Nichols Worth By Nanalee Nichols

Ed Bryson dropped us a note the other day, recalling his very first airplane ride.

The column on the Steerman ride sparked his memory, and he wrote that in about 1928 two barnstormers lit in the Westbrook meadow north of Deport and scared the pants off adventurers. Apparently there were two pre-requisites to taking a ride, courage and two dollars.

Ed recalls them cranking the hand-propped machines. He and Doris Shelton paired up for the ride, and Ed claims that Shelton was "such a fool for dives and turnovers that I threatened to choke him if we ever landed".

Ed Brson apparently was not terribly impressed with flight at that time!

Which put MY mind into gear. Just why is it that some people like to do one thing while another person loves to do something else?

Why is it that two country boys like Ed Bryson and Doris Shelton, both raised pretty much the same way, and with exactly the same amount of air time (absolutely none) would find one of them loved aerobatics while the other hated them?

As an example. I feel whole on the water the minute I indulge in my favorite hobby of white water rafting every wound in my soul heals.

Yet others absolutely hate it. Many people find soul-healing through fishing...others through gardening, while others can play baseball all year long, losing themselves in the dust, the heat and the pleasurable sound of the bat cracking against the ball.

Hobbies abound in this world, some as simple as needlecraft, others as complex as restoring antique cars or searching world wide for antiques.

Watermelons, Watermelons ... Far As The Eye Can See.. That's The View At Rosalie!

By Wanda Fancher

Watermelons, watermelons, as far as the eye can see! That's the sight down near Rosalie on "Froggy" Rhodes' farm!

Where most people are content to grow a very few of the green-outsidered-inside melons, Froggy grows and markets them in a big way.

Froggy, whose real name is Lynn Ross Rhodes, came home to the Bogata area four years ago from Oklahoma, where he had been managing a cotton gin.

He found no work readily available, but decided the sandy soil would lend itself to watermelons and planted about three acres. The first year he produced about 4,600 melons on that three acres! They did so well that he decided to plant additional acres. Now it's a full time occupation.

Rhodes says he has always wanted to grow watermelons, and puts his skill and success at growing them down to a green thumb and growing up on a farm. He markets the melons to six different Brookshires Food Stores, and also to eleven other stores. It's truly big business!

The large melons are hand picked at the proper ripeness by Rhodes, his wife Rosie, and niece Sandra Woodall.

Hand picking them is quite achore in the summer sun, of course. "I just couldn't do this without their help" he states. The area must lend itself to watermelons, for the Rhodes' neighbor, Steve Stevens, has about 200 acres of them.

Froggy, when asked where his nickname came from, tells quite a tale. He explains that back in the early 1940's President Roosevelt had had all the cows killed and all the pigs had cholera. His family, he says, ate an awful lot of frog legs.

"When I started to school," he says "I hopped to school like a frog, and when I got to school I squatted like a frog...and when my teacher, Mrs. Mabel Hale asked me a question, I replied 'ribbitt'"!

He claims Mrs. Hale will verify this story. It's hard to decide whether that's a twinkle in his eye or not when he spins his story!

This is the busy time of the year for the Rhodes as load after load of quality watermelons, filled with juicy red meat, ship out for various stores and Froggy and his family love it!

It's a unique way to make a living,

While some people love to run, or cycle or pursue some strenuous form of exercise, declaring it clears their minds, others cringe at the mere thought and find that losing themselves in a book accomplishes the same thing.

There never seems to be any explaining this phenomenon. People in the same family may enjoy totally different pursuits.

So far. I've never been able to learn to like fishing, even though I've had every opportunity to...with relatives that took me and were sweet and patient. My cousin, on the other hand, adores it, and had virtually the same influence that I did!

Speculation on this leads me to believe that it is just born into us. There is nothing that can be done...what we like to relax and do can't be taught, and we can't just decided that we are going to learn to enjoy this no matter what.

No, the things that satisfy our souls simply happen...and we might as well accept the fact. And, most importantly, learn to do them as often as we can ... and enjoy doing them. They help us stay happy and helathy ... and it doesn't matter what pursuit we choose..the key is just pursuing!

Rebels Hoping For Good Football Season

Though predictors say that the Rivercrest Rebels' 1990 football team will finish in the middle of the pack in ratings, the Rebels are hoping to turn those predictions into little more than hot air.

With new coach Tommy Joe Green, who brings 25 years of coaching experience to Rivercrest, the youths are ready to put up a fight for the District 17-2A title.

It won't be an easy job, but Coach Green feels the young team has the attitude and desire to win.

And "young" is the key word for the Rivercrest team. There will be five seniors and nine freshmen players. The freshmen players will need guidance from the experienced players, and Coach Green says they look to returning senior, Russell Ward, for leadership.

In their first scrimmage of the year last Friday night, the Rebels failed to score against a tough Fannindel team. There were few bright spots to celebrate.

Their battle will be uphill all the way, but the young players are thinking positively, that the hill might not be that tall.

As their training and conditioning continues, the Rivercrest Rebels will be building confidence as well as a solid foundation for their team, and they could surprise a lot of people with their end result.

