UPT Class 89-11 pins on wings

Graduation ceremonies for Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 89-11 will be held tonight at the Officers' Open Mess.

Guest speaker for the graduation is Brig. Gen. Phillip J. Ford, Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff, Operations, Headquarters Strategic Air Command, Offutt AFB, Neb.

A parents' social starts at 5:15 p.m., followed by the graduation ceremony at 5:50 p.m. Cocktails begin at 7 p.m. followed by the dinner dance at 7:45 p.m.

During the graduation ceremony, several members of the class will receive awards for performance during their year of pilot training.

The awards are: Commander's Trophy (top overall graduate), Distinguished Graduate, Leadership, Outstanding Second Lieutenant, Flying Training (top stick) and Academic Training.

Awards will also be presented to the Outstanding Academic Instructor Pilots and Flying Instructor Pilots in both T-37 and T-38 aircraft.

Two crew chiefs will also be honored by the class as best in their respective aircraft — T-37 and T-38.

Four students have been given follow-on assignments here. Returning instructor pilots from the class are: Second Lieutenants Alan Ray Miller, Jack P. Morawiec, Scott J. Wardle and Thomas Zupancich.

Other graduates are: Capt. Robert S.

George, First Lieutenants Donald K. McKinion and Jerry Carlton Lindh and Second Lieutenants Jon G. Andre, Brian S. Bowman, Matthew Eric Evans, Douglas P. Gracey Jr., William M. Harnly, Roy Vicente James Jones, Eric J. Kerns, Peter Kenneth Larsen, David E. Palmer, David Michael Rehmeier, Steven Eli Sanchez and Charles Frederick Toplikar.

Commander's Perspective

By Col. Monroe S. Sams Jr.
Wing Commander
64th Flying Training Wing

As we approach the Fourth of July holiday, I know all of us at Reese are looking forward to the break.

We've earned a holiday, having worked hard to complete an ATC/IG inspection with flying colors, then working overtime and flying several Saturdays to chase the elusive "timeline."

So, let's enjoy the day off. But while we're relaxing with family and friends, let's take a little time to reflect on what the Fourth of July means to us.

This Fourth of July marks the 213th year of freedom for a nation which has known nothing else.

With the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776, this nation was conceived in liberty.

All Americans, especially those of us sworn to defend that liberty, should remember with pride the courage of our founding fathers. In defiance of the King, they risked life and fortune to pursue the ideals of liberty and justice.

We need look no further than the daily news headlines to see how much courage it took for those great patriots to sign their names on the Declaration of Independence.

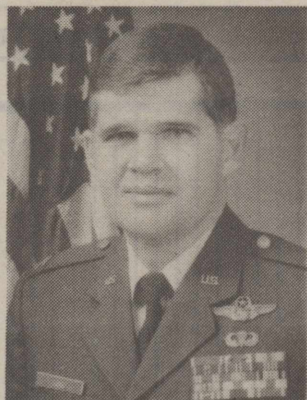

I see that kind of courage and commitment here every day. It is your selfless dedication, professionalism and sacrifice that enables this wing to continue producing the best pilots in the world. And in so doing, enable a nation to continue to celebrate its legacy of liberty.

Upon signing the Declaration of Independence, John Adams proclaimed, "This day should be commemorated as a day of deliverance...It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parades, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward forevermore."

All across this country people will be doing just that. Locally, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce's Fourth of July parade will be held in downtown Lubbock starting at 9:40 a.m. Buffalo Springs Lake will host its annual fireworks display beginning at about 9:30 p.m. And neighbors and friends will gather in parks and backyards for picnics and barbecues.

As we all celebrate this most precious of American holidays, I ask each of you to enjoy the day to the fullest, but please do so safely. Above all else, don't drink and drive.

Have a safe and happy Fourth of July.

Col. Monroe S. Sams Jr.

Independence Day messages

from George Bush

President

This Fourth of July, Barbara and I send a special message of greetings and gratitude to our men and women in uniform around the globe.

Exactly 213 years ago this week, General George Washington asked his troops to do more than merely fight for political independence; he urged them to show the whole world that "a free man, contending for liberty," is "superior to every slavish mercenary on earth." Those early American fighting men did show it, at Valley Forge, at Yorktown, and on every battlefield during the Revolutionary War. The world took notice then and it has remembered ever since.

Today, as Americans celebrate the proud heritage made possible by those patriots, we reflect with gratitude upon the continuing sacrifices of our military personnel — sacrifices that include separation from loved ones, long days of service at sea, or standing watch in a foreign land. The liberty we hail today, you defend every day. The rights we enjoy as Americans, we could not enjoy were it not for you who willingly bear the sword to assure peace.

On the 213th birthday of our country — so blessed with peace and freedom — I urge all Americans to join me in expressing our gratitude, publicly and joyfully, to you, the guardians of our independence, the men and women of the Armed Forces of the United States.

Happy Fourth of July!

from Richard B. Cheney

Secretary of Defense

Independence Day 1989 finds the United States at peace. It hasn't always been that way, of course.

On July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was announced to a country already at war. It gave meaning and direction to the glorious struggle in which the 13 colonies were already embroiled.

Since that first Independence Day, the United States has had many "birthday" celebrations, many of them muted by war.

On July 4, 1863, a bitterly divided country waited for the results of the two Civil War campaigns at Gettysburg and Vicksburg.

The Glorious Fourth in 1918 saw American doughboys in France preparing to storm the World War I trenches on the Western Front.

