Direct Loan Funds Have Been Increased

Texas' allocation of funds for direct loans in the economic emergency farm loan program has been increased from $5,890,140 to $18,415,000, State Director J. Lynn Futch of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) announced recently.

The increase will be distributed through State Offices of the FmHA, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's farm credit agency. Nationally, the direct loan portion of the $600 million economic emergency program was raised to a $310 million share.

Interest rates for direct loans obtained from FmHA county offices are 10.25 percent on loans made for operating purposes and 10.75 percent on loans made for real estate purposes.

Economic emergency loans are authorized for bonafide farmers and ranchers who are directly and primarily engaged in, and expect to continue in, agricultural production, are unable to get sufficient credit from their regular lenders, and need credit to maintain viable farming operations. FmHA can loan up to $400,000 to any one borrower under the economic emergency program.

Permitted use of loan funds include financing of 1984 crop production, purchasing essential livestock, feed and equipment, and paying delinquent installments on farm and real estate debts if a lender is demanding payment.

Stevenson Reunion Held In Silverton

The descendants of R. F. Stevenson, sr. and Mary Folley Stevenson gathered in the Silverton School Cafeteria April 21, 1984 with plenty of good food and gab.

The Stevensons, with their nine children, Eph, Bob, Ab, Beulah, John, Walter, Turner, Lizzie and Lucy, arrived in Silverton from Seymour, Texas, on March 11, 1892. Another child, James Bell, died at age six. The only surviving child, T. S. (Turner) Stevenson, sr., 97, of Amarillo, is doing great and was able to attend the reunion.

The registration table was covered with a blue linen cloth on which all the Stevenson brands were embroidered in white (made by Jack and Jean Stevenson and Maebelle Spielberger, all of whom live in California). A fresh blooming Easter lily was provided by Frances Crass. Iris Graham of Amarillo and Pat Stevenson of Cheyenne, Wyoming presided at the guest book where each was presented with a name tag. Seventy-two were registered.

Another table with exactly the same cloth presented to Al and Hazel Stevenson, held all the pictures of each family and a write-up about each.

Einell Montague of Plainview was master of ceremonies and asked each member to present his family and a short history of his family.

One long-haired hippie crashed the party, and everyone wondered where he could have come from. Turned out he had been in Yuma, Arizona for six months and was just passing through.

Billy Don and Sandra Stevenson of East Bridgewater, Massachusetts came the furthest to attend. Leah Whitfill of Hereford was the youngest and T. S. Stevenson, sr., 97, of Amarillo was the eldest to attend.

Attending the reunion were Al and Hazel Stevenson, Bob, Pat, Shelly and Robert Al, Cheyenne, Wyoming; Billy Don Stevenson and daughter, Sandra Stevenson, East Bridgewater, Massachusetts; Jack and Jean Stevenson, Santa Barbara, California; Maebelle Spielberger, South Gate, California; Mrs. Jean (Bain) Rushing, Breckenridge, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Pettit and children, Plano; C. A. (Button) Stevenson, Max, Lana Beth, Jim, Tommy and Sammie Stevenson, all of Roswell, New Mexico; Lee Stevenson, Fort Sumner, New Mexico; Morean (Stevenson) Cook, Graham; Melvin and Gloria June Cook, Enid, Oklahoma; Chester and Gladys Strickland, Lubbock; Gordon and Einell Montague, Ballard and Pauline Clark, Plainview; Kenneth Bain, jr., Floydada; John Edd and Lola Bain, Lorenzo; Lee and Clyett McMurtry, Muleshoe; Ruth Ann Spencer, Terry Allard and Chris Allard, Memphis; Lisa Bingham, Vernon; Gary, Sue Lynn, Cody and Leah Whitfill, Hereford; Mitch Martin, Sweetwater; Robbie Martin, Amarillo; R. C. and Kathleen Green, Turkey; Toby and Shirley Stevenson, Agnes Allard, Tulia; Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Duncan, Iris Graham, T. S. Stevenson, sr., T. S. and Gene Stevenson, jr., Montene Merchant, Cally and Bear Podzemny, Frank Brown, all of Amarillo; Frances Crass, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Northcutt, Vinson

Smith, W. E. Schott, Ashel McDaniel, Roland Asebedo, Bertha Mae Allard and Jettie Hardcastle, all of Silverton.

