Most of the men out there can skip this week's column. It will only make them grumble and complain if they continue reading. However, if they do keep on reading, remember, turn about is fair play, and women are quite well aware that men gripe about the things that women do as much as women fuss about men.

The problem with men is that they simply won't read instructions. Oh, here and there I suppose there may lurk an unusual member of the species that opens the box to something new, looks over the pieces, then sits down to read the instructions. More importantly, these paragons may actually FOLLOW the instructions after reading them.

However, I've never actually met one of these rare creatures.

Instead, I've been teamed up for nineteen years with a typical man. One of those that tutters to himself "Oh, that can't be the way this is supposed to be done!" or "Wonder what this little gizmo was supposed to be used for?"

When my husband gets his buddies together for a project, be it building a house, a barn, assembling a doll house, or putting together a model airplane for a kid, there is absolutely no telling what will happen.

To me, the whole thing is horrifying. After the most cursory of glances, they will sling down the instructions, and proceed on their own.

I used to try and help out. I would grab up the manual or instruction sheet, position myself on the work site, and proceed to try and organize the group. That is futile. I tried reading the instructions to them step by step. They ignored me.

If I persisted for too long, someone would make a sarcastic or nasty comment.

Then, when I had finally given up in disgust, one or the other would holler "Now what did it say about putting the what-cha-ma-callit on to the thing-a-ma-jig?"

Of course, before long, things degenerate. Something won't work, something won't fit, something is wrong. Tempers get short, and I'll be the first to admit that mine ranks right at the top for short fuses.

Before long it has resolved itself one way or another, and the creation is either done right or wrong, without the blessing of instructions, or they have to start all over again.

And hovering in the back of my mind is that persistent question. "Why didn't they read the instructions to begin with?"

After discussing this phenomenon with numerous other females I've discovered that it isn't limited to my husband and his friends at all.

Wives and girls friends, mothers and sisters, they all insist that they get frustrated watching their menfolk struggling to "do it their way" instead of the way the manufacturer meant.

Of course, since the manufacturer was probably male, he most likely just made the instructions up as HE went along.

No wonder they sometimes manage to do as well without the directions as with them.

Still though, it sends my nerves shrieking as I watch and listen, and know that there is absolutely NOTHING I can do to change the situation!

Accident Claims Life Of Teenager

An automobile accident early Saturday morning on FM 1487 in the Cuthand community, claimed the life of Pablo Emilio Morales, a senior at Rivercrest High School.

According to the Department of Public Safety, the 1977 blue Toyota driven by the teenager left the road on the east side, jumped a driveway, and struck a tree head on. Investigating officers reported the accident could have been the result of Morales falling asleep while driving or passing out.

Morales had lived in Bogata for the past three months with his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Rene LeClaire. He came to the United States four years ago from his native country of Nicaragua. He lived in California prior to moving to Bogata. His parents are Antonio Morales and Laura Estrella Morales of Miami, Florida.

Memorial services for Pablo Morales were held Sunday, September 25 at the Cuthand Methodist Church.

In an interview with Mr. LeClaire, he stated the irony of the situation is that the victim's mother wanted to get her son out of Nicaragua and to the United States because the Nicaraguan government takes boys at such a young age to be soldiers. "It's such a sad thing for the family," Mr. LeClaire said. He added that neighbors and friends in the Cuthand community and Bogata have been so very kind to them. "In my country, people don't seem to feel the death of a loved one is so important," he said. "But here, they've shown so much concern for us, and," he added "at least he didn't have to war."

Since leaving Nicaragua four years ago, the LeClaires have lived in Bogata with the exception of three months which were spent living in Dallas.

Postage Increases Force Rise In Subscription Price-First Time In Four Years

For the first time in over four years, the Deport Times, Bogata News, Talco Times and Blossom Times must increase their subscription price.

Editor Nanalee Nichols says, "We have made every effort possible to keep our subscription costs down, but after two postage increases PER YEAR for the past few years, we have to go up. Last year, our postage bill was $11,000.00 and they've already gone up this year."

Effective October 1, 1988, all subscriptions will be raised one dollar. This will still keep the price well below those of most weekly newspapers.