July 4, 1944, found those doughboys' sons also in France, getting ready for a break-out from the Normandy beachhead of World War II.

On July 4, 1950, Americans were entering battle on the Korean peninsula, and on several July 4ths, from the mid-60's through the early 70's, Americans were patrolling, fighting, and dying in Vietnam.

July 4, 1989, finds our soldiers, sailors, airmen, and Marines standing guard around the world. Just as surely as those who have gone before you, you are protecting our interests, our values, and our precious heritage and independence.

As we watch the fireworks and enjoy this Independence Day with our families or friends, we would do well to remember all of the sacrifices that made our freedoms possible. The dedication that you display today is the same dedication that has sustained our nation in freedom for 213 years.

from Donald B. Rice

Secretary of the Air Force
and Gen. Larry D. Welch
Air Force Chief of Staff

This Independence Day our nation celebrates the 213th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. As Americans commemorate this historic occasion, we reaffirm our gratitude to you, the men and women of the Air Force, who unselfishly defend the freedoms won for us by generations of patriots.

The patriotism of members of our Air Force family around the globe rekindles the ideals set forth in the Declaration of Independence by those early American visionaries and advances the cause of freedom and hope for people throughout the world.

Enlisted Open Mess needs our support

By CMSgt. Coy K. Martin
Senior Enlisted Advisor

The services offered and facilities available at our enlisted open mess have been very limited for some time. This has precluded our club fulfilling its traditional role as the social center for our enlisted corps.

We have action well underway that will change this status. The building is currently undergoing a major renovation and upon completion, management will be able to offer complete service to our members. A general membership meeting and membership night, with live entertainment, is scheduled for July 7. Complete details on the renovated facility and the type of programs we will be able to support will be presented to the membership that afternoon and evening.

A survey is being distributed to the Reese enlisted corps and local retired population. We need your honest, straightforward feedback. The things you want and need will form the foundation for our current programs as well as long range goals. If you have not received a survey, get one from your advisory council representative or the E.O.M. cashier and fill it out. After all, a club is made up of members, for the members, not just a building. See you on July 7.

Have a happy Fourth of July – barbecue safely

Many Reese people will be celebrating the Fourth of July with backyard cookouts.

The National Safety Council wants to send everyone out to the patio with sound information about barbecuing safety. The following quiz is designed to grill you about safe procedures.

1. The most serious cookout mishap is —
 - (a) sunburn
 - (b) burnt offering meals
 - (c) personal burns
2. What's best to light your fire with?
 - (a) commercial liquid starters
 - (b) gasoline
 - (c) cigarette lighter fluid
 - (d) wood shavings
3. If the fire needs rekindling, the best fuel to do the job is —
 - (a) starter fluid
 - (b) papers
 - (c) wood shavings or twigs
4. If a flare-up does occur, the handiest way to put it out is with a —
 - (a) blanket
 - (b) clothes sprinkler

- (c) handful of dirt
5. What is the best way to end your barbecue?
 - (a) hose down the coals
 - (b) hose down the guests
 - (c) tell everyone the party is over
 - (d) bring the grill inside and keep the coals going for a midnight snack

ANSWERS

1. The last choice is right. Sloppy work habits and inattention to the job have made "chef flambé" the main attraction at plenty of barbecues.
2. If you picked (a) or (d), you win. The National Safety Council strongly warns against the use of gasoline or cigarette lighter fluid. Follow directions on commercial fluids carefully.
3. The last answer is right. Liquids or paper might create dangerously high flames.
4. The clothes sprinkler leads the list. A couple of well aimed shakes will quench a minor flare-up without disturbing most of the coals. The council recommends keeping a home fire extinguisher nearby for more boisterous blazes.
5. Hosing down the coals is the safest way to end the evening. After the coals have been doused, spread them out to dry thoroughly before rebagging again. Choice (d) is a real killer. Never bring the grill into any enclosed space to cook without ample ventilation. Burning charcoal produces odorless, invisible carbon monoxide that can execute an entire family in 30 minutes without even being detected. If bad weather forces the festivities indoors, douse the coals and move dinner to the kitchen stove.

Know where and how to safely use fireworks

Security Police officials remind wing members that the use of fireworks on base is prohibited.

Those interested in celebrating the Fourth of July with fireworks are encouraged to attend a professionally coordinated fireworks show such as the one at Buffalo Springs Lake.

Use of fireworks within the city limits of Lubbock is also prohibited.

Reese personnel planning to legally use fireworks to celebrate this Fourth of July weekend should follow these safety guidelines:

- * Do not allow younger children to play with fireworks under any circumstances. The sparkler, considered by many to be the "safe" firework for the young, burns at a very high temperature and can easily ignite clothing. Children can't appreciate the danger involved.

* Older children should be allowed to use fireworks only under close adult supervision. Don't allow any running or horseplay around fireworks.

* Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area away from houses and flammable materials.

* Keep a bucket of water nearby for emergencies.

* Don't try to relight malfunctioning fireworks — soak them in water and throw away.

Class 89-11 soars toward graduation

By 2nd Lt. Thomas Zupancich

It was a warm summer morning. The sun shone brightly over the cotton fields of West Texas. A jackrabbit scurried along runway 35 center at the Reese airplane flying patch. But somehow, something was different. It was the morning of June 27, 1988, Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 89-11 was assembling for the first time, and the world would never be the same.

