Owls To Play Double-Header Saturday Afternoon

Both the varsity and junior high Owls have games on Saturday afternoon this week. The junior high game is set for 1:30 p.m., to be followed by the varsity game at 3:30. The games are to be played at Three Way.

The junior high boys earned a big 42-12 victory over Cotton Center last Friday afternoon. Neal Edwards and Jamie Frizzell carried three touchdowns each. Neal rushed 17 times for a total of 145 yards and Jamie carried 10 times for a gain of 83 yards. Timmy Wheeler rushed four times for a gain of 28 yards.

Tackling leader was Jamie Frizzell with 10. Neal Edwards and Frank Lowrey got nine each, Peter Martinez had eight; Brad West, seven; Clay Mercer, five.

Jamie Frizzell blocked a punt, Clay Mercer recovered a fumbled punt and Brad West recovered a fumble.

The Owls rushed for 289 yards and passed for 46, for a total offense of 335 yards. Cotton Center gained 107 yards passing and 79 yards rushing for a total of 186 yards.

The varsity team dropped its game 44-28, after looking very good at times. The Owls rushed for 248 yards and Cal Brannon passed for 204 yards for a total offense of 452 yards, which appears to be enough offense to win any game. Cotton Center's Casias gained 266 yards for rushing honors.

David Schott rushed the ball 14 times for 101 yards, Ross Estes carried 17 times for a gain of 128 yards, and Russell Simpson gained 67 yards on nine carries. Russell Bingham gained 113 yards on three kickoff returns.

Brannon and Todd Reagan were the leading tacklers, credited with eight each. Joe Ted Edwards got five, David Schott and Scott Harris got four each.

Corey Robertson and Brannon each earned safeties on punts.

Estes opened Silverton's scoring with a 12-yard run into the endzone. The kick which followed failed. The Owls got a safety and then Simpson scored on a 40-yard run. The conversion kick failed. The team got another safety and Simpson carried a ten-yard score. Brannon carried the final score for the Owls.

Reduced Calories May Not Make Product A Diet Food

Dieters used to go to the grocery store and stock up on raw carrots and cottage cheese. But today's calorie-conscious consumers can select from a bewildering number of products marketed specifically for them.

All this choice is an advantage, but may also lead to inappropriate food selections, higher costs and even more calories for consumers who don't know what they're getting in a diet food, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Mary K. Sweeten.

Because products aimed at the calorie-conscious usually make nutritional claims on the label, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) requires that the food label meet certain regulations, says the nutritionist.

"A key FDA distinction is between 'low-calorie' foods and 'reduced-calorie' foods," says Ms. Sweeten.

A food product can be labeled "low-calorie," "low in calories," or "a low calorie food," only if a serving has no more than 40 calories. Foods naturally low in calories, such as celery, may only be labeled a "low-calorie food," she explains.

"Reduced-calorie" foods contain at least one-third fewer calories than an equivalent serving of the food for which they substitute. The label must list the calorie content of a serving of the "reduced-calorie" food, and a serving of the food for which it substitutes, Ms. Sweeten says.

Also, "reduced-calorie" food must be similar in nutrition and all sensory properties such as taste, smell and texture, to the food for which it substitutes.

But reduced-calorie foods are not necessarily low in calories, she notes.

According to the nutritionist, the meaning of other terms commonly seen on food product labels depends on whether the product makes claims for weight control. These terms include:

*Light (lite) foods contain less of substances such as fat, sugar or alcohol (in the case of beer or wine), and they are usually lower in calories. When the term "light" represents a claim for weight control, these products must conform with regulations for low- or reduced-calorie foods.

Diet" or "dietetic" foods must comply with either the "low-calorie" or "reduced-calorie" food regulations or regulations for foods used for other dietary purposes, such as sodium reduction.

*Diabetic food product labels must state: "Diabetics: This product may be useful on your diet on the advice of a physician." If the food is not low-calorie or reduced-calorie, the label must state that fact.

*Formulated meal replacements such as special diet milk-shake type drinks or frozen dinners, can be used in calorie control programs, but are not necessarily low in calories. For example, diet plan frozen meals may contain regular foods, but simply limit calories with smaller portions. Also, many meal replacements control calorie intake simply because they are eaten in place of a full meal.