An In County subscription within Lamar, Red River or Titus Counties, will cost $11.00. In the state of Texas, but outside of those three counties will be $13.50. Out of state subscriptions will be $16.00.

The last increase was 50¢. A subscription to the paper only pays for the postage, not even all the printing. Advertising must pay for salaries, business expenses such as phones, electricity, etc., taxes, equipment and all other forms of overhead. In addition to postage increases, printing costs have increased once a year for the last four years and all overhead such as supplies have gone up sharply.

Although the price increase is regretted, it is absolutely necessary.

The December sale will still be held, but will reflect the increase.

Kennedy-Anschutz Exchange Wedding Vows

The Calvary Baptist Church in Talco was the setting for the wedding of Kelly Monette Anschutz to Ricky Shawn Kennedy at 7 p.m. Saturday, September 24. Pastor of the church, Bro. Brett Castle, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Tony and Jo Anschutz of Talco, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Franks and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anschutz of Sugar Hill. She is a 1986 Rivercrest High School graduate and has attended Northeast Texas Community College and employed by Hamilton Jewelers in Mt. Pleasant.

The bridegroom is the son of Ricky Kennedy of Paris and Sharon Kennedy of Bogata, and the grandson of Mrs. Travis Williams of Pine Branch and the great-grandson of Mrs. Maudie Pittman of Bogata. He is also a 1986 graduate of Rivercrest High School, has attended Paris Junior College. Presently he is a co-op student for Texas Electric Services in Ft. Worth and in January will be attending Tyler Junior College.

Vows were repeated before an ivy entwined crescent candelabra flanked by spiral candelabras that added a halo of candlelight to the setting. Peach satin bows completed the arrangement and marked family pews.

Pre-nuptial music was provided by Barbara Russell, organist, and Marla Logan, pianist. Marla sang "The Rose" and "The Wedding Song". Mikel Haynes and Tina Williams combined their voices for "Crazy" accompanied by Kristi Cawley.

Escorted to the altar by her altar and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a dress that featured a pearl trimmed sweetheart neckline bordered by lace appliques that formed the "v" point fitted sleeves. Satin aprons bordered by lace appliques enhanced front and back of the gown. Back of the dress featured a deep "v" to the waist with pearl strands across the bare back. The full skirt swept into a cathedral train with several overlays of lace appliqued skirting bordered by pleated bridal satin. A rose bustle at the waist held the skirting.

The bride wore a wide-brimmed satin hat trimmed in seed pearls and teardrop pearls. A fingertip veil attached the hat in back formed an elegant pouf.

She carried a cascade bridal bou-quet of white satin roses interspersed with miniature peach sweetheart roses. Iridescent white stephanotis, pale green satin ribbon and pearls with lace and satin ribbons completed the arrangement.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was RaNell Eudy of Lancaster. Bridesmaid was Amber Easley of Talco, both friends of the bridal couple. Christen Williams of Bogata, cousin of the groom, served as flower girl.

The attendants wore satin dresses in alternating colors of peach and seafoam green with sweetheart necklines, fitted bodices, long straight sleeves and full-length skirts. A rose bustle was attached at the deep V'ed back with pearls across the bare back. They carried nosegays of peach diamond roses interspersed with seafoam green ribbon and streamers of satin, lace and iridescent ribbons.

Jarod Byrd of Irving, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer. Serving the bridegroom as best man was Chris Eudy of Lancaster, with Tony Jasso of Bogata the groomsman, both friends of the bridal couple.

The bridegroom was attired in a white Dynasty full dress tuxedo with boutonniere of peach sweetheart roses. Groomsmen wore silver gray Dynasty full dress tuxedos with alternating accessories of peach and seafoam green.

Marc Anschutz, brother of the bride of Irving and Randy Kennedy, uncle of the groom of Bogata, seated the guests.

Candlelighters were Shawna Kennedy of Bogata, sister of the groom and Melanie Franks of Talco, cousin to the bride. They wore peach and seafoam green tea-length dresses.

Wedding guests were registered by Stephanie Franks, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the parents of the bride in the fellowship hall of the church.

