Trustees Interview Principal Candidates

By Nanalee Nichols
This Saturday is the date for our local school board and city council elections.

As usual, a very low turnout of voters is expected. A lot has been said urging people to vote...but apparently either folks aren't listening, or the message just isn't getting through.

Slogans such as "preserve your right to gripe, vote" and "Vote as you please, but please vote" have been seen a lot, but apparently not enough has been said yet.

The fact is, most people seem to feel that their small, local elections aren't very important. But another fact is that very few major politicians started out at the top...they started right down in the lower levels.

Good government begins at home...and in many ways good government on a local level has more effect on our lives than the presidency or a congressional election.

School board elections effect the quality of our children's lives, their education and our tax rates. City council elections affect us perhaps even more. The quality of services in our communities...the streets, water and sewer supply, the entire attitude of a town is reflected in the city council.

It is sad to note that emerging nations, those who know what it is NOT to have freedom to vote, have tremendous voter turnouts...while the entire United States reflects an apathetic attitude towards the democratic process.

That is probably because we take the right, privilege and responsibility of our vote for granted.

But it is time to quit taking that right for granted...and local elections, where even one vote can make a tremendous difference, is the perfect place to start.

Let's all try once more to re-establish our appreciation for our most basic freedom and responsibility. This Saturday, let's all go and VOTE.

The Board of Trustees of the Talco-Bogata Schools met in special session at Rivercrest on Tuesday, March 22 at 7 p.m. with all members present.

One of the major purposes of the meeting was to interview candidates for the Talco Principal's position. Robert Giddens, principal for the past 25 years will retire at the end of the school year. Billy Joe Vickers, teacher in the Talco School for the past 25 years, was approved by the Board as the new principal for Talco Elementary. Mr. Vickers is a graduate of East Texas State University with a Masters Degree in Education with administrative certification.

In other matters, representatives of Scott Partnership, architectural firm from Longview, presented information and a report related to the facilities study being made for the school district. The purpose of this study is to lend guidance to the Board and administration as to improvements needed and directions to take in upgrading school facilities. When the study is completed, information will be provided to the communities in the school district and to all the patrons for their suggestions and ideas toward improvements and changes in facilities. The 1982-83 school calendar was amended making April 25 a teacher work day replacing March 25 which had been changed from a teacher work day to a student day. Also, April 11 will be a holiday since one bad weather day had been included in the calendar and it does not appear that it will be needed.

In final matters, approval was given for the district to contribute $1.00 per ADA from Federal Funds to Region VIII Educational Service Center for their held to the district in the areas of staff development, inservice training, accreditation and other areas. Also, approval was given to securing and accepting bids for a copy machine.

The next regular meeting of the Board will be on Tuesday, April 12, 1983 at 7 p.m. at Rivercrest with the general public cordially invited to attend.

East Texas Eating

By Margie Rice
East Texas gardener cooks have long tucked a sage bush inside the garden gate and grown a roll of dill for flavoring pickles. Increasing numbers of area cooks are growing a variety of culinary herbs. Why not try growing two or three of your favorite herbs for seasoning? You will be glad you did. The gentle, subtle flavor of fresh herbs is a delightfully new experience for those accustomed to the more pronounced, sharper flavor of dried herbs.

These warm, balmy days are a good time to start herb plants. Sage, thyme, parsley, chives, sweet marjoram, dill, basil, oregano and mint are appearing among the bedding plants in our area.

If you do not find plants you can easily grow your own from cuttings or from seed. Several area garden seed centers have herb seed available. Thyme, sweet marjoram, sweet basil, chives, parsley, sage and dill can all be grown from seed.