The battle cry, "There you have it," was heard far and wide as 89-11 descended upon Reese and Lubbock. Our tradition of punctuality started early on. Half of the class showed up on the second day, confused and bewildered, but ready for action. We all showed up in our spiffy blues and braved the endless briefings and other in-processing adventures. Soon we began academics, and finally learned the difference between a throttle and a thrust attenuator. After slamming some tests, feeling "kinda warm" in the altitude chamber, and dodging natural objects while parasailing in a cow pasture, we were ready to get down to the business of aviating.

Soon enough we did hit the flightline to attempt actual flight in the Trainer-37 aircraft to be found there. Once again, 89-11 was to leave a trail of incidents to be long remembered at the 35th Flying Training Squadron.

History was made as ground tracks, altitudes and radio calls were either redefined or disregarded altogether. The fearless Pogo and Stage solo aircraft wandered all over the sky completing erratic patterns, incomplete flares and firm touchdowns. A certain member of our class, while providing marginal control over his Tweet, took off without clearance, and subsequently quickly dispatched a surface-to-air hook. The student pilot blamed the entire incident on a "real bad headache."

Some of us, while flying, enjoyed the relaxed feeling of unconsciousness while attempting high-G dive recoveries. In another attempt to grab some much needed rest, several of us came down with Joe Scalione Narcolepsy Disease. This tendency to sleep in any place at any time was truly mastered by one of our classmates who actually overslept one day and missed report. Not an uncommon occurrence normally, but this guy missed report by five and a half hours! As far as we know, this record stands unchallenged command-wide.

The flying went on, and we soon sent the first intrepid to checkrides. Some of them even returned! There were others, unfortunately, who ate their share of "tacos" for lunch. But all was not lost, and we continued to strap our tweets on and try our hands at formation flight.

One thing 89-11 will be remembered for is our creative use of the communications equipment aboard our aircraft. Some of our non-standard transmissions bear repeating. Among our favorites: "Peak 15, fuel is 300, and the lights are blinkin' on and off pretty good there." "Peak 30, closed downwind, five hundred and sixty-two pounds." "Colt 51, closed downwind, st!"

One morning a solo responded to a request for pattern winds with "Stage 61, closed downwind, pattern winds...ahhh...seem pretty calm." To which the box responded, "Roger, Tumbleweed copies pattern winds seem pretty calm." Another piprep, this time from a T-38, "Bugle 25, I'm at 3,300 feet, and the clouds are 500 feet below me." Probably the most infamous radio call from us went something like, "Bugle 15, cleared for takeoff. Buzzards, how's the pizza?"

We finally finished the Tweet program, and those of us who were left felt pretty good about our superb mastering of such a swift piece of machinery. So, with bold ambition and open minds, we went headfirst into a new frontier. Once again it was time to face that ol' "Firehose" of knowledge. We remained conscious and kept that old Joe Scalione Narcolepsy Disease at bay by slamming all the coffee and Mountain Dew that the STURON "Snacks" had to offer.

We learned all of the "thingamajigs" associated with the White Rocket's systems, as well as the nature of flight at even more than 275 knots! Soon we were the new kids on the block once again on the T-38 flightline.

About the time we were ready to actually fly, Christmas came around, and some instructors suggested cancelling it because flying was more important. Instead, we grabbed all of our books to impress the stewaresses on the flight home. And, at the end of the break, we dusted those books off for the plane ride back to Lubbock.

When we returned, we were all ready to feel the surge of acceleration provided by what the English call "Reheat" — also known as afterburners. But we young Chuck Yeagers of 89-11 had our hands full with just keeping the Talon straight and level. The IPs also challenged us with the classic gags, such as, "Blow on the pitot tub to see if it works," "Hold the G-suit test button to see if the cut-out switch works," and "Lower your seat before we start engines so I can see the crew chief."

As time went on, we got better at flying the Talon, amazed by its acceleration, fuel consumption in afterburner, rolling capability and maneuverability. We also explored its capability to pull Gs, with 8.2 Gs standing as another 89-11 record.

Formation in the T-38 was more fun than humans should be allowed. Another unbroken record is the feat of supersonic extended trail, created by 89-11. Despite the occasional precision approaches to and from the area and ventures deep into the ionosphere above the Tatum area, we all survived the formations in a good to excellent to outstanding manner.

Now, as UPT winds to a close, we can look back at our wild adventures and forward to some of the most exciting assignments the Air Force has to offer. For those who did not make it this far, we all remember that "it is better to try and fail than not to try at all," and to those who will be graduating, "Keep 'em Flying." Oh yeah, by the way, Jerry, I guess you can make up your seating chart now! So long.

A-76 conversion Soper explains its effect

(EDITOR'S NOTE: By now, everyone at Reese should be aware that the aircraft maintenance mission will convert to a civilian workforce later this year. In the following article, the Air Training Command chief of staff for Logistics explains why that is happening here and at other ATC bases.)

By Brig. Gen. W. John Soper
Headquarters Air Training Command
Deputy Chief of Staff, Logistics

The composition of the work force as we know it in ATC is changing—not subtly, but dramatically due to a little known circular from the office of management and budget called A-76.

Conceived by Congress, it directs the Department of Defense to review all "commercial activities" being performed by DOD personnel to determine if it would be more cost-effective to perform those functions by contract. "Commercial activities" are defined as those that provide a product or service that is not inherently military by nature.

Certain guidelines were laid out to permit commanders to determine which functions should be performed by only military personnel. Some functions were automatically excluded. Those that came under review range from a relatively simple function like cutting the grass to the maintenance of an entire fleet of trainer aircraft.

Once a functional area has been described as a "commercial activity," it must be converted to either civil service or civilian contract (a cost comparison study determines which) and the blue suit personnel authorizations are given up.

