HANDWASHING: THE MOST IMPORTANT DEFENSE

Keeping hands clean through improved hand hygiene is one of the most important steps we can take to avoid getting sick and spreading germs to others. Many diseases and conditions are spread by not washing hands with soap and clean, running water. If clean, running water is not accessible, as is common in many parts of the world, use soap and available water. If soap and water are unavailable, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol to clean hands.

When should you wash your hands?

- Before, during, and after preparing food
- Before eating food
- Before and after caring for someone who is sick
- Before and after treating a cut or wound
- After using the toilet
- After changing diapers or cleaning up a child who has used the toilet
- After blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing
- After touching an animal or animal waste
- After handling pet food or pet treats
- After touching garbage

What is the right way to wash your hands?

- Wet your hands with clean, running water (warm or cold) and apply soap.
- Rub your hands together to make a lather and scrub them well; be sure to scrub the backs of your hands, between your fingers, and under your nails.
- Continue rubbing your hands for at least 20 seconds. Need a timer? Hum the "Happy Birthday" song from beginning to end twice.
- Rinse your hands well under running water.
- Dry your hands using a clean towel or air dry them.

How do you use hand sanitizers?

- Apply the product to the palm of one hand.
- Rub your hands together.
- Rub the product over all surfaces of your hands and fingers until your hands are dry.
- Hand sanitizers are not as effective when hands are visibly dirty.

Home Care: Keeping Texans Proud & Independent

Hydrocodone products to become Schedule II controlled substances

The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is informing Texans that hydrocodone combination products (HCPs) have been moved from the classification of a Schedule III drug to the more-restrictive Schedule II drug, effective on Oct. 6, 2014. The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration's rescheduling of HCPs as Schedule II controlled substances will increase the restrictions on prescribing and dispensing practices for hydrocodone combination drugs.

HCPs are drugs that contain both hydrocodone—which by itself is a Schedule II drug—and specified amounts of other substances, such as acetaminophen or aspirin.

The federal Controlled Substances Act places substances with accepted medical uses into one of four schedules, with the substances with the highest potential for harm and abuse being placed in Schedule II, and substances with progressively less potential for harm and abuse being placed in Schedules III through V. (Schedule I is reserved for those controlled substances with no currently accepted medical use and lack of accepted safety for use.)

For additional information on the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration announcement, visit: <http://www.justice.gov/dea/divisions/hq/2014/hq082114.shtml>.

DPS is also reminding Texans that tramadol is now a Schedule IV controlled substance as of Aug. 18, 2014. For more information, see <http://www.justice.gov/dea/>.

Passport Fair set Sept. 13 in Seymour

Are you planning a trip out of the country? The Seymour Post Office located at 210 N. Washington is holding a special passport fair from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. Sat., Sept. 13. International travel regulations require a valid Passport Book for U.S. citizens traveling by air between the United States and other countries. A Passport Card is required to travel via land or sea between the U.S. and Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean and Bermuda. "Customers need to prepare in advance," said Postmaster, Sid Winn. "Routine passport processing takes 4-6 weeks. The Postal Service wants to help customers receive their passport in plenty of time for their trip."

To obtain a passport

customers need to:

- Bring in proper proof of American citizenship. This must be either a certified birth certificate issued by the city, county or state; a previous U.S. passport; a certificate of citizenship; or a naturalization certificate. (Please note: a hospital-issued birth certificate alone is not acceptable.)

- Bring in proof of identity. This must be a photo ID such as a U.S. passport; a naturalization certificate; a certificate of citizenship; or a current valid driver's license, government ID or military photo ID.

- The passport application requires one recent photograph (2" x 2" in size), which the Seymour Post Office can provide for $15.

- To save time, customers may download a passport application at www.usps.com/passport to complete beforehand.

- All applicants must appear in person (including minors).

- Minors under the age of 16 must appear with both parents. If one parent is not available, a notarized authorization from the absent parent is required.

