Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols Remember my hamster story? The one about how my friend's hamster escaped, and I brought them a replacement hamster that gave me all kinds of trouble. Then, a few days later, how the first hamster showed up again?

WellIII...let me continue this

You see, the hamster that I got was supposed to be of the same gender as the first one. It wasn't. Now, I didn't check it, the girl at he store did.

My friends are convinced that I did this on purpose. Nothing I can say or do seems to convince them I did NOT inflict hamsters of different genders upon their lives.

They found out that their hamsters weren't both females the hard way. That's when one of them had eight (count 'em if you can) ba-

Eight. Eight tiny, pink seethrough little hamsters.

Being sensible souls they decided to make the best of a bad bargain and turn this in to a learning experience for their son.

They studied all about little hamsters.

That's when I received the phone call. The excited phone call. The phone call threatening to give me all the baby hamsters. The phone call threatening me with a slow death by torture. The phone call that accussed me of being the cause of all this.

I tried to point out to them that I only did as instructed. That I was guiltless in this whole matter.

It seems that from the day they are born it takes only 4 weeks before baby hamsters become adults. Adults as in "begin to reproduce".

Well, I laughed at them. I couldn't help it. I know it was rude, but it was also hilariously funny.

How good is your math? Try figuering out just how many little hamsters eight can have! Um huh, pretty amazing numbers aren't they?

Well, the weeks have simply flown by. Those tiny pink hamsters have gone from thumb sized minatures of their parents to almost as big as their parents.

This Thursday (today) is "H" day. All the hamsters have to go. They are pretty sure that a pet store is going to take them. But if not, what ever are they going to do? The threat still stands..they are going to leave them at my house. I keep pointing out that I have nine cats..so that isn't going to work unless they want them to be cat bait. They know I won't do that. So, for now, in between chuckling over this situation, I'm saying a tiny little prayer that the pet store will take them. In fact, I may even call and tell them I'll PAY them something if they'll take em.

I DON'T want hamsters. Not any. Not even one.

Oh, my, I do hope this is the last chapter in the hamster saga!

Before you climb a ladder, look above you to make sure that there aren't power lines nearby. If your ladder could come into contact with a power line, place it in another location. Most ladders conduct electricity, so you could be shocked just by holding a ladder that touches a power line.

For more information on power line safety, call or visit your local TNP office today.

Cuthand News

By Linda Eilers

Don't forget the community garage sale June 2 at 9 a.m.a t the Assembly of God gymnasium.

Red River County is located in an area of relatively high rainfall, about 45" per year, but in late summer and fall, especially in dry years, the lack of water became a problem. Shallow wells were not productive and usually went dry during a drought. There was a well about a mile south of Cuthand that was an exception and produced an abundance of water. During dry weather, people would get drinking water from this well in barrels. In extremely dry times, water would be hauled in tank wagons to make steam at the gins.

Linda and Cami Eilers were in Clarksville Friday and Saturday to attend the youth rally held at the fairgrounds. Steve Hardin, an evangelist from Dallas, was guest speaker. Cuthand has four graduates this year, graduating from the eighth grade are Kelly Sheffield and Amanda Durock; from Rivercrest are Ronald Moore and Royce Williams.

Elaine Baird and Elvis Wooten visited Mary Ellen Kain Thursday. Mary Ellen is still recovering from a broken arm.

News is short this week. Call Linda a barbeque dinner at the First Baptist Eilers with your news at 632-4530.

Each year the youth sponsors three countries, this year they were Zambia, Ghana and Nigeria. The monies collected will be used to build a medical mission in each country.

The Youth Group exceeded the goal by $44, for the championship level. Those participating were Amy and Felecia Lemonds, Brad and Jerry McClour, Angie Whitley, Dana Green and Ethel Elrod.

The support team was Vaughn Whitley and Joe Green.

Several local businesses donated monies that amounted to over onehalf of the amount received. Those businesses donating were: Mimi's Boutique, Rexall Drug Store, Bogie's Cafe, Bell's Beauty Shop, Bogata Barber Shop, Belva's Beauty Boutique, Burress Foods, Hayes Garage, Glass Auto Parts, Red River Haven Nursing Home, Tip-Top Drive In, Armadillo Kwik Korner and Quickie

This event is just one of several things they do throughout the year to earn money for world missions.

Giles starts next school year as a sophomore and is really looking forward to his first full year here. "You don't know how a school functions until you have been there for a full year," says Giles.
Giles lists his interests as music, gic, animals and computers--not cessarily in that order! He plays the clarinet, saxophone, guitar and keyboard as well as composing many of his own tunes. Much of his expericomputer using sound cards. His computer is a 386 with VGA monitor and he is working with some new paint software which enables him to produce exciting output on the color printer. Giles has been using computers since he was three years old and in California, he worked every summer training customers how to use computers and software.

"Animals are neat," says Giles, who has a dog, four cats, a chinchilla, a horse and donkey, as well as a bunch of ducks and a baby turtle he rescued from the pool. "I had hoped Giles Christie came to Red River mentation in music is done on his to train at least one of the ducks for my magic act, but they had other ideas," says Giles. "Have you ever tried stuffing a live, uncooperative duck into a metal container? It turned the magic act into a comedy routine!"

Giles thinks Johntown is "cool". "I have a friend, Gene, a few houses away who is helping me design a new chinchilla cage--everyone is really helpful here--I love it."

Giles has a busy summer ahead of him, but if anyone wants to visit, give a call on 632-4045, "if I'm here, you're welcome."
