Bogata Rodeo Will Begin With Big Parade

Western hats, shirts, boots and good ole blue jeans have been in demand at local merchants in Bogata as cowboys and cowgirls of all ages have been getting ready for Bogata's biggest weekend of the year as the annual Rodeo and Frontier Day celebration arrives again.

The weekend celebrations will kick off with a parade at 5 p.m. Thursday, June 26, (today) in downtown Bogata. Area residents have been feeling the excitement and anticipated the coming of a celebration which has grown into one of the biggest of its kind in Northeast Texas.

A barbecue dinner will be served in downtown Bogata at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday. The dinner will include barbecued beef brisket, beans, chips, slaw, pickles, onions, bread, coffee and tea. The barbecue precedes the first of the three-nights of performances at the Bogata Rodeo Arena. The rodeo will begin at 8:30 each evening Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Bogata's own Jerald Smith will produce his nationally famous Wing Ranch Rodeo Company stock to challenge the toughest contestants from far and near, as the rodeo will be a CSRA and CRA approved entertainment.

There will be day money and trophies each night to the average winners. Also featured will be bullfighter Kyle Bell and a wild horse race at each performance.

The Saturday night performance will also include the acclaimed Hella Shrine Temple Black Horse Patrol, a popular repeat performance at Bogata.

The Crowned Queen and Princess will also be featured Saturday night. The Frontier Day events will begin with a free pancake and sausage breakfast downtown Saturday morning, sponsored by the Bogata Chamber of Commerce. The breakfast will start at 7 a.m. and last until 9 a.m.

The annual turtle auction will be held at 8 a.m. followed by the turtle races at 9 a.m.

An egg throwing contest will begin at 10 a.m. followed by the watermelon eating competition at 11.

The tobacco spitting contest will get underway at 11:30, and the judging as to who grew the longest beard will start at noon.

The rough and tough Tug-of-War battle begins at 12:30.

A Style Show, a new event which is sure to please, will be judged at 1 p.m. and will feature various organizations entering both men and women dressed in early American clothing. A $50 prize is being offered to the most appropriately dressed man and woman.

State Senator Ed Howard of Texarkana will be the honored guest as the Parade Marshal of the Frontier Day parade which will pass down Main Street at 6 p.m. Sat.

The U.S. Marine Corps Color Guard from Texarkana is expected to participate, along with the Red River County Wagon-masters units.

Also no less than 10 units of the Shriners will add color and fun to one of the largest and most colorful parades in this area. There will also be many horses of as many colors and sizes to please the crowd.

Don't miss the biggest event of the year in Bogata. Be downtown early in order to gain a good vantage point to see all the events of the Bogata Rodeo and Frontier Day.

Wing, It's Rodeo With Pride

When Jerald and Joan Smith purchased the Clyde Crenshaw Rodeo Company in 1967, their initial year in the rodeo business, none could have ever imagined the momentum the Wing Rodeo Company would gain over the next decade. Of course, it didn't just all "happen" in 1967. Smith had been all-around contestant in rodeo, competing in the riding and timed events for many years before attempting the rodeo production business. After an accident which terminated his competing, Smith still found himself tied to the rodeo business, judging rodeos and working with other stock contractors. The rodeo industry was naturally a part of Smith's life, and in his limited capacity of actual physical involvement, Smith took the first step to what has become the nationally honored Wing Ranch Rodeo Company, Bogata, Texas.

The name, itself, Wing, symbolizes widespread to Jerald and Joan Smith, which is no exaggeration of the truth. Today the Wing Ranch Rodeo Company produces professional rodeos across the United States, some of which are the largest rodeos in the county, including the Huntsville Prison Rodeo which boasts the highest ticket sales of any rodeo in the world. Widespread not only encompasses the rodeos which are produced and directed by this company. It also includes the cowboys, those who compete professionally for a living, and high school cowboys who are just learning the trade. For several years, Wing Rodeo Company has provided livestock for the National High School Finals Rodeo, where tomorrow's rodeo champions emanate from.

Though the rodeo business is Jerald's main interest, bucking bulls are his first love, as can be evidenced by the acclaimed bulls that have the "W" brand on their hip, such bulls as JJ, Gentle Bill, Half 'N Half, and Curley. The list could go on and on, but the names of these few come to mind, along with No. 10, Playboy and No. 11, Mean Joe Green. Ironically, Playboy and Mean Joe Green, both injured themselves while bucking at the same rodeo, in consecutive years, with Playboy having to be put down from injuries too serious to mend, while Mean Joe Green, still recuperates at the ranch from injuries received in June of 1979. JJ, who was sold to Mike Cervi, PRCA stock contractor, was featured at the Houston

Motion Made To Dismiss Appeal

By Robbie Shery
The Texas Board of Education held a Pre-Hearing in Austin on Tuesday, June 24 concerning the selection of a salutorian at Rivercrest High School for 1979-80.

A hearing was scheduled after Mary Fortner and her mother, Exa Mae Fortner, filed an appeal on the selection of salutorian for the 1979-80 school year.

Attorneys Don Henslee, representing Rivercrest High School, and George Preston, representing the Fortners, met with hearing officer Margaret Cooper, in Austin.

A deadline for settlement was set for August 1. Information on the case must be submitted by July 9.

Among information requested was a review of the process used to select honor students for the past five years. George Preston requested the minutes of the original school board meeting which determined the guidelines used to select honor students. A motion was made by attorney Don Henslee to dismiss the appeal, and a decision will be made by the hearing officer around the middle of July on whether the appeal will be dismissed or a hearing held.