Each passport book

(good for air and land travel) for an adult must be accompanied by a check or money order for $110 made payable to the U.S. Department of State and a $25 execution fee made payable to Postmaster. Fees for children under 16 are $80 and $25. Fees for passport cards (land travel only) are $30 for adults and $15 for children under 16.

"It is important for customers to complete this process well before their trip," said Winn. Customers traveling in less than 3 weeks can request Expedite Service and receive their passport in 1-2 weeks. Expedite Service costs an additional $60 plus mail charges to the passport processing center and for return of the new passport.

For more information about the Passport Fair, call the Seymour Post Office at 940-889-3550.

Customers can also call 800-ASK-USPS to get the location of other nearby passport Post Offices and their passport customer service hours, or visit the State Department's web site at www.travel.state.gov.

Keeping your valuables safe

Deciding the best way to keep valuables safe is often a dilemma for consumers. The following information can help determine if a home safe or a safe deposit box at your local financial institution is the best option for you.

Home Safe

The demand for home safes has spiked recently. Medium-size safes can be purchased for as little as $150 dollars. Inexpensive safes may only weigh between 100 to 150 pounds, which means that one or two not-so-hefty burglars could easily remove it from a home. However, even large safes are vulnerable. A 300-pound safe can be opened using crowbars, sledgehammers and other tools found in most garages.

If you choose a home safe, buy one that is fire and water-resistant, and put it in an area not prone to flooding and away from flammable items. Place your safe in an area where thieves aren't likely to search for valuables—a child's closet, for example—and bolt it to or anchor it in a concrete floor, if possible. Anything you do to slow a thief down can cause him to miss or give up on your safe.

Safe Deposit Box

On the other hand, a safe deposit box at your local financial institution essentially weighs thousands of pounds and resides behind a 12-inch thick vault door with reinforced concrete and steel walls. In addition, it is protected by a state-of-the-art security system that is monitored 24-hours a day by a bonded and professional security monitoring company.

There are several common misconceptions about safe deposit boxes. First, there are no state or federal laws that restrict the storing of cash, coins or precious metals in a safe deposit box. Such laws could never be enforced because box contents are always confidential. No financial institution employee can or should know what's in your box. Although there's no way for a financial institution to know what's in your box, be sure to read your rental agreement because it may prohibit certain items.

Second, if an institution fails, safe deposit boxes are secure. In the majority of cases, a troubled financial institution is usually acquired by another bank or credit union. In this case, it's business as usual. In the event that a failed institution is taken over by regulators, each box renter will be notified that the box contents need to be retrieved. Third, safe deposit box contents are not insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, National Credit Union Administration or the financial institution.

Safe deposit boxes typically come in several sizes ranging from small to large depending on your needs. Annual rental fees run from a few dollars to more than $150 based on box size. These rental fees typically include an elaborate security system and unlimited access to box contents.

Neither a home safe—regardless of its size or cost—nor a safe deposit box housed in the most secure vault can always protect against burglaries, terrorism or the ravages of natural or man-made disasters. Hurricane Katrina caused the flooding of vaults and home safes, and the intense heat caused by the World Trade Center attack destroyed many boxes. To avoid water damage from a flood, all items in a home safe or safe deposit box should be sealed in airtight plastic bags or watertight containers.

Home safes are certainly convenient for those items you need instant and frequent access to, but for security and peace of mind, you get more bang for your buck with a safe deposit box.

Compiled by Dave McGuinn, president of Safe Deposit Specialists in Houston, as a public service provided by the Independent Bankers Association of Texas (IBAT) and the IBAT Education Foundation.

Judge rules revisions to abortion law unconstitutional

AUSTIN—U.S. District Judge Lee Yeakel on Aug. 29 struck down two provisions in House Bill 2, legislation passed by the Texas Legislature in the second special session of 2013, amending the state Health and Safety Code to restrict access to abortion services.

Yeakel wrote, "A state's legislature cannot purport to act to abrogate the rights guaranteed by the United States Constitution," and concluded the following provisions in the law put an unconstitutional burden on women:

- That a physician performing or inducing an abortion must, on the date the abortion is performed or induced, have active admitting privileges at a hospital that is located not further than 30 miles from the location at which the abortion is performed or induced.