FOR SHERIFF

I will take this moment to extend my thanks to all of you who have received me so well during this campaign, and for the support and encouragement you have given me. Thanks also for the help and cooperation these past four years.

To those whom I have not seen nor had opportunity to give a card or ask for your vote and support, I ask for your vote now. I will make every effort to see you before election day. We have been very busy and bad weather has severely curtailed my efforts to visit every voter. Despite this, I respect you as a person and value your support just as much as that of those whom I have visited.

I have tried at all times to provide the best law enforcement for Briscoe County that I could. It is my desire to continue in this manner and to make improvements as new resources become available. I will do my best to see that the Sheriff's Department looks at everyone as an individual and equal to everyone else.

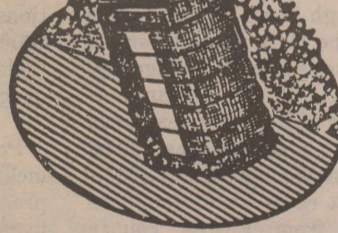

I earnestly request your vote and support May 5 in the Democratic Primary.

Thanks,

State Board Of Education To Hold Public Hearing

The State Board of Education will hold 56 public hearings across the state, beginning April 30 and ending May 25, to receive citizen input on public education in Texas.

The one of interest to those in the Silverton Independent School District will be held May 4 from 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon, and from 4:00 until 6:00 p.m. at the Region 17 Service Center, 4000 22nd Place in Lubbock. The State Board of Education member in charge of the meeting is James H. Whiteside, and the person who can be contacted regarding the meeting is Delwin Webb, 806 792-4000.

State Board of Education chairman Joe Kelly Butler of Houston, 7th Congressional District, said the hearings will focus on school finance recommendations currently under consideration by the State Board, other major education issues, and the recent recommendations adopted by the Select Committee on Public Education. A State Board member will preside at each hearing, and members of the Legislature have been invited to attend.

The State Board of Education is required by Section 11.26 of the Texas Education Code to report to the Legislature all activities and expenditures of the Central Education Agency and to make recommendations for the biennial budget. The information presented in the budget request includes all public education programs such as teachers salaries, equalization, transportation and categorical program support.

Chairman Butler said the elected State Board of Education is requesting input from the people of Texas to use in making these recommendations to the Legislature. "Education has been the focus of an extraordinary amount of attention, both on a national and state level," the chairman said. Reports have been issued from Washington, state, and local groups and have included criticisms and recommendations for change. "None of those groups, however, have provided an open forum for the public to make its concerns known. At the most, only a selected few individuals have had that opportunity," Butler said. "The State Board of Education hearings are being held so that every Texas resident may be heard."

In addition to the hearings, the State Board is also distributing a questionnaire that seeks opinions on major education issues. Interested persons are encouraged to attend a hearing, complete a questionnaire, or both.

Completed questionnaires may be turned in at the public hearings or mailed to Wessley Robinson, Director of Programs, Department of Planning and Research, Texas Education Agency, 201 East 11th Street, Austin, Texas 78701.

Butler said results from the hearings and the questionnaires will be reported to the full State Board and shared with members of the Texas Legislature, the education community, and other interested groups.

The questionnaires will be available at each public hearing, from the contact person named above, at each local school district, the 20 regional education service centers, and the Texas Education Agency contact person.

Again, Hightower says "No" to nuclear dump

(AUSTIN)—"I don't care if the U.S. Department of Energy has narrowed its sites for the proposed high-level nuclear dump to nine square miles or nine square inches. We don't want it anywhere in Texas," State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower says.

The DOE, which earlier designated a 300-square-mile area in Deaf Smith County and a 190-square-mile area in Swisher County as potential storage sites, has unexpectedly narrowed the possible locations to nine square miles in both Panhandle counties, without advising affected landowners.

"DOE can play by the rules, or they can break the rules," Hightower said of the federal agency's continued push to select a site before the site-selection process is finalized. "We at the Texas Department of Agriculture remain committed to keeping the nastiest stuff known to mankind out from underneath some of the most valuable agricultural land, and one of the most precious underground water reservoirs in our state.

"It's our soil, our water, our farms and our people they are risking. The people of the Panhandle have spoken loudly and clearly: They don't want a nuclear dump in their backyard. We'll fight this crazy idea in the Panhandle, in Austin and in Washington—and we'll win."