"Sugar-free" or "sugarless" foods may be labeled "low-calorie" or "reduced calorie" if they meet the requirements for those foods. Sugar free foods may contain sugar alcohols such as sorbitol, xylitol or mannitol, that have the same calories as sugar. These foods must state that the product is not for weight control. Foods that have substantial natural sugar content, such as fruit in fruit juices, may contain a factual statement that the food is unsweetened or contains no added sugar.

Buying special food products isn't always the best way to reduce calories, says Ms. Sweeten. But if you do plan to include diet foods in your meals, compare them with the calorie counts for "regular" foods and read the labels carefully, recommends the nutritionist.

Mrs. Lillian Lindsey spent a recent weekend in Seymour with her children, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and family. Her sister, Mrs. Marie McCutchen, returned home with her for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks and Hubert Brooks from Wellington visited with Mrs. Lindsey and Mrs. McCutchen on Monday. Jim Brooks was also a visitor.

Luree Burson, Glenna and Carroll Garrison attended the reunion in Clarendon Saturday of the high school classes of 1930, 1931 and 1932.

A special 4-H program on eye care and safety may reach as many as 70,000 youngsters in Texas' public schools this year.

The program is built around the character, "Seymour Safely," which is used in educational materials, games, activities and puppet shows to hold the children's attention while they learn about their eyes.

Designed for third graders, lessons focus on parts of the eye and their functions, nutrition and health habits for healthy eyes, optical illusions and a visit to the optometrist's office, says a 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Effects Of Overgrazing Are Graphically Explained

Nature gives us grass. About 50% of the total volume of growth is available for the production of livestock and livestock products. The rest belongs to the land and the plant for soil and grass insurance.

This insurance provides for erosion control, soil fertility, maintenance, water conservation, stabilized soil temperatures, plant development, and reproduction. Use beyond this point means loss of plant vigor, and loss of future range production.

Further use means bare ground ranching. Forage production is cut, and grass recovery is very slow. Nature cannot give up her fertility, receive nothing in return, and still produce grass.

Daily Newspaper, WTSU To Sponsor Spelling Bee Again

For the 37th year the Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University, Canyon, are again sponsoring the National Spelling Bee for students in public and parochial schools in this area.

Directors of the 46 counties of the Panhandle of Texas, parts of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas are being named to handle their respective events. Directors select the dates of their county bees and report their champions to the Amarillo newspaper. The director for Briscoe County will be Mrs. Florence Morgan, Silverton Junior High School.

Information relating to the county program may be obtained from the director. Other information concerning the 1985 Regional Bee, scheduled for April 27 on the campus of WTSU, will be available on request from Gene Parker, bee coordinator. Parker is director of placement for WTSU.

"We are looking forward to having these outstanding young people on the campus of WTSU next April. The university takes a great deal of pride in working with this educational program and placing great emphasis on learning," Parker said.

The deadline for directors to report their county champions to Jeane Bartlett, Spelling Bee Editor for the Amarillo newspaper, will be April 6. The winner of the 1985 regional bee will be sent to Washington, D. C. to take part in the National Spelling Bee, early in June, with all expenses paid, courtesy of the Amarillo Globe-News. This includes expenses for one parent.

Rules, established by the national sponsors, the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, state that any student who will not be older than 16 by June 1, or in a grade higher than the eighth by the end of the current school term, may participate.

A Junior Bee for younger students, grade six and under, will also be conducted in each county if directors so desire. The county junior winners do not spell in the Regional Bee, but are special guests of the sponsors and will be recognized and awarded trophies.

The booklet, "Words of the Champions," containing more than 3,000 words and prepared by the national sponsors, is used in most school events and county contests. The booklet is available from the Amarillo Globe-News and is priced at only 40-cents each. Orders should be mailed to Spelling Bee Editor, Amarillo Globe-News, Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 79166.

Bob Hill, Lucille Davis and Glenna Garrison visited Weta Hill in Lockney Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sweek spent last week in Eagle Nest, New Mexico. They reported a nice catch of rainbow trout. They also enjoyed the aspens and other colors that are so beautiful at this time of year. On their return home, they stopped in Clayton, New Mexico (Mrs. Smith's old hometown) and visited one of her neighbors of about 44 years ago.

The golden aspens were at their peak, according to Glenna and Carroll Garrison, who enjoyed a five-day bus tour last week. The weather was fine even though snow fell from Wolf Creek pass to Chauma.

