LUCIAN PARRISH OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR SENATE

Hon. Lucian W. Parrish of Henrietta opened his campaign for the United States Senate at Sherman, last Saturday. The following 14 points were discussed by Mr. Parrish:

1. Constructive co-operation with Europe in stabilizing exchange values and in creating markets for American products essential to restoration of prosperity.
2. Collective bargaining, co-operative marketing and criminal prosecution of profiteers.
3. Establishment of adequate intermediate credits for financing farmers and stockmen.
4. Right economy in governmental expenditures, elimination of unnecessary federal bureaus, and curtailment of war budgets.
5. Preservation of State's rights and restoration to state railroad commission's control over intra-state rates.
6. Immediate reduction in railroad freight and passenger rates necessary to restoration of commerce and industry.
7. Judicial expenditures of federal funds for deepening rivers and harbors where feasible.
8. Defends rights of both capital and labor to collective bargaining so long as it does not jeopardize public welfare.
9. Co-operation between state and federal governments in construction of national highways and preservation of health.
10. Irrigation and drainage vital to Texas and preservation of American water rights in Rio Grande Valley endorsed.
11. Strict immigration laws to prevent admission of radical aliens.
12. Generous care for disabled soldiers and for the widows and orphans of those who gave their lives as well as adjusted compensation to ex-service men.
13. A Democratic tariff for revenue only, levying the burdens impartially upon the products of all sections and industries.

FARMERS ASKED TO KEEP COTTON COST

Commissioner of Agriculture, Geo. B. Terrell, asks that farmers in Haskell County keep cost of cotton production and report to him. Mr. Terrell's letter is sent out to all parts of Texas. The request is as follows:

To the Cotton Growers of Texas: The last two cotton crops have sold below the cost of production. No business enterprise can stand when forced to sell its products for less than cost. Farming is the biggest business enterprise in the State. It is a sure business barometer, measuring the success or failure of all other business enterprises.

It should be placed on a sound business basis, and to do this it is necessary to find the average cost of production, so that money crops especially cotton, may be sold upon a cost, plus basis, as the products of all manufacturing plants are sold. I want two or three thousand farmers to keep the cost of producing cotton this season, as they did last year, and report to me on blanks to be furnished by this Department.

Enter every item of cost upon a day book, from the time the breaking of land begins until the cotton is laid by. These items must include cleaning up the land, breaking, harrowing, bedding, planting, chopping, hoeing and cultivating at current wages paid. In other lines of work, and must include soil depreciation, taxes and interest on the investment.

I will furnish blank forms upon application, to be filled out, and return to this office when the crop is laid by.

In order to be able to price the crop we must know the cost of production, and in order to sell for the cost of production and a profit, the farmers must make the farms self-supporting and be able to enforce the demand for a cost plus price. I hope to have co-operation of other states in this matter.

Raise less cotton, and more to eat.
George B. Terrell,
Commissioner.

HASKELL MAY SECURE BIG RAILROAD MEETING TO BE HELD IN NEAR FUTURE

FORT WORTH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE REQUESTED TO CALL A MEETING OF TOWNS INTERESTED IN PROPOSED ROAD TO BE HELD HERE

At the railroad meeting which was held at Aspermont last Thursday, the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce committee was requested to call a meeting of all the towns interested in the proposed Fort Worth-Plains Railroad at Haskell in the near future. The meeting was attended by about 150 delegates from the towns along the Slaton route. Throckmorton, Haskell, Rule, Aspermont, Clairmont, Post and Slaton were represented.

Other resolutions passed were: Pledging support to the Slaton route over other routes; authorizing the permanent officers of the association to appoint a general committee consisting of three members from each town along the route to act jointly in closing up right of way, securing terminal and station areas, and otherwise dispense with preliminaries prior to the calling of a general meeting of all West Texas towns.

At the request of T. L. Hunter of Clairmont, a permanent Slaton route organization was perfected with B. M. Whiteker of Haskell as chairman; J. F. Hartford of Post, vice chairman and S. P. Bailey of Slaton, secretary. Mr. Hunter indicated that a temporary organization lacked coherence and definiteness.

The meeting was held at the Aspermont County club grounds on the shores of Lake Sellers. W. H. Link, Aspermont merchant, was host. Barbecued chicken was served to the 150 delegates and their friends.