Reportedly, the other sites still under consideration are in Washington, Nevada, Louisiana, two in Utah and two in Mississippi.

A member of TDA's Natural Resources Division has been in the Panhandle, gathering more information on DOE's two proposed Texas sites and meeting with groups who are opposed to the nuclear dump.

YOUR VOTE WILL BE APPRECIATED

I would like to have your vote and influence in my behalf Saturday, May 5, in the Democratic Primary for the office of County Commissioner, Briscoe County Precinct 3.

You owe it to yourself to exercise your rights as a citizen by voting on those who will direct your county's business.

I served as Scoutmaster for seven years, was Fire Chief for the Silverton Volunteer Fire Department for 18 years, and was a member of the Silverton Volunteer Ambulance Service for six years. I have served on the board of directors for the Plains Federal Credit Union ten years and am a current seven-year member of the board of directors of the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority. I have been associated with the Briscoe County Farm Bureau for 23 years, and recently retired after 26 years as a rural mail carrier.

I believe my experience qualifies me to serve as your commissioner. I will appreciate your vote.

John Deere 21-inch mower

John Deere 21-inch deluxe mowers have a dual safety system that stops both the engine and the blade when the control handle is released. Four models are available — push-type and self-propelled, each with manual or electric start.

Push-type models have a 3½-hp engine. Self-propelled models have a 4-hp engine and rear-wheel gear drive for excellent traction. All mowers have ball-bearing wheels. Deeply contoured aluminum die-cast deck. And two cutting height adjustment levers that let you set the mower from 7/8 to 2¾ inches. Side discharge is standard on all four models. An optional 2-bushel rear bagger can be added to make clipping pickup quick and easy. See us soon for a demonstration.

Senator Bill Sarpalius
Reports

WE CAN'T TRANSFER TO COLLEGE

AUSTIN — If we group academic instruction together in Texas high schools, 68 cents of every educational dollar earmarked for that level goes for academics. A total of 82 percent of the junior high/middle school instructional dollar and 81 percent of the elementary level dollar goes for academics.

If you look at the average allocation of district salaries for all levels, kindergarten through grade 12, only seven percent goes for vocational education.

There is a tremendous need for workers with vocational-technical skills and far more than 25 cents of the high school instructional dollar could effectively be spent on vocational education.

If you should take the money away from vocational education, which is what the Select Committee on Public Education has advocated, then you are still faced with the issue of where do people go to get job skills training. They must have the training to get a job because a vast majority of employers will not look at those with no skills.

Transferring vocational education to the community colleges is not the answer. That would mean an added cost in both state and local tax dollars to meet the increased demand to provide training. If a person has to wait until they are out of high school to pursue vocational education at the college level, you are piling on tuition for most students, and added costs for books and transportation. Many taxpayers would find themselves being hit twice through taxes for public schools and helping to finance part of their children's vocational training.

Only nine percent of community college vocational-technical enrollments are made up with students who took related vocational training in high school. This would place a tremendous load on community colleges to handle training presently done in the high schools. Community colleges already have nearly 50 percent of their enrollments in vocational-technical programs.

Every community in Texas does not have a community college or technical institute nearby. The removal or scaling back of vocational education at the public school level would eliminate any possibility for vocational training for thousands of young people who need this training.

If every student is forced to take the academic curriculum prescribed by the Select Committee, then the 30 percent school dropout rate will increase to more than 50 percent.

CATTLEMEN ABANDONING CATTLE CYCLE

U. S. cattle producers may have finally "moved off the track" of the typical cattle cycle and moved into a new era—one in which producers respond more immediately to profits and losses.

From a total inventory standpoint, cattle and calf numbers have not varied more than one percent since 1981, points out an economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

That suggests no strong directional change in herd size and that cattlemen may be in a sort of holding pattern.

State Panel Documents Need for Organ Donors

By Governor Mark White

AUSTIN—Since the first successful cornea transplant in Austria in 1905, medical scientists have discovered new surgical techniques and anti-rejection drugs to improve dramatically the survival rate of organ transplant patients.

Given the growing demand for life-saving transplant operations, I appointed the first committee of its kind in the nation last July to suggest ways to encourage more people to become organ donors and to streamline the matching of potential donors and transplant patients.

The Special Coordinating Committee to Facilitate Organ Transplants consists of 11 representatives from state agencies, the medical community, and the interested public. In its final report submitted this week, the committee documents the unmet demand for donated organs and recommends ways the state can support private sector efforts to improve its organ transplant delivery system.