Controlled Breeding Boosts Production

Controlled breeding allows a cattleman to pull a lot of loose ends together so as to increase overall herd production, says a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Controlled breeding makes overall calf management much easier. It makes for more uniform weaning and working of calves—vaccinating, dehorning and castrating—which reduces labor costs. It also eliminates the problem of exposing immature heifers to bulls. And a uniform group of calves often brings a premium price at the market-place.

National Forest Products Week

National Forest Products Week, October 21-17, points to the vital role of America's forests in serving domestic and world-wide needs for wood and paper products as well as in providing environmental and recreational benefits.

Forests are an extraordinary natural resource that has served people in so many vital respects, notes a forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The forest industry makes a valuable contribution to the nation's economic well-being and to providing homes for people.

FmHA State Directors Advising On Farm Credit Initiatives

All of the Farmers Home Administration's state directors and farmer program chiefs are reviewing plans to put into action President Reagan's farm credit initiatives to help farmers experiencing severe financial stress, J. Lynn Futch, FmHA state director for Texas said today.

J. Lynn Futch and Robert Hopper, farmer program chief for Texas, returned over the weekend from a day-long strategy session in Washington with FmHA National Administrator Charles W. Shuman and other national and state FmHA officials.

"There can be no question about the commitment of the Farmers Home Administration at all levels to put this plan to work to help those farmers with sustainable operations who are caught in a financial squeeze through circumstances beyond their control," Futch said.

Based on the agency-wide discussion of loan and guarantee details, final procedures for operation will be completed in the FmHA National Office in a matter of days. Once any legal questions are resolved, the agency will then publish the instructions and distribute them to field offices for action.

Under the President's plan, FmHA will be able to set aside up to 25 percent—to a maximum of $100,000—of a qualifying farmer's loan without interest for five years.

For farmers in financial distress who do not have FmHA loans, the agency can guarantee up to 90 percent of a new loan if their lender is willing to write off enough of the farmer's debt to put the loan in a secured position and achieve a positive cash flow.

The key in both approaches is to restore the farmer to a positive cash flow situation. Essentially, that means to restructure the debt and reorganize the farming operation, if needed, to establish the financial strength needed to meet all farm operating costs, family living expenses, machinery upkeep and service all debts.

Futch said FmHA borrowers will be advised of their eligibility to participate during the annual review of their loans.

PUBLIC NOTICES

To comply with federal regulations, Briscoe County Commissioners' Court has made a self-evaluation of the County Courthouse to determine whether the Courthouse is accessible to handicapped persons.

After the study, it was agreed that several changes would have to be made to bring the structure into compliance with regulations.

A complete list of the changes, estimated cost and time of construction may be viewed in the County Clerk's office or the County Judge's office in the Briscoe County Courthouse.

Hightower Votes For Balanced Budget

Congressman Jack Hightower voted for, and the House of Representatives passed, a measure requiring the President and the House and Senate Budget Committees to submit a balanced budget for every fiscal year starting in January 1985.

On a bipartisan vote of 411-11, the measure approved calls on both branches of government to submit a balanced budget proposal for that next fiscal year, or explain why it could not and instead propose an alternative budget laying out specific plans and a timetable for achieving a balanced budget over time.

"This is one more positive step taken toward the goal of fiscal responsibility and it received overwhelming bipartisan support," Hightower said. "I think more and more people in government are recognizing the dangers of deficit spending that some of us have been talking about all these years, and the trapdoor that poses for sustained economic recovery."

Hightower, a co-sponsor of a constitutional amendment to require a balanced federal budget, has advocated reduced taxes, lowered spending, and a balanced budget since 1961. He voted for President Reagan's budget and tax cut proposals in 1981 and has supported numerous measures in 1983 and 1984 to reduce the federal deficit.

The balanced budget legislation passed recently, if approved by the Senate and signed by the

As A Man Thinketh

Gerald Beasley
DIVINE WISDOM

A very wise, very young man strolled in a pumpkin patch around a huge oak. The very wise, very young man decided God made a mistake. Surely, mighty limbs could better hold great pumpkins, and fragile vines were better for nurturing tiny acorns.

As he sat under the tree an acorn dropped on his very wise, very young nose. Maybe God was right after all.

