SALT IS PROBLEM ONLY FOR SOME

For a majority of people, extra salt or sodium is not a serious problem, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service foods and nutrition specialist.

Only about 15-20 percent of the population are sodium sensitive and cannot get rid of large amounts of excess sodium. It stays in their body tissues and holds extra water which leads to the development of high blood pressure. Many of these people will respond to a low-sodium diet with a drop in blood pressure.

The four groups most at risk of hypertension, or high blood pressure, need to restrict sodium, says the nutritionist. These include persons with chronic renal (kidney) disease, people with hypertensive parents, individuals over 50 and certain racial groups such as black males, 50 percent of whom develop high blood pressure.

Gerald Beasley
HE HAD A

PLEASANT VOICE

Ezekiel was among the Jewish exiles in Babylonian captivity. Not all his writing is easily understood, but he apparently was well-received as a speaker among his people (Ezek. 33:30-33).

Indeed, Jehovah informed Ezekiel that his people (the Jews) talked favorably of him and urged one another to hear him. Ezekiel was unto his fellow Israelites "as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument . . ."

The prophet might have been inflated by this information had not God also said, "For they hear thy words, but they do them not." A problem with the non-doers was, ". . . their heart goeth after their gain."

We may compliment and "enjoy" the dedicated and apt teacher who communicates vital information to us, but what folly to hear such impelling words and "do them not."

Jesus makes clear that the truly wise man, "who built his house upon the rock" is the one who "heareth these words of mine, and doeth them . . ." (Mt. 7).

Story Has A Happy Ending

Mrs. Faye Rampley's faith in the people of Silverton proved to have merit last week when a friend called to tell her that she had found the necklaces she lost in front of the Post Office.

"I knew that someone who lives in Silverton had found them," Mrs. Rampley said, "and I know how good and honest these people are."

She was very glad to have them returned because of their sentimental value.

Mrs. Charles Sarchet was in Lubbock Friday to assist her daughter-in-law and grandchildren, Mrs. Ken Sarchet, Brandon and Jordan, in celebrating the birthday of her son, Ken Sarchet. She stayed with the children Friday night while Ken and Jonann went out to eat and to a movie.

J. Lynn Futch Meets With Secretary Block

After a recent meeting with Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block in Chicago, J. Lynn Futch, Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) State Director for Texas, said the most immediate challenge stressed by Block for 1984 "is to achieve heavy participation in the 1984 farm programs."

State Directors for USDA's Farmers Home Administration and State Executive Directors for USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service from over the nation attended the meeting with the Secretary. Emphasis was placed on the benefits producers will receive by signing up for the commodity programs.

Block said that both government and private sector analysts are saying basically the same thing: It will prove advantageous for the average American farmer to participate in these 1984 farm programs. He said the programs will not only provide a needed conservation effort, but they will also offer producers a protection against serious downward price fluctuations.

"It's essential that agriculture show its willingness to do its part in maintaining the thrust of its own recovery," Block said. "These programs and our federal crop insurance could be two of the best tools producers can work with in 1984."

Block said the farm programs, in combination with the federal crop insurance, will provide protection against the risks of drought, freeze, flood or other unanticipated acts of nature.

Kelthane Manufacturer Agrees to Scientific Review

(AUSTIN)--No traces of the banned pesticide DDT were found in any of 17 laboratory tests on the miticide dicofol conducted by the Texas Department of Agriculture, according to TDA Assistant Commissioner Ron White.

White, who is in charge of the department's regulatory division, said the tests on dicofol, marketed under the trade name Kelthane, were conducted at TDA's Brenham lab on 17 different dicofol products marketed in Texas by six registrants. A general-use pesticide, it is available either as a wettable powder or as an emulsifiable concentrate. It is used on many fruit, field and ornamental crops to control various species of mites and spiders, and can be purchased over-the-counter under popular brand names. It is toxic to fish.

Dicofol manufacturer Rohm and Haas, a chemical company based in Philadelphia, notified TDA that they are cooperating with the Environmental Protection Agency in a special review of the product requiring Rohm and Haas to submit basic scientific tests now required for registration of new products. Dicofol was originally registered for use in the late 1950s under less stringent standards than those now in effect.

