Judges Attend Amarillo Seminar

Ninety-six justices of the peace attended a 20-hour Texas Justice of the Peace Training Center seminar September 11-14 in Amarillo.

The training center is based at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. The seminars are held in compliance with Article 5972, Section B, of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes.

Among the judges attending were Earl R. Cox of Tulia, Swisher County Precinct, Place 1; W. C. Weatherred of Kress, Swisher County Precinct 4, Place 4; James R. Edwards of Silverton, Briscoe County Precinct 1, and Dick Taylor of Quitaque, Briscoe County Precinct 2.

Time For End-Of-Year Crop, Livestock Reports

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will begin contacting farmers and ranchers across the state in late November for final 1984 crop acreage, yield and production totals and during December for end-of-year livestock and poultry inventory information.

The confidential interviews, conducted by mail or in person by field enumerators, provide information used by producers to make their production and marketing plans for the coming year.

"These surveys take on a new importance this year," State Statistician Dennis Findley added, "since the prolonged dry weather in many areas of the state cut crop and forage yields and forced heavy culling of livestock herds. Producers are depending on this information for an accurate picture of the 1984 agricultural situation. We all need a sound base to make the right decisions for 1985."

To reduce survey costs, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service is urging farmers and ranchers to return the mailed questionnaires as soon as possible. The reported information will be combined for state as well as county estimates.

Annual county estimates are published for livestock, dairy, poultry, cotton, field crops, small grains, fruits and pecans, vegetables, and cash receipts from the sale of farm products.

A male ostrich typically stands seven feet tall, weighs 260 pounds, runs up to 50 miles an hour with strides as long as 15 feet and packs a kick of up to 500 pounds per square inch. Veterans Can Leave Families More Than Memories

Veterans concerned about their families' well-being after they are gone can ease their worry by safeguarding basic documents relating to military service, life insurance and Veterans Administration correspondence, says Stephen Lemons, Director of the Waco VA Regional Office.

Securing papers, marriage certificates or child custody evidence from fire, theft or loss could be one of the most important legacies a veteran can leave the family, according to Lemons. Other documents that should be protected and filed with family papers are government and commercial life insurance policies, any VA correspondence with identifying claim numbers or social security numbers, wills and where applicable, naturalization papers.

The regional office director reminds families that they should be aware of survivor benefits as well. These include death pension, dependency and idemnity compensation for service-connected death, burial benefits and interment in a national cemetery.

"The last few minutes spent by the veteran organizing and protecting documents—and informing the family—can do much to avoid anguish during times of emotional stress," said Lemons.

He said veterans should encourage family members to seek information and assistance concerning benefits at the Waco VA Regional Office. That office can be reached toll free by using the number listed in the local telephone directory.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

We got the Briscoe paper Tuesday and my wife started reading it to me and all of a sudden, she said, "Jack, here is a picture of the 1934 football team." Did that bring back old memories from the past.

As well as I can remember, I was the captain of that team. I just got to play four games, though, for I got hurt and had to have an operation, and that ended my football career.

If any of those boys in the picture would like to write to me, I would gladly answer.

Thanks again for putting the picture in the paper. Also keep the "Looking Back" going. I like that very much.

Thanks a million,

MRS. CLINTON WAYNE WARE

Garvin-Ware Vows Exchanged In Formal Church Ceremony

Miss Dara Lynn Garvin and Clinton Wayne Ware exchanged wedding vows on Saturday evening, October 13, at 6:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Silverton. The pastor, Rev. Jerry Miller, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Billy and Peggy Garvin of Silverton. The parents of the groom are W. R. (Raz) and June Ware of Floydada.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was radiant in her formal floor-length white wedding gown of wedgewood lace and Venice lace over bridal taffeta designed with high neckline, natural waist, long lace sleeves and bouffant skirt. The bodice was enhanced with net which was complimented with lace appliques. Five rows of ruffles on the skirt fell in waterfall fashion and the full back of the gown ended in a sweeping cathedral train. Her derby hat had appliques of lace and net, and she carried a bouquet of cascading red roses, white daisies and baby's breath. The bouquet was showered with long red and white satin streamers.

To carry out bridal tradition, the bride wore her paternal grandmother's wedding ring for something old, chose her wedding ensemble as something new, borrowed her mother's diamond necklace, and added a blue lace garter which her mother had worn in her wedding. She also carried pennies minted in the years of birth of the groom and herself.

