REPORT FROM BOYS PIG CLUB

Excellent work that is being done by the Haskell County Boys Pig Club can readily be seen from the report, the first to be made, handed to us by J. W. Foster, president of the Pig Club work.

The pig club was the first to turn in his report after feeding days. The pig in question weighed 45 pounds on June 9th. I went over with him in his final report. The pig weighed 226 pounds. On the pig weighed 226 pounds, a total gain of 181 pounds in 100 days.

A number of Haskell County boys are enrolled in the Pig Club, and the endorsement of a number of men and banks over the reports will be published as they are setting forth the results of the members of the Pig Club.

POPULATION SHOWS HEAVY GAIN

There were 1,000 more convicts in the penitentiary Wednesday, May 10, when Governor Neff assumed office in January of 1921. On January 1st there were 2,500 state convicts against 3,500 May 24, fluctuating steadily increasing. The total was slightly over 4,000 some months ago.

In the month of April the net gain in convicts was 78 and thus the increase has been a net gain for the two months.

Governor Neff has received the prison report for the month of which shows that on April 1, there were 3,333 convicts on hand and 230, a total of 3,411.

There were 165 new convicts in the penitentiary, one returned after three months for violation of parole, eight escaped, six died, four were sent to the penitentiary and two furloughed.

In the month passed without the granting of pardons or paroles, his record of the fewest of pardons any governor has had.

Six who died during April, were from gunshot wounds, and three and pulmonary tuberculosis of the forces should not be in the Huntsville prison, in insane asylums, 2,800 on penal farms and 197 on state farms.

PIONEER CATTLEMAN DIES AT STAMFORD

Frank S. Hastings, 62, nationally known cattleman and author, died at his home at Stamford at 7:30 Monday morning following a very brief illness. Interment took place Wednesday at Leavenworth, Kansas, his home of Hastings.

The deceased is survived by his widow, one son, and daughter, Warren and Ruth, both of Stamford; two brothers, Edward, connected with a shipping board in New York, and Harry, in charge of Armour & Co. stockyards interests in Jersey City, and three sisters, Mrs. Kate Ferguson and Miss Alice Hastings, both of Kansas City, and Mrs. General Willis Scott of San Antonio, also survive.

Hastings, who was born at Leavenworth, Kas., June 19, 1859, was known throughout the United States as possibly the best versed man on livestock and ranch matters. He was educated at Notre Dame and the University of Michigan. He started in life as a clerk in a Chicago bank and later engaged in the stationery business in Kansas. From there he went to Denver, then a frontier town, and opened up a produce house. Sometime later he became identified with Armour & Co. and for about fifteen years was sales manager for the concern in the Pacific coast territory.

Employed by Armour

When Armour established a department for the importation of Hereford cattle from England, Hastings was put in charge. For several years he conducted large sales over the country for his big packing company.

Twenty years ago he was employed by the Swenson interests as manager of the big S. M. S. ranch, and headquarters were established in Stamford. He has been with this concern ever since.

His knowledge of the cattle business was extensive. He was always sought by the leading cattle journals of the country for his views on the cattle situation, and whenever he gave out forecasts they were always conservative and almost always fulfilled. Hastings was a great lover of West Texas. During the severe drought of 1918, when told that it would take West Texas ten years to "come back," Hastings electrified the cattle interests and country by saying that it would come back in ten days after a big rain. In the late fall of the year when rain came West Texas was hitting on all four within ten days.

Hastings had been years a member of the executive board of the Texas & Southern Cattle Raisers' Association. He was particularly active in this organization. He was also a Shriner and several years ago took great interest in Masonic affairs on the Pacific coast. He was also a member of the Episcopal church.

Wrote Many Stories

Some time ago "Recollections of a Ranchman," since considered a masterpiece of ranch and cattle life, came off the press and gained wide circulation. Hastings was its author. He also made himself famous by his "Old Grandpa" and "The Mage" stories. He was a regular contributor to the columns of many of the greatest cattle journals of the country. Some time ago he made a trip to Hawaii. He has written a series of articles which are to appear in the near future in the Breeder's Gazette. Hastings was a versatile writer. He wrote most of his stories with pen and tablet while traveling on trains and sitting about the camp fire.

Eric P. Swenson, head of the big Swenson interests and president of the National City Bank of New York, recently toured his properties over this section accompanied by Hastings. He was enroute home in New York when he was halted by a telegram at St. Louis announcing the death of Hastings. In his private car he will turn back to Leavenworth to attend the funeral.

The body which left Stamford Monday night was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Hastings and son, Warren; Clifford B. Jones of Spurr; A. J. Swenson and Mrs. P. M. Berthelot.—Fort Worth Record.

