The weather is always a topic of conversation...as I have said before, weather influences us all more than we realize.

And these days the weather is very much like tasting a new food dish...most of the summer flavors are familiar to us...but there is a subtle, tantalizing taste of autumn in with the summer.

The grass is green, the flowers still in bloom. Lakes still have lots of weekend campers, boaters and fishers. The sun will still blister sensitive skin and the nights still have that summer clarity.

But the flavors of fall are here now...wildflowers such as autumn asters or broom weed are spreading their airy patina over the earth.

Leaves are becoming tattered...and the morning and evening sun reveals their heart of gold.

Most important, there is a change in temperatures. The nights are cool, and the sounds of the evening have changed from weary, heat-soaked sounding insects and frogs to the clear toned-sounds of a happier, cooler sort.

The days get hot, but not with that smothering heat that saps strength and causes people to seek the shade.

Yard work is a pleasure instead of a pain once more.

Animals come out of the deep shade to play and enjoy life with renewed vigor...and so do humans.

Soon the sounds of migratory birds will be adding their unique addition to this autumn stew of sights, sounds, smells and textures.

Autumn is here... summer is gone for another year. Fall is the dish being set before us. And each week now the flavor of fall will become stronger and stronger. For millions it is the fairest seasonal dish they are served. Enjoy it.

Talco-Bogata CISD Adopts 1994 Tax Rate

The Talco Bogata CISD met in its regular monthly session on Thursday, September 15, 1994.

The board approved all items under the consensus agenda as well as policy Update 46, a State bid Computer Purchasing Resolution, the 94-95 substitute list, the 1993 Annual Tax Report and appointed Bill Mabry Text Book co-ordinator and Freddy Wade as Department of Nutrition contact person for the Talco-Bogata CISD.

The Trustees unanimously adopted the 1994 Tax Rate. The new rate was set at $1.15/ $100.00 of value. The increase was necessary due to a $27.5 million loss in mineral values. The board in the August meeting approved a budget of $3,157,195.00 which was $48,000.00 short of revenue using the old tax rate of $1.00/ $100.00. The new rate will raise $105,000.00 of the deficit and the remaining $376,000.00 will come from unearmarked cash reserve.

The Board adjourned at 9:05 p.m. The next meeting will be Tuesday, October 18, 1994 at 7:00 p.m.

COUNTRY COOKING

We have all witnessed these people before. We have seen them on TV, passed them in the streets, in our cars and down the roads. Some of us have probably yelled at them as they crossed over or passed in front of us. They are runners. Long distance, short distance, marathon runners. They run for the sheer exhilaration of it. It is a high that can be attained for those with the stamina and courage to train and stay on a rigorous schedule of high "carbs" and no sugar. For me, this would be sheer torture. For I have a fixation for sugar.

The person or persons I am referring to is Charles and Judy Price. They both were born and raised in this area and have a beautiful home in the Clardy area and have lived there for several years. Mr. Price was employed in the Dallas school system, but opted to return home to Clardy. Charles is a Social Studies and History teacher on the Blossom campus and Judy is a secretary at the PISD school district. They both work out and train religiously (unless I bring homemade cookies or goodies to school and tempt him). Mr. Price has participated in several marathons, including Austin, Houston, Las Vegas and White Rock. Most notably was the New York Marathon last fall. There were over 27,000 runners and he came in number 9,036, which is in the top 3rd of the group. His goal is the Boston Marathon. To run in this you must have time of 3 hours and 25 minutes. His best is 3 hours and 37 minutes. So you see that he is near that. He runs from 5-6 miles a day and tallies up to 35 miles in a weeks time. Judy was there as his cheerleader and best fan. He says the best thing about running, is the stopping.

They eat a lot of pasta and noodles. Absolutely no eggs, very little red meat and a lot of chicken. A lot of cereal with skim milk and no gravies, sauces or whipped cream. Their bread is low fat-reduced and a lot of fruits. Butters of any kind is out and Charles says that any that can remain solid at room temperature is a no-no. For lunch at school, he will have "mare's" milk, (which is a high protein mixed drink) and low fat muffins that he special orders. The recipes that we are featuring are low-fat, low in calories, lots of protein and carbohydrates. Judy says that she like to use the "Pasta Accents" and adds chicken. These are found in the grocery section's frozen food.