In 1987, about 27 percent of ATC'S logistics functions were under contract. By 1992, approximately 64 percent will be manned by civilians (contract or civil service). Looked at another way, in 1987 we did our work with about 13,000 people, including blue suit, civil service and contractors. In 1992, that total will be down to 11,000 as result of blue suit authorizations being replaced by smaller civil service and contractor workforces.

Actually, having civilians manage large logistics functions is not really new to ATC. Vance AFB has had a contract for almost 30 years that includes aircraft maintenance as well as most base functions and it works very well. Sheppard AFB, too, has had contract aircraft maintenance since 1988 and the other UPT bases are now in various stages of conversion.

The bottom line is A-76 is being used to free up military authorizations while saving about $50 million a year in manpower costs in ATC. We are finding that civilians can do many jobs more efficiently yet just as effectively as military personnel at substantially less cost, because they don't need extra people in training, attending to military duties, etc. This is especially important now since defense budgets are again on the decline, and we need to take advantage of every measure we can to make our dollars go as far as possible.

How will this change ATC? First, we will have civilians picking up a larger share of ATC's primary mission. We are depending on them to provide us the goods and services we need to train students on the ground and in the air.

In those areas where they become responsible for a large portion of the logistics mission such as base supply and aircraft maintenance, they become primary members of the commander's team.

We need to treat them that way and expect them to respond accordingly. Many of the individuals are former blue suiters, who have no trouble identifying with the mission.

Most welcome the opportunity to contribute and need the same kind of leadership and recognition we provide our military force.

One thing is for sure, barring an act of Congress to reverse the process, contracting out or converting certain formerly military functions to civil service is here to stay. There's no going back.

The new civilian workforce is an essential element of ATC and the challenge for all of us is to obtain maximum performance from them.

Understanding how the system works and the part each one of us plays should be one of our top priorities.

Nine make 0-5

Nine Reese majors were selected for lieutenant colonel, according to the Headquarters Air Force Military Personnel Center lieutenant colonel selectee board results released Thursday.

Selectees are: John M. Boyd, commander, 64th Supply Squadron; Joseph M. Buchwald, wing comptroller; Roger M. Cude, newly assigned to the 35th Flying Training Squadron; Peter K. Kloeber, wing civil engineer; Glen D. Locklear, commander, 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron; Teresa M. Peterson, a flight commander with the 54th Flying Training Squadron; Gary A. Praesel, operations officer, 35th FTS; Eileen K. Sullivan, a nurse with USAF Hospital-Reese; and Michael J. Truax, ACE Division Chief.

Air Training Command had a better selection this year than in the recent past as 57 percent of ATC's nominees were selected.

Airman found guilty by General Court

By Capt. Sandra Grice
Assistant Staff Judge Advocate
A General Court-Martial was convened at Reese June 22.

During the two day trial, a panel of six officers found A1C Daniel McDowell, 64 Supply Squadron, guilty of indecent acts with a child under 16 years of age, and attempted indecent acts with a child under 16 years of age.

Airman McDowell was acquitted of one charge of assault on a child under 16 years of age.

During the second day of trial, the same panel of officers considered matters pertaining to sentencing. After deliberations, the panel returned a sentence to include a Bad Conduct Discharge, confinement for a period of 18 months, forfeiture of $400 per month for 18 months, and reduction to the grade of E-1.

The court-martial was held in the wing conference room which had been converted to a temporary court room. The traditional court room is currently being moved to the third floor of Bldg. 230.

The move should be complete in time for the next court-martial, currently scheduled to convene on July 10. The entire legal office will also move to the new location.

Reese participates in hospital exercise

USAF Hospital-Reese and three area hospitals participated in a joint readiness exercise June 22.

The exercise, held at Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum, is part of a yearly requirement to exercise agreements that other hospitals will help in case of an overflow of people at Reese's hospital during an emergency, according to 1st Lt. Ron Carrell, medical readiness officer.

"These exercises are important to Reese because they help us prepare ourselves to treat any number of casualties that may occur on base with the help of downtown facilities," he said.

The exercise kicked off after Reese members moulaged the approximately 80 casualty participants, simulating wounds to further enhance the exercise.

Reese members then assisted in triage and transporting the casualties to the area hospitals, where the hospitals then took over for the remainder of the exercise.

The other hospitals involved were Lubbock General, Methodist and St. Mary's of the Plains.

"Reese hospital participants stood out during the exercise due to the readiness training we regularly conduct here," said Lieutenant Carrell. "The Reese-Lubbock relationship can only strengthen and benefit from such an event."

TSgt. William Waters prepares to participate in the exercise as a casualty as he is moulaged, as were the other acting casualties. (U.S. Air Force photos by Mike Parrish)

Civilian drug testing program goes into effect this fall

By Sgt. Kimberly Nelson
Staff Writer, Roundup

Approximately 41 of Reese's civilian employees will be subject to random drug testing once the Air Force Civilian Drug Testing Program goes into effect this fall.

More than 20,000 Air Force civilian employees serviced by Air Training Command recently received letters notifying them they may be tested for illegal drug use under the new program designed to achieve a drug-free work place. ATC officials said the testing will assure accurate, safe and top quality production from their civilian employees. Employees having jobs associated with law enforcement, national security and public health and safety will be the only ones randomly selected for testing. Presently at Reese, this involves firefighters and medical officers.

