered in downtown Bogata in protest of what some of them considered unjustified citations being issued by both the Texas Department of Public Safety officers and Red River County officers.

Wright had received a telephone report at his home that "people were being taken to jail for no reason" and went to investigate.

Wright approached the sheriff's car, which was parked just north of Baker's Garage on Main Street in Bogata and inquired about what was going on. The car was occupied by McGuire, Bobby Yarborough, Eddins, and John Howison, who was ticketed for disturbing the peace. McGuire ordered Wright off the street, saying that he "had no business" there, and that he "didn't like what you put in the paper."

The sheriff's comments supposedly referred to the editorial opposition of the Bogata News to the hiring of Eddins as a deputy because he is a cousin of Yarborough's and because of the expense involved in having another deputy sheriff certified.

Wright turned to leave, asking the sheriff, "Can I quote you on that?" With that the sheriff got out of the car on the right side and backed Wright against the fender of the Squad car. Eddins, who was not wearing a ladge or carrying a gun, got out of the back seat of the car on the left side and approached Wright, who he had never met. Wright offered his open palm for a handshake to Eddins, who grabbed him just below the elbow with both hands, and jerked and twisted Wright downward three times. The nearby crowd closed in, and Eddins strode into the group shouting and waving his arms wildly. Wright asked the sheriff if they could move away from the crowd, fearing a riot, and Eddins continued to shout and beat his chest, saying "I'm a taxpayer."

The situation cooled when McGuire, Eddins and Wright moved away from the crowd, and Eddins stopped shouting.

Saturday night, September 6, Wright's Toyota station wagon was fired upon with a shotgun from a dark car traveling without lights in the same direction as the Wright vehicle, north on Highway 271 between Bogata and Deport. Wright returned the fire, attempting to shoot into the windshield of the dark car. Mrs. Wright was in another car approximately 3/4 of a mile ahead of her husband, and was in radio contact at the time the shots were fired. Wright was unable to identify either the car or the occupants, but Lamar County officers dislodged what they said was number eight bird shot from the windshield and side of the car.

Sunday night, September 7, Eddins fired his gun in a residential area in Bogata at least four times, according to Franklin County deputy sheriff Jon Latimer, a former Red River deputy, in an effort to stop a vehicle for a traffic violation. As a result of this incident, Terry Shelton, driver of the vehicle, pled guilty to resisting arrest and speeding in Justice Smith's court, and paid a $56 fine.

Tuesday night, September 9, the Bogata City Council voted to supplement the salary of Eddins, and council members voiced endorsement of Eddins and gave a stamp of approval to his actions. George Smith, Ralph Cawley and Tommy Corbell voted to supplement the salary, and councilman Galen Legate voted no.

State officers and officers at levels above the county were notified of the alleged assault against Wright and of the shotgun shooting on Sunday, September 7, and Sheriff McGuire issued a statement appearing in the Sunday, September 21 issue of The Paris News asking for a probe of his department and what he termed accusations that have been made against him and against his department by "the editor of the Bogata paper." The article was picked up and run in its entirety in the September 25 issue of The Bogata News. The Red River grand jury convened the day after the article appeared in the Paris newspaper.

Catching Size Channel Catfish Set Loose In State Park Ponds

TYLER — Fishing at Tyler, Daingerfield and Bonham State Parks improved instantly this week when approximately 2,000 catchable - sized channel catfish were added to the waters of each park lake.

The fish, weighing up to one pound, were produced at the Tyler fish hatchery and held for 1 1/2-years until they attained a larger size to prevent excessive predation when released.

Channel catfish have a rough time surviving to catchable size when spawned by parent fish in lakes, especially in clear waters such as in the park lakes where they are easily seen by predator fish.

Largemouth bass prey heavily on newborn and young channel cats and can eliminate an entire year's spawn before the fish have a chance to grow up.

David Campbell, Tyler hatchery superintendent, hopes to make the stocking of these larger sized fish an annual affair to improve fishing in these parks.

Catfishing is a relaxing sport, requiring only the simplest of tackle, a comfortable place to sit and some patience. Chicken gizzards or commercially prepared baits are excellent fish producers.