The seed may be started indoors or planted directly in the ground. Dill, sweet basil, and sage can be planted in full sun. In fact, all three thrive in our full East Texas sun. Most other herbs prefer a slightly cooler location. I find that an area which gets the morning sun, but has some shade from the hot afternoon sun is ideal. Sage and thyme are perennials, so plant where they can be undisturbed for several years—or plan to move the plants to such a location. Parsley is a biennial (lives two years, going to seed and dying at the end of the second growing season). It does not take the full sun of our summers, so if you plant it in the sun, move several plants to a cool location, preferably on the north side of a building. There, parsley should live in bliss. Most herb seed are tiny. They need to be planted in finely pulverised soil and covered with, at the most, ¼ inch of fine soil. I usually sprinkle the tiny seed on top of the prepared soil and they simply pat the soil gently to settle the seed in. Keep the seedbed moist until the plants are up. Parsley is the slow germinator of the group. Don't be disappointed if it takes several weeks to come up. Soaking the seed in warm water for several hours or overnight may help the seed to sprout and push up into the wide world.

Young herb plants will most likely need some supplemental watering to get them through our East Texas summer. A mulch of old hay or even grass clippings will help to conserve the ground moisture and keep the roots cool.

You can begin to snip bits of the herbs for seasonings once the plants are three or four inches high. Rub the snippings gently with your finger to release the distinctive aroma of the herb. The aromas are as much as joy as are the flavors the herbs impart to foods. Herb seasonings are a particular help to people on low salt diets.

Ways to Use Fresh Herbs In Cooking

Fresh herbs can be used in any recipe that calls for dried herbs, but remember to use a little bit more of the fresh herb. Generally, one teaspoon of fresh herb equals ¼ teaspoon of powdered dry herb or one-third teaspoon leaf dry herb.

Use a sharp knife to chop or mince fresh herbs—and use immediately.

Here is a recipe that is just one of many, many delicious foods you can do with fresh herbs. Dried herbs are called for in this recipe, so go ahead and make it up now with dried ones. Then, DO make it later with fresh herbs!

Boursin Cheese
Make ahead.
2 Tbsp. butter, softened
½ tsp. pressed garlic
¼ tsp. dry dill
2 Tbsp. finely chopped fresh parsley
1 Tbsp. frozen, freeze-dried or fresh chives
½ tsp. thyme
8 oz. cream cheese, softened
freshly ground pepper

In a small bowl, using a wooden spoon, blend the softened butter with the garlic, dill, thyme, parsley and chives. When well mixed, work into the softened cream cheese until completely blended and smooth.

Mold into a ball or other desired shape. Sprinkle with freshly ground pepper until all sides are covered. Cover with Saran Wrap and refrigerate until ready to serve.

Singers To Present Program

The "Signs of Love" Singers, a group of young people from the United States and other countries, will present a program in drama and song at 7 p.m. Friday, April 15 in the Henry P. Mayer Center for the Musical Arts at PJC. Area residents are invited to the free program, according to Harold Norris of the Red River Valley Deaf and Hearing Association.

Held in conjunction with the association's April meeting, the musical will include singing and signing in the deaf language, Norris explained. The program is co-sponsored with PJC's continuing education division.

The "Signs of Love" Singers, from Christ for the Nations College in Dallas, are under the direction of Peter and Dottie Bailey. Their goal is to spread the love of Jesus and to help support deaf projects around the world.

Prior to the program, a dinner will be held in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church, Norris said. Those interested in attending should call the church at 785-4557 by April 8 and leave their name, address and telephone number. The cost will be $4 per person, and reservations may be canceled before April 8.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. Harry Evans
OPTOMETRIST

THE SINGLE VISION LENS
When most people get their first pair of eyeglasses or contact lenses, more often than not they're made with single-vision lenses. This doesn't mean they can see only in one direction. Nor at only one distance. The "single" stands for just one set of optical corrections in the lens.

The single-vision lens can be for reading or for seeing at a distance. It all depends on the problem that needs correcting.

Nearsighted people need help in seeing things at a distance. Farsighted people may need help seeing objects near-by. People who have an astigmatism need help in both directions. Their eyes have two points of focus instead of one. This gives them blurred vision no matter how close or far away an object may be. Corrective glasses or contact lenses clear things up so they can see as well as people with normal vision. No matter what the vision problem, it can usually be solved with the right kind of glasses or contact lenses.

Spring Workshop Set

A spring workshop planned by Paris Junior College's Center for Women on Wednesday, April 13, will feature a luncheon speaker, style show and four different workshops designed specifically for women. The workshop, which is open to the public, will be presented annually at PJC, said Ora Lee Tomes, coordinator of the Center for Women.