Dear Sir:
According to a telephone call to his mother, Mrs. Helen Williams, Philip Harold Hobbs has arrived back in Moscow Russia. He is looking forward to seeing the Olympics there this summer. He is also an avid reader of the Bogata News which follows him into Moscow. Their mail goes to the American Embassy at Helsinki Finland and trucked to the American Embassy at Moscow. It takes about two weeks after it is mailed from Bogata.

PRINCESS contestants for the Bogata Rodeo this year are: (not in order) Angela Cox, Tonia Hinesley, Cathy Vickers, Shannon McCain, Francis Allen and Melinda Garcia.

Methodist Cookbook In Planning

Bogata United Methodist Women have begun work on a new cookbook. Committee members Dumphy Barnard, Glenda Corbell, Cornelia Dickey, Anita Stubblefield, Janice Thompson and Mabel Trout met recently to make plans for the book. This will be an entirely new book with no recipes from the previous cookbook included. Microwave recipes will be added. The group would like to have recipes from many church members as well as from others in the community. Anyone wishing to submit recipes may secure recipe forms at the church or from the committee members. Recipes can be turned in anytime before September 15, 1980.

Calling All Turtles-Please

With the recent rains which have swollen rivers and creeks in the area, Clifford Barnard and John Parrish, turtle auctioneers for the Bogata Frontiers Day, are having some difficulty in acquiring the needed turtles for Saturday's turtle auction. They are requesting the help of the local citizenry and request that anyone finding a likely specimen for the turtle auction and races to please call John Parrish at 632-4116. The turtle auction will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday, June 28, immediately following the free pancake and sausage breakfast served by the Bogata area Chamber of Commerce.

Maple Springs

The annual Maple Springs Homecoming will be held on Saturday, July 5. All Maple Springs exes and residents are invited to attend and bring a basket lunch to spread at the noon hour. Cups and utensils will be furnished.

OUTSTANDING—Two outstanding youths, Miss Pamela Sansing and Joey Williams, are shown with Congressman Sam B. Hall, Jr., as part of the 16th Annual "Government in Action Youth Tour to Washington." The students were selected by the Lamar County Electric Cooperative in Paris for the trip to the Nation's Capitol. Miss Sansing is a native of Cooper and Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Williams is from Bogata.

High Winds And Storm Hit Area

Friday morning at approximately four o'clock, the area was hit by high winds and an electrical storm. Streets and yards were littered with debris from trees and in the Rosalie and Pine Branch communities several trees were uprooted and the patio blown from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Denny. Electricity was knocked out with some customers without electricity most of the day. A 1.2 inches of rain was received unofficially in Bogata. Sunday afternoon, around 1:30, another 1.1 inches of rain fell, but was not accompanied by the winds and lightning of Friday morning.

Wing—

Continued From Page 1 Astrodome rodeo earlier this year, as well as at the National Finals Rodeo in December in 1979. Gentle Bill, No. 88 was chosen Bucking Bull of the Year in the International Rodeo Association in 1978, Half 'N Half, No. 22, was chosen Bucking Bull of the Year of the Central Rodeo Association and the Central States Rodeo Association in 1979, while Curley, only ridden once in his rodeo career, was voted Bucking Bull of the Year in 1970. Smith commented that probably the rankiest bulls he had ever owned were Curley, Dark Alley No. 666B, and Sweeper. Sweeper, along with No. 15 Joe Butterfly, were never ridden while part of the Wing herd, while Dark Alley was ridden successfully only one time. One might think with all the attention the bull herd receives, there isn't time left for the horses. This isn't the case. Wing horses can hold their own anyday at anybody's rodeo. Celebrated horses such as XY11 Cotton Eyed Joe, No. 61 Oasis, AL First Chance and others headline the horse list. Smith considers Cotton Eyed Joe as one of the rankiest horses he ever owned. Oasis is the oldest horse in the Smith remuda. At thirty years plus, Oasis can pull his weight in the arena at every rodeo, and a fitting culmination to his illustrious rodeo career was being selected Saddle Bronc of the Year in 1979. Many horses are shadowed by the few notable ones, but they are not to be placed into a lesser category. Such horses as No. 22 Sledge Hammer, No. 7 Sanka, No. 17 Slugger, No. 0 First National, No. 16 Bimbo, No. 110 Red Devil, No. 7K Shorty, No. 11 Black Diamond, the list is endless. Having championship quality livestock does not, however, mean successful rodeos, Smith readily admits. Possibly the most important aspect of the rodeo industry is promotion, which both Jerald and Joan work at day and night, year round. After a rodeo is completed, the Smiths look forward to the next year's rodeo, with ways of making it better than it was. Smith states that the hardest thing about being a stock contractor is endurance. "You have to go without much sleep or rest during the rodeo season, and the mental pressure of working for a lot of people—over 400 cowboys and cowgirls and 30 committeemen during a weekend span." Even with that pressure, he does the best job possible, producing over 70 rodeos year in and year out. The Wing Ranch Rodeo Company employs well over 15 people during the actual rodeo season. Brother Don is perhaps the unsung hero, rarely seen during the actual rodeo performance, but in his hands rest the success or failure of the rodeo, for he is the flank man, and whether a horse or bull bucks or doesn't, depends entirely upon him. Don's expertise as a flank man has gained him the reputation as one of the best flank men in rodeo today. Regulars of the Wing Rodeo Company include Dour Williams, announcer; Sammy Andrews, pickup man; Donnie Smith, pickup man; Jim Smith, pickup man; Cindy Hiner, secretary; Chip Golding, livestock man; Wayne Stringfellow, Casey Jeffery, Britt Davenport, Jackie Gray, George Marshall, Pookie Smith, Kyle Bell, Dennis Taylor and Billy Scoggins. All work together in presenting the smoothest rodeo performance possible.