Long ago "Job's three friends . . . sat down with him" (Job 2) and philosophized about Job's affliction. They were unkind. Job complained against them and against God.

Finally, God posed deep questions such as: "Who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge . . . Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth?" "Is it by thy wisdom that the hawk soareth? . . . Is it at thy command that the eagle mounteth up? . . ." (Job 38, 39). Responded Job, "I uttered that which I understood not . . . I abhor myself, and repent . . ." (Job 42).

"For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith Jehovah" (Isa. 55:8).

Paul writes, "For the word of the cross is to them that perish foolishness." He affirms that preaching Christ is "the wisdom of God" (1 Cor. 1(18-24). Believe it!

President, would go into effect almost immediately. While it would not, of itself, produce a balanced budget overnight, it would steer the executive and congressional budget process in that direction. Although President Reagan has supported the concept of a balanced federal budget, none of his five budgets for fiscal year 1981 through 1985 which he submitted to Congress have been balanced. All have contained large deficits.

Not a single bank existed anywhere in the thirteen colonies before the American Revolution. Anyone needing money had to borrow from an individual.

President's Farm Credit Plan Could Help County's Farmers

President Reagan's farm credit initiatives to reschedule portions of loans for some financially-stressed Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) borrowers and to guarantee loans of some other borrowers may help farmers in Swisher and Briscoe counties, FmHA Acting County Supervisor Ross W. James said.

Annual reviews of FmHA farm loans will begin soon, James said. A major priority of the reviews will be to determine which farmers will qualify for a rescheduling of part of their loans for up to five years.

The President's plan permits up to a five-year deferral, with no interest payments, for as much as 25% of a loan, up to $100,000, for FmHA borrowers who are experiencing severe financial stress and who show promise of success with a temporary economic boost.

Under the new guarantee plan, FmHA will be able to guarantee a loan in severe difficulty if the lender is willing to write off at least 10 percent, up to the amount necessary to give the borrower a positive cash flow. The borrower must meet general eligibility criteria for FmHA farm operating and ownership loans.

Unemployment Down In Briscoe County

Labor market information furnished recently by the Texas Employment Commission shows that Briscoe County's unemployment rate is on the decline.

July's jobless rate was listed at 2.7%, while August's report showed that only 2.4% of Briscoe County's labor force was idle.

Briscoe County was shown to have 1,795 in its labor force in July, with 49 of those seeking jobs, and a total of 1,676 in August with 40 out of work.

The Texas unemployment rate was 6.3% in July and 5.6% in August, as compared with unemployment in the United States which was 7.5% in July and 7.3% in August.

In neighboring Floyd County, the July jobless rate was 5.3% compared with 3.7% in August; in Hale County, the rate was 7.0% in July and 5.7% in August; in Swisher County, unemployed totaled 4.8% of the labor force in July and 4.3% in August.

All figures are based on non-agriculture statistics.

Risk Factor

According to the American Cancer Society, men who have an undescended or partially descended testicle are at a much higher risk of developing testicular cancer than others.

NOTICE

Energas Company hereby gives notice of its intent to implement new rates for domestic and commercial type customer classes residing in the unincorporated areas of its West Texas System. It is anticipated that the new rates will result in approximately a two tenths of one percent (.2%) increase in Energas Company's gross revenues, which increase is not a "major change" as defined in Section 43 (b) of Article 1446c, V.A.T.C.S.

A Statement of Intent to change said rates was filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas on or about September 21, 1984, and is available for inspection at the Company's Amarillo office, 301 S. Taylor Street. Further information may be obtained from the Railroad Commission of Texas, Gas Utilities Division, P.O. Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

The proposed increase will not become effective until or except to the extent that the same rates are approved for service within the municipalities on the West Texas System.

We wish that we could find the appropriate words to express to our friends our sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown us during the illness and passing of our loved one. The cards, flowers, food, memorials, prayers and words of support have helped to comfort us in this difficult time.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Our hearts are full of appreciaus at the time of the loss of our loved one. Mere words cannot express our thanks for the flowers, food, blood donors, and words of consolation.

May God bless you, is our prayer.

Payne Field was especially festive for homecoming this year.
The Booster Club constructed red and white flags that were placed around the stadium seats.
We know many hours were spent in this endeavor and we would like to thank each of the Booster Club members for their efforts.
They are beautiful and we are proud of them.
