Tax Collector, Chas. M. Conner, reports the payment of 4,163 poll taxes for the year of 1922. A total of 103 exemptions have been granted also, making the total voting strength of the county 4,266. This is the largest in several years, and is due in part to the fact that almost as many women as men paid their poll tax this year. Below we give the poll tax receipts issued by precincts, together with the exemptions granted:

PRIZE WINNING ESSAYS ON POULTRY AWARDED

The Poultry Association offered prizes for the three best essays on poultry written by Haskell County school children. The first prize of $3.00 was awarded to Orville Graham, of the Myres school, second, $2.00, to Fannie Bell Denny, of the Midway school, and the third, $1.00, to Florence Summers of the Sayles school. The essays were graded by the committee that accompanied the Poultry Special, and the prizes were presented by R. C. Montgomery.

First Prize

Poultry and Eggs as Valuable Product
Poultry and eggs are among the most valuable products of the United States. It is estimated that each person eats at least 200 eggs yearly. About 56,000,000 eggs are eaten by the United States daily.

Together poultry and eggs are worth millions of dollars. The price changes so often, that it is hard to tell exactly how much they do bring.

Illinois usually has the most chickens but the last census showed that Ohio produced the most eggs. The United States produces enough to supply herself and a few for export.

Turkeys are one of the best means for the farmers to make money. They may be used as a means of diversification also. For instance if a farmer raises feed for his stock and cotton for his money crop, and the prices are low when he must sell, he falls to have any money crop, and usually must borrow money to begin a crop. If he has any kind of poultry, especially chickens and turkeys he has a sure income.

Chickens will always pay for their keeping and will buy a part of all the groceries the family will use. I know a family who had one hundred turkeys and sold them for $512.00. I also know another family who had thirty-eight turkeys and received $175.00 for them. Every family ought to have chickens or turkeys or both.

The best fowls are those raised by the mother in secret, but it has been found to be a very paying business to keep hens just for the eggs, and use an incubator for the hatching of the eggs.

Both the eggs and the flesh of fowls contain proteins and fat, therefore they are valuable and necessary foods for the body.

Written by Orville Graham, of the Myres School. Age 12.

J. W. FOSTER ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

The name of J. W. Foster will be found in our announcement column this week as a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction, subject of course, to the action of the Democratic primary which will be held in July.

Mr. Foster is teaching the Midway School the present term, and is considered one of Haskell County's leading instructors—he has always taken an active interest in educational affairs of the county and will make a good superintendent if elected.

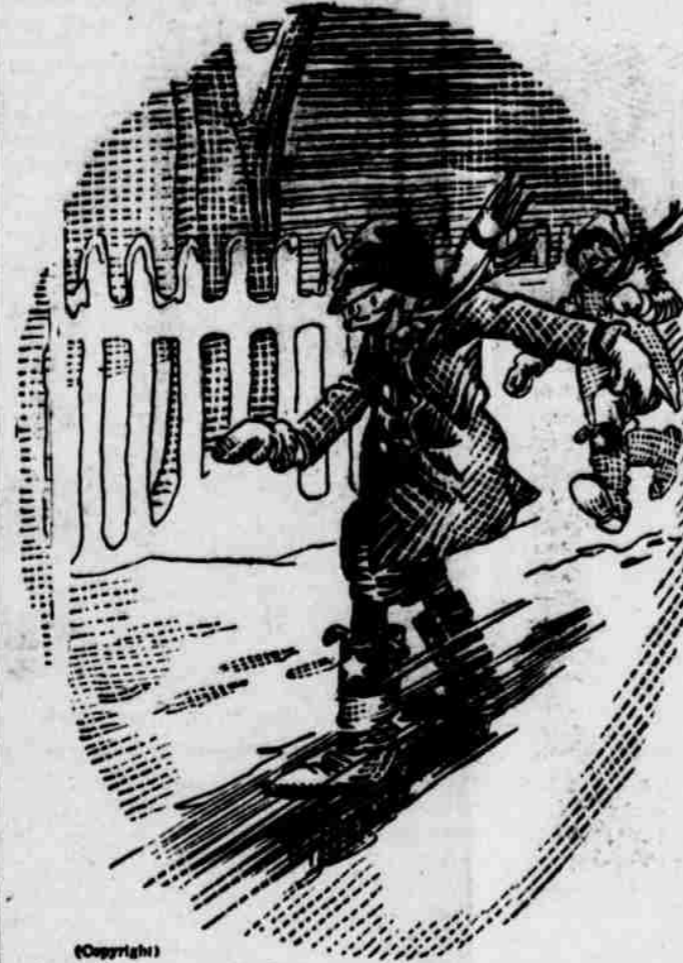

Mr. Foster expects to have more to say regarding his candidacy in the near future and he will appreciate favorable consideration from the voters of the county.

JUDGE JAS. P. KINNARD
ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Judge Jas. P. Kinnard authorizes us this week to make his announcement as a candidate for the office of County Judge of Haskell County to succeed himself. Judge Kinnard served the people of Haskell County as County Judge during the trying times of 1918-1919 for one term. He is a conscientious officer and a faithful worker and fully competent and he will appreciate it if the voters can conscientiously endorse his services for another term. So far he has no opponent and probably will not have one. His announcement is made subject to the action of the Democratic Primary.

ONE-DAY POULTRY SHOW HELD
LAST SATURDAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

ADDRESSES GIVEN IN THE FORENOON TO A LARGE AUDIENCE
MORE THAN 500 PEOPLE VISIT EXHIBIT CAR.

The one-day poultry school held last Friday was a complete success from the standpoint of attendance and work done. The morning meetings were held in the courthouse, and in the afternoon the special car was opened, and more than five hundred people passed through it. The school was put on through co-operation between the Texas A. & M. College and the Denver railroad.