- That the minimum standards for an abortion facility must be equivalent to the minimum standards adopted for ambulatory surgical centers.

Also, Yeakel wrote, the two provisions would act together "to create a scheme that effects the closing of almost all abortion clinics in Texas that were operating legally in the fall of 2013" and thus, "the overall effect... is to create an impermissible obstacle as applied to all women seeking a pre-viability abortion."

The case was brought by regional abortion providers in this state who joined together as plaintiffs, seeking to prevent those two provisions of the amended law from taking effect on Sept. 1. The group sued Texas Department of State Health Services Commissioner David Lakey, M.D., and Mari Robinson, executive director of the Texas Medical Board, in their official state capacities.

Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott said he would file an appeal on behalf of the state. The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans is the appellate court.

Abbott, Davis to square off

Less than two months remain until the Nov. 4 statewide election in which Texans will pick Gov. Rick Perry's successor. Republican Greg Abbott and state Sen. Wendy Davis, a Democrat, were about eight points apart, with Abbott at 48 points to Davis's 40, in an early August Rasmussen Reports poll. The Rasmussen poll also showed nine percent of respondents as undecided and three percent supporting candidates other than Abbott or Davis.

Dallas public television and radio station KERA on Sept. 4 announced it will host a one-hour live debate between Abbott and Davis beginning at 8 p.m. on Sept. 30. The debate will be broadcast on television, radio and online.

No plans have been publicized for more debates between the two front-running candidates.

Perry renews proclamation

Gov. Rick Perry on Aug. 29 renewed for the month of September his July 2011 emergency disaster proclamation that certifies exceptional drought conditions pose a threat of imminent disaster in 107 specified counties in Texas.

Rules and regulations that may inhibit or prevent prompt response to the threat are suspended for the duration of the state of disaster, according to the proclamation.

Financial ratings now available

Texas Education Agency on Sept. 5 announced the release of financial accountability ratings for more than 1,205 school districts and 202 charters across the state. The 2013-2014 ratings are based on annual financial reports provided to TEA by districts and charters from the 2012-2013 school year.

Based on the submitted information, one of four financial management ratings is assigned: Superior, Above Standard, Standard or Substandard. For 2013-2014, approximately 95 percent of Texas school districts passed with a rating of Standard or above, the education agency said.

Ratings are based on 20 established financial indicators, such as operating expenditures for instruction, tax collection rates, student-teacher ratios, and long-term debt. Each school district and charter is required to hold a public hearing regarding its financial report.

Most-ever property returned

State Comptroller Susan Combs on Sept. 4 announced the return of more than $205 million in unclaimed property to rightful owners in fiscal year 2014-2015, which ended Aug. 31.

This set a record, she said, as the previous high water mark for unclaimed property returned by the agency was $177.6 million in fiscal 2013.

Combs said the returned property included forgotten utility deposits or other refunds, insurance proceeds, payroll checks, cashier's checks, dividends, mineral royalties, dormant bank accounts and abandoned safe deposit box contents.

Livestock producers urged to enroll in disaster assistance program by Oct. 1

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is encouraging producers who have suffered eligible disaster-related losses to act to secure assistance by Sept. 30, 2014, as congressionally mandated payment reductions will take place for producers who have not acted before that date. Livestock producers that have experienced grazing losses since October 2011 and may be eligible for benefits but have not yet contacted their local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office should do so as soon as possible.

The Budget Control Act passed by Congress in 2011 requires USDA to implement reductions of 7.3 percent to the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) in the new fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, 2014. However, producers seeking LFP support who have scheduled appointments with their local FSA office before Oct. 1, even if the appointment occurs after Oct. 1, will not see reductions in the amount of disaster relief they receive.

USDA is encouraging producers to register, request an appointment or begin a Livestock Forage Disaster Program application with their county FSA office before Oct. 1, 2014, to lock in the current zero percent sequestration rate. As an additional aid to qualified producers applying for LFP, the Farm Service's Agency has developed an online registration that enables farmers and ranchers to put their names on an electronic list before the deadline to avoid reductions in their disaster assistance. This is an alternative to visiting or contacting the county office. To place a name on the Livestock Forage Disaster Program list online, visit <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/disaster-register>.

