POULTRY

NO CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Meet Common Symptom of Disease is That Fowls Get Very Thin, Waste Away and Die.

Tuberculosis is one of the most common diseases found in the poultry flocks of the corn belt, says J. J. Warren of Iowa. The disease develops rather slowly. The infected birds do not usually show any symptoms until several weeks have passed, and in many instances several months after they have contracted it.

The most common symptom of tuberculosis is that the birds get very thin, "waste away" and finally die. Another is to find a bird going lame in one leg without showing any outward sign of injury, even while the bird is in good health. The bird may live several weeks after this lameness first shows up.

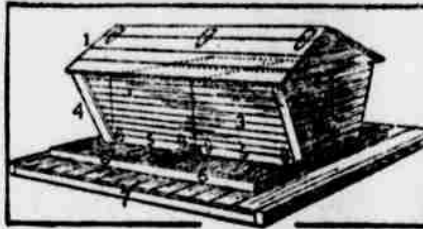

To make sure that the disease is tuberculosis, it pays to kill and examine the insides of a very sick bird. The liver, spleen and intestines are often enlarged, but contain light yellow spots which are hard, suny lesions. Lungs are seldom found to contain lesions.

There is no cure for tuberculosis except to keep it from spreading. Burn the dead birds or bury them; kill the infected birds without spilling any blood; don't try to keep aged hens; and keep the henhouse clean, especially from droppings. Use lime on the soil where the flocks feed, and change the ground. It helps some to separate the young chicks from the old ones and to be careful when buying new stock. Sanitation is the biggest help.

HOPPER FOR FEEDING FOWLS

Model Shown in Illustration Appears to Afford Best Means of Rationing Hens.

After using many types of dry mash feeders in the poultry house, the model shown in the cut appears to afford the best results. The fowls cannot stand on the top of the feeder, or get into it.

Dry Mash Feeder.

It is also difficult for them to waste any of the food by throwing it out, as the sloping guard in front prevents that. A sloping bottom should be put in, as suggested by the dotted line. Such a feeder can be made by cutting down an empty grocery box.

PROFITABLE TO CULL FLOCK

It is an Art Anyone Can Acquire, and the Sooner Unhealthy Fowls Go the Better.

Culling chickens is to the poultry keeper what milk testing is to the dairyman. Fortunately it is an art anyone can acquire. The sooner the flock is culled the sooner expenses are cut down. Then, too, the prices are higher earlier in the season. The man who is making the most of his poultry, systematically culls. Birds lacking in health, and general purpose breeds not laying and two years old, or over, should go. The older the bird, the less profitable she becomes.

MATURE GEESSE AS BREEDERS

Fowls Are Usually Best for Breeding When From Three to Five Years of Age.

Toulouse geese ordinarily will not breed until about two years of age, and they do not mature for another year. They are usually best for breeding when from three to five years old, although the females may be kept until they are from twelve to fourteen years of age, the ganders not generally being kept after they are eight to nine years old.

POULTRY NOTES

The busy hen is the laying hen.

There are poor laying hens in all breeds.

In poultry raising the breed is important, but the man or woman behind the breed is more so.

A sick hen may be faded but will not show the vigor that is shown in a good layer.

With colder weather more corn may be fed but it is easy to overfeed of corn, even in winter.

For the sake of keeping peace in the neighborhood, it is a good plan to keep the turkey flock now and then.

Clean floors are needed for clean nests. If the floors are dirty, mud is tracked into the nests, and gets on the eggs from the hen's feet.

COOL NEWS

quiet a number of our this week on account of this is hitting our work but no one is responsible for this. All we ask of the parents is that they help their children to do the lessons they have been given as possible after they get to school. We ask their help all they can to do back work. The teachers of these children every assist but their classes are full they are overworked and they can devote to these children is limited. But if the children will get right down to their work the most of them can make up what they have missed.

We have had three teachers out this week on account of illness but we have been very fortunate in being able to secure very competent supply teachers. These ladies have been Mrs. Bob Robertson, Mrs. Clyde Elkins and Mrs. Meadows. It has been because of the interest these ladies have in our schools that they have been kind enough to teach for us while these teachers are ill. They are all three experienced teachers with splendid preparation. An incompetent supply teacher can in one day demoralize a room or a department, but our work is going on fine with these ladies.

The cards of the high school pupils and the lower grade children were sent out this week for the patrons to examine and sign. On account of two teachers being out this week on account of sickness, the cards of the children in the departmental grades will not be issued until next week.