"Once tier II of the program is implemented, this random testing could also include aircraft maintenance personnel," commented Hal Corbin, chief of the civilian labor and employee management section. "Currently, tier II is only under consideration, so it will probably be a while before it actually goes into effect."

The Air Force also authorizes commander-directed testing of all civilian employees, in addition to the random testing, under the following conditions:

- When there is reasonable suspicion that a federal employee uses illegal drugs.
- During an Air Force investigation of an accident or unsafe practice.
- As part of, or follow-up to, counseling or rehabilitation for illegal drug use.
- If an employee volunteers for testing. In this case, the person's name is placed in the pool for random selection.
- Applicants for testing-designated positions are also subject to the random testing program.

"Approximately 500 civilian drug tests will be performed Air Force-wide per month. Based on the current quota, those affected civilians in ATC would stand a 25 percent chance of being identified for random testing each year," said Mr. Corbin. "That estimates to be one to three Reese personnel per month."

For more information on the program and its implementation, contact Mr. Corbin at 3974.

NCO status

There is a Noncommissioned Officers' Status and Promotion Ceremony today at 4 p.m. at the Mathis Recreation Center. All wing members are invited to attend.

Breakfast

A colonel and chiefs breakfast is scheduled for Thursday, 6:45 a.m., at the Caprock Cafe.

Aetna's FEHB

The Aetna Life Insurance Company is ending its federal employees health benefits program Dec. 31. Aetna will continue to provide quality service to all current enrollees and process claims for medical services provided during the period of enrollment in the Aetna Health Benefit Plan. Enrollees should continue to submit benefit claims promptly to Aetna. Claims for medical expenses incurred during calendar year 1989 must be submitted no later than Dec. 31, 1990.

For more information, call Chris Lytal or Bev Miracle at 3802.

Busy box

Playskool, Inc. has recalled its Color 'N Contrast Busy Box after finding that the toy's printed red logo exceeds the .06 percent lead content limit required by federal law.

The Army and Air Force Exchange Service, one of the retailers that stocked the toy worldwide, has removed the boxes from exchange shelves. Customers who purchased Playskool's Busy Box may return it to their local exchange for a full refund, or may send it directly to Playskool, Inc., 110 Pitney Road, Lancaster, Pa. 17602. Playskool will refund the customer's money upon receipt of the toy.

Maintenance info

Cost comparison studies are being conducted at Reese, Williams AFB, Ariz. and Mather AFB, Calif., for aircraft maintenance. The anticipated period of these studies is now through December. During this period, or until these studies are complete, contacts regarding the projects by potential contractors are not allowed. The contracting officer at Randolph AFB, Texas, is the only authorized to contact potential contractors or release information. For more information, call Lydia Larson, 3995.

Energy

Reese continues to produce a successful energy conservation program. Reese eliminates the "Energy Czar" position Sept. 1. The energy coordinating function has been shifted from the 64th Air Base Group to the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron. The new energy monitor is Lomas Freeman, (64CES/DEMC). For more information, call 3927.

Air Force News

Testing change

Senior master sergeant testing cycles are being moved from September to October and November, beginning with the 91S8 promotion cycle. For more information call promotions and testing, consolidated base personnel office, 3145.

CMSgt. promotions

The 90S9 chief master sergeant evaluation board is scheduled to convene Oct. 16. Personnel selected will be promoted Jan. 1 - Dec. 1, 1990. All eligibles should receive a data verification record in August.

Airmen with approved retirements to be effective on or before Dec. 31, or who fall into one of the categories listed in Air Force regulation 39-29 are ineligible for promotion consideration. Airmen with an approved retirement date of Jan. 1 or later are eligible. Withdrawal of an approved retirement or a permanent change of station declaration statement does not make you eligible for promotion consideration unless headquarters Air Force military personnel center approves the withdrawal prior to July 31.

The 20 points for completion of the Senior Noncommissioned Officers' Academy is being removed from the weighted score this cycle. For more information call 3145.

TERPS keeping sky 'freeways' clear for flying

The job of air traffic control is seen by many people as a group of men and women intently scanning the skies from their vantage point of the control tower or sitting in a dimly-lit room hunched over a large radar scope.

A visit to the control tower opens the door to a world filled with intense people speaking a language of short coded phrases and numbers. This is the highly visible side of air traffic control.

There is another side to the job that very few people know exists. It has all, if not more, of the intensity and precision seen by the flying and non-flying public — the job of the terminal instrument procedures specialist, commonly called TERPS.

In a nutshell, TERPS are responsible for designing landing and departure procedures. These procedures allow pilots to safely land or take off in virtually any type of weather with a minimum, or if necessary, no assistance from air traffic controllers. To some this may sound unsafe, but that is definitely not the case.

Before TERPS put pen to paper, they are trained extensively in many areas of vital importance. A TERPSer's knowledge includes, but by no means is limited to air traffic control procedures, air traffic flow, operational use of airspace, aircraft performance, trigonometry, geometry, drafting and computer skills. This knowledge and exacting review, validation and flight testing provide pilots a safe way into and out of airports.

"Our number one objective is to give the pilot a precise route, altitudes and a rate of climb or descent to and from the runway."

TSgt. Al Rucker, chief air traffic controller with the 1958th Communications Squadron, became Reese's TERPS monitor after completing a complex two-month course at Keesler AFB, Miss.