Producers who already contacted the county office and have an appointment scheduled need do nothing more.

"In just four months since disaster assistance enrollments began, we've processed 240,000 applications to help farmers and ranchers who suffered losses," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "Eligible producers who have not yet contacted their local FSA office should stop by or call their local FSA office, or sign up online before Oct. 1 when congressionally mandated payment reductions take effect. This will ensure they receive as much financial assistance as possible."

The Livestock Indemnity Program, the Tree Assistance Program and the Noninsured

Disaster Assistance Program Frost Freeze payments will also be cut by 7.3 percent on Oct. 1, 2014. Unlike the Livestock Forage Disaster Program, applications for these programs must be fully completed by Sept. 30. FSA offices will prioritize these applications, but as the full application process can take several days or more to complete, producers are encouraged to begin the application process as soon as possible.

The Livestock Forage Disaster Program compensates eligible livestock producers who suffered grazing losses due to drought or fire between Oct. 1, 2011 and Dec. 31, 2014. Eligible livestock includes alpacas, beef cattle, buffalo, beefalo, dairy cattle, deer, elk, emus, equine, goats, llamas, poultry, reindeer, sheep or swine that have been or would have been grazing the eligible grazing land or pastureland. Producers forced to liquidate their livestock may also be eligible for program benefits.

Additionally, the 2014 Farm Bill eliminated the risk management purchase requirement. Livestock producers are no longer required to purchase coverage under the federal crop insurance program or Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program to be eligible for Livestock Forage Disaster Program assistance.

To learn more about USDA disaster relief program, producers can review the 2014 Farm Bill fact sheet at www.fsa.usda.gov/farmbill, the LFP program fact sheet, <http://go.usa.gov/5JTk>, or contact their local FSA office.

The Livestock Forage Disaster Program was made possible through the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. Finding regulated child care near you

by DaLinda Black
CEA/FCS, Haskell Co.

Before putting your child in someone else's care, always use txchildcaresearch.org to find regulated care near you and find out how it complies with state standards.

Questions to ask when choosing your day care:

- May I see your DFPS permit or letter to operate?
- What do you like the most/least about caring for children?
- What is the typical day like for a child in your care?
- How much TV do you let children watch?
- How do you discipline children?
- How do you handle nap times? How do you handle diaper changing or toilet training?
- What types of play or learning activities do you offer for my child?
- Are you trained in CPR and First Aid?

- What other training have you and your staff had?
- How will you let me know about my child's progress or concerns?
- What types of foods do you serve for meals and snacks?
- Are children ever transported?
- Do you use seatbelts or car seats?
- How do you handle weather or other emergencies?

Your choice of child care has a huge affect on your child. While it can't replace a parent's love and attention, quality child care can help your child develop language skills, social skills, and self-esteem. So, don't be in the dark about child care. Find out the facts before entrusting your child to someone else.

Always Choose Regulated Day Care!

Unregulated child care may be convenient and affordable but it leaves you and your child in the dark. Unregulated care means no inspections, no training, no one enforcing basic health and safety standards, and no record for you to check. Don't be in the dark about child care. Find regulated child care and check its inspection record at txchildcaresearch.org. Day care centers and homes are regulated by the Child Care Licensing (CCL) division of the Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS). CCL sets minimum standards and rules to ensure the health and safety of children in day care, and issues a license, a registration, or a listing to various types of day care operations. Some types of child care are inspected regularly and others only if there is a complaint. Find out about the types of care, minimum standards, and other rules on the Information for Parents section of the Child Care Licensing website.

Looking for Day Care

Find the right fit for your child. Look for features that will help your child thrive.

Consider the caregiver's education, experience, and training, as well as the size of the group and setting.

Research your options. Learn about licensed and registered child care at txchildcaresearch.org. There you will find the results of CCL inspections and details about the operation. Ask friends, family, and other parents if they can recommend child caregivers.