The recipes that the Price's are sharing with us this week are all low-fat, reduced calorie, high in protein and carbohydrates. We hope you enjoy these and will see you next week!

Card of Thanks
A special thank you to everyone who did or said anything to make the loss of our precious angel just a bit easier. Yolanda came into our lives almost 5 years ago. She was living on borrowed time every day, because she wasn't supposed to live but a couple of months, and every day God gave us with her was an extra bonus. During her short life she touched the lives of numerous people, and most of them were better off for having come into contact with her.
We'd like to thank the emergency room staff at McCuiston Hospital, Dr. Clark, the 911 medics, Wood Funeral Home, Rev. Tim Brown for the very appropriate sermon, and Susan Roach for the very special music. Thanks to all who called, sent flowers, brought food, made donations, and sent money, sent cards, and a special thanks for your prayers. We desperately needed them to make it through this time. We love you all.

Patsy Johnson

Patsy Johnson Is Candidate For Texas State Board Of Education

Patsy Johnson of Sulphur Springs, has announced her candidacy for the Texas State Board of Education. She has been endorsed by the Texas Association of School Administrators, Texas State Teachers Association, and Texas Federation of Teachers.

The former school teacher has represented the 9th district which covers 33 counties (from Lamar and Red River in the north to Waller in the south) for a little over a year.

Texas Board of Education members, (there are 15 members in Texas) receive no salary. They have a regular meeting once a month in Austin. At the meetings they set policy for all the school districts in Texas.

Between meetings they travel the Texas highways trying to make contact with all the school districts they represent.

Mrs. Johnson has no staff. Her husband Coy's (a Sulphur Springs attorney) office staff gives her some help, but most of the time it's just Patsy on the road. She says she would like to see a statewide initiative that would focus on teaching parents how to read. "Last fall it was very upsetting to all of us when we saw Texas ranked 50th in adult literacy, and this has terrible implications for our children", she said.

The Johnsons have three children, Clay, and Craig, and Kelli who are all graduate students.

Varsity Rebel Football Gives Victory to Panthers

By Tammie Case

The Rebels fell on hard times Friday night in their game against the Alba Golden Panthers.

Jay Hancock took the opening kick-off for the Rebels. The Rebels fumbled in the opening minutes and the Panthers took control. The Panthers were able to move the ball down field and with less than seven minutes showing on the clock, the Panthers scored and with the extra point the Panthers were up by 7.

The Rebel offense found the Panther defense tough, and with penalties the Rebels were to lose position on downs. The First Quarter ended with the score: Panthers 7, Rebels 0.

The second quarter opened with the Panthers taking possession of the ball. Using an air and ground attack, the Panthers found the Rebel defense holding tight. The Panthers were forced to punt, but with a Rebel fumble the Panthers regained control. The Rebel defense proved to hold together. The Rebel offense went to work with Tee Green going to the air to find Alvin Savage. The pass was able to get the Rebels out to midfield, but that is as far as the Rebel offense was able to go as the Panther defense forced the Rebels to punt.

The Panther offense took advantage of the Rebel defense and found the hole to move the ball down field. With time ticking away in the first half, the Panthers went to the air. They were able to move the ball into field goal range, which put them up by 10 to end the half.

The second half began with the Rebels kicking off to the Panthers. After a re-kick, because of a penalty, the Panthers were threatening to score which was spoiled by Juan Torres. The Panther pass was intercepted by Jay Hancock and the Rebel offense took to the field. The Panther defense held which forced the Rebs to punt. Hancock was unable to get the punt off and the Panthers took control within scoring position. The Panthers drilled through the defensive line and scored. With the extra point good, the Panthers were up by 17. The Panthers were able to score again in the third quarter, which put the final nails in the Rebel coffin.

Not much changed in the fourth quarter, as the Panthers were still taking advantage of Rebel mistakes and penalties. Time for the Rebels and Rebel fans could not go by fast enough as the Panthers continued to pound on the Rebs. The game ended with the Panthers 24 and Rebels 0.

Key plays were made by Clint Franks, Kevin English, Juan Torres, Mitch Ellis, Alvin Savage, Clint Gage, Jay Hancock, Tee Green and La Darryl Savage.