After the banquet the members and visitors retired to the hall, where the presentation of the Veteran's Jewel was made by Judge Jno. Lee Smith of Throckmorton, to F. L. Peavy of this city. REDISTRICTING BILL HAS BEEN ATTACKED

The constitutionality of the postponement provision in the senatorial redistricting bill was attacked in a transcript filed Saturday in the court of civil appeals by R. E. Huff and John C. Kay of Wichita Falls. The case is styled J. D. Parnell vs. P. B. Cox and if the contention advanced by Huff and Kay, attorneys for Parnell, prevails, state senators will be nominated this year under the terms of the senatorial redistricting bill passed by the thirty-seventh legislature, which gives West Texas three new senators and changes the lines of all the thirty-one senatorial districts in Texas.

The case was argued and motion to advance presented and granted. The case was taken under advisement.

240 FRYING SIZE CHICKS STOLEN AT SEYMOUR SUNDAY

A big haul of chickens was made Sunday at Seymour, according to advices Monday from Sheriff Seif of Baylor county, who advised the local police department that 240 frying size chickens had been stolen from a poultry farm near that city.

This is one of the largest chicken hauls reported in this section in some time, though a number of smaller hauls have been reported. It is thought to be the practice of the chicken thieves to peddle their loot from house to house in small quantities, to avoid risk of detection.

WILL CONSOLIDATE TWO SANDERS GINS

The two cotton gins owned by F. T. Sanders of this city, will be consolidated and operated under one roof in the future. Workmen have been busy for the past several weeks moving a part of the machinery of the old gin to the new gin, the building having been enlarged to take care of the additional machinery. The new gin when completed, will consist of eight stands, with a large oil engine for power, a steam engine being retained as auxiliary equipment in case of an emergency.

Mr. Sanders stated this week that when finished, this would be one of the most up-to-date cotton gins in this section. One side of the gin is to be used exclusively for ginning Mebane cotton seed, 2400 acres of which has been planted northwest of town by the Mebane Cotton Breeding Association of Lockhart, Texas.

It is expected to have the gin completed and ready for operation by the 1st of August, according to Mr. Sanders.

THE OLD DAYS

I WONDER if the Old Days came again,
As oftentimes we mortals pray they may,
We'd live them as we lived before,
For pain or joy, according to the special day?

For me the good that lay in olden days,
Lost in the hurry of the onward flight,
I still may find, I'm sure, in coming ways
That lie beyond the curtains of tonight.

And for their ill, the lessons that they taught
Will shield my path from many a lurking sorrow—
And if of Old Days my New Days be wrought
I'll find them born again in my Tomorrow.

YOUR HAND

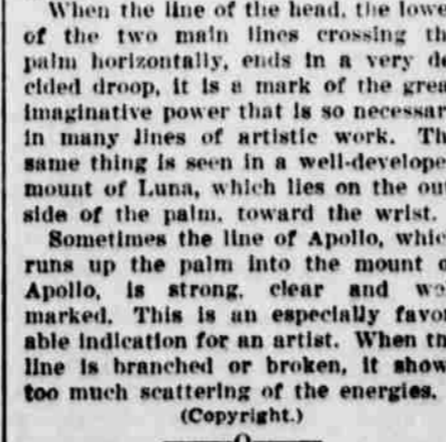

How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies — the Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

THE HAND OF AN ARTIST

IF THE person whose hand is under examination is to win great distinction in some field of artistic endeavor, and also, perhaps, riches in such life work, inspect carefully the mount of Apollo, at the base of the third or ring finger, for a star. If there is a plainly marked star there, it is a very favorable sign. Some authorities on chronomancy hold that the same distinction is conferred by a star on the mount of Jupiter, at the base of the index finger.

When the line of the head, the lower of the two main lines crossing the palm horizontally, ends in a very decided droop, it is a mark of the great imaginative power that is so necessary in many lines of artistic work. The same thing is seen in a well-developed mount of Luna, which lies on the outside of the palm, toward the wrist.

Sometimes the line of Apollo, which runs up the palm into the mount of Apollo, is strong, clear and well marked. This is an especially favorable indication for an artist. When the line is branched or broken, it shows too much scattering of the energies.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispeel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

No Preacher Shortage.

Stevens county has a small but rather remarkable colored settlement. It was founded in the early '30s. Nearly every family lives in its own home-stand. Their crops of maize, broom-corn and watermelons never fail in this favored district. Many of them are in independent circumstances.

"How many families have you in the settlement, uncle?" we asked a venerable old member of the race.

"Why nephew," he replied, "there are summas about sixty."

"You must have a hard time getting preachers," we again ventured, having in mind the racial love of religious exercise.