Brother Jacke, though involved in his own business, helps out whenever necessary. Smith feels the rodeo industry could gain financially and project a better image through more thorough and exclusive promotion. He also feels the need for each community to become more involved with their rodeo, to make them feel a part of the success of their rodeo. Smith believes also that the cowboys and cowgirls should also offer more of themselves to publicity. Goals for the Wing Rodeo Company include more of the same, making the established rodeos better next year, and adding 10 more good rodeos to the present schedule. Nothing has come easily to the Wing Rodeo Company, and Smith readily accredits his success to many whom he has gained knowledge from in past years. Frontrunners such as Sloan Williams and Clyde Crenshaw, rodeo greats from whom Smith practiced under, learning the old ways and creating new and better ways for the future of the rodeo industry. Giving his life to the rodeo business has paid off for Jerald Smith, but he is not the main one who has gained from his efforts. The people who have come to know Jerald Smith and know what the rodeo business means to him, the cowboys and cowgirls who have been afforded the opportunity to take part in the Wing Rodeo Company, and most of all, the entire rodeo industry has gained the most from the Wing Ranch Rodeo Company. Numerous Factors Cause Pecan Shedding Pecans often start shedding prematurely during the spring and summer due to a number of factors, points out a horticulturist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service' Texas A&M System.

Dr. George Ray McEachern notes that the variety of pecan involved is one such factor. The Desirable variety, for instance, sets a heavy crop and later sheds as much as 50 percent of the nuts set. This shedding is one of the main reasons why Desirable regularly produces high quality pecans.

Lack of cross-pollination can also result in shedding of pecans, explains the horticulturist. However, cross-pollination is seldom a problem where native pecan trees are growing or where there are several different varieties in an orchard. Good cross-pollination occurs between these varieties: Desirable and Choctaw, Western and Wichita, Cheyenne and Kiowa, and Caddo and Shawnee.

Poor pollination often results when a late spring freeze kills catkins. Hot, dry weather in western areas of extensive rainy periods in southern sections can also cause poor pollination.

In addition, pecan nut casebearers can cause pecan nutlets to shed, says McEachern. Checking nutlet clusters closely for eggs in the spring, usually during May, and spraying two days after the first eggs hatch will generally provide good control of this destructive insect pest.

Pecans also start shedding if trees go into moisture stress if there's too much rain in poorly drained areas. Pecans trees need about 48 inches of water throughout the growing season, explains the horticulturist.

Another cause of pecan shedding is lack of nitrogen and zinc. Off-colored yellow leaves signal a nitrogen deficiency while small leaves and rosette indicate lack of zinc. Fertilize pecan trees with heavy applications of zinc sulfate or N2N in the spring and early summer, advises McEachern.

Disease and insect problems during the critical waterstage of pecan development—usually mid-July to August—can also lead to pecan shedding, notes the horticulturist. This is the time when the kernel begins to develop, and any stress caused by hickory shuckworms, pecan weevils, black pecan aphids and stinkbugs as well as scab, stem end blight and shuck disease can cause widespread shedding. This means that growers must keep a constant vigilance for insect and disease problems and take control measures whenever the situation warrants.

HARVESTING FORAGES AT PROPER STAGES

Too often we "put off" harvesting forages at the proper stages to do some other job on the farm. We reason that more tonnage will offset any quality loss experienced. Experience has proven otherwise—GROW MORE LEAVES. Most forage value is in the leaves, not stems which are the plant's framework. Leaves have high protein and TDN. Age and cutting height greatly affect leafiness. Well fertilized, closely grazed pastures contain much better ratio of leaves to stems than undergrazed, over-aged pastures.

Yields of properly fertilized forages, cut at the proper stage, will yield more hay per acre than hay cut less often in a season period and be of much higher quality.

MEXICAN BEAN LEAF BEETLE IN SOYBEANS
For soybeans planted early this season they should be on the watch for the Mexican Bean Leaf Beetle. Economically chemical control should be administered for the Mexican Bean Leaf Beetle when there is about 30 percent defoliation before bloom or pod fill, and 15 percent after pods begin filling. However, growers must consider moisture conditions in using these treatment levels. Soybeans will do much more compensating for insect damage when adequate moisture is available than when conditions are dry.

Recommended chemical control methods are: Malathion-one pound per acre; Sevin-one pound per acre, and Toxaphene-one and one-half pound per acre.

4-H CAN MAKE IT HAPPEN
With the many problems we face as a nation, it is refreshing to see our young people ready and willing to help bring about solutions to these pressing concerns. Enthusiasm and optimism has always been an admirable quality of American youth. Their vigor inspires all of us to do a better job in coping with our problems. Youthful exuberance, combined with the guidance and experience of adults provides an unbeatable combination. The results of that cooperation are evident in the 4-H program.

Four-H'ers from all economic, ethnic and social backgrounds are helping clean up and protect the environment and natural resources. The youths work to conserve energy, assist in agricultural production, and help improve health and nutrition habits of the community. In the process, the 4-H'ers develop good citizenship and leadership traits and acquire skills that will help them in later life. Youthful enthusiasm and energy, combined with adult guidance and support and working together in a common purpose—that's the 4-H story today. Your County Extension Agents support the efforts of 4-H'ers, their parents, their leaders and alumni "to make the best better."