While the chickens were browning on the "spit" a number of short addresses restricted to jokes and non-railroad topics were made. G. E. Nicholson, manager of the Bryant-Link company of Aspermont, was chairman. Among the speakers were Judge Kinnard of Haskell, S. P. Bailey of Slaton, Sam Davis of Rule, Homer D. Wade of Stamford, B. M. Whiteker of Haskell, J. F. Hartford of Post, T. F. Hunter of Clairmont, J. T. Heard of Post, D. R. Couch of Aspermont, and Hamilton Wright, staff correspondent of the Fort Worth Record.

Following the chicken barbecue served in the open big delegation, retiring to the country club building proceeded to elect Sam Davis of Rule temporary chairman and S. P. Bailey of Slaton temporary secretary. Davis in his preliminary remarks declared that the "Fort Worth & Plains railroad was the greatest needed railroad in the greatest section of Texas."

T. L. Hunter of Clairmont, the first man called on to tell what he thought about the railroad, said that he had been waiting for fifty years for the West to advocate just such a railroad. He then moved that the body form a permanent organization and that a committee be named to frame resolutions to be submitted to the meeting. The following committee was selected and retired while addresses were requested: J. J. Murray, Slaton; J. F. Hartford, Post; Judge B. P. Vardiman, Clairmont; G. E. Nicholson, Aspermont; B. M. Whiteker, Haskell; Sam Lee Smith, Throckmorton, and W. H. Wilson, Rule.

The principal speakers of the afternoon were G. E. Nicholson of Aspermont, Sam Davis of Rule, T. L. Hunter of Clairmont, F. H. Grindstaff of Aspermont, Homer D. Wade of Stamford, State Representative R. A. Baldwin of Slaton, Herbert Jones, manager of the Postex Mills of Post, J. T. Heard of Post, D. R. Couch of Aspermont, Judge J. P. Kinnard of Haskell, S. D. Bailey of Slaton, B. M. Whiteker of Haskell, J. F. Hartford of Post and Hamilton Wright, staff correspondent of the Fort Worth Record.

The meeting was the most enthusiastic ever held in West Texas to further the building of the proposed Plains railroad. State Representative Baldwin urged that all West Texas tie onto Fort Worth, which, he said, was the true friend of West Texas and the greatest marketing center of the state.

The following delegates were present:

Haskell—T. A. Williams, G. R. Couch, Sam A. Roberts, Courtney Hunt, J. F. Pinkerton, John A. Couch, O. E. Patterson, F. L. Daugherty, B. M. Whiteker and wife, J. F. Kennedy, R. J. Reynolds, H. M. Smith, Claiborne Payne, W. M. Reid, M. H. Hancock, Judge Jas. P. Kinnard and I. S. Grindstaff.
Rule—S. M. Davis, W. H. Wilson, R. L. Hines, T. E. Sollock, Hugh Williams, T. B. Denison, J. A. White, R. W. Cole, and W. D. Payne.
Throckmorton—Judge John Lee Smith, D. M. Hardy, and others.

JIM ODELL ANNOUNCES FOR DISTRICT CLERK

We are authorized this week to place the name of Jim Odell in our announcement column as a candidate for the office of District Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary.

Jim has spent practically his entire life in Haskell County and is well and favorably known and needs no introduction to the majority of the voters. He volunteered for service during the World War and served three years in the navy—he has been unable to do any physical or heavy work since being discharged on account of a severe case of rheumatism contracted while in the service. He has been unable to secure any assistance from the government on account of his condition and was recently notified by the department that his claim had been rejected. He is well qualified to fill the position of District Clerk and will appreciate your vote and influence in the coming campaign.

C. D. APPLIGATE ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY CLERK

C. D. Applegate of Lone Star announces for County Clerk subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Applegate makes the following statement:

"I spent my first night on Haskell County soil on or about Dec. 13, 1899 at the age of eleven years. Since that time have resided continuously on the Knox and Haskell prairie, 15 years of which across the line in Knox and Haskell County."

"As many of you know my attendance to the public schools was greatly handicapped as my blind and helpless father and weakly mother demanded most of my time at home, however, I did fairly well there. I accepted the first opportunity that offered itself to attend a business college. By working hard I soon completed the courses as prescribed by the Bowie Commercial College and now hold a Diploma from that school."

"I feel that I am thoroughly competent to fill the office to which I aspire, and respectfully ask the voters of the county for a favorable consideration. Assuring you that if elected to exert myself to the utmost to rightly perform the work assigned me."