Silver lace over satin covered the bride's table which was centered by a four-branch candelabra holding an arrangement of white mums, peach roses and variegated ivy. A silver Queen Anne punch bowl set atop a matching tray held peach colored fruit punch. The traditional wedding cake was a three-tier design featuring a stairway to a satellite cake which held a sentimental bride and groom belonging to the bride's great-grandparents. Pale peach roses and white frosting ruffles adorned the sides of the cake with angels and roses topping each tier. The anniversary tier held the small bride and groom standing in a flower crested white gazebo. Serving this table were Mandi Dixon and Kim McGee, friends of the bride.

The groom's table was covered with a peach underlay with fully gathered ecru lace shirting and centered by a nine-branch candelabra with votive candles. Serving here were eKim Stone and Suzette Edmonson, cousins of the groom.

Statewide Economy Improving: 7.9 Million Texans Employed

The Texas economy continued to improve in August, with the statewide unemployment rate at 6.7 percent. Statistics released today by the Texas Employment Commission show the lowest August unemployment since 1985.

"The August non-farm employment of 7.9 million Texans is 159,000 more than in August, 1987, with many of the additional jobs in manufacturing," said Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers of the Texas Employment Commission. "Salaried jobs increased by more than 120,000 during that period."

Nabers noted that all Metropolitan Statistical Areas in Texas posted lower August unemployment rates than one year ago. In August, 14 areas had rates lower than the state average, while 13 were above it.

Areas with the lowest unemployment rates were Bryan-College Station at 4.2 percent; Lubbock and Midland, both with 5.1; Amarillo, Dallas and Wichita Falls, all at 5.4; Abilene, at 5.7 percent; Austin, Ft. Worth-Arlington and San Angelo, all with 5.8 percent; Sherman-Denison at 5.9 percent; Houston, at 6.2 percent; Victoria, at 6.4 and Waco at 6.5.

Those areas with the highest rates in August were McAllen-Edinburg-Mission, at 15.9; Brownsville-Harlingen at 12.5; Laredo, at 11.1; El Paso at 10.0; Beaumont-Port Arthur, 9.5; Corpus Christi at 8.5; Galveston-Texas City, 8.1; Longview-Marshall at 7.8; Brazoria and San Antonio, 7.4; Killeen-Temple at 7.3; and Odessa and Tyler, 7 percent.

Rebels Fall 21-9 To Cardinals

By Gary House

"WANTED: One case, lot of stick-em." If Rivercrest Rebel Head Coach Terry Giddens were allowed to purchase such a glue-like substance, he could no doubt put it to immediate use by applying it to the slippery fingers of the Rebel offensive backfield. Indeed, the Rebels have committed 16 fumbles in the last two contests, with needless to say, disastrous results.

Again the highly touted Class A Maud Cardinals, ranked in top ten in Texas schoolboy polls, the "hands-off" policy produced nine costly bobbles, and led to two "gift" touchdowns for the Cardinals, and a 21-9 margin of victory.

Even though Maud showcased the talents of their outstanding senior running back, Joey Missildine, who had mind boggling 273 yards rushing on 44 carries (6.8 yards per try), in the final analysis the first half fumbles cost the Rebels the victory.

The Rebs started the game in good fashion, securing a first down before being forced to punt. The Rebel defense, which played well all night, notwithstanding the accomplishments of Missildine, denied the Cardinals a first down. But the Rebel offense then committed two fumbles in the next three plays, the last being retained by Maud at the Rebel 39. Four plays later, Missildine scored the first of his three touchdowns, with Aaron Slider kicking the point after. In the second quarter, Maud mounted its only sustained drive of the night, an 80-yarder. Missildine carried the ball 12 of the 13 plays, and accounted for all but one yard of the march, although 15 penalty yards were assessed against the Rebels. With 4:24 left in the half, The Big M scored on a 10-yard run, to make the score 14-0, after Slider's conversion.

The remainder of the second quarter must have been a nightmare for the Rebel squad, and coaches. The first snap was fumbled, but the Rebel defense rose to the task and forced a Cardinal punt. Guess what happened next. Another fumble. On the first lay. This time Maud capitalized, as at 1:47 Missildine and Slider again combined to make the half-time score 21-0.