These report cards indicate to the parents just the kind of work their children are doing in school. If any of the children are failing in any subject or subjects it is the duty of the parents of these failing children to see their children's teachers at once and find out what they can do in the way of having their children to bring up satisfactory. There are many of these children, if their parents will do their duty, that can make their work. If the parents will find out from the teachers how much home study do in each subject and if they will see that they do this home study every night of the school week, many of the children that are conditioned will make their year's work, but if your children are running the streets after school, going to the picture shows, parties, two or three times each week, they are dead sure to fail in their work. An occasional picture show on Friday or Saturday nights, if it is a suitable one, will not injure them. An occasional party, in the home, with proper amusements, provided by the parents on a Friday night will not hurt, but a picture show or a party every week of the world will demoralize the school work of any child.

Considering everything, the term's work has been good. Quite a number of our pupils have done good work. But we have had more failures than we should have had. We feel that our work will be much better this coming term. All the teachers are doing hard conscientious work. Most of the pupils are interested in their work and they like to go to school. All we ask is the loyal backing of the patrons and the citizens of the town in our schools. If we can secure this, we, the teachers with the board, can build up the best system of schools in West Texas. Without this the best faculty in the United States can do nothing.

On Thursday and Friday, February 1st and 2nd the Haskell Theatre will show the picture, "Sleepy Hollow." We are anxious for all of the children to see this fine picture. Mr. Ed Robertson has very generously offered to give the school ten per cent of the gross proceeds from this picture those two days and nights. This is a picture that every child should see and also on account of this generous donation, we hope all of you will see this picture, both old and young.

Do not forget the School Lyceum Friday night, Jan. 26th. It is going to be good and the schools need the money.

HINTS AND THINGS

Lay a cloth dipped in cold water on the bottom of the cake tin, the cake will be easily removed without sticking.

Bits of cheese mixed with cream, a dash of cayenne, and spread on crackers, makes a nice dish to serve for luncheon.

If a child should get any foreign substance up his nose, do not try to probe for it, but put a bit of cayenne pepper on his lip under the other nostril; he will sneeze it out unless firmly lodged; in that case call a physician.

When roasting meat a tablespoonful of sugar added to the water when basting will add flavor and color to the roast and gravy.

If fond of oysters add a little oyster liquor to a tomato bouillon; it greatly improves the flavor.

All silver should be washed and dried as soon after using as possible.

Always dry granite ware away from the stove, as it will chip and crack if set to dry as one does tin or aluminum.

Put zinc filings or pieces of zinc on the coals in the furnace; it will clean the chimney of soot.

Vanilla should never be used to flavor fried foods, such as doughnuts or crullers; nutmeg or other spices are appropriate.

Keep old stocking legs if you are a mover, to slip on over table legs, chair legs and other furniture to protect from scratching.

Even a small clock is often annoying in a sick room. Cover it with an inverted glass bowl. The time can be seen and the sound eliminated.

They made the trip in a Ford of which it is said they never take you any place without bringing you back. They are all here safe and sound. They remarked they were glad to see the rain and encounter the mud.
Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Grey of O'Brien were in the city Wednesday. Dr. Grey made our sanctum a pleasant call while in the city. He is one of our best Rhode Island Red breeders in Haskell county. He has spent considerable money in good breeding stock and says that his flock shows the lines and type that he is working for. He says he will have some eggs in the contest which will be held in Haskell on Saturday, April 7. He is going to be a competitor among the Red breeders of West Texas if he keeps the pace he has been making for the last two years.
Mrs. J. M. Lackey was in the city shopping from south of town Saturday.
T. L. D. Park of the Paterson farm of Curry Chapel was in the city Saturday on business. Mr. Park is one of Clay county's best farmers who has decided to live in Haskell county because of the better opportunities offered. He has been with us several years and has gone back to Clay county once to see if he was not mistaken, but realized that Haskell county was the ideal farming section of the west and came back a satisfied man, willing to cast his lot with us.

J. T. He has recently had a well put down on his land and found water at a depth of 275 feet. Water in New Mexico is a big problem.

SWEATERS AND SLIPOVERS TO SUIT ALL OCCASIONS

THE sweater habit is one that grows. You possess one, the desire comes for another. You possess two and a third is inevitable. Nor is this mere indulgence. It is a natural sequence, for a sweater for every occasion appeals from a common-sense standpoint as well as an esthetic. By virtue of their usefulness, sweaters and slippers have become as staple in the formula of good dressing as are the lingerie shirtwaist and the slinky blouse. We buy them nowadays to fit into the scheme of each costume, and according to their purpose.

If one a-hiking goes, or tramps o'er frost-covered grass playing early morning golf, then comfort is the word. One needs the warmth and protection of a sturdy knit sweater, the kind that suggests the call of the great outdoors. The college girl can skate, toboggan and ski o'er snow-clad hills, to heart's content when cuddled in just such a splendid knit outer garment as is the heavy shaker (coarse stitch) slipover pictured here. The original model is pure white wool with deep purple collar and cuffs, and the turned-up bottom is in the same rich shade with buttons to match. With this why not wear a knitted hat of flattering becomingness, as is shown, for thus protected one may laugh at cold winds and frosty air.