"Deed we has, sah. There is only about twenty preachers regular."—Hugoton Hermes.

Was World's Champion Eater.

Bela Vezenyi, Budapest banker, has rendered his soul to his Maker. He was in a class by himself. In the first place, he was wealthy—since the war—and in Budapest, a vulgarity; in the second place he weighed more than four hundred pounds; in the third place he was the greatest eater in the world.

Every morning M. Vezenyi devoured twenty-four sausages and eight pounds of pate de foie gras for breakfast. At noon he engulfed three huge loaves of bread and six pounds of ham. In the evening—well, never mind!

Probably, like the worthy caterer in "Grillon du Foyer," he declared: "I eat little, but I eat what I do with a fine appetite."

Disgraceful.

An Irishman on a short visit to London for the first time happened to pass by the houses of parliament. He cast an interested eye at Big Ben and, after a little consideration, accordingly adjusted his watch by it.

The next day he happened to pass by again and pulled out his watch to see if it was correct. He looked very bewildered when he found that his timepiece had gained five minutes.

With a final glance, full of contempt and scorn at the towering Big Ben, he turned away, muttering to himself: "Arrah, ye great big spalpeen! Fancy lettin a little watch beat ye!"

Toledo Cradles Goldfish.

Toledo, Ohio, boasts of the largest goldfish hatchery in the world. Last year the firm controlling the hatchery shipped twenty-five carloads of goldfish and twenty carloads of fish globes.

Cedric Sander, of this city, a student at State University during the past term, returned Saturday for a few days visit with his parents. He will leave this week for Dallas, where he has accepted a position.

Now that the Valentino case has been disposed of, what are the movie people going to do next to appease the jaded palate of scandal?

A fascinating woman is one who is just brilliant enough to see the point of all a man's jokes and just feeble-minded enough to think them all ex-cruciatingly funny.

That Morse-Daugherty muss only serves to convince most people that Daugherty is in the Harding cabinet only out of gratitude for his political efforts in behalf of the chief executive.

A Kansas City nurse shot her lover when he told her that she was only one of fifty women that he loved. The fact that he had her down last on his list was probably the real motive back of her act.

A British psychoanalyst declares that the world needs monkey love to set it straight. Whatever kind of love it is we have, it must be admitted that it makes monkeys out of us at times.

Mark Hanna's opinion of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge as told by H. H. Kohlsaat in the Saturday Evening Post merely confirms the opinion many people gained of him in his fight on the Versailles peace treaty.

This is the season when a lot of college men start out into the world to find that the world is not waiting for them with outstretched arms as they had supposed, but expects them to find their own niche and take the full course in the University of Hard Knocks, which finally graduates us into the great beyond.

RULERS IN EXILE

Trouble-Making Monarchs Who Were "Set Down."

Case of the Late Emperor of Austria and That of the Great Napoleon Similar.

Banishment of trouble-making former monarchs to islands of the sea far from their one-time dominions is an uncommon procedure, but precedent for the plight of former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, who was recently exiled to Madeira, is found in the banishment of Napoleon I. who passed six years on St. Helena in the South Atlantic, 700 miles from the nearest land, a prisoner, more than a century ago.

St. Helena is not only much smaller than Madeira, but compared to the latter, is as "a devil's island" to paradise. Five-sixths of its area is devoid of vegetation and, aside from an army garrison, there are no big towns or other evidences of life.

Madiera, five times the size of St. Helena, is an ocean garden spot. Funchal, its chief city, has a population of more than 20,000, and the island, one of a group of four owned by Portugal, produces some of the most famous wine and laces in the world, as well as an abundance of fruits, grains and sugar. Oxen are mainly used for agriculture, instead of draft horses, and other farming methods are primitive. Less than 2 per cent of the people can read and write.

The Portuguese military garrison is very small, and Charles, Zita and their six small children had every freedom except that of an unchaperoned ocean voyage. Napoleon was guarded day and night by soldiers.

Madiera, the Portuguese word for "forest," is directly in the Atlantic ocean trade routes. St. Helena, a British naval coaling station, often doesn't see a ship for days. Madiera is a port of call and thus is kept in daily touch with the outside world. The island, 400 miles west of Morocco, has a temperate climate. It is 12 miles wide and 35 miles long and elliptical in shape. Three other islands nearby complete the Madeira group. They are Porto Santos, which, with Madiera, has a population of 170,000, and the Desertas and Selvagens, two smaller islands of volcanic origin. The latter are uninhabited rock formations jutting out of the sea.