Fishing for channel cats is generally better at night than during the day, but there are some restrictions on fishing methods in the state parks.

Trotlines, throwlines and jugs are prohibited and boats and motors are restricted to no longer than 19 feet and 12 horsepower because of the relatively small size of the park lakes.

The state record channel cat weighed 37 pounds and eight ounces, but most fishermen consider a 10-pounder a trophy. Fish in the one-to-two-pound category are probably the most preferred because of their palatability.

Brahmas Gore Rebels 23-0

The Rivercrest Rebels went to the fieldhouse at halftime last Friday night behind the Paul Pewitt Brahmas 23-0, and even though the Rebels didn't manage to get on the scoreboards in the second half, they contained the larger Brahma team with extra effort and fewer mistakes.

The Brahmas pounded away at the light Rebel line during the first quarter, piling up yardage in 10 and 20 yard spurts and scoring twice. Early game nervousness was apparent in the first quarter fumbles, with the Rebels losing two in the first quarter and the Brahmas losing two. The first score for the Brahmas came when it appeared that the Rebels had stopped their drive on their own 15 yard line, when Paul Pewitt's Paul Carver, an exceptional kicker, faked a field goal attempt and passed to Danny Joe Stigers in the end zone.

The second Brahma score came late in the first quarter, when Brahma Mitch Wilkerson went over from the six. Recovering one Brahma fumble in the first quarter was Clyde Brown, and Rebel quarterback Larry Taylor stopped one Brahma drive by intercepting a pass on the Rebel nine yard line. Randy Belcher earned the Rebel first down in the first quarter.

Taylor connected with receivers four times in the second quarter for 29 yards, but the Rebels were unable to put together a sustained drive.

Late in the second quarter a Brahma player tipped a punt off the toe of David Horn, and Milton was there to recover the football on the Paul Pewitt 49 yard line. The Rebels penetrated as deep as the Paul Pewitt 29 yard line, but the clock put an end to their efforts.

The Rebels completely turned off the Brahma offensive efforts during the third quarter, holding them to 25 yards rushing.

It was late in this quarter that the Rebels began what might have been another successful drive, when Gary Neill returned a Brahma punt 15 yards to the 50 yard line. Neill carried on the next two downs for a total of eight yards, and then Jimmy Patton went over the center on the line for the first down. Jimmy Forsyth, a 130 lb. Rebel halfback, went over right tackle for 13 yards and another first down at the Pewitt 25.

The Rebels tried to pass their way into the end zone from the 19 yard line, but the Brahma pass protection and pursuit was well organized, and they took possession on downs at their own 19. From there they drove to the Rebel 14, but the Rivercrest defense held together and prevented the score.

Estate Planning Workshop This Month

Nothing is more certain than death and taxes. To assist residents of Red River County to better understand estate and inheritance taxes, an estate planning workshop is scheduled for October 13-14. The workshop, sponsored by the Community Improvement Clubs, the Red River County Bar Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be held in the District Courtroom beginning at 7:30 p.m. according to Beth Danheim, County Extension Agent.

The two night sessions will cover some highlights of estate planning how to make an inventory of an estate. A review of laws concerning property ownership and how they effect estate planning, and tax problems due to inheritance will be discussed. Appearing on the program will be Pat F. Beadle, Attorney; Austin Guest, Attorney; Jack Herrington, Attorney; Dr.

James Long, Economist-Management; and Master of Ceremonies Gavin Watson, Jr., County Judge.

The sessions will involve discussions on wills, trusts, The sessions will involve discussions on wills, trusts, and insurance planning. A question and answer session is planned each night. Taxes resulting from the death of an individual are payable only after death. Since they are not paid on a regular basis, a person could accumulate a sizable estate that may result in heavy taxation after death.

The value of an estate is based on the current market value at the time of a person's death. Therefore, increasing land and property values in Red River County could greatly increase the value of an estate. Proper estate planning can decrease or eliminate some estate or inheritance taxes. Wills, gifts, trusts and insurance, if properly handled, can help reduce the tax burden.

The Fair will be open to the public and no admission will be charged.