Rohm and Haas has advised TDA that "Kelthane is produced using DDT as the major raw material. DDT-related materials are carried through production and are also created as by-products. The technical grade of Kelthane contains approximately 5% of these impurities. No DDT itself is found, only DDT-related materials."

Although the TDA tests found no DDT residues, some near-DDT chemicals were discovered, White said. "Because of this closeness to DDT, it is certainly prudent of EPA to ask serious questions about dicofol.

"This re-registration by EPA will take several years to complete, but we understand it will examine very carefully the questions of contamination of dicofol with DDT and the environmental effects of the product," White said. "We are aware of work being done on environmental problems, including analysis of levels of DDT, and we will continue to monitor that work as it proceeds."

Once upon a time gasoline was cheap.

So was natural gas.

Some folks remember cheap gasoline prices. Natural gas prices used to be cheap for power plants at Southwestern Public Service Company, too.

Today, it's different. Natural gas costs continue to increase, and since we don't own any gas wells, we don't have much to say about natural gas prices... just as you don't about gasoline.

Not any more.
Natural gas prices have increased dramatically.

We've brought coal into the picture to help keep costs down. Electricity made from coal costs much less.

Good Citizen for the year.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals has approved the DAR Good Citizen program and has asked that it be announced that the National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed this program on the Advisory List of National Contests and Activities for 1983-84.

The contest is open to both girls and boys in the Senior Class of an accredited high school. Student must be a citizen of the United States and be 18 years of age.

The Senior Class members choose three seniors who best exemplify outstanding qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism in school, home and community. From these three, the faculty chooses the School Good Citizen.

This year's contest consisted of three parts: Personal (20%), which could be completed at home and covered high school activities: awards, offices held, special interests and activities. Service given to home, church and to the community is included, as well as future plans for education and/or vocational training and the student's hobbies and interests.

A quiz on national, civic and patriotic subjects counts for 30% of the candidate's score. A patriotic essay counts for 50% of the score.

The school winner's essay, questionnaire, transcript of grades and a letter of recommendation are sent to the sponsoring DAR Good Citizen Chairman and a committee of impartial judges chooses the chapter winner who will then compete at the state level. The state winner competes at national for the National Good Citizen award. The local chapter winner was announced at a tea given in honor of all school winners on February 8. The Mary McCoy Baines DAR Chapter awards the Chapter Good Citizen winner with a $100.00 scholarship to the college of his/her choice. The state winner is given $200.00. The national winner's monetary award is $1,000.00, and is presented to the Continental Congress and receives a sterling silver bowl, engraved with "National Good Citizen 1984."

TRADE HURDLES

HURTING AGRICULTURE

Prospects are rather bleak for agricultural exports, and that's hurting Texas agriculture since many of the state's commodities go into overseas markets, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The export picture is dim due to the strong dollar abroad which makes U. S. commodities cost more to foreign buyers, protectionist trade policies of foreign countries, competition from foreign producers, and weak credit conditions in many countries.

With exports decreasing, farmers must cut back on production to keep commodity supplies at reasonable levels.

FISH FARMERS

KEY ON MARKETING

The purpose of marketing is to get more profit, not more gross income, a fisheries specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, told a recent gathering of fish farmers.

The best method for the fish farmer is to sell his crop at the farm. Transportation is the "number one marketing problem" among fish farmers, and it is the single highest cost for live fish producers.

Vertical integration continues to escalate prices through transportation, the cost of ice or refrigeration, the loss of time away from the farm or the cost of hiring a driver, shrinkage and waste during shipping.

AG CREDIT CONFERENCE

PLANNED FEBRUARY 26-28

Agricultural loans will be a major focus of the 32nd Texas Farm and Ranch Credit Conference for Commercial Bankers at Texas A&M University, February 26-28.