Napoleon's banishment in 1814 was no less bitter than Charles'. The former Emperor Josephine had died and his living consort, Marie Louise, with her son, the little prince of Rome, had gone from Fontainebleau to Vienna following the emperor's abdication. Meanwhile the Allied powers had ceded to Napoleon the island of Elba in the Mediterranean and there as a "sovereign" he might have passed the rest of his life in peace and tranquility. Eleven months of retirement, however, sufficed to spur him to escape and new adventures.

He had been brought to Elba against the British wishes. "Napoleon will spend 20 days on the island," the British government had agreed. But Napoleon, who had been exiled to St. Helena, escaped and fled to the island of St. Helena, where he was captured by British troops and taken to St. Helena.

The former emperor threw himself upon the mercy of the British, falling in an effort to flee to the United States. He made overtures to Captain Maitland of the warship Bellerophon, to seek him on Plymouth, England, but Maitland, in a friendly disposition at his case by the Allied powers, it was finally decided to send him to St. Helena and there, guarded by a strong British force, he landed on October 17, 1815.

For six years he lived in practical solitude, writing his memoirs and composing on military campaigns and political affairs, dying on May 5, 1821, of a cancer which had been aggravated by deep periods of hatred and depression. The British General Wilkes, the first governor of St. Helena, proved too lenient with Napoleon and "too amenable to his influence," and, as a result, was displaced some years before the Czar's death, by Sir Hudson Lowe.

Will Keep Faithful Pup.

Two years ago an English (N. H.) man presented by Sweet of Franklin with a hound, telling him that when he got sick of the pup to ship him back to England. Mr. Sweet moved recently to a flat where dogs were unwelcome, so he boxed up the hound and sent him to England by express. The next morning the sweets were awakened by a howling in the front yard, and there was the hound, tired, wet and hungry after his 50-mile jog, but evidently happy. Sweet has decided to move again and keep the dog.—Boston Globe.

Wasps Aid Sugar Planters.

Though wasps are a pest to grape producers in this country, they are a boon to the sugar planters in Hawaii. The planters have instructed their traveling agents to make large shipments of wasps to the island because the insects are necessary to fertilize the banyan trees, which in turn are of service in protecting the water-sheds that supply the sugar plantations.—Youth's Companion.

Rule Ladies Entertain T. E. L. Class

On last Friday afternoon, fourteen ladies of the T. E. L. Class of the Haskell Baptist Sunday School motored over to Rule where a lovely party was given in their honor by the T. E. L. Class of the Rule Baptist Sunday School.

The home of Mrs. Rayford Hill was decorated in a most artistic manner with pot plants of green, and vases of white roses, following the color scheme of green and white which was so beautifully carried out.

Delicious punch was served to each guest as she entered. After a short while spent in merry conversation Mrs. Howze sang a most beautiful solo, after Mrs. Reddel in a short address gave us a most hearty welcome. The response was given by Mrs. Wilmont Daugherty of Haskell. In a Bible contest, Mrs. Daugherty was presented a volume of George W. McDonald's work.

We then entered a short contest in which our members were tested as to whom were the prominent Baptists of the Southern Convention.

Delicious refreshments of angel food cake and punch were served, with favors of white roses were given.

Those from Haskell enjoying the hospitality of the Rule class were Messdames Cook Ed Fouts, Chas. Fouts, Elaine, Abbie Reynolds, Ann Bailey, G. R. Norman, J. A. Gilstrap, Watson, K. D. Simmons, B. M. Whitaker, Wilk, Kelpatrick, and Wilmont Daugherty.

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Morrison of Albuquerque, New Mexico, of the birth of a daughter. The mother was formerly Miss Mary Waldhall of this city.

The Baptist W. M. S.

The Baptist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon with a good attendance. The subject for the afternoon was "Stewardship." Mrs. B. M. Whitaker was leader of the program and Patrick R. C. Couch and Will Kirk-land gave most interesting discourses on different phases of the subject. In these the thought was very forcefully brought out that we are not only to tithe our money, but our time and talents as well.

After the program a short business session was held. It was decided that during the months of July and August we would meet at the homes of the members.

On next Monday we have our Bible lesson. The leader Mrs. Couch insists that each woman study the book of Acts before our next meeting.

G. W. Basse of the Ward community was in the city Wednesday on business.

T. G. Carney and wife of O'Brien, were in the city the first of the week on business.

VAGARIES OF VACUUM TUBES

Peculiar Actions That Always Astonish and Sometimes Frighten the Amateur Radioist.

Everybody who has had anything to do with vacuum tubes has from time to time had them do unexpected things and give results that at the moment seem beyond explanation.

The explanation of several characteristics of these miniature giants which are met with in daily operation is sure to prove of great interest to the amateur. In cases where the actions of the tube are not understood these peculiarities have sometimes frightened people.