At ten thirty Friday morning when the gathering was at the courthouse F. G. Alexander introduced the speakers. The first speaker was M. Bruce Oates, agricultural agent for the Fort Worth and Denver. Mr. Oates stated that everywhere interest is growing in the poultry business; merchants and farmers alike and chambers of commerce with other organizations are behind the idea of a few dairy cows and at least 100 chickens on every farm. It has been found out by bankers and others said Mr. Oates, that the man who owns several cows and a flock of poultry does not owe money like the man who depends on a crop to make his living. Mr. Oates then gave examples to back his assertion. Two banks in Iowa Park, he said, agreed to loan five hundred dollars each to those who wished to buy chicks. At several other places, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations also stood behind the work he said.

Miss Myrtle Murray, of the A. & M. College was then introduced. She gave a talk on the hatching the beginning of a flock of chickens that was interesting not only to those interested in the poultry but to the casual listener. Her presentation of the work was clear and concise, going into some detail in telling how to operate the incubator and brooder.

Prof. F. W. Kasmier, of the A. & M. College was the last speaker, and as well he judged the egg show. Prof. Kasmier brought out many good points on the feeding of chickens to make them lay, bearing with emphasis on the fact that eggs must be bred and not fed into chickens; and that after the chickens have been properly bred for laying, the production of eggs is then accomplished by the proper feeding.

The prizes in the egg contest were awarded as follows: J. M. Everheart first prize; Roy W. Neal second; and J. M. Everheart third.

In the afternoon the poultry special car was opened for the inspection of the public, and more than six hundred passed through the car.

The car contained much of the up-to-date apparatus for the raising of poultry, and many suggestions as to the proper arrangement of such a farm, a miniature poultry farm being set up. On exhibit also were two hens; one of them had laid 258 eggs and the other 17 eggs in one year.

In all there were seventeen contestants entered in the egg contest for the prizes that had been announced. Following is a list of those who entered this contest: Mrs. T. A. Payne, Mrs. I. N. Alvis, Mrs. Manly Branch, Mrs. Ollie Carr, J. M. Everheart, J. O. Jackson, A. J. Joeslet, Rev. M. D. Hill, Mrs. Jno. Minor, Mrs. J. M. Baker, Mrs. Roy W. Neal, and C. O. Davis. Mrs. J. H. Goodwin, Mrs. C. E. Cerley and Mrs. R. G. Jager came in too late for the contest, making a total of sixteen contestants present.

W. V. WOULD TAKE OFF TWO TRAINS

The Wichita Valley Railway has a petition pending before the Texas State Railroad Commission for permission to withdraw two of its passenger trains between Abilene and Wichita Falls. The trains are No. 5, leaving Wichita Falls at 12:30 a. m. and reaching Abilene at 8:30 a. m., and No. 8, leaving Abilene at 6:30 p. m. and reaching Wichita Falls at 2:30 a. m.

These two trains were put into service during the war at the earnest solicitation of towns along the route, particularly Stamford, Haskell and Seymour.

A hearing will be held by the commission at Austin on February 14th, at which time representatives of the road and towns served by it will be heard.

Hardy Grissom spent the first of the week in Dallas where he purchased a new stock of Ready-to-wear and spring millinery.

Mrs. Mamie Barron returned Monday from Dallas where she spent the past week attending the style shows and purchasing the new spring millinery for J. E. Grissom & Co.

HEALTH NURSE BEGINS
ACTIVE WORK HERE

Miss Elizabeth Seymour, representing the Texas Health Association, arrived last Monday for a five weeks stay in Haskell. Miss Seymour will examine all school children for malnutrition, vision and hearing. All Haskell physicians are co-operating actively with Miss Seymour in this work and will examine for specific defects all children as fast as Miss Seymour gets through with the general examination. Miss Seymour is working at the main building this week and will probably go from there to the South Ward and thence to the East Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Cole of Rule spent Sunday with the latter's father, J. E. Leflar.

W. F. Neely, a prominent citizen of Rule, called at the Free Press office Tuesday and renewed his subscription for a couple of years. Thanks, call again, Mr. Neely.

T. M. Mitchell and J. E. Vernon, prominent citizens of the Rule community, were in the city Thursday and while here made this office a pleasant call.

HI-JACKER "STICK UP"
TWO MEN; NOW IN JAIL

As a result of the quick work of Al Cousins, sheriff, there reposes in the County Jail a would-be "Hi-Jacker," who was arrested after he had held up two men near the depot, about nine o'clock Wednesday night.

According to the facts in the case, the two men, George Gibbs and Andy Holler, were on their way home in the east part of the city. The hi-jacker stepped out of the alley near Clifton's Feed Store and ordered the two men to "stick 'em up." His commands were obeyed and after relieving the men of their money, ordered them to "beat it."

Holler and Gibbs telephoned Sheriff Al Cousins as soon as they reached the depot, and also kept an eye on the hi-jacker. When the sheriff arrived, he was accompanied by Holler and Gibbs to the scene of the hold-up, and arrested the man, who had probably intended to get away on the 9:25, Wichita Valley.

The man, who given the name of Hopper, now occupies a suite of rooms in the "Iron-Bar-Hotel," pending trial.

The groom is a prosperous farmer and is well known in Haskell county. The bride is a very estimable lady in her home community. FIRE LAST SATURDAY
DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Fire last Saturday destroyed the Texas Garage and Filling Station, the Haskell Bottling Works, Watson's Candy Kitchen, and slightly damaged the home of Mrs. Hallmark, across the street from the Texas Garage building. The damage from the fire is estimated between and fifteen thousand dollars.

No one seems to know the exact origin of the fire, but it is agreed that the blaze was first discovered in the vulcanizing department of the garage, located near the front. There was no one in the room at the time, and the fire was beyond control when discovered. It spread rapidly to all parts of the building, in which was located the Haskell Bottling Works and Watson's Candy Kitchen. The alarm was given and the fire department made a quick run to the scene, but it was impossible to extinguish the flames. It was thought for a time that the blaze would spread to adjoining buildings, and the entire office fixtures of the Express Co. were moved out of the building. Practically all the stock and fixtures of the Watson Candy Kitchen were saved from the flames, but were badly damaged by water. The blaze spread to the home of Mrs. Hallmark, across the street from the Bottling Works, but prompt work by the fire department prevented the destruction of this building, although the house and furnishings were badly damaged by water. McNeill & Smith Hardware Co. also suffered a small loss in their warehouse which was located in the building adjoining the garage.