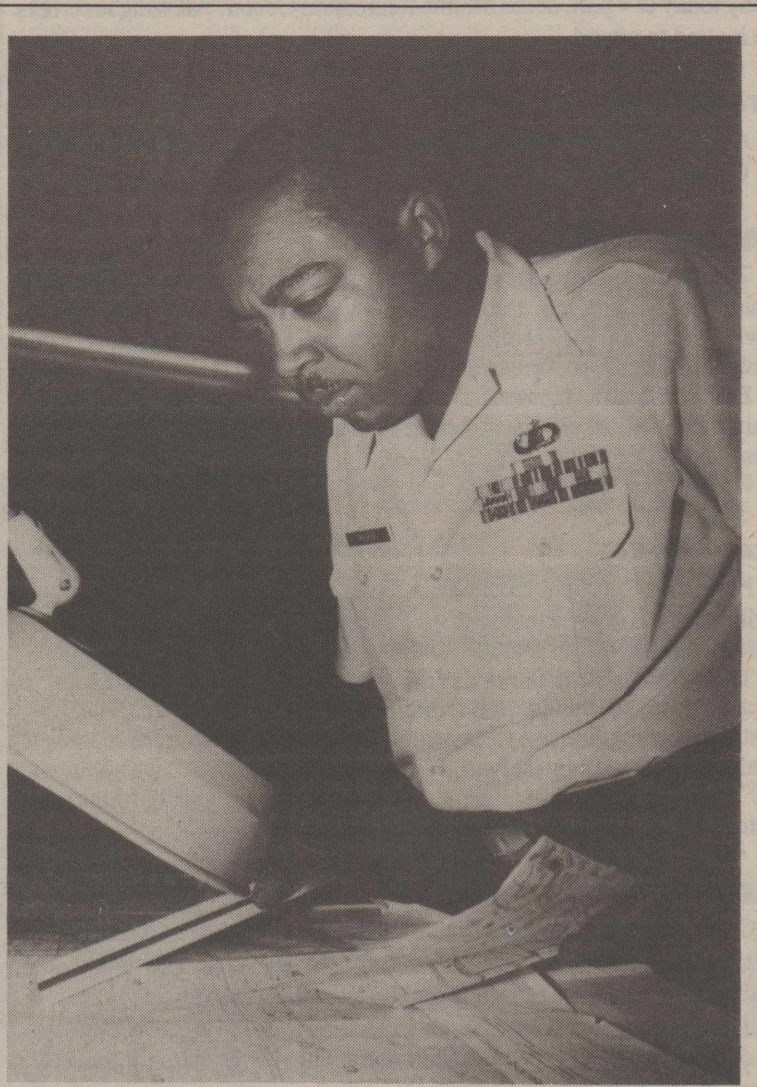

"Obstacles are the biggest problem," said Sergeant Rucker. "The job requires constant attention as local conditions are always subject to change. When buildings are erected or when trees grow to a certain height, maps and procedures have to be updated to include these new hazards to flight safety."

Using extremely detailed topographical maps and engineering blueprints, specialists build from the ground up. "Our number one objective is to give the pilot a precise route, altitudes and a rate of climb or descent to and from the runway. Of primary importance is the KIS principle, meaning 'keep it simple.' Complicated procedures would only add to an already demanding job," said the master sergeant selectee.

The job also requires the utmost precision in every drawing and calculation that make up a procedure. A great deal of painstaking research goes into evaluating these procedures. "Safety and flyability first, last and always," stressed Sergeant Rucker. "Aircraft have to be kept away from obstructions Mother Nature and man seem to put near airports."

Challenging and rewarding are adjectives that definitely describe the work involved with TERPS. Watching the specialists at work on nights with extremely poor visibility brings out their intensity. "Seeing an aircraft flying safely during poor weather, that's what gives me satisfaction," he said. (AFCC feature)

Fourth of July events set for Lubbock, area

A Fourth of July parade and fireworks display are among the special events scheduled for the Fourth of July in the Lubbock area.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will host its annual Fourth of July parade, Tuesday at 9:40 a.m.

The parade, which will include Reese's 50-state flag marching unit, will begin its procession near the Texas Tech coliseum. The parade will travel through the university, across Broadway to Avenue M and then north to the Civic Center.

Parade officials expect it to take a little over one hour for all of the units to complete the procession.

Buffalo Springs Lake will set off its annual fireworks display at approximately 9:30 p.m.

Lake officials advise Reese personnel to arrive early, citing the 20,000-plus attendance at last year's show.

Admission to the park is $1.75 for adults, 75 cents for children 6-11 years old, and free for those under six years old. A special rate of $1 is available for senior citizens.

Those interested in taking advantage of MWR firecracker camping offer (detailed in Community Notes section), might consider spending the weekend at the lake. Daily camping rates range from $7.75 to $9.75 and include individual entrance fees.

In addition, Lubbock area churches are sponsoring a "Celebration of Freedom" at the Lubbock Civic Center on Sunday.

More than 200 area choir members are expected to participate in the program. The show, which is held in honor of all U.S. veterans, begins at 7 p.m. and is free.

DDP: youngsters aren't automatically covered

After today, children under four years of age may not be covered under the Active Duty Dependent Dental Plan unless specifically enrolled by their sponsor.

Carolyn Johnson, health benefits advisor, announced, "Effective Saturday, children under four are not automatically enrolled, however, they do remain eligible to participate in the dental plan."

In order for the children to receive benefits under the plan, the family premium code must reflect their enrollment.

Sponsors paying the family rate, who want their children under four to receive the dental plan benefits, should contact their personnel or finance officer immediately to ensure that the correct premium code has been reported. Sponsors who do not want their children under the age of four to receive dental benefits need not take any action.