Matron of honor was Mrs.

Cathy Chase of Amarillo. Bridal attendants were Mrs. Tammy Brannon of Wichita Falls and Miss Lisa Ware of Floydada, sister of the groom. They wore identical floor-length dresses of red taffeta and white lace. The gowns were styled off-the-shoulders with natural waistlines with matching red satin bows. Matron of honor carried a bouquet of red roses and white daisies, and the bridesmaids each carried long-stemmed red roses.

Serving as best man was Brett Marble of Floydada. Groomsmen were Andy Langley of Seagraves and Jamie McNeil of Crosbyton. Guests were seated by Scott Garvin of Lubbock, brother of the bride, and Cliff Tippett of Memphis.

Mrs. LaRue Garvin, aunt of the bride, was organist and accompanied Tammy Payne of Plainview as she sang "The Lord's Prayer, "Endless Love" and "The Rose."

The bride's mother wore a floor-length dress of cream and brown chiffon styled with a flowing cape and empire waist.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length dress of navy lace over navy taffeta with long sleeves and natural waist. The dress was accented with navy sequins.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony.

The bride's table was set with brass appointments on a white lace cloth. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with red roses and lattice-work and was topped with a miniature cowboy bride and groom.

The groom's table was set with red and white appointments on a red burlap cloth. The German chocolate cake was made in the shape of a horseshoe. The centerpieces were the Ware branding iron, the groom's spurs and the bride's grandmother's lamp.

Serving refreshments at the bride's table were Robbie Martin and Erin Colwell, both of Amarillo. Refreshments at the groom's table were served by Rieta Garvin, cousin of the bride, and Vestine Mull of Lubbock.

Miss Rieta Garvin of Canyon was also in charge of securing names for the guest register. Misses Julie and Janet Ross of Quitaque, cousins of the groom, were in charge of handing out rose rice bags to all of the guests.

The bride and groom left following the reception for a week's trip to Jamaica. They will be at home on the Ware farm and ranch following their honeymoon.

Mrs. Lois McKenney broke her arm in a fall at her home Monday of last week.

P.A.S.S. Studies "And Rest Awhile"

"And Rest Awhile" was the topic for study when the Prayer and Share Sisters met with Lois Nance as hostess.

Maebelle Francis guided a "foresight test" on character study of the catalogue of sins listed in Galations 5:19-21. It was learned that any activity which may lead to some of the works of the flesh should be avoided.

Donna Francis gave the devotional, "The Gospel According To You," and Glenda Francis led the group in prayer.

From the study, the ladies learned that recreation is that which re-creates the body and mind, that which rejuvenates and builds up. Dissipation is anything which destroys or tears down. The body is sacred, and condemnation is placed on any person or anything which destroys the body. "Our goals should be to develop a peaceful heart and to prepare for the eternal rest of the Spirit."

Mrs. Nance gave a program on "Deep Inner Happiness." She closed by saying, "Inner happiness is an upward climb. It is like trying to reach the top of a mountain. It can be found in living a Christian life, and it will come, when you constantly struggle to overcome evil and moral weakness, and make every effort to live as God would have you to."

Mrs. A. M. Fleming of Amarillo and Andrew Francis were guests.

Michelle Francis will host the next group study on Thursday morning, November 9th, at 9:30 o'clock. The subject topic will be "Four Alabaster Boxes."

If you are interested in Bible Study, you are welcome to meet with the Prayer and Share Sisters.

Funeral Homes. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Manning of Dalhart.

Mrs. Mondragon is the daughter of Domingo Castillo of Quitaque and Lucia Castillo of Pampa. She has a son, Lance, who is 18 months old.

The couple will make their home in Quitaque.

Five generations, all of whom live in Silverton—Mrs. Doug [Elaine] Forbes, Mrs. Oma Lytle holding her great-great-granddaughter, Tarran Forbes, Mrs. Homer [Lola Mae] Stephens and Cam Forbes.

MRS. LYTLE TO BE HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Oma Lytle will be honored on her ninetieth birthday anniversary with a noonday luncheon in the Silverton School Cafeteria on Saturday, October 20.

Mrs. Lytle moved here over a year ago to be near her daughter, Mrs. Homer (Lola Mae) Stephens.