The garage and Bottling Works building, which was owned by R. C. Couch, was totally destroyed. Mr. Couch estimates his loss at about $5,000.00 with $2,000.00 insurance. Messrs. Looney & Erwin, proprietors of the Texas Garage and Filling Station, estimate their loss at $4,000.00 with $1,500.00 insurance. T. J. Watson, who had recently opened the Candy Kitchen, states that his loss will probably amount to $2,000.00 with no insurance.

Only one car was saved from the fire, a Ford coupe belonging to Tom Davis, which was removed from the burning building. A Hudson coupe belonging to Mrs. R. S. Nolen was saved from total destruction, but it was badly damaged before it could be removed. Seven other cars that were in the building at the time were a total loss. Below we give a list of the cars destroyed with the names of the owners:

- A Dodge touring car, belonging to a Rochester party, whose name we were unable to learn.
- Ford roadster belonging to R. N. Hathcock of this city.
- Buick roadster belonging to R. N. Hathcock of this city.
- Chevrolet truck belonging to W. L. McCarty of Abilene.
- A Mitchell touring car, and a Chevrolet roadster that had been left in the garage for some time pending settlement of a claim, were also destroyed.

It is understood that plans are being made for the erection of a modern brick or tile building on the site of Saturday's fire.

Magazine Club Notes

Two very unusual treats awaited the members and visitors to the Magazine Club, Friday afternoon, February 3rd. Beginning at 3:30 o'clock, Dr. T. C. Gardner of Dallas, spoke to the ladies on "Community Life," bringing out the most essential points, which go far toward making any community a success. To have a well rounded community life the speaker said, "There must be women of vision and high ideals, who will arrange a full program that will challenge the men to their best efforts." In closing his address, Dr. Gardner quoted the very appropriate little poem:

The woman who counts is the woman who fights,
Who hates the wrong and loves the right,
Who works and toils, by day, by night,
This is the woman that counts.

Mrs. Ernest Grissom was director for the program on Dress Demonstration of the different periods of history, which would have done credit to any club. The room was darkened and by aid of the spot light, the early Egyptian dress was very cleverly shown, by a scene in the room of an Egyptian princess, who was attended by her maids in waiting. Then followed a portrayal of the beautiful draped Grecian costume, coming on down to the early American dress worn by the Puritan maid.

George and Martha Washington, as they danced the minuet, were heartily received as representatives of the revolution period, as was the delightful little scene just prior to the civil war, when the dashing young soldier was saying good-by to his sweetheart, a demure little maid in a much beflowered dress with frills and furbelows. Following were the days of leg-o-mutton sleeves, narrow waist and long trains, while the modern costumes were depicted in the present day sport suit, morning negligee and lovely evening gown.

Those netting models were: Misses Pauline and Lucy Bunkley and Miss Marie Dee of Stamford. Others who aided Mrs. Grissom in making a decided success of the program were: Mesdames Patterson, Murchison, Lavender, Hill, Bates, and Claybourne Payne.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50¢ per bottle.

Elsie Wins a Grandpa

By HUBERT R. PLAIN

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

Bright as a dollar, Elsie Danvers had a great idea in her busy little head. She was only nine years old, but she knew more than most children of twelve, and thought more deeply and more to a purpose than some people of twenty.

Under her arm she carried a small cardboard box, neatly done up in wrapping paper and carefully tied. To her way of thinking it was a very important belonging. When she came to the neat little cottage known as the Hyde home, she found its spinster occupant, Miss Susan, resting on a rustic bench after her exertions in trimming the rose bushes.

Miss Hyde had the Danvers people greatly, and Miss Elsie particularly well.

Miss Hyde received her little visitor with a welcome smile. She at once noticed the serious face, usually so sunny. She made room for Elsie on the garden seat.

"Miss Hyde," spoke Elsie at once. "I heard some people telling about the parcels post."

"Have you something you wish to send, Elsie?" asked Miss Hyde.

"Yes, ma'am, I have," said Elsie in a prompt, business-like way. "I heard mamma crying the other day while she was telling the minister's wife about my grandfather. I never knew I had one before. He hasn't been very good to mamma, but maybe he doesn't know how she loves him, and how she puts some flowers on his picture whenever his birthday comes around. On my birthday two friends gave me the same present—those little speaking dolls, you know. Well, I'm sending one of them as a present to grandpa in this box, and I've written him a little note in it telling him about poor papa and all of us, and I want you to direct it—I've got his name and everything: Mr. John Marsh, Rushville—and send it for me through the parcels post."

"I will do just as you say, dear," she said, "and nobody shall know about it except you and I."

Elsie parted with her precious package with supreme confidence in her good friend. Miss Hyde took it down to the postoffice and mailed it. She did some thinking on the way. She had heard of stern, hard-hearted old John Marsh. Mrs. Nellie Danvers, the orphan child of a brother, had been adopted by the old man. Later he also took charge of Eunice Ross, a distant relative. Mr. Marsh did not seem to disapprove of his ward's marriage to Albert Danvers. Yet, while they were off on their honeymoon he had written to them, forbidding them to ever approach him again in any way.

Nellie had written, pleading for an explanation. It was coldly refused. The next thing she heard was that her uncle was arranging to will his fortune to Eunice. Then she was shocked to hear of the death of the latter. Since then old John Marsh had shut himself in to a miserly, cheerless existence.

"John Marsh, Rushville," received the parcels post package two days later. He carried it into the house, opened it, and read the tiny childish note it contained. His eyes glared. He gritted his teeth as he gave the squeaky doll a fling through a doorway, into the room Eunice had once occupied.

All the same, he did not sleep very well that night.

A squeak, clear and distinct, sounded through the house. Noiselessly the old man arose from his bed and reached the sitting room. In the one beyond, where he had flung the doll, was a light. He seized a gun he kept always loaded, crept to the open doorway, and made out two masked men ransacking a desk that had not been opened since Eunice died.