Speaker for the 12:15 p.m. luncheon will be Mary Vernon of Dallas, partner in Vernon Associates, a firm which provides consulting services in the areas of business, the arts, education, training in public speaking and computer systems. Former chairman of the art history at Southern Methodist University, Mrs. Vernon has produced programs for television, led numerous foreign tours and formed a company to teach public speaking.

Her address, entitled "Build on the Human Heart," will be a discussion of accomplished women and their success through skills in communication. After her talk, a spring style show will be presented by Regan's of Paris at 1:30 p.m.

The luncheon and style show will be in the Student Center Ballroom, and morning and afternoon workshops will be held in the Rheudasil Learning Center beginning at 9 a.m. The workshop sessions will be conducted by members of the PJC faculty, Mrs. Tomes said. "Body Dynamics" from 9 to 10 a.m. will include a discussion on nutrition, exercise and physical fitness by Barbara Thomas, PJC counselor, and a demonstration of aerobic workout by Clare Rainey, physical education instructor. Mrs. Tomes will give a workshop on leadership skills for influencing positive behavior in others at 10 a.m.

At 11 a.m., Terry Adams, business instructor, will discuss office automation of the future and what business women can do to prepare for the changes. An afternoon workshop from 2:15 to 3:30 p.m. will be presented by Vicki Oglesby, business relations coordinator, who will talk on motivation and positive thinking to prevent burn-out.

A fee of $10 will cover the cost of the luncheon, style show and workshop sessions. Reservations should be made by April 11 by calling 785-7661, extension 433.

The scholarship is in the amount of $150 and will be awarded yearly to a Red River County resident who is currently enrolled in an LVN or RN program. ceptional services. This is the first scholarship made available to residents of Red River County, who are pursuing careers in the nursing profession.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP Sticky Substances Will Help Start Nail

How do you get a nail started in tight spots (corners behind a water heater, etc.) where you can use only one hand?

If you have children, borrow some of their modeling clay, or you can use putty, even bubble gum. Press a lump of the sticky material where you wish to place the nail. Insert the nail and you can get it started with one blow from the hammer. Once the nail is started, remove the substance.

Weekly Ag Update

Every gardener seems to have problems with squash bugs every year. Dr. James Robinson, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that producers must get an early start for good control of this pest. Fifty percent wettable powder sevin or Thiodan 50WP are two effective insecticides for squash bugs. Use a surfactant such as one-fourth to one-half teaspoon of liquid detergent per gallon of spray mixture. Spray the entire plant with the solution for full coverage. The squash bug overwinters as an adult.

As squash begin to grow, the insect begins to lay eggs and the life cycle is repeated.

Robinson says that scale crawlers on ornamentals should be hatching. Do not apply an oil spray this late in the season. To control the scale crawlers, apply diazinon or malathion spray solutions.

Any phylloxera on pecans missed by the dormant oil spray should be controlled now. Robinson suggests using a general spray of either malathion, Zolone or diazinon. Again, do not use a dormant oil spray this late in the season. Follow all label directions on any insecticides used.

How much meat does a chicken really have? How many people will the meat from one chicken serve? A lot depends on the way you cook and serve the chicken. It also depends on which part of the chicken you're talking about. However, a whole broiler has two servings per pound. Remember, those servings are only three ounces each, enough to give one person one-third of the daily protein requirement. If your family loves chicken, they may not settle for just three ounces.

GARDEN

Kaffir Lily Blooms In Winter, Spring

The Kaffir Lily is a popular member of the Amaryllidaceae family because it blooms early—in late winter and early spring. In warm climate, frost-free areas, it may be propagated outdoors, but in most sections of the country the plant is greenhouse grown in tubs or pots, or used as a house plant. The long foliage is leather-like and evergreen. The flowers are orange with a reddish tint at the outer extremes of the petals, although the throat, which contains six stamens, is yellow. Different shades of both yellow and red may be found in cultivars.