Jr. Varsity Battle To A Victory

By Tammie Case

The Jr. Varsity Rebels faced the Alba Golden Panthers Thursday night and were able to pull off the victory in the second half.

The first half of the game was a defensive battle for both teams. The Panthers were able to keep the Rebel defense on the field for most of the first half. The Rebels were able to gain possession of the ball after a Panther fumble, but were unable to cross over the end zone.

The second half proved to be all Rebels. With good protection from the offensive line, Jody Nolen was able to put the ball into the air, which moved the Rebels into scoring position. With four minutes left in the third quarter, Michael Deming took the ball in for a Rebel six points. The two-point conversion fell short, but the score was Rebs 6, Panthers 0.

Still a very tough defensive ball game, the Rebels held the Panthers scoreless. The Rebel offensive was able to put six more points on the board, which proved to be the final scoring.

The Jr. Varsity Rebels took the 12 to 0 victory, which makes them 2 and 0 for the beginning of the season.

Rebels Beat Panthers 20 to 8

By Tammie Case

The Lil Rebels had their first taste of victory last Thursday night when they took on the Alba Golden Panthers.

The Rebels dominated from the beginning quarter to the last. Under the field command of Chad Hollands, the Rebels scored early in the second quarter, which put them up 6 to 0. The first half ended with the Rebels threatening to score, when time ran out, but still the Rebels were in the lead.

The second half began with the Rebels still in control. Chad Hollands took the ball down the sideline to score another TD for the Rebels. The Panthers took possession of the ball, only to face the Rebel defense, which held tight.

Going into the fourth quarter, the Rebels had kept the Panthers from scoring. The Rebels put the final blow to the Panther defense, scoring yet another touchdown, putting the Rebs up 18 to 0. Cody Wolfe scored the two-point conversion on a quarterback keeper, putting the Rebels 20 and the Panthers 0.

The Panthers' only score came with four minutes left in the game. The Panthers were able to make the two-point conversion, which gave them 8 points for the night. Final score: Rebs 20; Panthers 8.

The young Rebels were excited to have their first win and are looking forward to their next game with Big Sandy.

THE YOUNG RIVERCREST Rebels had their first taste of victory last Thursday night with a 20-8 win over the Alba-Golden Panthers. (Staff Photo by Tammie Case)

There are two kinds of heart attack victims.

The quick and the dead.

A heart attack doesn't have to be fatal. Getting to a hospital quickly can make the difference between life and death. New life-saving therapies are now available to treat heart attack victims. But they have to be given early.

You know the symptoms: An uncomfortable pressure, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms or back. Shortness of breath. Lightheadedness, fainting, sweating or nausea.

When you feel these symptoms, don't delay. Get to a hospital quickly. It could save your life. For more information write or call your nearest American Heart Association.

How Can You Get A Protective Order?

By Dan Morales
Texas Attorney General

Family violence is not a private matter. It is the leading cause of injury among adult women. One-third of all adult female homicide victims are killed by their husbands or boyfriends. In nearly 70 percent of families in which spousal violence occurs, the children are also abused. But these are dry statistics. Real people are hurt, and real actions need to be taken.

If you are a victim of domestic violence, what should you do? Who stands ready to help you?

Protective Orders

If someone has physically assaulted or threatened you, contact your local police department or sheriff's office to press charges against that person. Your next step may be to get a protective order, which is a civil court order issued to prevent continuing acts of family violence.

You apply for a protective order through the district or county attorney, a private attorney, or legal aid. Protective orders are available in every county in Texas. A protective order can help you by prohibiting the offender from:

- committing further acts of family violence;
- harassing or threatening you, directly or indirectly, through another person;
- going to or near your place of residence or employment;
- going to or near a school or day care center that a child protected under the order attends.

Who is eligible to receive a protective order?

You are eligible if you:

- are related to the offender by blood or marriage;
- are currently living with the offender or have ever lived with the offender;
- have had a child with the offender. Even if you are ineligible for a protective order (because you and the offender are not considered family), you may be able to have the person arrested for assault, criminal trespass, or stalking.

What happens if the protective order is violated?

Call the police immediately! Remember, protective orders do not offer complete protection. No piece of paper can protect you from all instances of violence.