Sessions on various types of farm and ranch loans will dominate the first day's program along with discussions of the banking business in various regions of Texas, notes an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Featured speakers will discuss the U. S. economic outlook, the current state of U. S. agricultural policy, and the future of Texas banking involvement in financing agriculture.

Other discussions will deal with grain handling, the outlook for various agricultural commodities, and the administration of agricultural loans in depressed times.

GOOD PSYCHOLOGY

The common cold can drag down your spirits even as your temperature rises, psychologists agree. Instead of being upset about not being up and about, put the time you have to rest up in bed to good use. Start a knitting project... watch those day-time TV shows that you usually miss... read a new book or browse through old favorites. Enjoy a few snacks and warm, soothing cups of lemon-sweetened hot tea. You'll be back on your feet in no time.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Taxes make the government go round. Without our contributions in a number of different forms, things would bog down and become a nightmare.

When it comes to taxes, a poll by the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations (ACIR) shows that taxpayers prefer the sales tax to all other methods.

The margin by which people would rather pay a sales tax is 3 to 1. We in Texas are among 45 states which levy a sales tax. Only Alaska, Delaware, Montana, New Hampshire and Oregon do not have a state sales tax.

The tax rates range from a high of 7.5 percent in Connecticut to a low of two percent in Nevada and Oklahoma. Texas collects four percent, which is the national average. Most Texans are used to paying five percent because local units of government are authorized to collect a one percent tax.

Texas last raised the sales tax to four percent from 3.25 percent in 1971. We first collected the tax beginning in 1962 at a two percent rate.

While the sales tax rate has doubled in the 22 years the tax has been in existence, revenue has risen by over 2000 percent. Texas pocketed $149 million in 1962. In 1983, that figure was $3.3 billion.

In 1983, the sales tax provided 39 percent of all tax collections, making it the states's largest single tax source. And, while the tax brings in a lot of money, Texans pay an average of only $211 a year in state sales tax.

Also, we all know from experience that it is easier to pay the tax in small bits, rather than in one lump sum.

The ACIR poll showed that this few pennies at a time approach is one of the main reasons people prefer it to other types of taxes.

The Legislature has avoided placing the tax on items of necessity, such as food and medicine. This reduced the taxing impact on our needy residents.

We all want to see taxes held to the necessary minimum. But, if taxation is a fact of life, as we know it to be, then the sales tax method at the current level is working for Texas.

AUSTIN — It was good news to learn that the Food and Drug Administration had agreed to allow the application of food grade mineral oil on grain in grain elevators.

We all know of the destruction that has been caused by dust explosions in elevators. There have been hundreds of deaths and injuries and many millions of dollars in losses. This process has been proven safe, effective and less expensive.

A Lubbock man, Harry

Barham, is responsible for the idea, which he patented. The most expensive part of the operation is a storage tank to hold the oil. It costs less than one cent per bushel to apply. That cost is almost recovered in reduced loss of weight, and more than recovered when the additional benefits are included.

Among the other savings is the reduction in energy costs for expensive ventilation systems which include fans, motors and dust collection bags. The atmosphere for workers is greatly improved, which should cut down on respiratory problems. Insects and insect generated problems consume five percent of the grain crop value and the white oil process acts as an effective and long-lasting insect control.

I also look for a significant reduction in insurance premiums for grain elevators. There are a great number of elevators in the Panhandle and South Plains and our area will receive a direct impact from this decision. More far-reaching, however, is that the lower costs can be passed along on these products, helping every consumer.

The Texas Senate subcommittee on agriculture held hearings on this subject and helped to produce the findings which ultimately led to approval by the FDA and the USDA. A great many state and national organizations were involved in helping to fully explore the problem and make recommendations. I was proud to serve as chairman of the subcommittee because I think that its actions were instrumental in pointing out the potential of oil on grain to the federal government.

1984 Crop Fertility Will Be Different

Texas fertilizer needs will be influenced by government programs, good wheat and corn harvest, heavy fall rains and an early frost. How have these factors influenced the land we farm? The best method to grasp an understanding is to examine each category separately and look at the present soil fertility trends from soil analysis.