GRASSHOPPER CONTROL

During June the grasshopper hoppers seem to be on the increase. Foliage sprays can be helpful in reducing numbers but usually last for only 3 to 5 days. Another means of control is by using a bait which consists of: 100 pound bait-75 percent sawdust, 25 percent wheat bran, 1 and one-third pints Toxaphene 6E, 7 gallons water, 2 gallons blackstrap molasses. Mix these materials thoroughly and spread around the perimeter of the field. As the grasshoppers enter the field they eat the chemical treated bait and die before much damage is done. Approximately 25 pounds of bait are needed per acre. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

Getting Along

Call him Joe Smith. That isn't his name, but there are many like Joe in the world of retirement.

To say that Joe was successful is putting it mildly. He set out on his own at fifteen; kept busy at two, sometimes three jobs until he started a manufacturing business in his 25th year of age.

The business prospered, year after year, for 38 years and then Joe Smith decided he had enough. He retired, turned the business management over to a long-time employee, and set out to enjoy the rewards of his long years of hard work and dedication. Joe had lost his wife to cancer two years before, but retirement, he felt, would give him time to get to know his son, daughter and four grandchildren, something for which there had never before been time.

Sounds like the formula for a happy retirement; no financial worries, someone to care for, to be with, to get to know more closely. Sadly, things did not turn in that direction.

The problem was simple, and something that Joe had never even considered. He had kept so busy, building his business, participating in community affairs, there had been precious little time to spend with his children or grandchildren. They had always turned to their mother and grandmother with their problems and needs and consequently as a father and grandfather, Joe was accepted as being there, but not always, and never as a counselor or problem-solver.

In the same aggressive manner in which he built a successful business, Joe came on strong with his program of family togetherness — and failed miserably. He planned trips, vacations together, but his children and grandchildren had other obligations or interests. He chose careers for his grandchildren, offering to pay education costs if they agreed; but none agreed. Joe became frustrated; his family embarrassed and uncomfortable.

That is not the end of the story. Joe realized that only his personal situation changed with retirement. He eased off, letting them know he was available if they needed him. Last week, two grandchildren asked his advice, another phoned to say "hello".

Stidham-Sulsar Vows Solemnized

The double-ring wedding vows of Miss Carol Lynn Stidham and Jerry Lynn Sulsar were solemnized in a formal ceremony at 6 o'clock Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church. Dr. James H. Semple officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie O. Stidham of Pattonville and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert M. Sulsar of Bogata.

Mrs. Ben Vaughan, pianist, accompanied vocalists Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hardy singing "O Perfect Love" and Doyle Whitaker singing "Charity" and "The Lord's Prayer." She played "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell as the processional and "Horn Pipes" by Handel as the "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring." "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach, "Romance" by Schumann and "Meditation from Thais" by Massenet.

The ceremony was performed before an altar centered with a 15-branched oval candelabra. A 15-branched spiral and a 9-branch oval graced each side of the altar. All were accented with mixed ferns with white tapers and mixed white flowers.

When the bride was given in marriage by her father she wore a gown of organza and Sheffeli lace, fashioned with a Victorian neckline with a yoke of Sheffeli lace and Pon de Pres lace. The sleeveless bodice featured a flounce ruffle of Chatilly and Sheffeli lace. The full sweeping chiffon skirt edged in Sheffeli lace, fell into a chapel-length train edged in matching lace. She wore a full crown, wide-brim hat accented with Chatilly lace and Venice madoliers.

She carried a silk cascade of white roses, multi-colored pixie carnations and stephanotis with silk Boston fern greenery.

Miss Kathy Lynn Carmichael of Enid, Oklahoma, was the maid of honor. She wore a dress of pastel blue.

Bridesmaids were Miss Gwynnita Walker of Paris, who wore a dress of aqua pastel, Miss Stacey Gross of Gruver, who wore a dress of orchid pastel and Miss Connie Champlin of Berryville, Arkansas, who wore a dress of pink pastel.

Each dress was identical in design made of polyester knit with a natural waistline, a long, sunburst pleated skirt and a crossed bodice with a draped back. Each attendant carried a bouquet of five long-stem silk flowers of pastel colors.

David Basinger of Deport served the groom as best man.

Groomsmen were Edward Lynn Sulsar, nephew of the groom; Russell Stidham, brother of the bride; and Rickey Little, nephew of the groom.

Ushers were Timothy Little, nephew of the groom; James E. Stidham, uncle of the bride; and Andy Sulsar, nephew of the groom.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception in their home following the ceremony.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Joe Worley of Paris, Mrs. Walter Schmidt of O'Fallon, Illinois, Mrs. Danny Karvelat of O'Fallon, Illinois, Mrs. Denny Hamann of Belleville, Illinois, and Mrs. Don Sutton of St. Louis, Missouri. The bride is a 1976 graduate of Paris High School where she was a member of National Honor Society, a 1978 graduate of Paris Junior College where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa and a 1980 graduate of East Texas State University. She is employed by the Mount Vernon Independent School District. Her husband is a 1976 graduate of Rivercrest High School. He attended Paris Junior College and is employed by Texas Utilities Generating Company in Monticello, Texas.