C. D. Applegate.

NEXT LYCEUM NUMBER MONDAY NIGHT

"Second Childhood" is one of life's tragedies, even though there is a sweetness and a mellowness about old age. It is not such a tragedy, however, when Freeman Hammond interprets "Second Childhood," for he gives to it an artistry and a realism which is nothing short of inspiration. This clever young character artist, who is to appear here on the evening of February 20 at the new Christian Church, has contributed a dramatic classic to Lyceum with this particular feature of his program. There is a sweetness and a wholesomeness about "Second Childhood" which has won enthusiastic praise from audiences everywhere Mr. Hammond has appeared.

Mr. Hammond is one of the youngest artists in character impersonation now before the public. In the few years that he has devoted to the work he has come to the front with rapid strides. Critics openly predict that Mr. Hammond will be one of the country's greatest character artists within a few years.

With Mr. Hammond appears Miss Ada MacDonald, violinist and soprano, who is a most talented young artist, and also Miss Lillian Carpenter, pianist and reader with the Freeman-Hammond Company. Solos and other musical features lend an added charm to the program of these three clever artists, and the dramatic sketches which were written especially for Mr. Hammond round out a most delightful program. The Freeman-Hammond entertainment should be given before a crowded house here, for newspaper criticism which has followed this company along its present tour has been extremely favorable to Mr. Hammond and his talented associates.

Judge John P. Kinnard returned Wednesday from Denton where he has been on legal business.

OTIS SKINNER HAS SCREENED "KISMET"

Otis Skinner, greatest of American character actors, makes his debut as a screen star in "Kismet," the smashing hit of two continents, at the Haskell Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

White always maintaining a high standard in all pictures released, Robertson-Cole has in his production of "Kismet" outstripped all previous efforts.

For many years Otis Skinner was known to the world as the silver sheet. He worked, he played, and he won.

REAL WASHINGTON INTENSELY HUMAN

BY NO MEANS THE DEMIGOD HE HAS BEEN DEPICTED.

Admittedly of Violent Temper, but With Strong Powers of Self-Control—Naturally Melancholy.

The Father of His Country would hardly have fancied himself in the role of a demigod—as folks nowadays are disposed to regard him.

When a young man, his hair was decidedly red. At the age of fifty he was quite gray, and on occasions of ceremony his locks (done up in a queue) were freely powdered, as was the custom of the day.

His teeth from early manhood gave him a great deal of trouble. They were, in fact, badly decayed—dentistry at that period being an undeveloped art—and this circumstance rather marred his good looks when he smiled or laughed.

He was also considerably pock-marked, having suffered an attack of smallpox at nineteen years of age, while in Barbados with his invalid brother.

At fifty-seven (when inaugurated as President in New York), he had lost nearly all of his teeth. He then wore a false set of hippopotamus ivory, which made him very uncomfortable.

He seems to have had little sense of humor, and unquestionably was of a most melancholy temperament.

He had a pronounced weakness for gambling—though always held in check by a reluctance to commit himself independently.

Spelling was by no means his forte. To the end of his life he wrote "winder" for window, "latter" for Latin, etc.

Each bank is going to send a club member to the Dallas Fair free of charge and the state is going to give them a state scholarship to the Educational Encampment which is planned especially for these boys and girls each year from all parts of the state.

STEREOTYPED COPIES OF THE "YOUNG MAN'S COMPANION," WHICH WAS THE GUIDE OF HIS BOYHOOD.

At Mount Vernon he had a very decent collection of books, but his reading seems to have been restricted mainly to works on farming and military science.

The discussion here attempted, however, is not of Washington's many perfections, but of his human weaknesses—to show that, like the rest of us, he was far from godlike.

In 1759, a few months after his marriage, he wrote: "I am now, I believe, fixed at this seat, with an agreeable partner for life; and I hope to find more happiness in retirement than I have ever experienced amidst the wide and bustling world."

On his return to Mount Vernon, after the war, he wrote to Lafayette: "I called to mind that I was now descending the hill I had been fifty-two years in climbing, and that, though blessed with a good constitution, I was of a short-lived family, and might soon expect to be entombed in the mansion of my fathers."

Think of writing in such terms at fifty-two years of age!—a time of life at which men nowadays consider that they have barely reached their heyday.

But he was always a melancholy man. For many years before his death the prospect of his departure from this world seems to have been constantly in his mind.

America's Predominant Figure. One hundred and ninety years have elapsed since George Washington was born.

JUST A BOY

(By Phoebe K. Warner.)

"My mother is dead. My father is a carpenter in Kansas City. And I am going to California to pick oranges because there is no work for me at home."