There are times when occasion calls for a sweater coat of dressier mien. At an informal afternoon at the club one's pleasure is added to when one is conscious of being charmingly attired in a modish skirt with a pure silk sweater de luxe.

Slippers and sweaters of the knitted blouse type are the big thought of the moment. Women of discriminating taste will appreciate the chic wool sock illustrated. It is knitted to resemble tweed and can be matched up to one's new autumn tailored skirt. The sleeves of this slipover are full length, with belt which fastens with a single white button.

Creative genius has expressed in knitted outerwear, especially in sweaters and slippers, a wealth of ideas, such as interstitchery of finest, Jacquard designs of wool in gay Ukrainian colors on solid knit fiber silk, Roman stripes on pure white silk knitted foundation, also strange Indian and Egyptian designs.

SAGERTON

The boys basket ball team of the Sagerton High School played Tanner Paint team at Tanner Paint Wednesday, January 17th. Owing to the high wind blowing at the time the game was more a scramble to keep the ball on the court rather than real basket ball. The Tanner Paint players outweighed the Sagerton boys by a good long average and were able to win the game by the score of nine to four. Neither team displayed any unusual ability forward on both sides missing many chances at the goal.
There are several cases of influenza in the community but none are serious at this time.

It is our pleasure to announce the wedding of Miss Clota Martin and Mr.

In these days of overnight marriages it is a pleasure to record one of a different kind. This popular young couple both grew up in Sagerton and spent their childhood days in the same schoolroom and now will spend the coming years of their life here.
Mrs. Engleman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin of this place and is at present teacher of the primary room at the Sagerton High School, from which institution she is a graduate. She will continue her work in the school room until the close of this session.
Mr. Engleman, likewise a graduate of the Sagerton High School is now cashier of the Continental State Bank of this place and probably has the honor of being the youngest full fledged bank cashier in the state. He is the son of Mrs. Ben Hess of Sagerton.
The friends of this popular young couple all extend their best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.
Mrs. E. E. Luck was the hostess at a shower given in honor of Mrs. E. D. Engleman, formerly Miss Clota Martin. The guests began arriving soon after noon, bearing many beautiful and useful gifts to aid the young couple in establishing their new home. Refreshments of sandwiches, hot chocolate and cake were served to the following ladies: Mesdames Luck, Lee, Poole, Hess, Martin, Whitley, Caudle, Baiser, Creek, Schroeder, Hankins, Flowers, Kelley, Clark, Burrow, Smith and Miss Bonita Gulnn.
While there are a few cases of influenza in the community the situation is not alarming and with the proper care should not spread. The teachers of the school will use all caution as to sanitation and the protection of the children and urge that none be kept from school until the conditions show that it is really dangerous.

Church and Sunday Schools

Methodist Church

The pastor expects to be able to conduct services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School will meet at 9:45 a. m.

Christian Education and Stewardship Committee will have charge of the Wednesday night service. The following will be the program:

Influence of School on Religious Life of the Child—Mrs. Ed Robertson.

How It Would Help Our Church to Tithe—Mrs. Gose.

Need of Trained Church Workers—M. B. Watson.

Special Music—Mrs. Hill Oates.

Let the associate members of these committees work for a good attendance. These special mid-week services are proving quite a success.

The pastor has succeeded in closing a date with Rev. Mark N. Terrell, general evangelist, for a revival meeting beginning April 29th, to embrace two weeks. Rev. Terrell will be assisted by his special singer and helper. Further announcements later.

The pastor sends greetings and a word of cheer to the sick folks.

The First Presbyterian Church

Our motto: "To know Christ, and to make Him known."

Our services are designed with the purpose in mind of helping man get a clear understanding as to his high privileges in Christ Jesus. We believe that religion is a very practical thing . . . something which will be of benefit to the person in his everyday experience.

If religion does not help a man carry the load, and make the daily grind a little easier, and lead a man to a higher life of honesty and purity . . . it is not worth while. . . Have you honestly given the power of Christ a chance in your heart?

Our services are at the regular hours, except we do not have a night preaching service, the pastor having been chosen to supply the Presbyterian church at Rule, and preaches there each Sunday evening.

The glad hand awaits you at all of our services.

RULE D. E. GIRLS

SERVE FORMAL DINNER

On Tuesday, January 15, the second year cooking class of Rule high school served their last meal which was a formal dinner. Covers were laid for the following teachers of the school: Misses Morgan, Foster, Howell and Mr. Morton.

The following was the menu:

1. Fruit cocktail.
2. Tomato bouillon and wafers.
3. Roast, creamed potatoes, brown gravy, English peas and bread.
4. Banana salad.
5. Fruit ice and Angel Food cake.
6. Coffee noir.

There being only five girls in the class, it required a good portion of the morning in preparing the meal, with the help of the teacher Miss Huntley.