This plant will do well in an equal mixture of leaf mould, decayed manure and fibrous loam. A well-lit environment is recommended, but the plant should not be subjected to direct sunlight. This is true, also, where outside planting is concerned; a semi-shade location is recommended, rather than in full sunlight.

Like many members of the lily family, this plant should be watered frequently during the growing season, but less often after it flowers.

TIME-SAVING SHORTCUTS
DISHWASHERS

When purchasing a dishwasher, it is important to evaluate your specific needs instead of being sold on the most deluxe model, advise home economists from Whirlpool Corporation.

Today's dishwasher is one of the best time-savers in the kitchen. It eliminates the chore of drying dishes, and because water is hotter and the detergent stronger than human hands can stand, dishes are cleaner and more sanitary. Here are a few tips that can help you save time and get the most from your dishwasher.

- Encourage all family members to put dirty dishes and glasses from between meal snacks directly into the dishwasher until there is a full load to run. Most families find that cleaning a full load once a day is sufficient.

- Use a rinse aid additive—liquid if your dishwasher has a dispenser, or solid form, if it doesn't. The rinse aid causes the water to "sheet" off, reducing the possibility of water droplets forming and causing spots on glassware.

- Prepare table and cooking ware for the dishwasher as you remove it from the dining area. Before loading dishwasher, empty out liquids and shake off any solid leftovers. No need to scrape or rinse. Keep dinner dishes, salad plates, saucers in separate stacks to more quickly load the machine.

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood

I am disappointed and also a little astonished that I have seen no kites this year and I don't know if I have just missed them or if the kids of today have quit flying kites. When I was a kid that was one of the first signs of spring, a sky filled with kites. As soon as the weather would let us outside, we would get our newspapers, some light sticks and twine string and make a kite and when the March winds came, we were all ready to go.

We only made the simple kind of kite. We would find some apple or orange boxes, cut us a strip from the side, and whittle it down to where it was about one inch in width and about 12 inches long. Then we would get another strip the same width but only about six or eight inches long and make them into a cross with a the short piece about one-fourth of the way down then we would glue them together with a water and flour mixture that we also made.

We would make our cross with the sticks and notch each stick on the end. Next, we would take the twine string and loop the string around the cross to make a diamond shape out of the sticks and the string. Then we would cut our newspaper to fit the diamond and paste the newspaper to the diamond. Next we would find us some old shirt or something similar to make a tail for the kite. Then we would tie the tail to the kite and see if it would fly. If we could get it to fly we bought us about a nickle's worth of twine string to fasten to the kite. We would hold the kite in one hand and run into the wind gradually letting the string out to give the kite room to get in the sky. When it was airborne, we would sit and watch it for hours at a time, pulling the string to make it rise or fall or sometimes we could make it take a dive then go back up in the air. I know that doesn't sound like fun, but it was to the kids that I was raised with.

We could watch our kites for hours, talking all the time about what we were going to do when we grew up. Sometimes we would tie the string to an anchor and try to get another kite to fly. Sometimes each of us had two or three kites flying at the same time.

Whitt Cotten, the old trapper buddy of mine, and I would sometimes leave our kites tied to a fence post all night just to see if they would still be flying the next morning. Sometimes they were, and sometimes we would have to hunt all over to find them. Usually when we found them they were all broken and would have to be fixed.

We had names for our kites and they were very special to us. If anything happened to them, we were very sad because they kept us busy and happy for a long time.

That is why I am so disappointed that I don't see any kites flying these days. I don't know if the kids don't know how to build a kite anymore or if they just have something else they like to do better. I bet though, that if they would build a kite themselves and got it to fly, they would get as much enjoyment out of them as Whitt and I did when we were kids.

Historic Deport Cemetery Needs Funds

Another spring means another crop of weeds and grass at the old Deport Cemetery south of Deport.

So the word goes out for contributions to check and control the unsightly growth. Jinks Whittle is on the maintenance job again, but he must have money to operate his mowers.

Checks or cash donations may be mailed or given to Edith Fuller, Secretary, P.O. Box 142, Deport, Texas, 75435. Or they may be left at the First National Bank in Deport or to Ed Bryson, association president, P.O.