Following a wedding trip to Arrowhead Resort, Oklahoma, the couple will reside in Mount Vernon, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert M. Sulsar, Sr. were hosts for a dinner Friday evening at Brownigan's Restaurant after the wedding rehearsal.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt of O'Fallon, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Denny Hamann and family of Belleville, Illinois, Mrs. Frank Hottenrott of Belleville, Illinois, Mrs. Danny Karvelat and children of O'Fallon, Illinois, Mrs. Don Sutton and sons of St. Louis, Missouri, and Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Stidham of Berryville, Arkansas.

SNACKS

Snacks are as American as apple pie but they can count up in terms of total calories and grocery costs.

To get the most for your snack dollar, follow these tips from foods and nutrition specialists with the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

Select snack items from foods that will provide the greatest amount of nutrition for the cost.

Plan for snacks when preparing your shopping list.

Prepare homemade snacks when convenient and take time to make the cheaper ones.

Avoid purchasing "empty calorie" foods such as sodas and candy.

Select snacks that don't stick to teeth to help reduce the amount of cavities.

Practice good oral hygiene after snacking. When it's not possible to brush your teeth or use dental floss after snacking, rinse your mouth to reduce the amount of food available for growth of bacteria.

STRAWBERRY MILKSHAKE

Wheat-Good For RR County

By Charles VanDeaver
The bumper wheat crop presently being harvested is good for Red River County says local agriculture officials. First, the crop will bring many dollars to the county that will be shared by farmers, labor and businesses. Second, the wheat, when used properly can be used in a cropping system to maintain and improve the soil.

According to Lane Murphy, executive director of the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, about 45,000 acres were planted to wheat. This is a very large acreage for Red River County. In fact, it is probably the largest acreage ever planted to wheat in this county.

The Red River Valley Grain, Inc. managed by Edd Hartrick and Red River Co-op Elevator managed by James Wright are the major purchasers. Some wheat along the edges of the county may be sold elsewhere. According to information obtained from Hartrick and Wright, the two Clarksville elevators have received over 400,000 bushels as of Monday. The two elevators are operating at capacity. Edd Hartrick, manager of Red River Valley Grain, Inc. stated they plan to install more storage before next season.

Elevator managers and many farmers say that an average yield of 35 bushels per acre is a conservative estimate. Several farmers are reporting yields of 60 to above 70 bushels per acre on some fields. At 35 bushels per acre on 45,000 acres, the wheat crop will amount to some 1,575,000 bushels. Part of the crop was contracted at around $3.80 per bushel. Today's price is $3.02. If the crop of 1,575,000 bushels averaged $3.40 area farmers would receive $5,355,000.00. This will boost the economy and should benefit the entire county.

Wheat and other small grains when properly managed can be beneficial to the soil. When planted in September, wheat should furnish a protective cover to the land during winter and spring. The crop may be followed with soybeans, preferably planted in the stubble. If not planted in the stubble, it should be worked into the topsoil. Burning wheat stubble is like taking away part of the future production. Wheat can help control erosion, but it does not take away the need for terraces on sloping soils.

Wheat has found its way into Red River County agriculture and may be here to stay. Jerry Chandler, a local farmer says that more wheat will be planted in the county next year. His prediction is based on the fact that his acreage will increase and he thinks other farmers will do the same.

The nervous student driver was on the road for the first time. His teacher quickly stomped on the auxiliary brakes.

"Do you know how close you came to hitting that person crossing the street," the instructor said to the student.

Cross Stitch Course To Be Held At PJC

A new form of cross stitch embroidery will be demonstrated at Paris Junior College on Tuesday, July 8, 1:30-3 p.m. and also 6:30-8 p.m. The classes are scheduled in the Jess B. Alford Center for Lifelong Learning.

Counted cross stitch was brought to the United States by a person from South Carolina who visited in Denmark a few years ago. The art form has been quickly spreading from the East Coast of the United States.

The cross stitch is worked on even fabric with a charted pattern which is easier to follow than a stamped line pattern.

The instructor will be Marie Barszewski who holds a masters degree in music from East Texas State University. Ms. Barszewski explains, "The effect of the cross stitch is calming and tranquilizing. After a day of small success and large failures, it is satisfying to pick up a needle and cloth and create something without fault." Cross stitch has almost unlimited versatility. You can stitch a favorite recipe for a friend, celebrate a birth or wedding. Cross stitch is a personal art form. It expresses love that motivates one to custom make a special gift.

The fee for the demonstration workshop is $5.00 per person which includes materials for a complete project.

For further information, call 785-7661, ext. 145.

Hints For Homeowners

KEEPING TOOLS SHARP

Before you start on this season's fix-up projects, it's a sharp idea to consider this fact: sharp cutting tools are not only faster and easier to use, they are also safer. Because dull blades on cutting tools have to be pushed harder, they are more likely to slip.

These hints on sharpening are from Cooper the Toolmaker, the maker of such quality tools as Boker knives, Wiss snips and Nicholson saws and files.

To sharpen most hand tools you'll need only a tench Home and Garden file. For heavy-duty work, a grinding wheel and an oilstone may be necessary.

The cutting edge on a wood chisel or plane blade has a bevel ground along one edge. When sharpening, the cutting edge is filed or ground to the original shape of that angle or bevel.

Mastering the knack of maintaining a uniform angle against the tool blade isn't difficult, though it may take some practice. Before start-

The Way We Were

By Nanalee Nichols
June 25, 1920—F. Witse, of Fayetteville, Arkansas, was killed in a crash between two harness horses at the Clarksville Race Track. It was the second race of the Texas Harness Racing season.