One instance of a newborn fan's fright was brought to attention in a letter of inquiry. The instrument had just been set up and was being operated for the first time. The tubes had been firmly adjusted and were just at the spilling point and—over they went, giving vent to the most unearthly sounds. The embryo enthusiast who looked upon the audion tube as an electric light, thought it was going to explode. He jumped away from the instrument and out of the room, and did not venture near it for several hours and then only after reaching round the corner of the floor with a long stick and pulling the battery switch off.

Similar instances have come to attention when bulbs generate varicolored vapors in the vacuum chamber.

Moonskinners Using Radio.

Some officers serving distillers of the far-famed and lawbreaking "white lightning" in the mountains of Kentucky say that many raids made in the last few months have proven unsuccessful due to the adoption of radio-phones as a means of communication among the moonskinners.

TIPS TO THE RADIOIST

Fixed 22 caliber rifle shells make good switch points for tuning coils and receiving transformers.

A single wire aerial 100 to 150 feet long is sufficient for local and long distance reception of broadcasting stations.

Do not string aerials across the street or across electric wires. Keep antenna wires off electric light and telephone poles.

Stranded copper or solid copper wire should be used. Phosphor bronze wire if obtainable is stronger but not superior to copper.

Good contact with a piece of mineral like galena can be had by wrapping it in tinfoil. Of course, the top of the crystal is left exposed.

The brass ends of large cartridge shells make splendid crystal detector cups. They should be cleaned out thoroughly before they are used.

The winding of cardboard tubes from oatmeal boxes may be improved greatly if the tube is first heated in an oven for about 15 minutes to take out the moisture and then wound; or better still shelling it while it is still warm and leave it to speak in.

In winding tuning coils with bare wire a thread should be wound on with the wire. This will separate each turn. When the coil is finished the thread can be taken off. Shellac should be applied immediately. When the shellac is dry the copper wire will hold its place.

Harmony Club Presents William Parker and Miss Marylee Pinkerton in Musical

Music lovers of Haskell were indeed fortunate in having the opportunity of hearing Mr. William Parker of Fort Worth and Miss Marylee Pinkerton of Haskell in a musical at the First Christian church on Monday evening, June 5th, at the final concert of the Harmony Club.

Mr. Parker is a brother of Mrs. Hardy Grissom of this city. He is only 15 years old, but already he is winning honors as a violinist. He was given an ovation and encores again and again.

Miss Pinkerton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pinkerton of Haskell. All Haskell is proud to claim Miss Pinkerton as our own. Miss Pinkerton is quite young but has already begun to make a name for herself.

The Harmony Club was indeed fortunate in being able to present to the people of Haskell such talented artists and we predict for them a great future.

Mrs. Hardy Grissom acted as accompanist. Mrs. Grissom needed no introduction to the music lovers of Haskell and here again we are proud to claim her as one of our citizens.

Sunday School Class Entertained

Recently there has been a contest going on between the Blues and the Greens of the Methodist Sunday school of the Glenmor Class. The Blues lost so they entertained the Greens and their friends at the home of Mrs. J. M. Gose, last Friday night.

Many interesting and amusing games were played all during the evening. Louise Kalgler furnished music throughout the evening. Lena Ethel Hill gave a toast to Mrs. Gose, the class and the Blues, which was responded to by Mary Kimbrough. Then a mock course was served which consisted of a cheese sandwich and a slice of onion. The guests were required to eat this before anything else would be given them. After everyone forced this down as best they could they were invited into the dining room, which was prettily decorated in black and gold, the class colors, where refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Those enjoying the delightful evening were: Virginia Gilbert, Elton Gordon, Madlee Watson, Edith Jones, Louise Kalgler, Johnnie Morgan, Mary Kimbrough, Willie Cowart, Corine Stewart, Clara Whitlock, Lorene Morgan, Mattie Payne, Emma Lee Martin, Ruby Herrin, Lena Ethel Hill, Faye Green of Fort Worth, Mary Nell Wilson, Mae Kinross, Mattie Letha Pippin, Ewing Reynolds, Ora Pippin, Otha Cass, Roy Watson, Walter Glenn and Jewell Edwards.

Don't let that miserable tired feeling become a habit. Get rid of it today by taking Tania. It is sold in Haskell at Reid's Drug Store and everywhere by all leading druggists.

Crystal Detector Easy to Construct

One Condenser and Resistor Can Better Be Purchased—Mounting the Set.

Material needed to construct a crystal detector is as follows: 1. A piece of silicon or galena molded in a button, 25 cents.