Bang!—John Marsh fired and the burglars disappeared.

The old man found a bag left behind by the burglars filled with money and papers secured from his own wardrobe. Then, as he began to pick up the papers strewn about from the desk Eunice had owned, he made a startling discovery.

What had estranged him from Nellie was a letter apparently in her handwriting shown him by the plotting Eunice. Addressed to her lover, it referred to her uncle in sneering terms, telling how she cared only for the fortune he might leave her. Now, among the scattered papers, John Marsh found evidences of Eunice having laboriously practiced to counterfeit Nellie's handwriting.

Towards the end of the week, as Elsie was sitting in the garden, an old man opened the gate. Carefully re-packed, he carried the parcels post package.

"Why," shouted the little miss, all smiles and dimples—"I know who you are—grandpa—'cause that's the box I sent, and—oh, I must tell mamma!"

It was a tearful, yet happy interview, that which followed between uncle and niece. All was explained, and when Mr. Danvers came home that evening, he learned that all the family were to return to Rushville, where he was to have a free, glad-some life caring for the old man's property.

"Dear little child," said John Marsh, fondly stroking the golden-haired fairy who had brought all this about—"my fortune saved, my old-time happiness back to me, all through you and that blessed parcels post."

What Do You Know About Chiropractic?

Do you believe that it is a Health Science which is daily relieving the suffering of thousands from a premature grave?

Is your belief based upon actual experience or simply upon hearsay, or is it a matter of fact that you have given the subject little serious thought?

Do you know that CHIROPRACTIC is entirely different to any other form of Drugless Science and that it has nothing in common with OSTEOPATHY?

Do you know that there are ten thousand chiropractors who are practicing their profession in the country at the present time and that still the supply is not equal to the demand?

Do you know that since 1900 ALMOST SIXTY THOUSAND patients have been adjusted at the clinic of The Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport, Iowa?

Do you know that in the recent "Flu" epidemic chiropractors only lost one case out of 886, or one-ninth of one per cent?

Do you know that it has been proven beyond a reasonable doubt that as a preventive method, Chiropractic stands head and shoulders above any other?

Ninety-five per cent of so-called Dis-ease is caused by a subluxation (displacement) of the spine which causes an impingement (pinching) of the nerves, preventing the life force from flowing normally.

The Chiropractor relieves this pinching by CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS with his bare hands only. The displaced bones are put back into their normal position, the pinching is relieved the life force flows uninterrupted and Health is the result.

The Chiropractor is a spine specialist, a human machinist, who has been trained to know the spine thoroughly.

See your Chiropractor, ask for more information regarding this wonderful science. Get a spinal analysis and ascertain just what condition your spine is in.

Senior Christian Endeavor Organized Sunday Evening

The young people of the First Christian Church met Sunday evening at 5 o'clock, with a charter membership of 20, and organized a Senior Christian Endeavor Society. The following officers were elected: President, John Draper; Vice President, Fred Mauldin; Secretary-Treasurer, Hugh Ratliff; Orchestra Leader, Mrs. V. W. Meadors; Reporter, Ruth Payne.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one and plans were formulated to cooperate with the young people's organizations of the other churches of the city. The hour has not yet been determined, but it will not conflict with any other meeting. The Senior C. E. extends a very cordial invitation to the young people of the various churches of the city to meet with them, and feel that the association in both spiritual and social life will be a benefit to each organization. A program committee has been appointed and efforts are being made to give some helpful program each Sunday evening.

The social committee will spare no efforts in developing the social life of the young people. After the meeting adjourned several of the charter members visited the Epworth League of the Methodist church, and enjoyed the splendid program given by their young people.

All young people of the city are urged to attend the C. E. each Sunday evening the hour to be announced later.

You are welcome whether a member of any church or not. The meetings will be held in the main auditorium of the church and we want you to feel at home with us.

Reporter.

Methodist Church

You have a very splendid invitation to attend Sunday school next Sunday. Every church member not kept away for a good reason should be present. Excuses don't get us anywhere. Lay them aside and get up and get to Sunday school next Sunday at 9:45. If you know how to appreciate a real good Sunday school you ought to help it along and do all you can to make it better.

Remember we have preaching both morning and evening at the Methodist church. Congregations are fine, but we are not satisfied. There are many people who are not going to church with any regularity. Members are expected to attend church services, those who hold no church membership always find a real welcome at the Methodist church.

Warning!

There is quite an epidemic of Sunday head-aches. This disease is never fatal to the body, but its bad results are often more far reaching than the bodily discomfort. It usually comes on about 9:45 Sunday morning and remains with the patient until the close of the 11 o'clock preaching service, when it leaves the patient entirely, so he can go to town, to the office or riding in perfect comfort during the afternoon. But the awful malady returns usually in a very stubborn form about church time in the evening and remains for an hour with the patient when he is again able to find relief. Some are not attacked by the disease until the evening hour. By Monday morning all symptoms are gone and the patient is able to resume his usual vocation in perfect ease, except for a pain of remorse for not having spent the sabbath in a more helpful manner and a dull head-ache from having slept too much the previous day. The best remedy for this kind of ailment is attendance upon the Sunday school and two good preaching services Sunday. The best prevention is a good old fashioned dose of religion.

Go to church next Sunday. Special music. Music that you will enjoy and that will do you good.
 Evening service begins at 7:15.
 League at 8:30.

F. M. Squires and Miss Mollie Williams returned Monday from Spur where they spent Sunday with relatives.

HELPFUL HINTS

Sweet Crackers—1/2 cup of butter, 1 cup of sugar, whites of 2 eggs; beat well, then add 1 teaspoonful of baking powder, 1/2 teaspoonful soda, 1/2 cup of warm water, and flour enough to roll. Then cut, and prick with a fork.

Blackberry Whip—Whip cream or whites of eggs very stiff, sweeten and flavor to taste, and gradually beat in as much blackberry juice as possible. Pile in dessert dishes or sherbet glasses and serve with cake.