Dr. Ben S. Grant had died of cancer. An attempt at surgery failed to save his life. He was greatly mourned by the community.

Dr. A.G. Elder, Dick Roberts, Will Cole, Phillips Grant, F.M. Mitchell, Henry Johns, J.H. Kerbow and Jim and Houston Short had attended the Fox Hunt in Blue Springs, Oklahoma.

June 27, 1940—The regular Friday night free band concert of Deport High School was having a special octette number and a feature directed by Worth Hood and Mrs. Johnnie Rebecca Jones.

Pete Storey of Deport said that he would just about break even on an acre of tomatoes he was having harvested. He estimated he was harvesting around 5,000 pounds, and with costs as high as they were and prices as low, would not make a profit.

A bandstand had been completed on the Westbrook lot on Main Street. It was to be used for concerts and as a speakers stand. The cost had been paid by the Deport Community Club.

June 29, 1950—W.L. Phillely had just completed a news store on Highway 271 in Deport. He was moving from his old location at the foot of Main Street.

Walter and Finis Gifford, Joe Lee and Marvin Berton, Dale Gray, Earl Kincaid and Jim Shiver had plowed Jess Giffords crop. Mr. Gifford had been ill and his friends had caught his work up for him.

Rapid progress had been made in paving and widening Deport's business route, Monroe Street. The street had badly been in need of repair.

The second Five-year Deport Homecoming had been set for July 1-2. A huge banner was stretched across Main Street saying "WELCOME." Special entertainment was prepared, and Ross Hughston was to deliver an address at union services.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON IMITATING OUR ENEMIES

June 8, 1980

Background Scripture:
2 Kings 21:1 through 23:30;
2 Chronicles 33 through 35.

Devotional Reading:
Psalms 16:1-8.

As good as Hezekiah had been, that's how bad his son, Manasseh, was as King of Judah. The writer of 2 Kings begins with four facts about Manasseh: (1) he was 12 years old when he began his reign; (2) he reigned 55 years in Jerusalem; (3) his mother was Hephzibah and (4) he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, according to the abominable practices of the nations whom the Lord drove out before the people of Israel" (21:1,2). It is for this fourth item of data about Manasseh that he is remembered.

They Did Not Listen

The writer of 2 Kings goes on to spell out exactly what these "abominable practices" were. Manasseh rebuilt "the high places, which his father, Hezekiah, had destroyed. He caused to be built altars to Baal and encouraged the worship of a number of pagan gods. Worst of all, however, he allowed pagan priests to build altars to their gods in the Temple of Jerusalem. Homecoming was the big headline in the paper. There was to be a big street party, church services and programs.

The fate of the Deport Creek Flood Control project was to be determined by citizens interested in the project. Efforts to obtain a dam were in progress.

The fellowship supper held by the Deport Methodists was to welcome their new minister, Rev. Gary Lindley and his wife, Eileen. After the meal the Lindleys were presented an old fashioned "pounding."

lem itself. It was not that Manasseh tried to wipe out the worship of the God of Israel, but that he encouraged the worship of other gods as well. We can understand, then, why the writer of 2 Kings concludes: "... and Manasseh seduced them to do more evil than the nations had done whom the Lord destroyed before the people of Israel" (21:9).

Manasseh's sin sounds, at first, like a very ancient one, something quite removed from our contemporary scene. But his sin is no less a danger to God's people today than it was in his own day. For his sin was that, in order to be secure from the enemies of Judah, he seduced his nation into becoming like her enemies.

Several weeks ago I was watching one of those television talk-shows and the guest for the day was a professor of foreign affairs from a large midwestern university. He was discussing the relationships between the USA and the Soviet Union. His prescription for meeting the challenge of Communism throughout the world: beat the Soviets at their own game! Be just as ruthless and scheming as they are! Adopt their tactics and keep your finger on the detonating switch of the H-bomb. There were lots of people in the TV audience who enthusiastically applauded him.

Evil In God's Sight

I was appalled, for this man was saying that, in order to survive Soviet Communism, we must become like them as a nation, thinking the way they do and operating the way they do. It is not a new approach, for this had motivated Manasseh and, according to the writer of 2 Kings, it was what made him such an evil ruler in the sight of both God and his people, more evil than even Israel's enemies.

If to survive we must imitate our enemies, are we sure that is what it means to survive?

Timber Price Assistance Available

What's good timber worth these days?

Landowners with timber to sell can get a better idea of prices by checking a new report called "Timber Mart-South."

Prepared by F. W. Norris of North Carlina, the copyrighted report is being sent to all county agents with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service in timber-growing areas, courtesy of the U. S. Forest Service.

By calling or visiting their local county Extension office, landowners can get the latest information on lumber prices, points out Dr. Mike Walterscheidt, Extension forestry specialist. Such information should help them make decisions on marketing their timber. It fills a need expressed by many timber owners for years.

The report gives prices for stumpage (standing timber) and for timber delivered to the mill. It also gives high average prices, average prices and low average prices based on information compiled from timber buyers and consultants located throughout East Texas.

Since prices vary widely due to the quality and quantity of timber as well as such factors as location of the stand and ease of logging, the report does not predict future prices but simply gives the latest prices paid as well as the expected demand for the next 30 days.

To receive top dollar for their timber, Walterscheidt suggests that landowners receive bids from more than one buyer. A written contract should be signed to protect both parties.

Walterscheidt also recommends that a consultant forester be hired to inventory the timber and to assist the landowner through the sale and cutting stages. The Texas Forest Service also provide assistance.