Today, in this country alone, there are 7,000 patients waiting for kidney transplants, 24 waiting for heart transplants, and another 130 adults and children approved as candidates for life-saving liver surgery.

An average of 20,000 Americans die each year under circumstances that would make organ donation possible, yet only 10 to 15 percent of these actually donate their organs. At the same time, many donated organs are discarded because a suitable recipient is not identified in time or because there is no available transplantation center capable of using these donated organs. The Southwest Organ Bank, for example, discarded 105 out of 512 donated kidneys.

We must find ways to eliminate this tragic waste and educate the public about the need for organ donation. The committee is recommending that the Texas driver's license application and renewal forms be redesigned to ask the applicant if he or she is willing to become an organ donor. If the answer is "yes," the Texas Department of Public Safety would notify a central organ bank registry responsible for mailing these persons the appropriate pre-clearance forms.

Once the completed forms are received, the central registry would forward willing organ donors a special adhesive decal to attach to their driver's license.

Another major committee recommendation involves the creation of a Texas Council on Organ Transplantation to educate the public about organ donations and to collect and coordinate a centralized listing of organ donors, patients needing transplants, and locations of all available transplantation centers in the state.

The committee suggests encouraging the Texas Hospital Association, Texas Medical Association, Texas Osteopathic Medical Association, and Texas Nursing Association to develop uniform guidelines to make systematic efforts to procure organ transplants.

While these recommendations require further study and, in some cases, potential legislative action, they represent an important first step toward improving equitable access to organs donated by unselfish Texans.

Organ transplantation should remain the primary responsibility of the private medical community, but state government can play an important support role and improve the dialogue between all persons involved in this complicated effort to match donor and patient in need.

DIAL-HAY closes

(AUSTIN)--The Texas Department of Agriculture's successful "Dial-Hay" program was officially brought to a close for this season after moving a total of more than 800 semi-trailer truckloads of hay into the West Texas drought area during the past six months, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower announced last week.

"Eight hundred truckloads is about enough hay to fill the entire U.S. Department of Agriculture building in Washington, D.C., and judging by USDA's performance recently, using the building for that purpose might be as beneficial to farmers and ranchers as anything else they're using it for," Hightower said.

Dial-Hay was initiated by the Texas Department of Agriculture in October 1983 to assist West Texas ranchers in acquiring livestock feed during the region's worst drought since the 1930's. "The program was launched to help these hard-pressed ranchers keep their foundation herds alive through the winter, and that's just what it did," Hightower said. "Dial-Hay also demonstrated one of our cornerstone programs here at TDA. That's direct marketing, which, simply stated, puts buyers in direct contact with sellers."

Tom Brooks Receives Faculty Excellence Award

Thomas T. (Tom) Brooks received the Faculty Excellence Award from Frank Phillips College during commencement exercises recently and immediately gave the $500 award back to the college for scholarships.

The FPC Development Corporation presents the $500 cash award annually to a faculty member.

Brooks has taught history, government and economics at the college for 28 years. He is chairman of the Humanities Division at FPC. Prior to joining the college staff, Brooks taught history, civics and geography at Borger Middle School.

Criteria for the Faculty Excellence Award include classroom management, professional advancement, institutional advancement, community service and student involvement.

Brooks was also selected by the Circle K Club at the college as Teacher of the Year.

He holds a bachelor of science degree from West Texas State University and a master of arts degree from WTSU and a master of arts degree from The University of Texas.

Brooks and his wife, Esther, have three sons, Stephen, a 1979 graduate of Frank Phillips College; Phillip, a 1981 graduate of FPC, and Mark, a 1984 graduate of the college. Mrs. Brooks is a teacher at Crockett Elementary and was organist for the commencement exercises.

The Brooks are members of the First Baptist Church where he is a Sunday School officer and has a 24-year perfect attendance record.

He is the son of Jim Brooks and Mrs. Tone Brooks, and is the nephew of Mrs. Glen (Lillian) Lindsey, all of Silverton.

FACTS ABOUT POISONINGS

There are some 150,000 poisonings that occur each year in Texas.

75-85% of all poisoning episodes occur in children under five years old.

The Texas State Poison Center handled 29,109 poisoning emergencies during 1983, and answered some 19,000 general information inquiries.