It's back to school time once more Armed with packages of paper, for area youngsters, most of whom pencils and pens, the youngsters from kindergarten to senior high school profess to be shocked that "summer will go back to classes during the Teachers, school employees and

I's going to be sort of strange and new for him for awhile ... and I wish you would sort of treat him gently

You see, up to now he's been king of the roost ... He's been boss of the backyard ... his mother has always been near to sooth his wounds and repair his feelings.

But now things are going to be different.

This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure...It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans...It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow ... To live his life in the world he will have to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

So World I wish you would sort of look after him.. Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know. But do it gently, if you

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true. But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero...that for every crooked politician there is a great and dedicated leader...teach him that for every enemy there is a friend.

Steer him away from envy, if you can ... and teach him the secret of quiet laughter.

In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat...teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone says they are wrong..teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon..teach him to listen to all men..but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and take just the good that siphons through.

Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he's sad...teach him there is no shame in tears...teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success

Treat him gentley, World, if you can, but don't coddle him...because only the test of fire makes fine steel let him have the courage to be impatient...let him have the patience to be brave.

Let him be no man's man...teach him always to have sublime faith in himself...because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do ... He's such a nice little fellow .. HE's MY SON.

Rhea-Banks Exchange Vows

The Rev. Billy Paul Cain of Henderson, TX performed double-ring vows for Trina Marlette Rhea of Mt. Vernon and M. Gregg Banks of Mt. Pleasant, during formal nuptials Saturday at the First Assembly of God Church in Mt. Vernon at 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Rhea of Mt. Vernon are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Dave Banks of Winfield and Mrs. Patsy Cheek of Mt. Pleasant. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Townes of Clarksville and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rhea of Annona.

Centering the aisle was a 15 branch crescent candelabra holding tall burning tapers. Spiral candelabras set on either side completed the array. White satin bows marked family pews and guest pews. Fresh floral arrangements of spring colors enhanced the candlelight setting, as well as Boston ferns. Chris Reese of Mt. Pleasant, soloist and pianist, sang "Crazy" and "Let It Be Me" prior to the ceremony. After vows were said, he sang "Endless Love". The processional and recessional were the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal white slipper satin gown by Alfred Angelo. Outlined with hand sewn pearls and irridescent sequins, the lace designed sleeves were puffed at the shoulders and came to a point on the hand. The gown featured a jeweled portrait neckline. Embellished with hand sewn pearls and irridescent sequins, the bodice came to a V below the waist. The full skirt held an overflounce of satin edged with wide scalloped lace of hand sewn pearls and irridescent sequins. The softly gathered underskirt extending into a chapel length train was edged with wide scalloped lace embroidered with handsewn pearls and sequins. The bridal headpiece by San-Martin was trimmed with dainty flowers and simulated pearl sprays extending into a threetiered veil completing; her attire.

She carried a flowering cascade of pale pink rosebuds, yellow diamond roses and lavender orchids amid a background of English ivy leaves. Bridesmaids carried nosegays of pink rosebuds and pale yellow diamond roses mixed with deep green philo leaves and baby's breath. The groom' and his attendants wore boutonnieres of pink single rosebuds with greenery and baby's breath.

Sheila Stanley of Mt. Vernon was matron of honor. Robin Banister of Mt. Vernon, Shannon Griffith of Mt. Pleasant and Michelle Townes of Bogata, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

They were gowned in dresses of

Gin Is Ready For Cotton Season With Innovations

By Thomas Nichols

If cotton gins are obsolete in most of this area, the reverse is certainly true of Blackland Prairie Gin in Deport. Owners and operators Earl and Nancy Gresham take pride in the fact that their gin is constantly being updated and modernized.

The Greshams leased the gin operation from 1984 through 1986, and hen purchased the business. They have seen a steady increase in the number of bales of cotton ginned at the facility... from 800 to the highest figure, 6,035 in 1988.

The ginning operation has been automated by the Greshams in order to improve efficiency and keep costs down.

One of the first improvements added was a travelling suction. This system has turned what was a three man job into a one man job.

Earl added that putting people out of work wasn't his intention, but making the work easier and the job more efficient was his intention.

To prove the point the Greshams state that they employ approximately 30 employees during ginning season, with a hefty $86,000 labor bill for last year's season.

According to the Greshams they employ local people as much as possible, and hope that this is good for to be physically moved after loading the local economy.

Digital scales were added along with a new gin office, and a computer has eased the bookkeeping load. The computer has also elimnated the use of the venerable gin tickets, and provides valuable information from the U.S. Department of Agriculture on a daily basis.

Other state-of-the-art ginning improvements include a green boll catcher billed as "the best money we ever spent on the gin". This system takes green bolls out before they get in to dull the saw blades. This results in much cleaner seeds and saves a lot of valuable "down time".

Air vibrators have been installed on the seed bin to make seed flow better, and the old Deport Co-Op gin building has been completely outfitted to store seed in. The empty building, located across the road from the Blackland Prairie gin, now is useful again.