Judge Pesek Pronounces Sentence

Red River County Attorney Thomas Fowler announced that there were 70 felony convictions in Red River County in 1982.

Fowler says that comparisons with earlier years show a substantial increase in felony convictions after he took office in 1981 as the County's first full-time County Attorney.

Average number of felony convictions per year: 1951-1960-nine; 1961 to 1970, 12-1971 to 1980, 25-1981, 65; 1982-70.

Eighteen persons were sentenced to prison in 1982 for an average sentence of 5.3 years plus one sentence of life imprisonment. Fines of $2,000 are now common in felony cases where probation is granted and a full-time Adult Probation Officer and secretary see that fines are collected or that probation is revoked. Only first time offenders receive probation.

There were 108 misdemeanor convictions in County and District Courts with fines and court costs averaging about $365 per case. Justice of the Peace Court convictions are not included.

Fowler states that his office collected $8,765.72 in restitution on 200 hot checks in 1982.

BANK CENTS

By Neil Rozell

Has the question ever come to you as to why a loan was declined by the bank? There are several reasons, and for just a moment, let me share a few of them with you.

We do not claim to be smarter or better business people than you. We do have certain advantages that most business people do not have, however. One of those advantages is that we are exposed to almost every kind of business proposition that you can think of. Not many times has a customer come to us with a loan application that we haven't seen one or more like it before. It all goes back to experience through observation on our part. So please understand that if we turn your loan down, we do have a very good reason. Most of the time it will be, believe it or not, that we are thinking of your interest and well-being, first.

We want you to know more about our business!!!

Azaleas Are Always Most Welcome Bloomer

The azalea is one of the most colorful of all flowers that may bloom in late winter or spring. In many areas of the South, blooming azaleas, rather than the calendar, herald the fact that winter has virtually run its course.

Several cities are known for an annual azalea festival and, without fail, the festival occurs when the azaleas are at their loveliest. The plant normally blooms in winter and early spring but may be forced or retarded to bloom at selected times.

The azalea is a popular indoor plant because of its long blooming character and the wide range of colors presented by the clustered heads of the bell-shaped flowers—crimson, white, pink, orange, and various shades in between.

The lovely plants we see outdoors early in the year were probably started the previous summer when immature cuttings were placed in a compost of sand and peat. In frost-prone areas, these plants are kept indoors in a light, but not full-sun environment, until it is safe to plunge the pots into a shady outdoor location.

Azaleas are sometimes difficult to get started, often need the addition of hormone rooting aids and the help of mist or propagators. Frequent watering and spraying of the foliage is necessary.

Power Company Says Utility Matters Require Careful Consideration

By C.O. Mills, Division Manager Texas-New Mexico Power Company

A proposal to establish an office of public counsel to represent consumers in rate proceedings would only serve to complicate matters, as well as duplicate the functions of the general counsel to the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

The general counsel and his staff are responsible for representing and promoting the public interest before the PUCT. In protecting these interests, the general counsel and other professionals at the commission have demonstrated they are effective advocates for the consuming public. The general counsel has access to the PUCT staff, performs in-depth studies and detailed evaluations of pertinent data, and participates fully in rate matters.

An office of public counsel, created to serve the consuming public, would generate additional costs that inevitably would be borne by the same public whose interest ostensibly was being protected.

Is there a real need for a separate office when the PUCT has been very receptive to admitting all types of intervenors to rate proceedings so that a full range of information and viewpoints is available?

The concept of a special office to represent consumer interest has an alluring and deceptively simple ring. Consumers, however, are a very diverse group and include not only residential customers, but commercial and industrial classes. Even residential customers can be broken down into sub-classes, such as multi-family ratepayers, single family households, urban dwellers, rural families, ad infinitum. Unless the public counsel were allowed to choose his favored client, there would be the need to create additional offices, one for each interest group.

The general counsel is obligated to consider all aspects in advocating and protecting the public interest. Yet the office retains the flexibility to adjust for time, circumstance and company-specific issues. The general counsel has adequately represented residential ratepayers and other consumers and this function should not be duplicated in an unnecessary office of public counsel.