Ruth Cloud was hostess. Maure Whitely was host. Grace Cross and Ada Smith were waitresses and Nora Neal was general cook and dishwasher.

As this finishes the work in this course for the year, we are glad to say that this was the most successful meal of the five that have been served during the year.

The sewing course will start Monday, January 22 and we are hoping that they will have equally as good success with sewing as they have had with cooking.

FAMOUS CLASSIC WILL BE SHOWN ON SCREEN HERE

Washington Irving's famous classic, "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," is being brought to the screen under the title of "The Headless Horseman," with the inimitable Will Rogers in the role of Ichabod Crane, the lanky Yankee schoolmaster whose sentimental heart was not strong enough to stand up under the bewitching eyes of the fair Katrina Van Tassel, the belle of Sleepy Hollow.

All the quiet realism of this great story, which has been more widely read than most of the classics, has been preserved in this film version and the original story remains intact.

In support of Will Rogers appear Lois Meredith, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Nancy Chase and a list of celebrities famous in the stage world. "The Headless Horseman" is a Hodgkinson production and the scheduled attraction, which will appear at the Haskell Theatre February 1st and 2nd. A part of the proceeds go to the Haskell schools.

Patience is one of the purest and most precious of all of the Christian graces. Patience puts aside our own preferences. Patience puts the interests of others above our own concerns. Patience surrenders selfish interests for the good of others. Patience waives its own rights and permits the good of others to hold a higher place than our own wishes. But indolence, patience brings to the soul a blessing unsought and undreamed. In short, "Patience is love at its best."—The Lutheran Observer.

Automobile Owners Attention!

MISS ADDIE ANDERSON BURIED AT HOWARD LAST SATURDAY

The funeral of Miss Addie Anderson, age 16, was held at Howard Saturday January 19th by Rev. G. L. Willis, at 3 o'clock. Her remains were given burial following the funeral in Howard cemetery. Her death occurred at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson near Rochester Friday about noon, following a brief illness of "flu" and pneumonia. The bereaved parents and friends have our deepest sympathy.

G. S. Medford was in the city Monday from his home in the Howard community. Sid says he has killed more than 2000 pounds of pork recently and has had 10 bushels of wheat ground from the supply he is keeping in his granary for bread for his family and that he will be through preparing his ground to plant in a few days. He is trying to make a living at home and sells the surplus. The farmer that strives for a living at home always has a surplus to sell.

J. J. McCasland of the Paint Creek country was in the city Tuesday. He was just recuperating from the "flu" and says he is feeling very well. He is a farmer that thinks as he works and has made a success farming. He has also made a study of improved farming tools and he has now applied for a patent on a plow that will be a boon to the tillers of the soil when it is put into practical use. Mr. McCasland is working faithfully to get it manufactured and into common use among the farmers.

Prentice Greenwade, J. H. Wolf and C. B. Hanson were in the city Saturday from Rochester. Mr. Greenwade said that the old Greenwade store was now being rebuilt and that several new business firms were putting in at Rochester, including R. L. Huddleston who is moving his stock of goods from O'Brien to Rochester and W. K. Barwell, who recently moved from Haskell and will be a partner in the firm. He says Rochester is moving along nicely and that Rochester Trade Day is a big feature every third Monday.

Prof. J. N. Weaver, principal of the Howard school, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Bell Weaver, was in the city Saturday and made the Free Press a pleasant call while in town. He says that the Howard school is about recuperated from the holidays and is getting back to business. He reports some new pupils since the new year but says he lost about as many as he gained so the school resumed work, according to Mr. Weaver's statement, with approximately the same number of pupils. The school has plenty of room for comfort in the new building.

INFANT WALLACE BROOKS BURIED HERE SATURDAY

The hearts of our people go out in tenderest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brooks who mourn the death of their little son Wallace, who was 3 months old when the close of his earthly existence came at Fort Worth Friday morning at 5:10 o'clock January 19th. Mrs. Brooks and the little son were visiting her mother, Mrs. Medford, of Fort Worth when the baby was taken ill. All was done for him that human hands could do; but he continued to grow worse until the end came Friday morning. Mrs. T. P. Brooks of this city went to the bedside and remained there throughout the illness of her little grandson. His body was brought through from Fort Worth to Haskell Friday, and the funeral was held by Rev. S. L. Culwell, pastor of the First Methodist Church, at 2 p. m. Saturday, after which the little form was laid to rest in Willow Cemetery. May He who alone can pour balm into wounded hearts sustain the stricken parents in this dark night of sorrow.

Card of Thanks

We take this opportunity of thanking the good people of Haskell for their many favors preceding the funeral of our loved one. We especially wish to thank the W. C. ladies and those who contributed flowers to the beautiful floral offering. May God's richest blessings rest on each one who assisted in any way.