Another innovation is the digital scale installed over the cotton bale hoist that moves the ginned bales out to be loaded onto trucks.

Even the loading dock has undergone changes, with a new loading system.

Under the old stystem a truck had every six bales ... with the new system seventy-four bales can be loaded by moving the truck only once.

The latest change is to accomodate the cotton modules.

Modules, which are becoming more and more common in this area. are a compacted rectangle of cotton instead of a trailer load of loose bolls. The Gresham's son, Randy kEarl, drew up the plans for the big gray apparatus.

The system consists of a huge lift, capable of lifting an entire mobule up to where it gravity flows into an auger that takes the cotton on into the ginning phase of operation.

One man can operate the stystem with automated switches making it faster, easier and more efficient.

The cotton module also eliminates the need for a number of cotton trail-

This new system is officially safety approved, and will go into operation this fall.

The cotton season is currently about two weeks away from starting, and being the planners and "doers" that they are, the Greshams are all ready for the season, whether it brings 800 bales or 6,000.

GTE And Contel Sign Definitive Agreement To Merge

GTE Chairman and Chirf Executive Officer James L. "Rocky" Johnson and Contel Chairman Charles Wohlsetter recently signed a defective agreement that will result in the largest merger in the history of the telecommunicatins industry.

The definative agreement to merge GTE and Contel, which was approved earlier by each company's board of directors," will create a new company with a market value of $25 billion," said Johnson.

A preliminary was announced on July 12. The merger is subject to approval by both companies' stockholders as well as various regulatory agencies. As Previously announced, GTE will issue 1.27 shares of it's common stock in a tax-free exchange for each Contel common share, or aout 200 million GTE shares. Both companies will hold special stockholder meetings in the fall, and expect to close the merger around year end.

"We have undertaken a comprehensivw review of this merger, and have unanimously agreed with our counterparts at GTE that it is clearly in the best interests of both companies,: Wohlstetter said. "I am absolutely certain that the new company resulting from this merger will be even greater that the sum of it's parts." GTE's Johnson said," I am delighted we have accomplished this significant step. It is clear that what we are creating here is a perfect combination of two great componies in terms of compatibility of core businesses, management philosophy and commitment to our shareholders, customers and employees. It will make the new GTE the largest U.S. based, local-exchange telephone company and the second-largest cellular-telephone operator."

The combined companies will have a total of 18 million residential and business telephone-access lines. The companies' cellular-telephone businesses serve a total of approximately 50 million POPS-the second-highest POPs served in the U.S.

Contel is a major local-telephone and cellular-service provider. Its telephone operations serve 2.6 million access lines in 30 states, and it operates cellular systems through a 90 percent owned subsidiary, Contel Cellular, Inc. in 36 metropolitan areas and is a limited partner in 31 additional metropolitan areas. Contel's 1989 revenues were $3.1 billions with net income of $287 million It employes 22,000.

GTE subsidiaries operate in 46 states and 41 countries, with com-

The lazy days of summer are over and the back-to-school race is here.

The ABC's of Back-to-School

Running to school in the morning or from school in the afternoon, children run the risk of injury.

"Head injury is among the most dangerous of injuries, especially for children," according to Dr. James Wasco, medical director for the New Medico Head Injury System. "Any injury to the brain can significantly impair a child's ability to learn, concentrate or remember information and this can have a damaging effect on a child's development."

Before you send your children back to school, outfit them with a few safety reminders.

Walking to School

Most pedestrian accidents are the fault of the walker, not the driver, according to the National Safety Council, so:
Be sure to allow enough time for your child to get to school

- without rushing.Plan your child's walking route to minimize the number of
- street crossings Teach your child always to use
- sidewalks and to cross at crosswalks. Where there are no sidewalks, have your child walk

Summer Is Time To Plan Winter Pasture

hay supply and animals to feed this winter, they may discover that winter pasture will be viable alternative, saya an agronomist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

"The hay supply in some ares is questional," said Dr. Sim A. Reeves, Jr., extension agronomist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Re-

As producers take inventory of their search and Extension Center at Overton. "If enough hay is not in storage, the producer must either buy more hay, plant winter pasture or sell some COWS.

> "Dairymen, stocker operators and cow- calf producers with a fall calving program probably need a small grain winter pasture," Reeves said. "For effective small grain pastures, about mid- September. Small grain planted about mid-September should be ready for grazing about mid-November if the weather cooperates. Wheat and Rye are the preferred small grains for grazing in East Texas.

facing traffic, so the child can see oncoming cars.

Riding the School Bus

Although school buses are nuch safer than family cars, statistics indicate that 40 students die and 7,000 are injured each year in school bus accidents. The majority of these accidents occur outside the bus, when students are boarding or exiting.

- · Have your child wait for the bus to stop completely, then board carefully, using the handrail.
- Tell your children to take their seat quickly and stay in that seat for the entire ride - never putting head, arms or hands out the window.
- · Teach your children to cross at least 10 feet in front of the bus so the driver can see them.

"Going to school without par-ents is a sign of a child's independence," said Dr. Wasco, "but children must learn that practicing safety is a prerequisite for independence."