This is the brief but pathetic story told in both Amarillo and Canyon City last week by the little 14 year old boy whose mangled body was picked up last Friday morning beside the Santa Fe tracks in Canyon City. No one knew how it happened, no one knew who he was. But he was somebody's boy. Somebody suffered that he might live. Yes, and even though this brave little fellow died motherless and homeless, friendless, penniless and jobless, somebody suffered when his young life was crushed out, for as his body lay in the Griggs Undertaking Chapel, awaiting identification, somebody's mother came into the room, bowed in grief over his pale, cold face, then covered the dead child's form with flowers and left the chapel in silence, some living mother had evidently lost a boy. She knew the cost of his life and its loss to the world and she tried to ease her own aching heart by doing something for his own dead mother.

But why was this child lying there dead and alone in a strange city and a strange State? Why was he 600 miles away from anyone who might have known him, struggling through life, looking for a job at 14 years of age? Answer—"His mother was dead." And evidently he had no home.

The boy seemed to be an honest little fellow so far as anyone who remembers him can recall. Just out in the world looking for something to do when he should have been in a good school somewhere. And crushed to death in a land of plenty looking for a way to support himself. There was plenty of men in Amarillo and Canyon too, who would gladly have taken care of the boy and given him a home or provided a comfortable place for him to live and work and be honest and safe, if they had only known there was such a boy. But those men had never heard of the homeless child and the child had never heard of those men. Boys do not know yet that anybody is interested in them except their mother. And that is why a boy feels utterly lost and alone in this world when he loses his mother. Most boys believe as long as they have a mother in this world they are sure of at least one friend.

The story of the fate of this boy has brought the tears to many of our eyes. And many of us had scarcely dried our tears since we heard a few weeks ago of another boy, a Texas boy, who was choked to death in one of our own institutions. But what good do our tears do a boy after he is choked to death or crushed to death stealing a ride looking for a way to earn his living honestly.

Wouldn't it be better, wouldn't it be happier, and wouldn't it be cheaper for us all to get together in spirit some way and plan a way to save such boys no matter what it might cost? Who knows what the world lost when that child fell beneath the grinding wheels of the Santa Fe train? There was something worth saving in that boy or he wouldn't have been looking for a job. Think of the nerve it must take for a 14 year old child to get out in the world, without a cent of money, without a friend to help him, without any education at that age to rely upon and try to find work enough to support himself. What would your boy do in the same condition? What would you do yourself? The story said he was fairly well clad and his hands showed signs of toil. But how long would it take to make a criminal of an honest, hard working boy who was motherless, homeless, friendless, penniless and jobless?

True, the story the boy told before his death may not be true. But this is TRUE: The boy is dead. And his body sleeps in a bed of flowers—the gift of the friends of boys as it is held for identification. And unless we all learn some lesson from his life and death it will seem that he lived and died in vain. This is not the only boy that has wandered away from home, as was indicated by the telegrams received in answer to the call through the Associated Press for his parents. Scores of telegrams from all over the country poured in asking all about him. Because somebody else had a wandering boy out in the world somewhere, they knew not where. If this were the only boy! It would be sad even then. But last year 650,000 other American boys left home, and their parents do not know where they are. What is the matter? What is wrong? It is the boy, the home, the parents, the community, or what is it? Is the problem a serious problem? Is it a social problem? Is it a national problem? If it is what are we doing to solve it? If we would save this nation, we must save its boys. Think of the joy that would come into all our lives to take the place of so much sorrow if we would only all work together to SAVE the BOYS.

But before we can ever do so very much we must all learn to love a live boy with the same tenderness that we love a dead boy. It is the live boy who most needs our sympathy, our kindness, our love and our flowers.

MIDWAY PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MET MONDAY

Parent-Teachers' Association of the Midway community meets first Monday in each month. Our last meeting we met at the home our president, Mrs. Will Whitman. Despite the threatening weather, quite a few ladies ventured out and a small program was rendered. The piece given by Mrs. Foster on how the parents should co-operate with the teachers in order to have a successful school was enjoyed by all. Our Bible study was very interesting also. Last but not least, were the delicious refreshments served which consisted of two kinds of cake, hot chocolate with whipped cream. A most pleasant time was enjoyed by all. At a late hour the departed expressing words of praise to the hostesses as being a royal entertainer.

R. L. Meiford one of Haskell's substantial farmers on Route Three was in the city Thursday on business.