Law enforcement agencies are notified of all protective orders issued in their area, and they are required to maintain a list of those orders. If an offender violates the order and law enforcement is notified, officials will act to arrest the offender, and seek to have charges filed.

Violations of protective orders can have both civil and criminal consequences. Violations of some provisions of protective orders are Class A Misdemeanors, punishable by a fine of up to $3,000, or one year in jail, or both.

What do you need to get a protective order?

When you apply for the protective order, you must supply authorities with the following information:

- your relationship with the person alleged to have committed family violence;

- the facts and circumstances concerning the alleged family violence; and

- a specific request for a protective order.

You should file for the order as soon as possible after the incident has occurred. Additionally, if any other incidents of family violence have occurred, you must provide this information to the attorney who files the protective order application.

How long does it take to receive a protective order?

You first apply for a temporary protective order, which is effective for up to 14 days. It may take anywhere from 3 to 24 hours to obtain the temporary protective order, depending on where the order is filed. The hearing for the final protective order is held within two weeks after the temporary protective order is granted. Final protective orders last up to one year.

Will it cost much?

The filing fee is $16 and the service fee cannot exceed $20. Both fees must be paid when the application is filed unless the victim can show an inability to pay (usually by presenting a notarized Affidavit of Indigence).

Reye's Syndrome Is Dangerous

Reye's Syndrome is a very serious disease that you should know about. Some people develop Reye's Syndrome as they are getting over a viral illness, such as the flu or chicken pox. Reye's Syndrome usually affects people from infancy through young adulthood; however, no age group is immune. Although Reye's generally occurs when someone is recovering from a viral illness, it can develop 3 to 5 days after the onset of the illness. Its main targets are the liver and brain. It is non-contagious, and too often it is mis-diagnosed as encephalitis, meningitis, diabetes, poisoning, drug overdose or sudden infant death.

Early diagnosis is crucial. An individual should be watched during the next two to three weeks following a viral illness for these symptoms, usually occurring in this order:

- *Relentless or continuous vomiting
- *Listlessness (loss of pep and energy with little interest in their environment)

- *Drowsiness (excessive sleepiness)
- *Personality change (such as irritability, slurred speech, sensitivity to touch)

- *Disorientation or confusion (unable to identify whereabouts, family members or answer questions)

- *Combativeness (striking out at those trying to help)

- *Delirium, convulsions or loss of consciousness

Reye's Syndrome should be suspected in anyone who vomits repeatedly. Phone your doctor immediately if these symptoms develop. Voice your concern about Reye's Syndrome. If your physician is unavailable, take the person to an Emergency Room promptly. Two liver function tests (SGOT, SGPT) can be done to determine the possibility of Reye's Syndrome. There is a 90% chance of recovery when the syndrome is treated in its earliest stages by physicians and nurses experienced in the treatment of Reye's.

Studies have shown that using aspirin or aspirin-containing medications to treat the symptoms of viral illnesses increases the chance of developing Reye's Syndrome. If you or a member of your family have a viral illness, do not use aspirin or aspirin-containing medications. In fact, you should consult your physician before you take any drugs to treat flu or chicken pox, particularly aspirin or anti-nausea medicines. Anti-nausea medicines may mask the symptoms of Reye's Syndrome.

The National Reye's Syndrome Foundation (NRSF), the U. S. Surgeon General, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Centers for Disease Control recommend that aspirin and combination products containing aspirin not be taken by anyone under 19 years of age during fever-causing illnesses.

Aspirin is a part of the salicylate family of medicines. Another name for aspirin is acetylsalicylate; some drug labels may use the words acetylsalicylate, acetylsalicylic acid, salicylic acid or salicylate instead of the word aspirin. Currently, there is no conclusive data as to whether other forms of salicylates are associated with the development of Reye's Syndrome. Until further research has answered this question, the NRSF recommends that products containing any of these substances should not be taken during episodes of viral infections.

The NRSF is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization with affiliates located in 44 states. The NRSF has pioneered the movement to disseminate knowledge about the disease in an effort to aid in early diagnosis, and also provides funds for research into the causes, cure, care, treatment and prevention of Reye's Syndrome.

Don't Contribute To A Con

By Dan Morales
Texas Attorney General

You get a letter in the mailbox or maybe a phone call about a worthy cause. Or perhaps you see starving children on television, or somebody knocks on your door and asks for help. Their needs are pressing and the stories are convincing.

