

Fishing Rodeo To Highlight Lake Opening

All Around the Town
by Mary Ann Sarchet

We would like to commend the owners of Ray Thompson Implement Company for their community-mindedness and support of school and civic projects. This business establishment has always been good to support the volunteer fire department and volunteer ambulance service by allowing its employees to go fight fires and make ambulance runs during business hours.

Lately, there have been a number of ambulance calls made during the daytime, and the ambulance service has almost run out of volunteers who are able to leave their businesses or their jobs to perform this community service.

Jerry Patton had to leave the City Hall Tuesday and Wednesday to go on ambulance calls. He hopes you were not inconvenienced if you came to the City Hall and found him gone.

If your business employs volunteer ambulance drivers and you would be willing for them to make an occasional daytime call, will you let one of the officers of the ambulance service know? They promise not to take them when you are especially busy if you will let them go occasionally when you can spare them. This would help relieve the four or five who are presently taking all the daytime calls.

A skunk, which was thought to be rabid, was killed west of Silverton Sunday. This brings to our attention that it is once again time to suspect animals displaying unusual behavior of having rabies. It is also time to get pets vaccinated against rabies.

Have you lost a jacket? A black double-knit jacket with a white stripe design in it has been turned in at the News Office. We have asked a number of people if they know who it belongs to, but so far, we have been unable to locate the owner. It is a ladies or girls garment and looks like the top of a suit or pant-suit. If it's yours, come get it.

Former Publisher Buried At Floydada Monday

Funeral services for M. B. Cavanaugh, 86, were conducted in the chapel of Moore-Rose Funeral Home in Floydada at 2:00 p.m. Monday. Officiating at the services was Earl Cantwell, minister of the Rock Creek Church of Christ and a long-time friend and associate of the deceased.

Burial was in the Floydada Cemetery, with arrangements directed by Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Perry Thomas, Pete Chitty, H. B. Simpson, Fred Strange, Ashel McDaniel and Charles Sarchet.

Mr. Cavanaugh died at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Lockney General Hospital where he had been since suffering a stroke at his home in Silverton two weeks earlier. He apparently suffered another stroke on the day of his death.

He was born May 11, 1889 in Polk County, Texas. He had worked most of his life as a printer and owned and published several Texas newspapers. As a young man he attended the Linotype School, a trade school for printers operated by the Mergenthaler Linotype Company at New Orleans, Louisiana. The course was designed to be completed in several months, and as soon as Mr. Cavanaugh completed the course, during which the student had to completely disassemble and reassemble a Linotype machine, he started back at the first and went completely through the school again. He wasn't satisfied until he felt he knew all that was to be learned there. By the time he left the Linotype School, he knew exactly how every piece of this particular type-setting machine fits together, what it does, why, and how to make necessary adjustments when it became out of repair.

Mr. Cavanaugh came to this area and worked for the Memphis Democrat, Tulia Herald, White Deer News, Floyd County Hesperian, and published an independent newspaper, the Floyd County Hesperian, at Floydada. In the late 1940's, he purchased the Briscoe County News in Silverton from Joseph B. Powell, and operated it until selling to W. A. and Doris Amburn, who operated it in 1954 and 1955. Mr. Cavanaugh operated a newspaper in Marfa during this time, and returned to Silverton in 1956 to resume ownership of the Briscoe County News. He sold the newspaper to the present owners April 1, 1959. In the meantime, the White Deer News had been destroyed, and the printer's ink was still very much in his veins even though he had reached the age of 70, so Mr. Cavanaugh began traveling here and there around the countryside, as printers are wont to do, gathering up equipment and in a few months he opened the White Deer News. He operated it for a while, then sold it, and retired to the home he had maintained all the while in Silverton.

He had many, many friends among the old-time printers, many of whom have now passed away. The common belief is that newspapers in neighboring cities are rivals, but this is not true; they are friends and neighbors of the highest order, much accustomed to helping one another through their adversities. Mr. Cavanaugh was one of the most highly-skilled machinists in this area, and he shared this knowledge with his friends in the trade.

He was a very soft spoken and gentle man.

There will be a meeting Tuesday, April 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the P. C. A. community room in Silverton for the purpose of discussing the provisions of the disaster portion of the present Agriculture Act.

The public is invited to attend, and all agricultural producers who do not understand the present program provisions are urged to be there.

Theo Folsom Site in the new Caprock Canyons State Park, which is located four miles north of Quitaque.

This year Texas received the third largest allocation in the nation—just behind California and Massachusetts—out of a $22.3 million appropriation earmarked for the acquisition and restoration of properties listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The National Register is the official inventory of properties worthy of preservation for their historical, architectural, archeological, or cultural significance on a local, state, or national level. There are over 315 Texas sites currently listed on the National Register.