"Also, sponsors presently paying a single premium for having one dependent enrolled in the dental plan, who also have children under four, may enroll them in the plan at any time," she said.

Enrollment will change the sponsor's premium from the single to family rate, and will increase the monthly paycheck deduction. The current rates are; one dependent $3.93, more than one dependent $7.86.

For more information, contact Mrs. Johnson at 3581.

Shortfall will not affect area veterans, says VA

Lubbock area veterans are not being affected by recent cuts in medical services and expenditures directed at some of the Department of Veterans Affairs 172 medical centers and 230 outpatient clinics.

According to Dr. Claude Ricks, assistant chief of staff, Lubbock Veterans Administration, the departmental cuts directed May 26 do not affect programs here or at facilities in Amarillo, Texas.

In announcing the cuts, Secretary of Veterans Affairs Edward J. Derwinski, said the actions were necessary to "keep the health care system functioning within the limits of its resources.

The VA has requested supplemental funding of $340 million for medical care and $844 million for various other benefit programs to maintain programs through September, the end of the fiscal year.

Pending legislative action on the supplemental request, the VA scaled back medical care by freezing acceptance of new patients whose eligibility is dependent on VA resources. Except in emergencies, those affected would be patients with non-service connected status and whose incomes are above the limits set by law.

Other actions include decreasing staff levels at VA facilities and delaying the start of numerous new facility projects.

While stressing that the Lubbock VA remains unaffected at this time, Ricks conceded that some adjustments in programs may be required if legislative action is not taken soon to provide supplemental funds.

The VA has stated that some specialized programs may be closed if supplemental funding is not approved. Also, personnel cuts may delay processing of compensation and pension claims.

Easter Seals day camp

By 1st Lt. Douglas D. White
Executive Officer, 64 ABG/CC
"It was a total success!" was Vivian Henderson's assessment of this year's week-long (June 19-23) Easter Seal Day Camp. Ms. Henderson, director of this year's tenth annual camp, added, "The week was so full of activities and fun, it was hard to see it end."

The camp, operating out of the Reese Youth Center, included a variety of events for the 38 campers and 40-plus counselors.

Between trips to the Windmill Bowling Lanes, the Reese Fire Department and daily visits to the Sea Breeze Pool, campers had a look at the T-37 and T-38 static displays and saw demonstrations by the Reese Honor Guard and the 64th Security Police Squadron's

Emergency Response Team.

Throughout the week visits were made by other organizations as well. These included the Lubbock Sweet Adelines, members of the Texas Tech football team, a magician and several senior leaders from Reese.

The camp is designed to give handicapped individuals the opportunity to surpass themselves by involving them in challenging activities. Arts and crafts, games of skill and physical education are all included as part of the daily activities.

"Campers learn to overcome their inhibitions and try. By that measure alone this year's camp was tremendously successful, but along the way everyone had a lot of fun, too," she said.

Catalog discount

There is a three-way savings bonus offered to patrons of the 88-89 exchange mail order catalog, according to Patrick Sprow, Reese Exchange manager.

For orders postmarked from today until 31 July 1989, almost every item in the current catalog is 10 percent off. That means shipping and handling fees as well as the prices of the items. All items are included in the offer except those shown on pages 1-8.

Merchandise in the super saver mini-catalog is also 10 percent off.

To take advantage of the bonus, catalog customers should fill out their orders as usual and then take 10 percent off the total.

Also, catalog sales officials say copies of the 88-89 edition, which normally cost $3, are now available at exchanges at no charge.

Additionally, the $5 "first order" coupon in the back of the book will be honored until September 30, 1989. That means that catalog patrons can apply the coupon either to this addition or to the new 89-90 catalog due out late July.

Dallas trip

Take a break from Lubbock and enjoy the fun and excitement of the Dallas area on a four day mini vacation and shopping spree, Aug. 3 - 6. The tour leaves the Mathis Recreation Center Aug. 3 at 7 a.m. and returns Aug. 6 at 5 p.m.

The cost is $119 and includes transportation to Dallas, tickets for Six Flags, Wet 'n Wild, transportation to two large shopping malls and a three night motel stay with double occupancy (single occupancy costs $175).

Sign up for this tour is July 17 - 31 at the information, ticket and tour office. For more information call Ruby Thomas, 3787.

Supply specials

Morale, Welfare and Recreation Logistics offers three "red hot" specials over the July 4th holiday. These specials are in effect from June 30 - July 5.

The "Roman Candle" special includes a nine-person tent, four sleeping bags, one lantern and a medium large ice chest for $36.

The "Cherry Bomb" game kit is perfect for an outdoor weekend with two softballs, one bat, one football, one soccer ball and a medium large ice chest for $10.

The "Sparkler" special contains a three-person tent, two sleeping bags, one canteen, one backpack and one pair of binoculars for $24.

For more information call Logistics, 3815. MWR Logistics is located in Bldg. 2107. Hours of operation are Monday - Friday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Saturday 8 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.

Vacation

The arts and crafts center is sponsoring a bring a friend/win a fantasy vacation campaign.

The rules are: contestants must bring a new person each time they register for points; the new person may only be counted once; and the new person must be signed in by the accompanying contestant and both must utilize the facility at time of registration and at least two more times during the campaign.

For more information, call the center at 3241.

Blood drive

The July 4th weekend is traditionally a time of increased blood usage and decreased donations. In an effort to replenish the blood supply after the holiday weekend, Reese is sponsoring a patriotic blood drive Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Mathis Recreation Center.

In keeping with the Independence Day theme, each donor will receive a soft drink and an individually wrapped fried pie. For more information, contact MSgt. Gary Siegel, 6041.