Once timber is harvested, the specialist advises landowners to replant because timber is a good investment and demand is expected to increase.

TENRAC Receives Grant

A grant of $150,000 has been made to the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council (TENRAC) by the U.S. Department of Energy to encourage cogeneration in industrial power plants in Texas, it was announced today by G. Dan Rambo of Dallas, Regional Representative for DOE.

A substantial portion of the DOE grant will be subcontracted by TENRAC to the Texas Public Utilities Commission.

The funds will be used to: -Identify institutional barriers to development of cogeneration.

-Develop a model program to assess potential for cogeneration in industrial plants.

-Develop a plan for industries initiating or expanding cogeneration projects.

Through cogeneration, energy that is wasted by either an electric power plant or a thermal power plant is converted into useful energy.

The fundamental difference between a conventional energy system and a cogeneration system is that the conventional system produces either electricity or thermal energy. The cogeneration system produces both.

By recapturing and using some of the thermal energy that is normally discharged from a plant, a cogeneration system can reduce system fuel requirements by 10 to 30 percent.

Agricultural Update

By Herb Brevard

Scattered rains throughout East Texas brought welcomed relief to some sections. Vegetables and hay were beginning to suffer from lack of moisture.

Dr. Ken Smith, area agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that lots of good quality hay is being harvested where producers practiced good weed control and fertilizer was applied. Weed control is a must if top quality hay is expected.

Many producers carried over hay from last year and Smith advises them to check that hay for quality and weight. Hay kept in storage for long periods of time tends to lose some quality and weight. For accurate planning of next winter's feed supply, making sure of quality and weight is very important.

Hay production still requires the same amount of fertilizer regardless of the price of the fertilizer. For top quality hay, a good fertility program must be followed in East Texas. Cutting the hay at the proper stage of growth is also critical to quality. Hay needs to be harvested between 21 and 28 days of age. Smith advises producers planning to plant clovers this fall to have the pH of their soil checked now. If lime is needed, apply it now so that it will have time to become activated by this fall.

Rebates Indicate Consumer Caution

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced a small decrease in the June city sales tax rebates may indicate consumer caution about the economy and spending patterns. Bullock said 936 Texas cities would share $65.3 million this month, compared to payments of $67.7 million during the same period last year. While sales in the last quarter of 1979 and the first quarter of 1980 were generally strong, sales tax returns now are picking up the period where national credit restraint was being urged, he said.

He said 1980 payments through June amount to $266.9 million compared to 1979 payments for the same period of $218 million. June rebates to area cities include: Blossom, $1,941.99, compared to $1,756.23 in June of last year. Bogata, $2,518.64 this month compared to $3,938.10 during the same period last year.

Deport, $1,443.07, compared to $1,494.36 during June in 1979. Talco, $5,124.89, compared to $3,497.45 during the same period last year.

State Acquires Archaeological Site

The State's ability to trade its public lands for other lands has resulted in a unique archaeological acquisition, according to Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Announced June 17 was a trade under which the state has acquired the largest and most significant Caddo Indian village archaeological site in East Texas.

The site, according to Armstrong, has been of prime interest to state archaeologists because of systematic looting and destruction while it was in private hands. He said it will now be protected and studied in an orderly, scientific manner under state ownership.

Under state law the site, including all of the known Caddo burial mounds along the Red River in Bowie County, will be under the supervision of both the General Land Office and the Texas Antiquities Committee which manages archaeologically valuable discoveries on public lands.

Armstrong said the 64.5 acre tract containing the Caddo mounds was traded for six small, unmanageable tracts owned by the state which had equal farming value.

The newly acquired acreage will still be leased for farming, but the lessee will agree not to disturb the mounds and will protect them from treasure hunters. Eventually careful excavation of the mounds and village site may reveal a great deal more about these early Texas residents than we now know, Armstrong said.

"I am particularly pleased that we were able to accomplish this trade," Armstrong said, "because the tracts we traded off were not financially advantageous to the state, but the Caddo site represents some of our richest and oldest Texas heritage."

Casebearers, Scabs Plague Pecans

Pecan nut casebearers and scab disease are currently keeping pecan growers in action.

Spray programs are widespread throughout the state to keep these two major problems in check, points out John Cooper, pecan pest management agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Spraying to control casebearers is now active up to the Red River, from Bowie to Wilbarger counties, as egg lays generally have been moderate throughout the state.

In most cases one insecticide application has been sufficient although some growers in central and southern areas have had to spray a second time because the first application was put on too early, notes Cooper.

Growers should check orchards for fresh eggs and larvae (worms) three to four days after spraying.

Timing the casebearer spray is critical, emphasizes Cooper. Once eggs are found, growers should check them regularly and spraying should start two days after the first eggs hatch. This will control the tiny larvae before they enter nutlets, after which time control is impossible.

High winds as well as scattered rain in some locations caused delays in spraying programs last week, reports Cooper.

With warm, humid weather at hand, growers should also apply an extra fungicide spray to keep scab disease in check. And zinc applications should continue at two-week intervals long as trees continue to show new growth, recommends Cooper.

Deport Homecoming To Feature Barbecue, Band

The Deport Five-Year Homecoming is fast approaching. The chance to see old friends, meet new, and enjoy good barbecue will take place Saturday, July 5, and Sunday, July 6.