Nearly 10% of the ingestions by children involved their eating household and garden plants.

March 18-24 is National Poison Prevention Week.

Medicines are involved in poisoning episodes some 40% of the time.

Even if you do not live with small children, you should store cleaning products and medications safely, because small children visit everyone.

Syrup of ipecac, a substance for inducing vomiting, should be in every home where small children live or visit. It should never be given before calling the Poison Center or your family physician.

Never take medicine in the presence of small children because they like to imitate adults.

Jettie Hardcastle took Iris Graham back to Amarillo and entered her in High Plains Baptist on Wednesday of last week.

EXPANDING THE FARM BUSINESS

A farm business can be expanded "extensively" as well as "intensively."

Extensive expansion means acquiring and using more resources, such as land, labor, capital and management, while intensive expansion refers to using resources better.

The real key in expanding an operation is to make an accurate assessment of the existing business to know where you're at so that you can figure out where you're going, note economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Careful attention must also be given to the legal implications of various types of business organizations and to income tax and estate tax planning.

REFRESH WITH TEXAS SUNSHINE

Trees branching out with green buds, flowers raising their brightly colored petals towards the sun. Cool mornings with warm afternoons, dusty, windy weather. All of these are indicative of the spring season, with the hot, broiling sunny days of summer soon to follow.

As the temperature rises and people spend more time outdoors in harvest, lawn care and recreational activities, their body's need for liquids increases. Beverages high in sugar or alcohol content should be avoided during the heat of the day, especially if planning on being outside for long periods of time, because these beverages have a negative affect on the body. Consuming liquids high in sugar content only make you more thirsty and alcoholic beverages restrict blood vessels and restrict the body's natural cooling system.

Fruit juices and water are recommended for cooling off during warm summer weather. The new asepticly packaged Texas citrus juices are ideal for busy or lazy summer days. Aseptic packages or "juice in a box" allows the juice to be sterilized and packaged in bacteria-free multi-layer cartons at the same time. This method of packaging has been used in Europe for many years, because it does not require refrigeration. Aseptic packaging has only been in this country for the past year. Consumer response to this type of packaging has been excellent. Beverages packed aseptically have a shelf life of four to six months. Once opened, however, they must be refrigerated.

When planning a summer outing or picnic, include Texas citrus juice. The small or large boxes of Texas orange and pink grapefruit juice can be placed in the freezer ahead of time, taken out and placed in the picnic basket, to thaw enroute to your destination. While thawing, the boxes of juice will help keep other picnic food items cold and safe from spoiling. Also the boxes of juice will be nicely chilled.

Texas citrus juices are excellent sources of Vitamin C and potassium, and both orange and pink grapefruit juices are in abundant supply. Texas citrus juices are also available in canned and frozen concentrate forms. None of the Texas juices are sweetened and are recognizable by the Texsun and Big Tex labels.

Try these recipes from the Texas Department of Agriculture to help you refresh with naturally sweet, cool Texas sunshine!

A Low-Caloried Answer To Our Taste For Sweets

The experts tell us that man's well-developed sweet tooth has been with us as far back as the prehistoric cave dwellers. Those people drew pictures on their walls of such sweet treats as honey, figs and dates. Egyptian hieroglyphics dating back some 4,000 years tell of candies probably made with honey, flour, almonds, dates and figs.

Since the Middle Ages, man has developed thousands of confections, drinks and foods that owe their popularity to being sweet. Somewhere along the line, someone felt that coffee and tea were just too bitter without a touch of sweetening. Modern breakfast cereals took on a new dimension when sprinkled with sugar or honey.

However, the cave man's modern day descendant's concern with fitness—two out of every three Americans are on a diet—has driven him to great lengths to combine sweet taste and low calories in his daily diet.

Now there's a happy answer to this yearning for sweets—powdered soft drink mixes in a variety of refreshing flavors that quench the thirst and contain only four calories for an eight-ounce serving.

AS A MAN THINKETH

Gerald Beasley

HE SAT WHERE THEY SAT

Because of their sins God allowed His ancient people, the Jews, to be taken into captivity by Babylon. Despite the Jews' "hard forehead" and "stiff heart" the prophet Ezekiel exhorted among them, seeking to turn them wholly to Jehovah.