2. Binding posts, 20 cents.

3. A piece of shellacked or stained wood, 3 1/2 inches.

4. A strip of sheet copper or brass, 1/2 inches wide by two inches long.

5. Two binding posts on the wood as shown, fastening with a strip of copper.

6. A screw and under the binding post a coiled up spring of brass or copper wire.

7. The bottom of metal con-

ments, the tuner, the crystal detector and the telephone condenser, can be mounted on a stabled base of wood, say, eight inches square and one-half inch thick. This will keep the component parts of the set together, making a compact unit of the whole and also be advantageous in that it will hold the instruments while adjustments are being made.

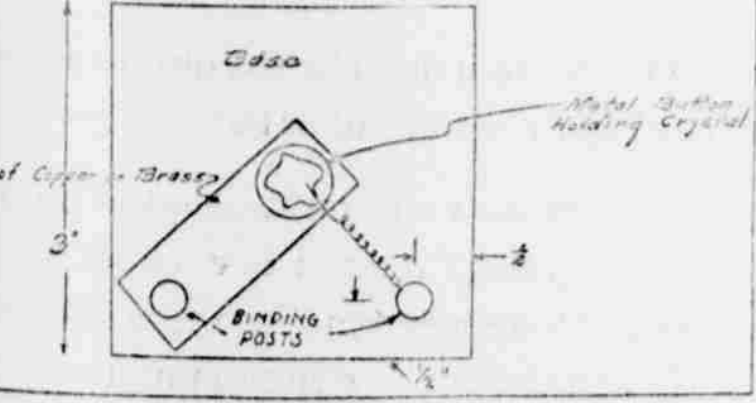

The sketch shows how the instruments are connected with each other and to the ground. The condenser is connected to one side of the tuner and to the crystal detector. The ground is connected to the other side of the phones and the condenser and the tuner.

Lamp cord is excellent for connecting up small radio sets of this kind—it being a good conductor, well insulated and easy to handle.

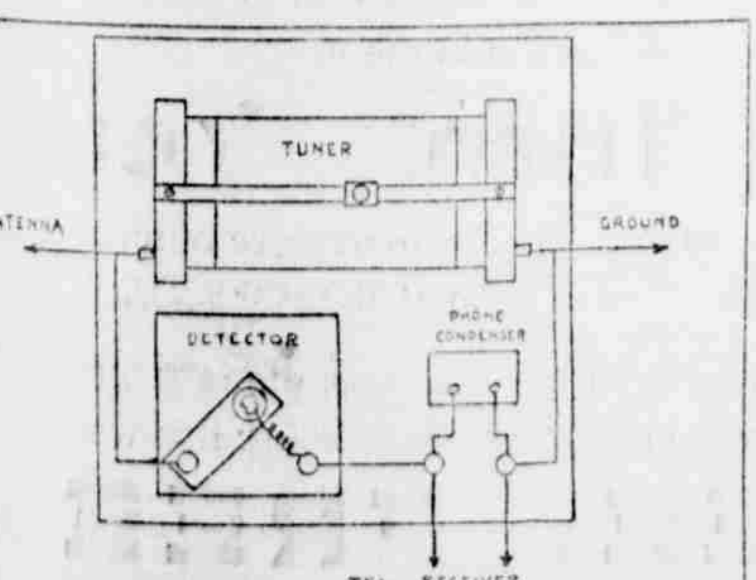

HOW TO LISTEN IN

There are two variables in our radio receiver that require adjustment when it is desired to listen-in; first, the detector, and second, the slide position on the tuner. Once the slider position has been determined for any given transmitting station, it is only necessary to adjust the detector to pick up that same station again.

To operate the receiver for the first time it is best to wait until some station like KDKA is transmitting between 8:00 and 9:00 p. m. Then ad-

The Crystal Detector.

Set Mounted on Base, With Connections Shown.

Just the crystal of silicon or galena, a strip of metal and allowing the spring to make contact with the top of the crystal the detector is now ready for operation.

A complete crystal detector can be purchased from 75 cents to $2, depending upon the type.

Other pieces of apparatus are necessary that cannot be readily connected—they are the telephone condenser and the receiver. A telephone condenser to be used in slant across the phones can be purchased for about 50 cents.

For use with a radio receiver of the type it is recommended that a set of 3,000-ohm, Murdoch type, No. 1 receivers, costing $6, be purchased. These are all the necessary parts for the complete receiver.

After a station is once picked up it is an easy matter to adjust the detector and slider position until maximum response is obtained in the telephone receiver. With a simple set of the kind described in this and preceding articles and a little practice one soon becomes adept at picking up a given station. The entertainment derived from listening-in is usually well worth the time spent and the money invested.

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER

EXERCISING THE WILL

NOTHING is more fatal to growth of will than that form of indolence which shrinks from trial and experiment.