Beet Relish—Boil 12 medium-sized beets in salted water and run through food chopper, grind 4 medium-sized onions and add 2 table-spoons grated horseradish, 1 cup vinegar, 2 bay leaves, 3 cloves, 1/2 teaspoon each of allspice, cayenne and every seed of a little sugar and salt to taste. Let come to a boil and add to the beets. This relish is good to serve with cold meat.

Frozen Cookies—1 pound white sugar, 1/2 pound brown sugar, 4 eggs, 1 pint molasses, 1 teaspoon each of cloves, allspice, cinnamon and soda, 1 cup chopped nuts, flour enough to make quite stiff. Divide the dough and make several loaves about 1 inch thick. Cut very narrow cookies and turn on the cut side in the pan to bake. Do not crowd in pan as the cookies spread out instead of raising. These are delicious and as light as candy. Do not eat with sticky butter. Cut with knife, just straight narrow strips of dough.

French Cocoa Cake—2 small eggs, 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar, 3 rounded teaspoons cocoa, 2 level teaspoons cinnamon, 1 1/2 plus milk, 4 1/2 cups flour, 1 1/2 table-spoons grape jelly (soft), 1 1/2 table-spoons baking soda, vanilla. Beat the eggs and stir in the sugar then mix the cocoa and cinnamon with a little milk and add. Pour in the remainder of the milk very slowly, mix in the flour, stirring as you do so, now well the grape jelly and in it dissolve the baking soda. Mix with the other ingredients, stirring very well. Pour into the pan, and sprinkle the top with walnuts, either chopped or halved. Bake in a moderate oven for about an hour and a half. It can be served more quickly, but is much more satisfactory if baked slowly.

Casserole Birds—1 pound beef-steak from round, cut into bacon sized thin, seasoning and breaded flour. Cut steak in pieces three inches square. On each piece of steak place a thin slice of bacon and a sprig of onion and seasonings. Make little rolls of meat and fasten together with toothpicks. Brown in butter on both sides, sprinkle 2 table-spoons of brown sugar over birds, add salt, pepper and 2 bay leaves; pour over 2 cups water, cover, cook two hours.

Three Ices—Mash 4 lemons, squeeze out the juice of 3 lemons, and 3 oranges dissolve 1 quart of sugar in 1 quart of water. Add stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs when nearly frozen. In season, add 1 cup washed strawberries.

Salt-Rising Bread—Take 2 cups sweet milk, let it boil, pour in a pitcher and put enough cold water to cool it to milk warm. Stir in 3 table-spoons of corn meal, and 3 of sugar, and flour enough to make a thin batter. Set in a pot of warm water and stir often until it begins to rise. Don't let the yeast rise too much. When ready to make up, add a table-spoonful of sugar and a lump of lard and salt to taste. Make in loaves and set in a warm oven, or in the sun, and let rise; then bake. This is a tested recipe, and a good one; it makes four loaves of bread.

Sister Culwell will give a Valentine Social to this society Friday night. We certainly appreciate Mrs. Culwell for she does not limit her entertaining to just us, but the entire church. It is this Sunday school class and that is something else, and seems untrifling in her ministrations. Reporter.

WIT AND HUMOR

Fishy!

"Madam, here's a man at the door with a parcel for you."
"What is it, Maggie?"
"It's fish, ma'am, an' it's marked 'C. O. D.'"
"Tell him to take it back; I ordered trout."

Naming the Rose

Rehearsing

The cub reporter saw a hearse start away from a house at the head of a funeral procession.
"Who's dead?" he inquired of the corner storekeeper who was watching from his door.
"John Smith,"
"John Smith?" exclaimed the cub. "You don't mean to say John Smith is dead?"
"Yell by golly," said the grocer, "you got stuck—hey is doing mit him—bore it—bore!"

A Miracle

A school preacher had been asked to give in next Sunday's sermon an illustration of a miracle. This is how he did it:
"Mah, heeth'n an' sisters, Ah's gwine to explain a miracle.
"Eff you all want to see er cow in er field long side on de road, an' ah'n't no miracle.
"An' of you all want fuder 'long dat road and seen a big, sharp, pink thistle, dat ah'n't no miracle.
"An' of you all walked fuder 'long dat road an' heard a tony in a bird sing in er tree top, dat ah'n't no miracle.
"An' of you all want to see dirt chop squatin' smack on top of dat sharp thistle and singin' like dat 'n' bird, dat sure would be a fud case miracle!"

The Oppressed Laboringman

"Hey, Moske, and phwat do ye tink of these new sanitary drinkin' cups?"
"Sure, Pat, and soon we'll have to spit on our hands wid an eye-dropper!"

Logic

Future Theologian—Bobby, do you know, you've deliberately broken the eighth commandment by stealing James' candy?
Bobby—Well, I thought I might as well break the eighth commandment and have the candy as to break the 10th and only 'cove' it.

Unimpeachably Neutral

An Irishman went into a well-known Boston Restaurant a short time ago to get his lunch. Among other things he ordered some cold meat, and the waiter, when he had served the meal, inquired: "Will you have the French or German mustard, sir?"
"Neither," was the Irishman's reply. "I'm neutral. Bring me horseradish."

BAPTIST WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MEETS WITH RULE CHURCH

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Haskell County Baptist Association met with the Rule church Friday before the Fifth Sunday in January.
Mrs. Chas. Davis opened the meeting with a very helpful devotional. Mrs. R. J. Reynolds of Haskell, president of the Association Auxiliary, then took charge and after a few well chosen words from her, the regular program was taken up.
Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick of Haskell gave a most excellent talk on the "Graded W. M. U. and How to Attain It." In the absence of Mrs. J. O. Heath of Munday, her husband told us of the close relationship the Association Auxiliary bears to our county mission work.
One of the most inspiring papers of the meeting was read by Mrs. Frank Turner of Rule, her subject being "Faith."
An interesting round table discussion on "Leadership and Endowment" was conducted by Mrs. Wilmot Dougherty of Haskell, vice president of the Association work. This is a subject which deserves our best thoughts, planning and most earnest prayers.
The report would be altogether incomplete should we fail to mention the special music given so ably and sweetly by Mrs. Houze and Mrs. Reddell of Rule, also the excellent Sunbeam demonstration under the direction of Mrs. Frank Turner.
It is our earnest desire that more of our women attend these meetings. We always get a blessing from them.
Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Alexander and children of Seymour visited relatives in the city this week.