The establishment of an Office of Public Counsel, which would represent consumers in rate matters, has been proposed. In each state, the need for such a Public Counsel depends to a large extent on the overall structure and effectiveness of the Public Utility Commission staff. The need for a Public Counsel is obviated in Texas by the fact that the General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas is an active and effective advocate on behalf of all ratepayers.

The General Counsel and his staff are responsible, primarily, for representing and promoting the public interest before the commission. In satisfaction of its statutory obligation to protection of the public interest, the General Counsel and other professionals at PUCT have demonstrated that they are effective advocates for the consuming public. The General Counsel has access to a PUCT staff, composed of experts in every field from engineering to economic research, performs in-depth studies and details evaluations of pertinent data, and participates fully in rate matters.

The establishment of an Office of Public Counsel in Texas would at best duplicate the functions already performed by the PUCT staff. This expensive duplication would create an additional cost inevitably to be borne by the same public whose interest ostensibly was being protected. For example, a situation could arise where the Public Counsel might appeal a PUCT decision to the courts that has been agreed to be the General Counsel. In this case, one state office would be pitted against another, both advocating the public interest at the public expense.

Another fact which further diminishes the need for a Public Counsel in Texas is that the PUCT has been very receptive to admitting all types of intervenors to rate proceedings so that a full range of information and viewpoints is available to the PUCT.

Of even greater concern, however, are the questions regarding the specific role of the Office of Public Counsel. The concept of a special office to represent consumer interests has an alluring and deceptively simple ring. Consumers, however, are a very diverse group, including not only residential customers, but also commercial and industrial customers. Even assuming that public concern for industrial and commercial consumers is so limited as to justify their exclusion from the special protection of an Office of Public Counsel, the concept is still a difficult one, because residential consumers themselves are a varied group. For example, multi-family housing residents have electric service and rate requirements which may vary from single family housing residents. Unless the Public Counsel were to be allowed in such instances arbitrarily to pick and choose his favored client or position, the solution would be to create two offices: an Office of Multi-Family Public Counsel and an Office of Single Family Public Counsel. Only a bit more extreme, perhaps additional offices for Urban Public Counsel, or an Office of Ureban Multi-Family Public Counsel, and so on. High and low service use, attitudes toward nuclear power, conservation, environment, and social questions, and myriad other issues each could similarly justify special individual government representation. This absurd possibility demonstrates the futility and inequity of any special counsel office, while at the same time underscoring the value of the existing office of the General Counsel.

The argument that a need for an Office of Public Counsel is evidenced by the unfair burden borne by residential customers is unsupportable. The regulatory philosophy in Texas is based on cost of service. However, the residential class in some cases contributes a relative rate of return, for utility plant used and usefully providing electrical service to that class, which is lower than that contributed by commercial and industrial classes. In effect commercial and industrial customers can be viewed as subsidizing the residential class.

In summary the General Counsel is obligated to consider all the aspects in advocating and protecting the public interest. Yet, the office retains the flexibility to adjust for time, circumstance, and company specific issues. The General Counsel has adequately represented residential ratepayers and other consumers with minimal duplication of effort.

Your Horoscope Guide

For The Week Of April 3 to April 9

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 — Also Scorpio Ascendant) — You're feeling more serious and intense about life and your own ideas or ideals. You can meet opposition from equally self-willed people. Take a "parental" attitude and keep your eye on the big picture rather than petty differences.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 — Also Sagittarius Ascendant) — Energy and optimism move you to take a new lease on life and put your best foot forward! You could adopt a "new look" too as you change your personal image.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19 — Also Aries Ascendant) — Your hunches about career moves are reliable and somewhat unconventional. Opposition from others is possible. Curb the tendency to spend extravagantly — plan your strategies carefully and don't give in to self-willed impulsiveness.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20 — Also Taurus Ascendant) — Your mind can be on "faraway places" but duties keep you tied up at home. You feel a need to improve your position in life and educational programs are accented. If your philosophical views meet opposition, be willing to listen to advice.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 20 — Also Gemini Ascendant) — With so much to do and limited time you can feel frustrated. Try to remain calm and reduce personal tensions. Concentrate on working out the details of a project-in-process in a quiet, undisturbed environment. Take the phone off the hook!