The person who is confronted by a new perplexity, loses his or her self-reliance and in despair cries, "what shall I do?" is not destined to go very far ahead in the creation of song or story or in the crafts.

He must, like boats, keep near the shore and be ever ready to sail into the harbor.

All the achievements in the arts and sciences result from exercising an individual will and strengthening it in difficult situations.

The practice of doing things habitually, as a bookkeeper adds a column of figures or a typist rattles off a routine letter, increases speed and contributes a certain quality of efficiency, but it does not by any manner of means improve the volitional power. No new or original force is brought into play.

The mind functions from habit without any strain, unconscious of exertion. Mere habit is the impelling power which if persisted in for a long time weakens the will and eventually retards progress and originality.

The men and women who rise to the heights are those who every day exercise their will-power in new spheres. In their self-appointed occupations they call up their reserve strength, whip their brains to a faster gait and discipline their resolution.

They think and act for themselves, master their own problems by perseverance and mount step by step to places where rewards are largest and honors are unobtainable.

They early learned how to depend on themselves by reasoning and using their judgment. They dug down to basic principles and discovered the "whys and wherefores."

Then followed a robustness and an ability of mind which developed will-power of the highest order.

And this high-powered will is available to all who will drill themselves to hard work and avoid slothful habits.

This special exercise of the intellect which is necessary to expand the will may be irksome at first, but if persisted in it becomes in a little while exhilarating and carries us forward at a wonderful pace without wearying in the least.

If you would test this to your own satisfaction and advantage, try it for a month and note at the end of that time how you have improved in mentality and self-reliance.

The Friendly Path
By Walter I. Robinson

THE WILD FLOWERS

SAVE the wild flowers. Slowly, but surely, many of the most beautiful species of blooms are disappearing. Constantly those who love them carelessly pull them up by the roots, or the uncaring destroy them with little less than criminal intent. Virtually nothing is being done to give them lengthened lives.

Yet there are thousands who find some of the greatest pleasure in tramping through the woods and fields and viewing the fragrant beauties in their native haunts. God was kind in giving us so many varieties to enhance the landscape and make the world more beautiful. And those who love the wildflowers would be remiss in their duty to themselves and their fellows if they did not use every possible influence to have the floral species preserved.

Some may contend that nothing of material value is to be gained by exertions designed to prevent the flowers from being wiped out. They are wrong. Aside from the purely esthetic side of such work, it is of great importance to the education of the children who come after us. But of still greater importance is the influence the flowers will have on the lives of the people.

No one can look upon things which are beautiful without feeling more happy, or without a higher appreciation of God's greatness and recognizing that man is small. No one can spend part of his time admiring the flowers and breathing their fragrance without experiencing a thrill of enjoyment or without thinking better thoughts and feeling a desire to make his own work more nearly perfect. We, therefore, should be more thankful for the millions of blossoms so frequently trampled underfoot, and there should be greater effort to keep them blooming along all pathways.

A movement to preserve the species of wildflowers is taking practical form in one of the big cities of the United States. Through the influence of nature lovers, park officials have set aside a part of one of the public parks for a wildflower preserve.

Every community would assure greater happiness for its people by protecting these beautiful works of God.

Mrs. Hunt Entertains Missionary Society

Mrs. Courtney Hunt was hostess to the Missionary Society of the Christian church, Monday, June 12th. Quite a large per cent of the members were present, which was an inspiration to the officers, who are planning to carry on the work on a much larger scale than has been done before.

This being the day for the election of officers, the following were unanimously re-elected: Mrs. Courtney Hunt, president; Mrs. W. W. Fields, vice-president; Miss Dulin Fields, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Treasurer reported, apportionment paid with some money left over. It was decided to use this in our local work.

The society failed to reach the honor roll, for not having placed enough "World Chills" in the homes, also failed to have required number of new members. This was a keen disappointment to our president.

Mrs. Mauldin directed one of the very best lessons we have had in some time. "The home base," was the topic.

The Bible lesson was of especial interest, "The Unseen Faith," this was very impressively given by the director, Agnes Fields sang a beautiful solo, accompanied by her mother. This was appreciated, coming from one of our Junior girls who is always willing to help.

"Developing the Membership" was given by Mrs. H. S. Post. Mrs. Cummins brought out some splendid truths in her talk on "Evangelizing in the Home Church."

"Training for Church," was very forcibly given by Miss May Fields, the realization that we are doing very little along this line was brought home to us.

"A Call to Heroism," was Mrs. Elkins subject, treated in her usual efficient way. Mrs. Geo. Fields had the music in charge, which carried out the topic still further.