Lost and found

The security police investigations section has the following lost or abandoned property: one silver key ring with 10 keys attached, one silver key ring with seven keys attached and one 18 inch gold color chain.

If the property listed above belongs to you, contact the investigations section at 3999.

Commissary

The commissary is closed Tuesday in observance of Independence Day. Business will resume Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

OWC function

The Officers' Wives Club's July function, "Christmas in July," is July 13, from 1:30 - 3:30 p.m. The cost is $3.95 per person. Craft demonstrations and airplane travel tips will be featured with a round trip ticket to Dallas for the door prize.

The deadline for reservations is July 10. For more information, call Angela Smith at 885-2771 (evenings) or 747-0576 (days).

Palo Duro

The Mathis Recreation Center is sponsoring a Palo Duro by horseback tour July 15.

The tour leaves the center at 7 a.m. and returns at 6:30 p.m. Cost is $15 per person and includes transportation, two hours of horseback riding and two hours of free time to walk, hike or rent additional riding time. Additional rental cost is $6 per hour, per person.

Sign up deadline is July 10 at 4:45 p.m. For more information, contact the information, ticket and tour office at 3878.

New hours

The Mathis Recreation Center's new hours begin Saturday; Monday - Friday 10 a.m. - 7 p.m., Saturday - Sunday noon - 6 p.m. and holidays closed.

Register pets

The Reese Veterinary Clinic's staff would like to remind members that all dogs and cats residing in base housing must be registered at the clinic.

The following are available at the clinic: rabies shots $5; canine distemper/parvovirus and feline distemper shots $7.50 and various types of heartworm medication. Pets are seen by appointment, Mondays and Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The clinic is also open Wednesdays-Fridays from 8 a.m. to noon.

Pet owners are reminded that pets must be firmly restrained; dogs on a leash and cats in a carrier. Children are not permitted in the clinic.

For more information, contact the clinic at 3535 or stop by Bldg. 35.

Wolf heads pack

Golfers eye ATC berths

This weekend's Air Training Command golf tournament qualifier shapes up as a three-man dog fight in the open division, according to base golf course officials.

The ATC tune-up will be played Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday.

John Wolf, the defending open division champ, is expected to be pressed by last year's runner-up David Joyal and the 1987 qualifier Bill Collier. Wolf shot a one-over-par 217 through 54 holes to capture the 1988 top qualifying position by three strokes.

In the senior division, perennial qualifier Coy Martin is once again expected to pace the field. Martin's top competition should come from Joe Buchwald.

As of Tuesday, there were no entries in the women's division.

The top two finishers in the open and seniors divisions will advance to the ATC tournament, Aug. 28 - 31, at Sheppard AFB, Texas. The top individual will advance in the women's division.

In addition to the 54-hole ATC qualifier, the 6,367 par 72 Reese course will also host the Base/Club Championship this weekend.

The entry fee for the 36-hole tourney is $5 per player plus green fees.

The tourney, which will be played Saturday and Sunday, will be divided into four flights by handicap. All golfers will then play scratch for individual flight honors. Awards will be presented to the top three finishers in each flight.

The deadline for entering both the ATC qualifier and the Base/Club Championship is noon today.

Sports briefs

Little League wrap-up

It was a big week for teams named Raiders in last week's Wolfforth Little League tournament play.

The Raiders won titles in both the T-Ball and Senior Divisions. In T-Ball, the Raiders topped the Bombers for top honors while the Senior Raiders bested the Orioles.

In Pee Wee action, the A's took first place by downing the runner-up Blue Jays. It was the Giants finishing ahead of the Rangers and Pirates in Major Division play.

Last week's Roundup incorrectly reported the date for the closing ceremonies for the Wolfforth Little League. The ceremonies will actually be held this Saturday at the Wolfforth baseball field.

Awards for T-Ball and Pee Wee will be presented from 10 a.m. until noon.

Awards for Majors and Seniors leagues will be from 3 to 6 p.m. There will be a barbecue lunch and special games from noon to 3 p.m.

Board elections will also be held at this time.

IM golf

The tee times for Thursday's intramural golf action are:

Tee 1 - STURON vs. FMS, 2 p.m.; 64th STUS vs. CES, 2:16 p.m.; MSSQ vs. 54th FTS, 2:32 p.m.

Tee 2 - RM vs. HOSP, 2 p.m.; COMM vs. SPS, 2:16 p.m.

IM softball

A three-game slate Wednesday evening will wrap up "round one" of intramural softball league play as teams scramble for position for the circuit's stretch run.

Wednesday's schedule matches OMS 'B' against FMS 'B' at 5 p.m.; FMS 'A' against the 54th at 6 p.m. and the 35th against RM 'A' at 7 p.m.

An all-star game will be played at 6 p.m. on Thursday. Players had not been selected as of press time.

The league will open "round two" action on July 10 and will play through August 10. All teams will carry records over from round one.

At the end of round two, the top three teams in each division, plus the next two teams with the best overall records will be paired in an eight-team, double elimination tournament.

Tennis tourney

The Reese Singles Tennis Championship will be held July 15th.

Tournament action will be divided into four divisions: Men's Open; Men's Junior Veteran, 35 to 39 years old; Men's Senior, 40 years old and older; and Women's Open.

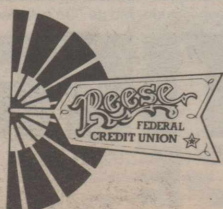

The deadline for entering is noon, July 14.