CANCER: (June 21 to July 22 — Also Cancer Ascendant) — Direct your restlessness and need for change to your career activities. Artistic and literary abilities are accented — you can solve problems at work with tact and diplomacy. Home pressures may interfere with the need to increase your knowledge.

LEO: (July 23 to Aug. 22 — Also Leo Ascendant) — Family get-togethers and parties give you the spotlight. Differences between you and mate or partner about money and budgeting habits can cause tension. You may have to let go of some personal opinions and concepts. Concentrate on career.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 — Also Virgo Ascendant) — You may feel like withdrawing from active participation in life and "holing up" with TV or a good book! Hurt feelings from a confrontation with mate or dear one can be the reason. You can clear up the misunderstanding if you make the effort.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 — Also Libra Ascendant) — You can meet important people now who help forward your personal goals. Home projects and real estate matters are favored and you find the answers you're seeking. Fulfill your duties or obligations to family members with tactful attitudes.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 — Also Capricorn Ascendant) — You are breaking free of intellectual and philosophical boundaries now. New age thought, progressive ideas and unorthodox interests attract you. A new project could bring you before the public and past restraints seem to fall away.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 — Also Aquarius Ascendant) — You're feeling lighter and more social now so getting out and meeting people is favored. If you travel at this time, expect some delays and snags to occur. Roll with the flow and enjoy yourself instead of getting up-tight. Relax your need for control.

PISCES: (Feb. 19 to March 20 — Also Pisces Ascendant) — Dig into that work load and you can lay the groundwork for a new, rewarding project. Don't be sidetracked from the job at hand by chattering associates. Your judgment is right on target so be bold and imaginative as you deal with important decisions.

Packaged Foods

There are several ways to use packaged foods to save money if your family is small and if you have the right equipment to make use of it. For example, a small family might consider buying packaged potatoes. They're cheaper and you don't have waste from rot or sprouts. And if you prefer fresh potatoes, ask the produce manager to sell you less than five pounds.

Cooked cereal is another bargain, especially in a microwave oven. If you have a microwave, it can save time and utensils when making hot cereal.

Also when buying cereals, read labels for nutritional information and check to see if the product comes in different packaging materials. Boxes cost more than polybags.

Wheat Demonstration
Twenty acres of wheat was treated with Bayleton fungicide the first of this week in Lamar County to gain information on the chemical's effectiveness in controlling powdery mildew and leaf rust. Half of the site will be treated with an additional four ounces of the material in two to three weeks.

Demonstration
cooperators are Johnny Mack and John Robert Espy. The land is on the Jack Edwards place off the south loop in Paris. The material was applied by airplane through the courtesy of Randall Stephens, Ag Aerial Applicators of Direct. The material was provided by Mo Bay Chemicals. Our thanks to all of these individuals and firms for making this demonstration possible.

There has been no significant increase in leaf rust build up in the area that has been detected. However, spores have been picked up in traps in the Uvalde area of South Texas. Locally, we continue to find leaf rust pustules in about half of the varieties included in the variety demonstration located on the farm of Trent Jones. It does not seem to be exploding at this time. However, wheat producers should continue to monitor their fields for another two to three weeks. In summation, the leaf rust problem at this time looks insignificant.

Control Cutworms Before Planting
Cutworms and other soil insects are plentiful this spring and should be controlled prior to planting in order to reduce plant losses. Numerous individuals have already called seeking information on control measures after they had lost young plants.

Diazinon chemical is the suggested one to use. It comes in either the liquid or wettable powder and will require mixing with water. The material should be sprayed on the soil and then worked into the soil for a depth of six to eight inches. Planting can take place immediately.

It will take three-fourths cup of the 25 percent liquid diazinon or one-half cup of 50 percent wettable powder in two and one-half to three gallons water to treat 1000 square feet.

A little time spent prior to planting should save lots of disappointments for the home gardener.