SOIL UNDER PIK

Soils under the government PIK programs have been treated different on the farm. Soil building crops have been planted, wheat crops have been grazed off or the land has essentially lain fallow in Briscoe County.

Soil building crops such as blackeye peas or Chinese red peas will begin to break down sooner due to the wet mild fall. If you are depending on all your nitrogen to be furnished by the pea crop, you may run short next August if the rains and snows continue. This information is especially true for the Southern High Plains where sandy soils lose their nitrogen. "Test soil nitrogen levels prior to planting," the county agent says.

Soils where wheat was grazed out have gained some nitrogen this summer but the nitrogen removed from the graze out will normally negate any nitrogen increase for next year. One should soil sample these fields this fall. (Removal of all the stubble generally removes from 20 to 30 pounds per acre of nitrogen.)

Summer fallowed lands where the soils are a clay loam or the finer texture clays all are showing an increase in soil nitrogen. The nitrogen levels seen in soil samples are running from 25 up to 35 pounds per acre higher in nitrogen. This situation is good for our dryland wheat producers. After the heavy October rain, insufficient soil samples from the sandy soils have been analyzed to establish any trend this month. But it is expected that sizeable amounts of mineralized nitrogen have been leached downward by these heavy fall rains. These fields should be sampled prior to planting in 1984.

GOOD WHEAT AND CORN YIELDS

Examining yield reports from the agricultural producers working this area indicate some bin burster yields. Many of the dryland wheat fields yielded from 25 up to 50 bushels per acre of wheat. Irrigated wheat showed reports of 100 to 125 bushels per acre. Records on the 125 bushels per acre wheat field indicated nitrogen required was 1.8 pounds per acre of nitrogen per bushel. This nitrogen rate is very close to the two pounds of nitrogen per acre suggested by the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory at Lubbock.

Corn yields indicate several fields exceeded the 180 bushels per acre and some went over 210 bushels per acre. Not a bad yield for about a $50.00 to $80.00 per acre fertilizer input. These top yields have drained soil fertility levels somewhat. If one is planning on going back again, such as wheat on wheat or corn on corn, one should sample these fields this fall to check for nitrogen levels. One may need to apply additional nitrogen for stubble break down. "It requires about 20 pounds per acre of nitrogen per ton of residue to prevent the stubble from tying up the nitrogen," the county agent says.

A fairly heavy nutrient removal occurs. Before attempting to replace the nutrients, soil test to determine next year's needs.

HEAVY RAINS

October brought record rains to many locations on the High Plains and Rolling Plains. To what effect this amount of rainfall has leached the clay loam soils one cannot say. (In most cases, on clay loam soils nitrogen loss is seldom seen.) Sandy soils south of Lubbock have been leached considerably.

EARLY FROST

Early frost this fall stopped sorghum and soybean growth. Yield estimates for soybeans range from 15 to 40 percent loss.

Traditionally, soybeans are known as a soil builder which adds nitrogen to the soil. However, soil analysis on the High Plains show that soil samples following soybean are more frequently lower in nitrogen (90 times out of 100) than the nitrogen level following any other crop. This year a little more nitrogen should be observed in soybean soils due to the immature beans killed by the frosts and left by the combine. Don't count on the soybean furnishing the nitrogen for next year's crop.

The early frost has also taken its toll on the late milo crops. Some milo was cut for silage. Here approximately 200 pounds of nitrogen was removed with immature grain and stover. Nitrogen levels on these sites should be tested and checked again next June.

If one needs assistance and information on soil testing, consult your local Extension Agent.

DEAR EDITOR:

Good public relations for agriculture are practically non-existent, but every now and then someone comes up with facts and figures that reflect a more accurate picture of the farmer than is generally presented in the big city news media. Such a person is Marilyn Brown, who writes in the agriculture section of the Bryan College Station Eagle.