One time Ezekiel "came to them of the captivity at Telabib . . . and sat where they sat, and remained there astonished (overwhelmed) among them seven days" (Ezek. 3). He was deeply grieved at their pathetic circumstance.

In relating to others we often need to "sit where they sit" or "walk in their moccasins."

We may be aware of tremendous trial in someone's life, but real sympathy will escape us if we have not actually lived through similar experiences. "Sym" means "with" while "pathy" is derived from "pathos" which means pain or suffering. Empathy (mental entrance into another's feelings) is a more exact word.

In Luke 10 the "good" Samaritan was from a race of people hated and rejected. His heart blended with the beaten man, left "half dead." The self-righteous priest and Levite knew no compassion.

Real sympathy comes from the womb of experience. If you would have the mind of Christ toward the hurting, try to "sit where they sit."

en beverages and food, thereby lowering their calorie content. That's great news for sweet cravers who have to watch the waistline.

Sugar-Free Kool-Aid, which is America's #3 soft drink, will be available nationwide, while new Sugar-Free Crystal Light, geared to adult tastes, is being introduced in 40 percent of the country now, but will soon be available nationwide also.

NutraSweet is a nutritive sweetener, made from two amino acids, which are protein components found in everyday foods such as milk, meat, eggs and fish. It is metabolized naturally by the body, unlike artificial sweeteners.

It's a low-calorie, good tasting answer for the cave man's descendants, whose sweet tooth still demands satisfaction.

"The best mirror is a friend's eye."

There's a new low-caloried answer to mankind's old yearning for sweets.

In March 1892, Robert Fulton (Bob) Stevenson, jr. came to Briscoe County with his father, R. F. Stevenson, sr., and mother, Mary (Folley) Stevenson, five brothers and three sisters. The old home place was located where the present Towe Office building is located.

Bob was born in Limestone County. He married Minnie Augusta Pietzsch in 1901. Minnie's father, J. E. Pietzsch, and mother, Yetta Pietzsch, helped organize Briscoe County. They returned to Bartlett a few years later. Both were born in Germany.

Bob and Minnie Stevenson lived in the Rock Creek community until he was appointed sheriff in 1915 after Mr. Long was killed. Bob served several terms as county surveyor and was also in the real estate business.

Born to this union were four boys and three girls. Bertha Mae was born in October 1902. She married Dean Allard in December 1926. One son, Joe Lynn, was born to them. He married Sybil Watters and they had one daughter, Sue Lynn, who is married to Gary Whitfill. They have two children, Cody and Leah, and live in Hereford. Joe was divorced and later married Ruth Ann Autry. They had three children, Jo Ann, who is married to Chris Molloy and lives in Memphis; Terry, who finishes college in May, and Chris, who is in college at Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Roscoe Keith was the second child of Minnie and Bob Stevenson. He was born September 4, 1904 and was killed in September 1943 working at an air base in Oklahoma.

James Oscar, better known as Jim, was born October 31, 1906. He married Donald Cowsar September 18, 1928, and they had one son, Billy Don. He lives in East Bridgewater, Massachusetts. He and his wife, Beverly, have two daughters, Lynn and Sandra. Lynn has a lovely daughter born February 22, 1984. Donald died in 1934 and Jim in January 1983.

Jettie was born February 10, 1909 and married Wood Hardcastle September 15, 1928.

Lee Fulton was the fifth child. He married Renna Watson of Quitaque and has lived in Fort Sumner, New Mexico for a number of years. They had one son, Ernie, and he has twin sons, Lane and Lance. They live in Scurry, Texas.

Al Austin was born January 19 1913. He married Hazel Trosvig from Minnesota. They had two children, Bob and Shirley. Bob married Patricia Moll, and they have a daughter, Shelly, and a son, Robert Al. Shirley married Brian Murphy and they have sons, Harley and Derek. All live in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Zell is the seventh child of Bob and Minnie Stevenson. She is married to Martell Grover and they have two sons, Fred and Gail. They have several grandchildren, and all live in Rexburg, Idaho.

Bob died November 5, 1944 and Minnie January 17, 1966.

Bertha Mae Allard and Jettie Hardcastle reside in Silverton.

Montene Merchant, Cally and Bear Podzemny and Frank Brown of Amarillo have been recent visitors in the home of Jettie Hardcastle.

Mrs. Marvin (Reba) Self underwent an appendectomy at Lockney General Hospital last week. She is expected to be able to return home early this week.