After the Missionary benediction the hostess invited all to stay for a social hour and incidentally to inspect her

There was just one regret expressed, and that was, that all the women of the church were not there to enjoy it. ORIGIN OF SAM HILL OF THE TEXAS PRESS

(By Sam C. Hoyle in Bryan Daily Eagle.)

The continued reference to Sam Hill and the insinuation that he is a member of the "Sam Club of the Texas Press Association," also the motion "regulating the smell of pipes rather than a motion regulating the length of skirts" and especially the emphatic question by Editor Lee J. Rountree, "Who is Sam Hill?" have so harried my feelings that I have been caused to feel that I am doing the Sam Club an injustice by withholding certain information concerning Sam Hill. Back in the good old days of prolific families in the East Tennessee mountains, as well as strong pipes, long skirts, and maiden modesty, a male child was born. Owing to the fact that his grandfather was called Samuel and the further fact that he had two uncles Sams and was thought wise and proper by both sides of the house to settle a long dispute by giving him the common family as well as community appellation. In fact the children were too prolific and the citizens too busy keeping the wolf from the door during these days of reconstruction to give much thought to new appellations with the result that most male children were called Sam. Bill, Tom, Jim, John, Joe, Phil and Bob with an occasional Frank or Hugh. The majority, however, ever seemed to have caught the popular Sam.

Now there are three distinct stages in the mountain Sam family. First—the baby stage of Sammie, the day of pet names, nursing, cajoling, pampering and watchful care and last but not least, dresses. Second—That manly stage when Sam stepped out into society in trousers and had budding aspirations for galluses and high topped boots, and would not take a dare. In fact Sam was synonymous with manhood. Third—patriarchal, revered and honored stage of grandfatherhood, when friends and relatives reverently spoke of the departed or aged living Samuel.

In most cases, the donning of trousers resulted in friends and playmates gradually falling into the abbreviated Sam but mother's insatiable desire for curls and clean waists prevented such good fortune in my case. It soon became known that to call me Sammie would provoke a fight, and school days brought the climax. Then bedlam broke loose in my young life and a miniature Spanish inquisition set in. For some time I averaged three whippings each day, one by my tormentor, one by the teacher and one at home for soiling my clothes and fighting. This seemed unfair to my big cousin Bill Smith, who suggested that we find a quiet place to pull off these fights after school, which was heartily seconded by every big boy in school. It would at least have the virtue of saving a whipping by the teacher. Accordingly they selected an ideal place on the top of a hill about a mile away from the main road. The hill was so steep that the moolest girls would not dare to climb to the top least their breath come in short pants; neither would they dare to gaze toward the top least some inquisitive male catch a glimpse of their naked eye. Thus our sisters were prevented following and spring on us. The frequency of these battles soon resulted in the place being called Sam Hill by the knowing ones. However, the older boys were having too good a time to give the secret away and the small boys were in terror of the wrath of the large boys, consequently Sam Hill became a mystery. When taunted to the point of desperation by some grinning urchin I would deliver the challenge, "I will see you at Sam Hill." Eavesdropping sisters misconstrued this to be "I will see you and Sam Hill." In this manner bruised faces and torn clothes soon became associated with a mean mountain boy who lay in wait and beat up the innocent victim when returning from school. The boys soon caught the idea and let it ride as it saved many useless explanations and painful whippings.

For some time the fights were one-sided. My opponent made a rush, twined his fingers in my hair and swung me around at ease while I clawed at his face and hands scratched him and tore his clothes as I could not stand on my feet long enough to land a good blow. Then again my big cousin Bill came to my rescue. He announced that he would get the scissors and cut my curls himself next evening so as to give me a fair show. This so delighted me that I invited a bunch of my chief tormentors in one evening to meet me at Sam Hill.

The small boys were easy victims to my insane attacks in search of revenge. I was now a man and had no

MEN BUY WHITE SHELLD CORN THINKING IT WAS DRINK

The story is going the rounds that some time ago a certain person who does not reside in Brownwood, having made his preparation to move to a distant part of the country, decided to raise a small sum of money and at the same time have some fun, which proved quite costly to the persons who bit at the game. Late in the evening he told two of three fellows that he had three bottles of white corn that had never been touched and they might have it for $10 per quart. It is said they got the money and offered it to him a considerable time before train time, but he wouldn't take it until just as the train rolled in when he turned the three bottles over wrapped up nicely with admonition to not look into it until they were in some secluded place. The secluded place was soon found of course, and when the paper was taken from around the bottles they were found filled with "white corn" recently shelled from the cob. In the meantime the train had gone. The fellow had told them he had white corn to sell and that is what he sold and the report is that they were so badly taken in that they made up their minds to say nothing about it, which they didn't and that is the reason it hasn't become known.—Brownwood Bulletin.