Feeding Poultry for Egg Production

By F. W. Kazimer, Poultry husbandman

Feeding poultry for egg-production is both a science and an art. Common sense must be used in addition to a balanced ration. All of these unless they have been bred for that purpose. A hen bred to lay eighty eggs in a year, will not lay many more, regardless of how well fed or favorable the environments may be.

It is true that hens on an average are not laying half as many eggs as they should. Proper feeding would do much to bring about a change of this condition.

One hen fed a balanced ration at an Experiment station laid 230 eggs in one year. Another hen in the same pen, with same environments, fed the same ration, laid only sixty eggs in one year. The former had inherited egg-laying qualities while the latter had not.

It is necessary to feed a balanced ration because the egg is made up of different proportions. She cannot adjust the composition of the feed to the composition of the egg. If she is fed enough water and fat to make an egg, but not enough protein and mineral matter, all she can do is to wait until she gets the necessary protein and mineral matter. Sometimes she is forced to wait a long time. Many a Texas hen is waiting for those two very things today. If your hens are not laying, possibly it is because they are waiting for something. A good poultry man is as careful to guard against hens standing idle for lack of material as a good superintendent of a factory running short of material, thus forcing an overhead labor expense.

In feeding for egg-production always remember that it takes a fat hen to be a laying hen, and it means liberal feeding to have the fowls in good condition. A hen in poor condition cannot produce eggs. Some feeds are better adapted for egg-production. This is only another reason why profitable egg-production requires the feeding of a balanced ration. When feeding for egg-production, we generally consider a ration that has 4 1/2 times as much carbohydrates and fat as protein, a balanced ration.

We have found that, for one reason or another, a certain amount of animal protein is necessary in every good egg-laying ration. The same applies to animal matter. This animal protein is found in milk, cottage cheese, beef scraps, green cut bone, meat bugs and insects.

It has been fairly well established that the dry mash in non-wasting and non-clogging hoppers is the most satisfactory way of feeding the dry mash. It at least gives the fowls a small chance to balance their own ration, which is highly desirable. The dry mash mixture must be depended upon very largely to furnish the food constituents that go into the formation of an egg. For this reason this mixture should always be prepared with care. It should always be reasonably rich in protein. About twenty to twenty-five per cent of the dry mash mixture should consist of some high grade poultry beef scraps. There are, of course, some exceptions to this rule, meal or cottonseed meal, it may be necessary to reduce the beef scrap content from 15 to 20 per cent.

Green cut bone, when it can be fed, before becoming tainted, makes a desirable food for laying hens, but when it costs almost as much as beef scraps, it is too expensive, because it contains too much water. Three ounces per hen a week is about the proper amount.

Green food is another very important essential for laying hens. They should have all they will consume. In Texas especially in the southern part, it is possible to have a green pasture for the hens the year round. When it gets dry, we recommend irrigating a small patch to provide a green pasture. Oats make a desirable green food, where it will not winter kill. Rye is to be recommended for the colder sections of the State. Beets, turnips, all kinds of vegetables, silage, cabbage, clover, etc., all are desirable green feeds for fowls.

Oyster shell grit and charcoal should always be kept before the fowls. A dish of skimmed milk, sour milk, and a dish of water should always be available.

Never make any sudden changes in the ration or method of feeding.

A good way of feeding hens for egg-production is something as follows: Early in the morning give a very sparing feed of corn, wheat, kafir, or milo, or some similar grain.

Keep before them all the time, in a good dry mash hopper, the following mixture:

- 50 lbs. wheat bran,
50 lbs. wheat middling or shorts,
50 lbs. corn meal,
50 lbs. ground milo,
10 lbs. cotton seed meal,
10 lbs. peanut meal,
50 lbs. best grade poultry beef scrap,
1 lb. salt.

About an hour and a half before sunset, give another feeding of grain in the litter. At this time give them all they will eat; in fact, just a little more. It is very important that the fowls go to roost with a full crop. All of the above should be supplemented with milk and water in separate dishes.

Give them green food, grit and oyster shell.

A NICE SHOWING MADE WITH RHODE ISLAND REDS

A few years ago our section of West Texas was socked with scrub poultry and we little dreamed of the real advancement that has been made in such a short time from the scrub to pure bred poultry. Our people are waking up to the fact that poultry pays and it is a matter of fact and figures and not imaginary.

We have a live poultry association and have held three annual shows, which have tested out the fact that we are in the poultry business and the financial side of the industry has come to light beyond doubt.

We have many members of the association who are planning extensive advancement on a permanent basis and that is on getting the best foundation stock that money can buy. Mrs. J. M. Baker of Haskell is one of our pioneer breeders of the Rhode Island Reds. She began the breed several years ago on a 1/2 acre in the north east part of town in her home and despite the many adversities she has kept steadily making perceptible progress year after year until today she has one of the best line-ups of three pens of Reds in West Texas. She has recently purchased one of the Owen Farm prize winners to head her first pen and she bought two other cockers to place in her second and third pens and she has spent no money or pains to build up her flock to prepare them for the matings of these excellent birds. She will sell eggs for hatching and pullets and cockerets in the fall from her matings of this spring. We invite those who are interested in the poultry business to watch and see a flock of prize winners from her pens.

We expect to call attention to others from time to time who are contributing their part to making Haskell county the better poultry county in West Texas.

There is no healthier growth for our country by any one than the poultry industry is a "pick-up" business as it has been considered by some who had not stopped to consider.