The federal funds, which are made available under the Historic Preservation Act of 1966, are channeled to the states through the National Park Service, a division of the Department of the Interior. The Texas Historical Commission administers these funds for the State.

In fiscal 1975 the THC distributed just over half a million dollars in federal grants-in-aid, nearly double the amount awarded in 1974.

Put on the Full Armour

"Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God"...

In Paul's letter to the Ephesians, he makes a comparison of the children of God and warriors. He says that our loins should be girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness. He makes many more comparisons that exhort us to a proper life. Another thing that Paul urges is that we gather together and worship the Lord. No part of our armour is greater than regular church attendance. Much strength for the week is derived from worshiping with others.

Complete your suit of armour... attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WITNESSES TO ATTEND CIRCUIT ASSEMBLY APRIL 10-11

Carl Tidwell, a minister of the Quitaque Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, which also serves Silverton, announced today "the suspension of the Theocratic School, Service Meeting, Public Talk and Watchtower Bible Study for this week," because of the Witnesses' semi-annual Circuit Assembly April 10-11.

"The theme of the two-day convention, 'Become Doers of the Word,' will be introduced by our District Overseer, W. S. Brandozzi," reported Tidwell. He said, "The entire program will be designed to encourage all of Jehovah's Witnesses to have a larger share in proclaiming God's kingdom as active 'doers' of God's Word."

According to an assembly spokesman, area ministers associated with the Quitaque Congregation having a part in the assembly will be Rex Tiffin delivering a talk on the Witnesses' home visits on the Sunday morning program, while Wayne Bell was selected to head a new department and Tidwell to assist in the Public Address Department in a recent reorganization. Tiffin continues as Assistant Assembly Overseer, appointed by the Watchtower Society, convention sponsor.

Tidwell says, "Mr. Brandozzi will highlight the assembly with the talk, 'Are You Doing What God Requires of You?' that has been specially prepared for the public as well as the Witnesses. This discourse will be given many times throughout the coming weeks in circuits in the United States at similar conventions." Brandozzi serves such Circuit Assemblies in parts of seven states. Tidwell added, "We invite anyone interested in the Bible to come to any of the sessions at our Assembly Hall in Arlington, 224 Center Street, or to any of the meetings at the local Kingdom Hall, First and Jago, Quitaque.

You Can BANK on it!

It can be truly said that banking in America was born of the Revolution. For most of the struggle for independence, the lack of money often posed a greater danger than the British armies and navy.

The year 1780 started ominously for the colonies. To fight the war, the country had almost exhausted its resources and finances through lotteries and loans, and Congress found that its paper money was virtually worthless.

A group of Philadelphia citizens decided to undertake a salvaging action, and on June 8, 1780 they founded the Bank of Philadelphia. While the bank began rather modestly, the same group initiated a larger subscription for 300,000 Pounds (the Colonies were still using Pounds, instead of dollars; that would come later) after the fall of Charleston to the British.

Its money bought beef, flour, pork, salt, sugar, rum and other supplies for the Continental army. By the time the bank wound up its business in late 1784, it had provided the army with some one million rations.

Let these roof specialists examine your roof for they may find that it is in good condition, ready for many years of service or they may find defects that can easily be remedied, but which if neglected might soon dangerously weaken your roof. Dear Charlotte,

Know what three thought-provoking words are?—SIT A SPELL. This past Sunday morning both children were in the backyard in pajamas. It was a beautiful morning and glorious spring world—a red bird with Monday energy, a stubborn pecan tree finally deciding to join an already green world with a new pale green dress, grass wet with April, the small of spring better than homemade bread.

I sailed forth in high gear to fetch the Sunday paper when I heard "Sit down with us, Mama." Almost I said, "Can't—beds to make, clothes to change, bacon to fry, must hurry for Church (also read paper)," but I didn't. I decided to sit a spell.

I watched while one hit an imaginary baseball and thought how beautiful was his coordination and his world. I envied the other doing handsprings and wished that I dared.

Sit a spell—even the Bible admonishes us to sit still, stand still, be still. In this hurry-hurry world we often think that unless we are moving, life isn't what it ought to be.

We should stop and be still and cherish a Sunday morning and hold it, cherish a child and hold him, remember a neighbor who is ill, or lonely, or happy, notice a red bird and look at an April morning, sit with a friend over a cup of coffee, tell someone that you love him, and tell God that you are glad He is in His Heaven, and SIT A SPELL.

Sitting,