Saturday is devoted to visiting, and if it's been awhile since touring Deport, there are a lot of new buildings to see. At five o'clock Underwood's of Sherman will serve barbecue with all the trimmings. Tickets for the meal are available from City Drug Store and Tide Products in Deport. They are $4.50, and include live entertainment provided by the Outlaws band of Bogata. If tickets are wanted through the mail, money should be sent to Christine Skaggs, Deport, Texas 75435. The deadline for the tickets is June 28, so please hurry before it's too late.

The Outlaws Band will play, featuring Helen Ridge as lead singer, and then there will be plenty of chairs for just sitting and visiting, or whatever else strikes the fancy.

On Sunday, all the local churches will have services oriented around homecoming, and visitors are urged to attend.

All in all the weekend should provide plenty of enjoyment. The Deport Times invites everyone to stop by and see if they can find themselves in the window display of old photographs.

The Deport American Legion Hall will be open, and guests are urged to register there. Ice water, soft drinks and other refreshments will be available all day on Saturday at the Hall.

Mrs. Russell Named CFC

Mrs. Barbara Russell has been named Chairperson of the Cystic Fibrosis Breath of Life Campaign in Bogata. She has served as Chair of this campaign every year since 1976. The announcement was made by the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited and presently incurable lung and digestive disease. Affecting one in every 1,600 live births, it takes more children's lives in this country each year than any other genetic disease.

Currently there is not a reliable test to determine the one in every 20 persons who is a carrier of the CF gene. Through its various activities, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is funding research to devise an effective carrier test and to find a cure or long-term control for CF.

Along with the primary goal of finding a cure, the Foundation conducts education programs to increase knowledge of CF among the public and medical professions. Patient services are provided by the more than 120 Foundation-sponsored CF Centers across the country.

All of these programs are supported by events such as the Breath of Life Campaign. For information on how you can help, contact Mrs. Russell at 379-3063.

Mrs. Donald L. Jackson

Ellis-Jackson Exchange Vows

Thelma Oneta Ellis and Donald L. Jackson exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m. on Saturday, June 21, 1980 at Bethel Church of God in Christ, Talco. The Rev. D.L. Smith officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride attended Rivercrest High School and Paris Junior College and is presently employed with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Longview, as a records clerk. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.R. Ellis of Talco.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Jackson, Jr., of Longview are the parents of the groom. He attended Mary C. Wommack School, Kilgore Junior College and Georgia Tech College. He is presently employed as a welder for Trinity Industries in Longview.

Vows were exchanged before an arch flanked by candelabras and large baskets of yellow gladioli, bronze pom-poms and yellow daisies.

Nuptial music was furnished by Louise Faison. Frances James, sister of the groom, accompanied by Mrs. Faison, sang, "I Pledge My Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white chapel length organza and chantilly lace gown. Her bridal bouquet of yellow cymbidium orchids interspersed with brown ribbons and baby's breath carried atop a white Bible (a high school graduation gift from Jewel Haynes of Talco).

The bride presented her mother a long-stem yellow rose bud upon entering the sanctuary and the groom's mother upon departing.

Shirley Brooks of Longview was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce Mims of Amarillo, the bride's cousin, Cindy Brady of Longview, Joyce Smith of Amarillo, and Gloria Baker of Mount Pleasant, both sisters of the bride; and Diane Hines of Fort Worth, the bride's cousin.

The attendants wore yellow light weight knit dresses with a waist length chiffon cape. They carried long stem silk yellow roses accented with fern and ribbons.

Little Miss Andreas Gardner served as flower girl and was dressed in a long yellow dress with lace trim. She is the cousin of the bride from Amarillo.

Jack Montgomery of Irving served his brother as best man. Danny James, brother-in-law of the groom from Houston, Wauzel Baker, James Mathis, Larry Alex, and Milton Sanders, all of Longview, were groomsmen. James Mathis and Larry Alex also seated guests.

The bride's parents hosted a reception for the newly married couple in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony.

Yellow satin was used on the bride's table overlaid with white net. Brown and beige was carried out on the grooms table. Rice bags were distributed by Saniquia Jackson, niece of the groom, of San Diego, California.

Following their wedding trip the new Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will be at home in Longview.

Location Of Former CCC Members Sought

For organizational purposes, the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Camps Alumni (NACCCA) is trying to locate about two million former members and those who were connected or affiliated with the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) during the 1930's and 1940's.

Hundreds of thousands of CCC vets now living, have not heard of and about NACCCA. Of the 26,000 contacted thus far, 20 percent have joined. "Our attitude still remains very positive, and with all pitching in and sharing equally, we can build a fine large CCC Veterans organization that will be a significant force for good in this nation," said Dr. C.W. Smith.

Anyone interested in further information can contact NACCCA Headquarters, 7900 Sudley Rd., Suite 418, Manassas, Virginia 22110. Or in Texas write Dr. C.W. Smith, P. O. Box 6AA, San Antonio, Texas 78201.

No Connection
In the early days of potato development in Europe, potatoes came in many colors and some were even two-toned. Skin color seems to have no connection with the cooking quality of the potato.

It isn't easy being a parent these days. Sometimes I wish my daughter would go out with Dracula. At least he gets his dates back by daybreak.

The TABS results were discussed at the June 2, 1980 Board of Trustees meeting. Superintendent Leslie Taylor stated that adjustments can be made in the curricula to emphasize objectives on which student performance on TABS was low. Where possible specific remedial courses may be designed for secondary students not mastering the competencies measured on the test. Mr. Taylor emphasized, to the board, that he was well pleased with the total results of the test and that the information would be used in the school's long-range planning.