Good coaching adjustments at half-time reaped big dividends for the Rebel squad in the second half. Stopping the Cardinals cold on their first drive, defensive tackle Kevin Beene, who along with his brother, Danny Beene, were the games' outstanding defensive stalwarts, broke through to stuff the Cardinal punt at the 34-yard line. As Rebel Marcus Savage ran to fall on the pignose near the Cardinal goal line, a Maud player suddenly kicked the ball away from him and out of the endzone, to give the Rebels a safety, making the score 21-2. That play gave incentive to the entire Rebel squad.

Twice in the third period the Rebel defenders, led by Chad Parish, Kevin Binion, Jesse Woods and Marcus Savino, stopped the Maud attack when it counted most, on fourth down. The Rebel touchdown came quickly midway through the period, after a Rebel defensive stand. Junior full-back Marcus Savage, took the hand-off from quarterback Bradley Woods, overpowered his way into the Cardinal secondary, and blasted into the open field, leaving two Maud defenders to eat his dust. The 73-yard run gave Savage a total of 119 yards for the night. David Stansell's extra point attempt was perfect and the Rebels were back in the contest at 21-

9. Although the Rebel offense confounded the Cardinal defense, they were unable to penetrate the endzone again. The first half lead to the Cardinals had withstood the buzzer.

Statistically, the Rebels had 165 yards total offense, with 40 of that total accumulated on three complete passes. Maud had 349 yards, all on the ground.

The punting of Bradley Woods was exceptional as he kicked four times for an average of 40 yards, including a towering 60-yarder and a pooch kick of 19 yards, which put the Cardinals in a hole.

The key stat, however, was the fumbles.

The Rebels had nine, lost four, while Maud only lost one of three.

The Rebels, after being on the road for three straight weeks, will return to Jothnoton Friday night to face Winnsboro, a class 3A squad which lost to Cooper 25-13 last week. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Rebels need your support as they seek to turn their fortunes around and gain their initial victory.

In Thursday's junior varsity action, the young Rebels defeated Honey Grove 18-6.

The defensive play set up the Rebel touchdowns. John Smith intercepted a pass, Eric Cabell blocked a Warrior punt and Stacey Horton recovered a fumble. Russell Ward anchored the Rebel line.

Touchdowns were scored by quarterback Ronald Simmons, James Freeland and Junior Burson.

The running game was productive with quality play by David Stringer and Jo Dellis.

The Rebel Junior High Squad was defeated by Maud's youngsters 37-0.

Gossiping Hound Dog

Jay Hancock shares another "tale" from his Spare Grandad, Leonard Dabney.

Some years ago, a Rochester couple that lived on a farm raised a very bright and intellectual son. They were so proud that he excelled in his school grades. Naturally, as all parents do, they wanted a better life for their son than they had been able to achieve for themselves, so they decided to send him to college. It wasn't easy in those days, as the Great Depression was in full gear. Money was tight, but their determination was outstanding. So off to college goes he.

They put him on a train for far away places. He traveled through such cities as Rule, Stamford, Anson and Abilene. To him this was overwhelming, as he had only been to Jud and O'Brine. Arriving on campus, his mouth flapped open at what he was seeing. Girls, girls, then more girls. That boy gave a hoot and holler and went stark raving mad. Need I tell you, his grade average the first month looked worse than our Federal Debt. All of you know it takes lots of money to romance, so he spent his semester's allowance the first month.

What can I do? I'm out of money. I can't write and tell Ma and Pa I can't finish college. Call Dad, have him send more money. The son knew his dad loved his old hound, so he picked up the phone, "Hello Central, I want to speak to Pop." Oh, yeah, the old hound dog's name was Old Blue. The old man got on the phone. The son began to talk, "Say, Dad, they are starting classes Monday to teach dogs to talk. If you can, send old Blue and $500.00 for his schooling, they will have him talking by the time I come home this semester." The old man was hard up for money, but Lordy, to have an educated son and a talking dog was just too much to say no to. So, he sent the five hundred, and shipped Old Blue. Old Blue stayed in the boy's room until the time came to go back home.

It was the end of the semester and the old man could hardly wait to hear Old Blue talk. He knew there was many hunting trips they could discuss. Time passes so slowly waiting for the train.

Talking to himself, the boy said, "What am I going to do? Old Blue can't talk. I've spent the $500. Dad's going to throw a fit."