The Denver Railway Co. believe in the poultry industry of the country, hence the poultry car that carried 222 tons on their road with a one-day poultry school. Fall in line with a good flock of pure bred chickens and get on the second floor where there will be no sad regrets or anxious wishes.

J. C. Cobb Died February 2

The Roberts community was buried in sorrow Thursday morning, February 2nd, 1922, when it was learned that Bro. J. C. Cobb had passed away to be with his Lord, at the home of his son, Truitt Cobb. Bro. Cobb was born September 17th, 1854, surrendered his life to Christ in the summer of 1874 and united with the Shiloh Missionary Baptist church, in Robertson county, Texas. He was united in marriage to Lucy T. Lewis, March 10, 1881. She with her seven children survive him. There are four boys and three girls; C. B. Cobb, Sandia Texas; Earl Cobb, Franklin, Texas; Mrs. L. W. Carter, Marathon, Texas; Mrs. L. W. Cain, Shallow, Arizona; Mrs. Will Atchison, Haskell, Texas; Truitt Cobb, Haskell, Texas; Lewellen Cobb, Ralls, Texas.

Bro. Cobb was ready to go. Often in his last illness he spoke about "Rest, Sweet Rest," in the language of the Apostle Paul. He could truthfully say, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a good crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous judge shall give me."

Funeral services were conducted by the pastor Friday evening at one o'clock where a large number of friends gathered to pay their last respect to this good man. The remains were laid to rest in the Roberts cemetery.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stenall of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried very hard to get up, and a number of doctors, but I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

"I have seen thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments."

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 22

THINKS RHODE ISLAND REDS MOST PROFITABLE CHICKENS

The following account of the success she has made in the poultry business has been received by the Free Press from Mrs. J. M. Everheart of this city: "I have been breeding single comb Rhode Island Reds several years and think there are none that can beat them.

They are always on the job. There is never a time during the year I do not get eggs.

From January 1st, 1921, to Jan. 1st, 1922, I gathered 12,000 eggs from seventy-five hens and pullets. The least I got in one month was 543 eggs in July.

I get more eggs through winter and early spring than any time. January, February, March, April were my largest egg records.

I hatch most of my chicks with the incubator. Don't always have good hatches but can raise every one I hatch. I use home-made brooder and have fine luck.

I never feed chicks until they are forty-eight or sixty hours old. I feed dry bran and rolled oats five times a day until they are four or five days old, and then three or four times a day until they are two weeks old. I then keep before them all the time dry bran and beef scraps as a mash and maize and wheat as a scratch feed at night.

You can just see them grow. I hatched off 230 chicks in February and March and they weighed two pounds when eight weeks old, and all healthy fine looking fellows and all the same color. My pullets went to laying when six months old, which was Aug 1st.

We take extra care in selecting our breeding pens. We only breed our best layers with good type and color.

It pays to buy good breeding stock and one strain of birds. We never buy less than a $25 male bird for breeder.

I have three pens of which two of them are headed with $25 birds. My birds have quality and production combined. I have the best birds this year I have ever bred from. Have nice warm houses with scratch rooms for cold, bad days.

Chickens should always have plenty of fresh clean water at all times. We live on one and one-half acre town lots fenced in.

I bought all feed, hired lots and yards plowed and sowed, which I charged to my chickens as feed, and all medicine and live remedies charged to feed account.

I have twenty-five more birds now than I had last January.

TOWN

There is nothing to be done on the way to the town who will do it. He is helping to man who "cusses" the coffin. The man to have no time to give a share of the town for the shroud. The advertise is driven by a man who is at any public events on the grave.

The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times preaches the funeral and sings the doxology. And thus the town lies buried from all sorrow and care.—The News, Downs, Kansas.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM THE SAGERTON COMMUNITY

Miss Cleota Martin spent last week-end in Anson taking teachers examination.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Everheart entertained the young people last Friday evening honoring Misses Ruth and Kate Marie Parks of Stamford, sisters to Mrs. Everheart. The Misses Parks returned to their home Monday afternoon.

Mr. Claude Smith made a mysterious trip to Hawley last week. He declines to divulge the purpose or the result of the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lee and E. D. Eagleman made a trip to Haskell Saturday.

Mr. Joe Smith and family from east of Sagerton are moving to town this week. The youngsters members of the family report that they like city life and the gay whirl very much.

Supt. Allen A. Heathington spent Saturday in Rule where he witnessed the basketball game between Rochester and Leanders that cost Haskell county the championship.

Hon. Tom Davis of Haskell passed through town Monday on his way to attend the Dickens County court.

Since November Stephen & Co. have been holding a contest for a kitchen cabinet as first prize and a set of dishes as the second. With each $2.00 purchase was given a key. Mr. and Mrs. Walter White of Rule were in town shopping last Saturday.

A rabbit drive will be held in the Flat Top community of this week. You are invited.

Few people realize the importance of their own local paper especially if it be of the type usually referred to as "the country weekly." They spend their money for some paper that is printed and published by some company in a far off city, sold them by some agent with a lot of free prizes to give away to induce them to subscribe. The regular city daily has its place, so has the weekly. Read the former for general world wide news, the latter for the home news, news about the home folks and home doings. Read the old rag that heralded your advent into this world, an undeserved blessing on a sinful world and will herald your departure as world calamity when the chances are, you are not worth the type on either occasion, but such the charity of the editor. Show your gratitude and subscribe for the Haskell Free Press today. See Mr. Ratliff, Sagerton representative, any time day or night.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE CENTER POINT SECTION

Most of the people around Center Point have succeeded in unearthing themselves from the sand dunes once more.

The forty-two party at the home of Mr. Weaver was enjoyed by everyone who attended. Mr. Weaver and Miss Harwell are still champions in "Book," but Ethel Bland and Charles Matthews lost their title, when Miss Matthews and Miss Freeland beat them at forty-two.

An unusually large crowd attended the party at Elmo Galbreath's Saturday night, and all had a very pleasant time.

We had a number of visitors in our Sunday School last Sunday afternoon. We hope to see them back often.

The singing at Mr. McCowan's Sunday night was a success. Everyone enjoyed it.