DEFENSE — Jimmy Patton shows what it's all about as he clings to a Paul Pewitt ballcarrier in the football game Friday night. Coming

We played our usual game the second half. We played an outstanding defensive game and our offensive team got the ball in good field position on three occasions, but we just couldn't move the ball against the much larger Pewitt line. We gave away about forty pounds a man in the interior line and we just got physically whipped in our offensive line. When you can't move the defense then you can't move the ball. The first half of play you could see our lack of playing last week. We made a lot of errors that we haven't been making all year. You can't win when you make mental errors that cost you big plays on offense or defense. We also got caught in another situation and that was playing before a big fired-up homecoming crowd. A good enthusiastic crowd always has a way to get a team keyed up emotionally and causes an opposing team to have a less emotional approach to a game. Yes, whether you realize it or not, an athlete plays a lot on emotions. So, to counter all of this, what we need this Friday night is a large crowd to spur our team to an opening district victory against Mount Vernon.

JV Finds First

The Rebel junior varsity came out ready to play last Thursday by out hitting the Rains Wildcats 6-0. It was strictly a defensive battle with neither team able to score in the first three quarters. The Rains junior varsity fumbled the ball a few times, but the Rebels just could not go in for the score. With time slowly running out the Rebel's tailback Kip Stansell threw a sweep pass to splitend Chris Potter for the score. The Rebel junior varsity finally found some hitters in the troups with red strips going to Terry Williams, Kip Stansell, Elvin Hines, Marlon Savage and Chris Potter. Some outstanding offensive work was done by James Crawford, Doug Easterling and Edward Deaton.

"Spanish For Travelers" To Be Taught At Junior College

A course entitled "Spanish for Travelers" will be taught through the Paris Junior College Continuing Education Division by Mrs. J. Max (Helen) Williams, former Spanish instructor at the college. Mrs. Williams retired recently after teaching Spanish and English at PJC for many years. She will teach the Spanish course beginning Monday, October 6, from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. in the Learning Resources Center on campus.

In the ten lessons on continuous Tuesday evenings, Mrs. Williams will teach students who want to learn Spanish and those who want to refresh their conversational Spanish. The course will be very useful for those planning to travel in Mexico and other Spanish-speaking countries.

Mrs. Williams holds bachelor's and master's degrees in Spanish and English from Southern Methodist University. Fee for the beginning Spanish course is $17.50 for 15 hours of instruction. Senior citizens who have Paris Junior College Identification Cards may take the course at one-half the regular fee.

Dog Obedience Course At PJC

A Dog Obedience course will be offered by Paris Junior College's Continuing Education Division beginning Monday, October 6, said Mrs. Bill Jones, coordinator. Mrs. Jimmy Fodge will teach the course from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Mondays for ten weeks. The fee will be $30, which will include a choke chain for use in the class and to take home after the course. The first class meeting will be held south of the East Wing of the PJC Administration Building.

Dogs in the course must be from six months to five years of age, Mrs. Fodge said, and they must have had rabies and all other shots. The owner must bring certification from a veterinarian of a rabies vaccination given in 1975 so the dog's immunization will not run out before the course ends.

Both purebred and non-purebred dogs will be accepted in the course, but the dogs must appear to be healthy and in good condition for the course, the instructor explained. All dogs must be brought on leashes and must be kept in control at all times by the owner.

Mrs. Fodge, who has taught several dog obedience courses in past years, will teach owners how to make their dogs obey in the 10-week course.

Reservations for the course must be made early so that a choke chain may be purchased for the dog, according to his size. Those interested should call or write the PJC Continuing Education office, 785-7661, extension 145, and give the dog's size.

BILLY GRAHAM says about the new motion picture "Time to Run"...

There is no doubt that today we see the family unit being attacked from every side, torn apart and fragmented. TIME TO RUN is a motion picture about a family, about listening, about the silences between people, the unspoken moments, and the moments of anger that don't really accomplish anything. TIME TO RUN openly offers the reality of Jesus Christ as an answer to the human dilemma.

I feel that thousands of people will see a part of themselves in the film. Hopefully, families seeing it will be brought closer together in real understanding and communication.