"Dad," said the son, "Old Blue ain't with us no more. We were riding along, Old Blue sitting in that train seat, just a yapping. He was telling about the time you was out with that waitress from the cafe. I couldn't get him to shut up."

"Dad, I shot Old Blue." The old man muttered a few choice words, then looked at his son. "Did you kill him DEAD, son?"

Judge Williamson Elected President Of NE Texas Economic Development District

Red River County Judge L.D. Williamson was elected President of the Northeast Texas Economic Development District at a meeting of the EDA Board in Mt. Pleasant on August 31. Williamson succeeds Homer Tanner of Daingerfield, who has held the post for the past eight years.

"I am highly honored to have been chosen by my peers to chair the Economic Development District Board," says Williamson. "I hope I can make a useful contribution. Perhaps my election will alert local leaders to the possibility that EDA may be able to help create jobs in their constituencies."

The 19-county district exercises local responsibility for the activities of the Economic Development Administration, a federal agency with its Texas headquarters in Austin. EDA provides both grant and loan funds for projects aimed at stimulating employment.

In his unpaid position as President, Williamson is not expected to use his County businesses and government entities that may seek funds.

Bogata has never applied for an EDA grant or loan, but other cities in the area have done so. A classic example of EDA projects is the water tower in Annona.

Annona Manufacturing Corporation, which employs members of 57% was losing its fire insurance owing of the town's families, learned that it to the inadequate supply of water. Unless the situation could be remedied, the factory would have to move out. The City of Annona applied for and received an EDA grant of $208,500, matched by $91,200 ($25,000 from the City of Annona) in local funds and $22,800 in state funds. The city's 150,000 gallon storage tank was built, and 100 jobs were saved and 20 new ones created.

For EDA's grants to local government agencies, local sources supply twenty to fifty percent of project cost, depending on circumstances. Loans are also made directly to businesses needing capital to create jobs.

Athletic Booster Club Meets At Rivercrest

The Rebel-Rebelette Booster Club met Monday, September 26 in the Homemaking Room at Rivercrest High School.

The meeting was called to order by second vice-president, Tommy Simmons. The opening prayer was said by Bro. Castle, followed by the minutes being read by secretary, Zonetta Hawkins.

Before the meeting began, Simmons commented on the small amount of members present. He said he hoped this wasn't a sign of how the club was going to be in the future. He stated the boys still need support and everyone needs to attend the meetings to see how that support can be given.

The old news discussed were reports from the membership committee and the project committee. Judy Easley reported the club has 34 paid members as of September 26. Jelu Binion reported the Talco bake sale held last Friday brought in $106 in sales and donations. There was a misunderstanding in the date of the Bogata sale, so their report will be given next Monday after their sale on Friday, Sept. 30 at the Bogata Bank.

In new business, the club agreed to help Coach Giddens sell his excess supply of caps. The caps are grey with red "Rivercrest Booster" lettering and Rebel head on the front. The caps sell for $7.50 each and will be available through Coach Giddens, or inside the gate at the next two home games, September 30 and October 7.

Also discussed were the UIL rules and how they affect the booster club. Also some ideas on fund raising were discussed. The project committee was appointed to look into these and report on them at the next meeting.

The floor was turned over to Coach Giddens to discuss last Friday's game against Maud. He said he thought the boys were trying too hard the first half because of the loss to Mt. Vernon last week. The second half, the boys felt better and were more relaxed with the plays. He feels they will be in a better frame of mind for the next game against Winnsboro Friday night. Coach Giddens believes this week's game will be a toss-up, but it should be a good game. The coach stated, "I'm proud of the way the boys came back and played the way they did." On the injured list this week will be Chad Parish, who pulled a muscle and possibly pinched a nerve. Other than the usual bruises and twisted ankles, that's the extent of the injuries. Giddens ended his talk by saying he hoped the boys positive attitude carried on to the game Friday night.

The next meeting is Monday, October 3 at 7 p.m. in the homemaking room at Rivercrest. Remember the purpose of this club is to support all the boys and girls in all athletics on all three campuses. The club needs some junior high parents at the meetings so arrangements can be made for their support. The few that are showing up cannot do it all by themselves. The kids need support even more when they are losing. If support is shown, they might work harder to prove they can do better.