How would you feel to be there all day?

Check them out in person. Once you narrow your list, visit each child care operation while children are there. See what activities are done, how the caregiver interacts with children, and how the children like it there. Take your child to visit the center or home. Read the results of the last inspection at txchildcaresearch.org to see if they comply with minimum standards.

Meet the caregiver or director. Discuss your concerns and make sure you are happy with their answers. Return unannounced for a second look.

Stay Involved in Your Child's Care

Keep talking with the caregiver. Ask to see weekly activity plans and menus. Ask how your child is behaving, getting along with others, making progress, and if your child is having difficulty adjusting.

Keep talking to your children. Ask them how the day went, what they did, who they saw, or if anything special happened. If your child doesn't want to go back—find out why and follow up with the caregiver.

Report your concerns. Report anything that may affect a child's health or safety as soon as possible.

Report child abuse or neglect or illegal day care to the Texas Abuse Hotline at 1-800-252-5400. The hotline is open all day, every day of the year. For emergencies call 9-1-1 or your local police. The law protects people who make reports in good faith from legal liability.

If you have more general concerns, call your local CCL office or our statewide child-care information line at 1-800-862-5252. Local offices are listed at LocalChildCareLicensingOffices.com.

This Week's Devotional Message:

Faith will reveal the joy of forgiveness

If you are burdened with a feeling of resentment against someone who has wronged you in the past, you are bringing far more unhappiness to yourself than to the person whose action you resent. The Bible tells us to love one another; and to love is to forgive, no matter how serious the offense. If the Son of God, whose teachings you follow, was able to forgive those who had subjected Him to the most heinous crime in all history, you can forgive someone a far lesser offense. Go to your church and learn how love brings peace and happiness, while resentment can cause only misery to yourself and those around you.

City Council report

The Haskell City Council met Mon., Sept. 8 with Mayor John Gannaway, Mayor Pro Tem Shane Whitt, Councilman Allen Morrow and Councilwoman Jill Druessedow present. Councilmen Ernest Frye and Dan Hoover were absent.

The meeting was adjourned after the usual opening activities to enter into a public hearing on the proposed budget for the 2014-2015 fiscal year and on the proposed tax rate of .5256/$100 valuation for the 2014-2015 fiscal year which is the same rate as the 2013-2014 fiscal year.

No public comments were made during the public hearing and it was adjourned.

Returning to the regular council meeting, a budget amendment was approved as presented.

A discussion on Ordinance #032309 was discussed by City Administrator, Brandon Anderson. This ordinance was passed by the council in 2009 and states, "It shall be the duty of any property owner to keep any sidewalk, parkway, curb, driveway or alleyway abutting such property in good and safe condition. No plant, material, fence, structure or activity shall be allowed in such a manner as to interfere with the free passage of vehicles on the street or alleyways or of pedestrians on the sidewalk or parkway or to obscure the view of motor vehicle operators of any traffic control device or street sign or to otherwise create a traffic hazard." For a copy of this ordinance a public information request may be made at city hall.

A motion to confirm the Mayor's appointment of Linda St. John as city secretary looked as though the motion would die for lack of a second but after some discussion a second was made. A roll call vote was called for by the Mayor and the motion failed.

Police Chief Scott Kennedy, Director of Public Works Matthew Duran and City Administrator Brandon Anderson gave their respective reports to the council.

No public comment requests were properly submitted so there were no public comments.

National Preparedness Month (NPM) is part of a campaign called America's PrepareAthon! The theme this year for NPM is "Be Disaster Aware, Take Action to Prepare."

"You should do the basics to prepare for hurricanes, flooding, wildfires, earthquakes or any other type of disaster—be informed, make a plan, build a kit and get involved," said FEMA Region 6 Administrator Tony Robinson. "We encourage you to take things one step further and make sure you are financially ready too. You should do things like put your important personal documents, such as insurance information, in a waterproof container or develop a family communications plan." Visit www.ready.gov/ prepare for more information on America's PrepareAthon! and to find tools to stage your own emergency preparedness drills.