I urge you to take your children... or your parents... to see TIME TO RUN when it comes to your community. You may find it more of a mirror than a motion picture!

Farmer Backbone Of Conservation

TEMPLE — Conservation programs ultimately benefit everyone, but farmers, ranchers, and other rural landowners are the principal caretakers of natural resources.

"Their stewardship will continue," Edward E. Thomas, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service in Texas, said, "because most of our natural resources — soil, grass, trees, and our watersheds — are under private, rural ownership. Towns and cities occupy a very small portion of our available space."

"This means the individual farmer or rancher who cooperates with a soil and water conservation district, and who is carrying out a conservation plan on his property, is the backbone of America's conservation programs."

"For the farmer, the conservation plan means preserving basic raw materials — the stuff of which farms are made — and using them in such a way as to maintain a long-term profitable operation."

Thomas said. "For the non-farmer, the conservation plan means a more stable supply of food — meat, milk, grain, and non-food necessities such as wood and fiber. Benefits of conservation farming are evident and easy for the entire community to see."

"We have been asked why, if farmers and ranchers are the backbone of our conservation programs, does the Department of Agriculture emphasize urban conservation," Thomas said. "In response to this question, I think the clearest way to answer would be to list some of our reasons: "In the first place, we do urban conservation because as a federal agency, we must serve all the people. This is done in harmony with the programs of the locally-governed soil and water conservation districts, and the wishes of their directors."

"Secondly, we do urban conservation because we have found conservation practices and principles that have been tested for 40 years on rural areas will work in towns, too."

"And we must remember that although urban areas are small, percentage-wise, they contain most of the people, and in comparatively congested conditions. Therefore, a land use mistake in an urban area can hurt a lot of people and cost a lot of money. To express it another way, following good conservation planning in an urban area can bring benefits to a large number of people all at once."

"The foundation of our work with urban interests or farmers is the soil survey," Thomas said. "Interpretive maps made from these surveys can show community planners features about the soil — overflow areas, shallow soils, areas where foundations must be strengthened to withstand soil pressure, and other soil and water-related problems. Soil surveys are prepared by the Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station."

Farmers and ranchers use the soil surveys and similar interpretive maps to help plan the best use of their land.

"The economic and physical benefits of conservation improvement work to rural landowners, and to their city neighbors, are evident in higher crop yields, clearer waterways, safer communities, and a better environment," Thomas concluded.

Some people say it is unlucky if a hare crosses your path, because it may be a witch in disguise.

Bicentennial Is Program Theme For Neighbors

Bicentennial was the theme used for the program when the Fulbright Good Neighbors met September 25 in the home of Mrs. Leo Ridens.

Mrs. Johnnie Kerbow presided over the meeting and Mrs. Ridens led the song service. Roll call was answered with "My most amazing memory."

The program included Mrs. Earl Legate reading a piece on the Constitution, Mrs. Clyde Mitchell giving the history of the Bald Eagle, the American emblem, and a poem "The Flag" read by Mrs. Worth Baker. A poem was also read by Mrs. Ridens.

For a ten minute demonstration a door knob covering, a frog made from double knit and stuffed with rice, a string of small pockets for sewing notions and a knitted afghan were displayed.

Games were enjoyed by the group at the close of the meeting and refreshments of cake, coffee and hot chocolate were served to 13 members and two visitors, Mrs. Onita Houghs and Mrs. Lara Gifford.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Clyde Mitchell on October 9.

When your child and a neighbor's child have a serious quarrel, remember that the neighbor probably thinks that his child is right also.

It wouldn't be the same...

Imagine the inconvenience of heating your present home during winter with an old fashioned wood burning stove. Each cold morning a fire would have to be started and then heavy loads of wood carried into the house throughout the day to keep it burning. You would have to clean out the dirty ashes and cope with soot and smoke. Fortunately . . . clean, modern electricity heats your home accurately and dependably with just the flip of a switch, while you relax in any room. Since so many homes, industries and educational facilities depend upon electricity, more of it is used than ever before. We're doing our best to continue providing you with all the electric service needed so that electricity will be there when you plug in that appliance, or flip that switch to heat your home.