Her statistics show a factual breakdown of what percent a farmer receives of the food dollar. Most of the money does not go to the farmer. The differences between retail food prices and what the farmer gets for producing that food can be pretty drastic. Figures from the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service reveal that:

Grain farmers get 4 cents for the wheat used in a one pound loaf of bread that retails for 50 cents and 18 cents for the corn in a 12 ounce box of corn flakes that costs $1.75. They get 90 cents for the corn used in a 48 ounce bottle of salad oil that costs consumers $2.99. Fiber products fair the worst. They get 64 cents for the cotton in a 100 percent cotton dress shirt that sells for $15.95, $1.71 for the cotton in a pair of $20 blue jeans and $7.00 for the wool that makes a $200 dress suit.

Other figures show that soybean farmers get 81 cents for a 3 pound can of shortening that sells for $2.69 and 11 cents for the soybeans used in a 1 pound box of margarine that sells for 50 cents. The farmer gets 57 cents for a 10 pound sack of potatoes that sells for $2.30.

Peanut farmers get 39 cents for the peanuts used in an 18 ounce jar of peanut butter that costs $1.75.

Seems to me that something is out of kelter.

Yours truly,
Beryl Long

Hightower Tells Corn Growers that 1984 is Crucial Year for Farmers

(DIMMITT)—The Reagan Administration is stepping up its efforts to liquidate family farmers and ranchers in 1984. Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower charged last week in a speech to the 11th annual meeting of the Texas Corn Growers Association and the Texas Corn Producers Board.

"One moment we've got target prices, and the next moment they're trying to freeze those. One moment we've got loan rates, and the next moment they're trying to cut back on that. One moment we've got Payment in Kind, and then we don't. There is no farm policy," Hightower said. "In 1984, we're going back to the same old policy of over-production, low prices, and declining export markets."

"In the proposed 1985 federal budget submitted to Congress last week, the Reagan Administration proposes to reduce farm commodity export credit guarantees by $1 billion."

"When the Reagan-Block Administration preaches to farmers, they preach that U.S. producers must accept a low price on their commodities in order to compete in the export market. Yet, now, when it comes time to put their money where their mouth is, they won't practice what they preach. Instead, they sock farmers with a whopping 25 percent cutback in our nation's export credit."

"This Administration's export program turns out to be like a baby mockingbird—all mouth and very little bird."

"This is the worst possible time to cut these credit guarantees. The lack of a farm program for 1984 is going to produce more huge surpluses, which will further lower farmers' commodity prices."

Hightower also criticized proposed cuts of $2.35 billion in Rural Electrification Administration loans for rural electric power systems, a $126 million cut in soil conservation funds, and drastic slashing of programs to combat both brucellosis and fire ants.

"The loss of our topsoil is a problem of monumental proportions, and we ought to provide more—not less—help to our farmers in instituting conservation practices to fight this problem." Hightower said. "God's not making a lot more topsoil in a hurry these days, so we need to take dramatic steps to protect what we have. And most farmers are too broke to do it on their own. Cutting soil conservation funds is incredibly shortsighted, and, in fact, it's plain stupid."

"So, the fundamental question we must ask in 1984 is quite simple: Are we going to have a family farm system or not?"

"What's needed in 1985 is a new legislation which controls excess production, holds the farmers' commodity prices above their cost of production, emphasizes soil conservation and aggressively seeks new export markets."

STATEWIDE SALES TAX
REBATES RUNNING AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

State Comptroller Bob Bullock recently sent checks totaling $105.4 million in local sales tax payments to the 980 cities that levy the one percent city sales tax.

Statewide, 1984 payments are running 2.57% ahead of last year; however, because of changes in reporting requirements that converted 15,000 small- and medium-sized taxpayers from quarterly to monthly payment schedules, it is difficult to compare raw payment figures for 1984 with the same period last year, since what were quarterly payments last year are now spread over three months.

February's checks reflect sales made during the final, Christmas quarter of 1983 and reported to the Comptroller's office by January 20.

"Even with the bookkeeping changes, these payments reflect the recovery that is underway in our state economy," Bullock said. "When it's all said and done, Texans apparently had the best Christmas in our history in terms of retail sales."