Your first impulse may be to reach for your checkbook, wallet, or credit card. But before you contribute, take a moment to think about what you're doing. Be a smart giver.

Why is it important to be a smart giver?

As individuals, Americans are generous. More than 80 percent of the money donated to charity comes from individual citizens. Sadly, some crooks try to take advantage of this good will.

Even worse, waste and fraud committed by a very few charitable organizations can hurt the reputations of the vast majority of charities that are dedicated, honest, and ethical. Fortunately, we can all do something to minimize the chances of giving to con artists and undeserving charities.

Steps for smart giving

Just as being a savvy consumer requires asking the right questions and doing a little homework, a smart giver needs to think of the right queries. Who, how, and what are the basics.

Who wants your money? If you are unfamiliar with the charity, get its full name, address, and telephone number - then check them out. Make them send you written literature about their charity, and how they have spent their funds in the past. Many organizations have names that sound similar to well-known charities. Don't be fooled. Know exactly who you're dealing with.

How will they use your donation?

Look beyond the dramatic, heart-breaking description of need, poverty or want. Ask for an accounting of the organization's goals. Some charities specialize in education and research, while others mainly distribute services and funds.

What percentage of donations goes toward true charitable purposes? Ask for written information that shows how much money the organization spends on administrative and fundraising expenses versus how much is spent on the intended recipients of the charity.

Ask if the charity uses a professional fund-raiser. If so, find out what percentage of the donation goes to the fund-raiser. Unfortunately, some outfits might spend 95 cents of your dollar on administration and advertising, which is not against the law. Others pass nearly all of your gifts through to the needy. Fill the lunch boxes of hungry children, not the coffers of the greedy.

Red Flags

There are a number of warning signs that could indicate a fraudulent charity.

- *High-pressure phone tactics. A legitimate charity is glad to give you the time needed to check them out, and will not demand a decision on the spot.

- *Use of the telephone come-on. Be aware of phone calls informing you about a valuable prize that you've won! Virtually no honest charity entices donors with prizes out of the blue.

- *Personal check pick-up. Dishonest individuals usually try to avoid the U. S. Postal Service in order to avoid federal prosecution under mail fraud statutes. Be wary of people who insist on using a private company or picking up your check themselves.

- *Unsolicited merchandise. It's against the law for an organization to send you unordered merchandise and then require payment. If you get something in the mail that you haven't requested, you are under no legal obligation to pay for it or to send it back.

Keep in mind
No matter if you are suspicious or not, there are some things you should always remember:

- *Do not give your credit card number to strangers if they've called you.

- *Do not respond to letters that say you have pledged money unless you are certain that you did.

- *Never give cash. Write a check in the name of the charity.

Remember, the impulse to give is important, but don't give impulsively. We are fortunate to live in a society where many citizens feel that it is their obligation to help others. Just be sure to take the time to make your gift count.

Nuts & Bolts

By Judy Screws

A few weeks ago I went out to take a picture of a school bus and pickup that had collided. Thank goodness neither the little girl who was the only one on the bus (she lives at the first of the route) the bus driver nor the driver of the pickup was injured. So I took my pictures, and a new bus was brought to pick up the rest of the children on the route. Nobody was at fault so nobody got a ticket, and you would think I could be happy and just let it go. I wish I could too, but it is just not that simple.

The first thing which was upsetting was the instructions I was given to get to the scene of the accident. ("Go down a road a little over a mile and turn right on a gravel road, go about a mile or so and that's where you'll find them." The lady who gave me the directions did the best she could, and it wasn't a problem for me to find them because I knew the general location of the area she was describing. It is possible that an emergency vehicle driver would not be so fortunate, and would spend a long time finding the scene of the accident, time in which someone could have died.

Why are our county roads not marked with numbers for emergency vehicles? Is it just these particular roads which are not marked, or are all of the county roads not marked?

The other thing I found upsetting was the reason for the wreck. The bus was trying to pull out onto a road, but there was so much brush and grass grown up on the corner that he had a blind corner. He was inching out a bit at a time trying to see if another vehicle was coming. He inched just a little too far and the other vehicle didn't have time to stop.