Everyone is cordially invited to be present at our Literary Society program Friday night.

This talk was very much appreciated. He stated "That as the Missionary Societies are composed of mothers and busy housewives, that naturally their interests should be in the moral and spiritual conditions of their Community and that no matter how high the wall, we build around our homes, that when our children go out into the world, they meet with obstacles that contaminate and destroy. And the time is past when one thinks in sweeping his own door clean—that he has performed his mission—but must help in the betterment of community interests to protect his own."

Bro. Culwell then favored us with an allegory, "This Our Compassion," "On the Dollar."

Then business was resumed. Mrs. Tyson reported the charity expenditure for the month of $59.25.

Mrs. Fields presented the year books and Bible lesson—"Great Characters of the New Testament" Chap. 1.

No further business—meeting adjourned with Lord's Prayer.

W. H. MURCHISON CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY WITH DINNER

Saturday evening, February 5th, at seven o'clock, the home of Judge Murchison was the scene of a gathering of friends to enjoy the natal day of so worthy a friend.

It was not long after the assembling of the guests until the real hostess of the evening appeared and it was she that had the real message of the evening. After a few words the guests were invited to the dining room where dainty place cards, suggestive of Valentine's day marked places for Messrs J. E. Grissom, Courtney Hunt, Henry Alexander, Oscar Oates, Tom Davis, and host, Messdames J. R. Oates, Grissom, Alexander and hostess.

The center piece of the beautifully appointed table was formed by an immense birthday cake having forty-seven lighted candles on it. At each end of the table were red tapers in crystal holders with red Valentine shades.

Five delicious courses were served. Dainty Valentine favors filled with salted nuts were at each plate.

After the dinner hour the guests were invited to the large living room where a huge log fire lent a cheery air to this most hospitable of homes. Cigars were passed and after much merriment score cards also suggestive of Valentine's day were passed for auction bridge. It was here that Mr. Oscar Oates gave the host the surprise of her life when he very graciously presented him with a handsome gold watch from the gang.

After five games of bridge the hostess served Eskimo pie and macaroons.

The host was the recipient of telegrams from Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Long in Dallas and Mr. Jno. R. Oates in Fort Worth, wishing him many more birthdays, and regretting that they could not be with the gang that evening.

With hearty hand shakes and good wishes and for the return of many more occasions like this one, the guests took their departure.

A Guest.

BETWEEN THE LINES

You will not find a sentiment . . .
In this, my Valentine; . . .
To put such words on paper seems
To cheapen thoughts divine.
Tis not the words writ large or bold,
Or even those writ fine . . .
That stir the heart the most, 'tis those
That hide between each line.

—From the Philadelphia Ledger.

THE DAYS GONE BY

What has become
Of ye Olde way time
When you sent your girl
A Valentine?

Not one of these modern kind,
I mean
The ones that folded
With lace between.

And a heart with an arrow
Running right through,
And a verse inside about
"Violets blue."

Whose jingling rhyme
Sent thrills through your heart,
'Til you'd almost feel
Dan Cupid's dart.

It's scented folds
Made you dizzy with hope,
Remember, it smelled
Like a new bar of soap.

And when it came
You trembled for fear,
When you looked and found HER
Name written there.

Oh, what has become
Of ye Olde way time
When your girl sent you
A Valentine?

HAD ORIGIN IN PAGAN FESTIVAL

CUSTOM OF CHOOSING A VALENTINE IS ANCIENT.

Fathers of Christianity Modified the Practices, Which They Were Unable Entirely to Eradicate.

St. Valentine's day is the 14th of February, and singularly ominous to lovers. St. Valentine is said to have been a bishop who suffered martyrdom under the Roman emperor, Claudius, or else under Aurelian in 271.

Like many another semi-Christian custom, the day set apart to the memory of St. Valentine in the Christian calendar is an old pagan festival upon which our ancestors believed that the birds chose their mates for the coming year. This, at least, is the commonly received version of our modern custom of "choosing a valentine" on the 14th of February and of sending a billet-doux or a fancy valentine through the mail to some favored one.

In old Rome, the 15th of February was the festival of Juno Februata (Juno the fructifier), and the Roman church substituted St. Valentine for the heathen goddess. At that festival, called "Luperalia," it was there customary, among other ceremonies, to put the names of young women into a box, from which they were drawn by the men as chance directed.

The Christian clergy, finding it difficult or impossible to extirpate the pagan practice, and in accordance with their general principle to eradicate the vestiges of pagan superstition by retaining the ceremonies but modifying their significance, gave it a religious aspect by substituting the names of particular saints for those of women. The saints whose names were drawn were proposed for imitation to the persons who received the slips of paper whereon they were written, and in many religious houses, where this custom still prevails, each member of the community preserves his billet during the year, as an incitement to imitate the virtues and invoke the special intercession of his holy valentine.

This innovation, however, namely, the substitution of the names of saints for the names of lovers, could not please the young people forever. Though the clergy repeatedly forbade the custom of valentines and ordered the use of cards with saints' names, the old pagan custom could not be abolished. The boys and girls triumphed over the saints, and in the end the girls triumphed over the boys, wresting from them their exclusive privilege of choosing mates.

The old custom of drawing names is to this day observed in many parts of England and Scotland in the following manner: A number of clips of paper with the names of an equal number of men and women are shuffled and drawn, so each young man has a valentine in the person of a young maiden, and each maiden draws a young man whom she calls hers. The valentines give each other gifts, and often this little sport ends in love and marriage.

FEBRUARY FOURTEEN

Oh, were ye all, my maidens fair,
And were ye, gentlemen,
For there is danger in the air.
New Cupid's come again,
Encase your hearts in adamant,
And guard them round about,
For Cupid is a sly gallant
And like to draw them out.

Oh, guard ye well, my maidens all,
And ye, my gentlemen,
Where Cupid's darts are like to fall
Is always uncertain.
Gird on your armor, strong and true,
And steel your hearts, and wait,
And be convinced he shoots at you
Ere you capitulate.