Houston received the largest check—for $19.2 million—for a 1984 total of $27.4 million, down 3% from last year. Dallas' check for $12.6 million brought year-to-date payments to $18 million, up 5%.

San Antonio's payment was $6.6 million for a $9.1 million 1984 total, up 14%. Austin's February check for $4.1 million brought its yearly total to $6.1 million, up 9%.

Fort Worth received $3.7 million for total payments this year of $5.3 million, down 1% from 1983. El Paso's check for $2.2 million brought its year-to-date total to $3.3 million, up 7%.

Silverton's sales tax rebate payment for this period was $3,317.83, off from the $4,458.74 payment received for the same period in 1983. The 1984 payments to date total $4,206.92, down 5.65% from the $4,458.74 received for the same period in 1983.

Quitaque received $1,830.77 for this period, an increase over the $1,032.90 received for the same period in 1983. This brought Quitaque's payments for 1984 to $2,566.81, up 148.51% from the $1,032.90 received to date in 1983.

For Briscoe County, this made a total of rebates of $6,773.73 in 1984, up 23.35% from the $5,491.64 received at this time in 1983.

In area cities, Claude's rebate was down 23.56%; Nazareth, up 4.17%; Hart, down 64.82%; Childress, down 9.01%; Paducah, down 8.21%; Crosbyton, up 6.92%; Lorenzo, down 33.69%; Ralls, down 19.60%; Clarendon, down 24.28%; Hedley, up 23.17%; Floydada, down 10.13%; Lockney, down 16.11%; McLean, down 1.63%; Plainview, down 5.10%; Estelline, up 54.92%; Lakeview, down 49.98%; Memphis, down 2.26%; Turkey, up

4.60%; Matador, down 18.07%; Roaring Springs, up 3.48%; Amarillo, down 0.12%; Lubbock, down 3.21%; Happy, down 34.91%; Kress, down 11.21%; Tulia, up 3.67%.

DROUGHT, FREEZE IMPACT ON FOOD PRICES

For most consumers far from the farm and ranch, the impact of the 1983 summer drought and winter freeze will be measured at the grocery store.

"Wise shoppers will switch their buying habits to minimize the effect on their family food costs," says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a food and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

For example, higher feed costs due to the drought will probably mean higher meat prices in the last half of the year. In the meantime, beef prices remain steady and attractive, so now is an excellent time for consumers to purchase and freeze beef.

Since the winter freeze has taken its toll on citrus and fresh vegetable prices, consumers might find better buys in canned or frozen produce and can make more use of apples and winter pears which continue to be in good supply, she suggests.

SODIUM LABELING

Consumers are more concerned, but not necessarily more informed about salt in their diets, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service foods and nutrition specialist.

A 1983 A. C. Nielsen survey conducted for the grocery industry shows that of the 75 percent of consumers who read ingredient lists on food products, 40 percent of them do so to avoid salt or sodium, says Dr. Alice Hunt.

A large majority—87 percent—of the shoppers surveyed favored sodium labeling. But 52 percent indicated the labeling would be more useful if they understood it better.

"The biggest problem for most consumers," she says, "is that they may not understand milligrams per serving or how it relates to their own daily needs." To really watch your salt intake, you need to know that the intake of sodium for adults ranges from 1,100 to 3,300 milligrams per day.

One level teaspoon of salt contains about 2300 milligrams of sodium. Since there are sodium containing compounds in many of today's processed foods, reading labels for sodium content is probably a good idea for everyone, says the specialist.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thanks to those (Diamond Williams and Dorthy Hale) who "broke into" our house and cleaned it up so nicely while we were at the hospital with Daddy.

There's no place but Silverton where this could happen to anyone.

Glenda and E. H.

Words can never express our appreciation for your love and concern for the family of our mother and grandmother. She took so much pride and interest in her community and friends. She would have been so pleased to have known the many ways that her love for all of you was returned to us at this time.

Joni and Wayne
Zane and Kim
Dayne, Traci and Staci

I would like to thank everyone for their prayers, cards, letters, flowers, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital and since I've been home.

May God care for you in your time of need.

Love,