There should not be blind corners in the county or the city. If the mowing needs to be done by the county or the city, somebody should get busy. If the problem is on private property, the property owner should have to mow it.

As I bump up and down highway 271 between Bogata and Deport and around the streets in Bogata I wonder who we could talk to about getting the folks who take care of highway 271 between Deport and Pattonville to see about our roads. I know there are probably reasons why we can't have nice streets and good highways, but I would like for ours to be as good as other folks have.

And while I'm at it, why do we have to have trash dumps all along our county roads? Is this a job for law enforcement. Do we have a law enforcement officer in Bogata? If our constable is spread so thin that he has trouble covering his whole precinct, why doesn't someone give him some help? There is only so much one or two people can do regardless of how diligent they are. I checked with the Sheriff's department. The man I spoke with was nice enough, but he didn't have any answers for our problems. He did say that if citizens saw someone dumping trash, they should get a tag number and report it. I guess the same would be true with the cemetery. If you see someone enter the cemetery after hours, get their tag number and identify them if you can. I would also suggest that if you call for help and don't get a satisfactory response, keep on until someone tells you why.

I'm not being facetious about these questions. I truly do not know the answers and would like to. I'm sure that I'm not the only one who thinks about these things, but I wonder if the other people are like me and don't know who to ask about getting things done. If you know the answers to any of my questions, I would appreciate hearing from you.

Be Informed: Rent-To-Own Or Owned-By Rent?

By Dan Morales
Texas Attorney General

Many young couples and first-time apartment renters buy into what initially seems like a good deal when they lease rent-to-own items. Under the right circumstances, renting furniture and appliances can be a bargain -- many reputable Texas businesses stand ready to serve you. But be sure you read the fine print, and that your rent is worth your while.

Sometimes, when someone advances you credit for a fee, or an interest, it's a loan. Such a loan is covered by state usury laws. Usury refers to the practice of charging too much interest for a loan, which is illegal, regardless of whether a contract is signed. The amount of interest that can be charged is set and regulated by the Office of the Consumer Credit Commissioner.

Time and Money
As a smart consumer, you should consider a few things before signing a loan or rent-to-own agreement.

How long is the loan agreement for? A long-term loan may seem to cost less because your monthly bill is low, but over the term of the loan you may actually pay significantly more than the amount of money borrowed. If you pay $10 a month for 48 months for a $200 television, you will end paying $480 at the end of the term. And your TV will be four-years-old.

What's the interest rate? The lower the better, of course, but not all rates are the same. A 12 percent annual interest rate is not the same as a 1 percent monthly rate. The latter is actually a bit higher, when compounding is factored in.

Interest-free or not? Some places offer interest-free loans for a specific period. If you pay the full amount by six or 12 months, you are told you will owe no interest. While many work just like that, some don't.

For example, some contracts specify that you must pay the principal plus the interest for a certain period of time. However, if you don't pay off the loan within the specified time, you may be liable for the interest rate during the entire life of the loan.

How much will you pay? What's the full amount that you will be liable for? The price tag is just the beginning. Additional costs include interest and fees, if any. All contracts must specify, in writing, how much money you will actually pay over the life of the contract. If you don't see a total amount, ask. You should know exactly how much that refrigerator, car, or stereo will cost you over the life of the loan.

Shop Around
Different rent-to-own stores and department stores may offer different prices, interest rates, and loan terms. Ask for all the details before you make your decision.

Consider your debt-to-income ratio. Every month you should pay significantly less than you make. A

Calvary Baptist Church Enjoys Activities

The Sunshine Club met in the fellowship hall of Calvary Baptist Church on Tuesday, September 13, for a time of fellowship, food, and inspiration.

Some of the youth and sponsors from Calvary Baptist Church attended the "See You At The Pole" rally which was held in Pittsburg at the Emmanuel Baptist Church on Saturday, Sept. 17. The fellowship included inspirational music and singing. The special speaker was Bart Rocket, a television personality who does illusions and is a ventriloquist. He entertained and amused the audience, then gave an inspiring and challenging testimony about his life with Jesus Christ.

On Monday night, September 19, Bobbie Giddens, Lottie Via, Sue Miller, Gena Gage, Mary Jo Hall, Kathleen Wilhite, and Bobbie Connell attended the W.M.U. (Baptist Women) Workshop which was held at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Pleasant.