Mrs. Lytle has two other great - great - granddaughters, Kayla Stephens of Tulia and Kristin Barone of Phoenix, Arizona.

Members of her family from four or five states will be here to help celebrate her birthday, including a 92-year-old sister from California.

Mrs. Lytle is a charter member of the First United Methodist Church in Morton. She had lived at Morton over 65 years when she moved to Silverton.

HIGHEST PRIORITY FOR CREDIT PLAN AT USDA'S FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION

President Reagan's farm credit initiatives will be the highest priority of every employee of the Farmers Home Administration, National Administrator Charles W. Shuman stated.

The President's plan, announced Tuesday as a transitional program, is designed to help farmers caught in the cost-price squeeze who are experiencing severe financial stress and who show promise of success with an extra economic boost.

Under the plan, the Farmers Home Administration will:

—Reschedule up to 25% of a qualifying farmer's FmHA loan, to a maximum of $100,000, for as long as five years with no interest payments.

—Guarantee a non-FmHA borrower's farm loan if the lender is willing to write off a minimum of 10% of the loan, up to the amount necessary to achieve a positive cash flow for the borrower.

"The part under the control of Farmers Home, the rescheduling, will be the number one priority of everyone in the agency," Shuman said. "The first meetings with staff from across the country was held Friday, September 21, 1984, when all the state directors and farm program chiefs met.

"Special project managers are being appointed in the National Office to see that all the necessary regulation changes and instructions to FmHA field offices are completed post haste," he said. "We will begin examining loan dockets within a matter of weeks so that this part of the program can be underway by January 1."

Shuman said the necessary steps to implement the guarantee portion will be taken "in ample time to meet the spring lending season."

Borrowers under this plan must meet the general eligibility requirements for FmHA's farm operating and farm ownership loans.

As another part of the President's initiative, FmHA will contract with local farm financial and management experts to help prepare and analyze credit statements and loan applications as part of an effort to speed loan processing.

And, in a limited number of states, contracts will be signed with lending institutions for the servicing of loans themselves.

IN FASHION

Soft, loosely knitted sweaters are made of acrylic - nylon - and wool yarns.

Sweaters come in many styles for the fall and winter. Ribbed crewneck or boatneck sweaters compliment skirts and pants.

Pennsylvania pigeons are literally burning bridges behind them, reports "National Wildlife" magazine. Apparently, pigeon droppings mix with rain to form acids potent enough to eat through steel girders. According to state bridge engineer Jerry Jackson, over several decades the droppings rot the steel, weakening structures to the point where a weight limit must be imposed or the bridges closed altogether.

An aardvark's tongue can be up to 18 inches long, says National Wildlife's "Ranger Rick" magazine. Covered with sticky saliva, this long tongue helps the aardvark lap up termites, ants and other insects.

LaLeche League Meets October 23

The Silverton group of LaLeche League International will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, October 23, in the home of Sharon Strange. Any woman interested in breastfeeding is welcome to attend and take part in the informal discussion led by local leader Cindy Comer. She and the regular League mothers will try to answer any questions you may have.

Since its beginning, LaLeche League has been a support network for women who seek to feel confident and comfortable about breastfeeding their babies. Leaders and members are aided and informed by a professional advisory board of many doctors and other health professionals. All LaLeche League printed material is reviewed and approved by the board and is free to anyone upon request. LaLeche League can provide information on almost any aspect of breastfeeding from special situations like nursing a baby with a cleft of the soft palate to breastfeeding and working. As an approved and certified breastfeeding consultant, Cindy Comer will be happy to provide this League information and helpful suggestions for any mother having difficulties. Mrs. Comer can be reached any time of the day or night at 823-2190.

The topic of Tuesday morning's meeting will be "The Baby Arrives: The Family and the Breastfed Baby." The discussion will center on how to manage those first hectic weeks with emphasis on the entire family as well as timely tips for mother and baby. For further information, call 823-2190.

Now Is Good Time To Ammoniate Hay

Now is a good time for livestock owners to ammoniate poor quality hay.

Anhydrous ammonia should be readily available to treat hay, and treating now will get the hay ready for fall feeding, says Travis Harney, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Hay ammoniation involves covering hay bales with black plastic and injecting anhydrous ammonia.

The practice can increase crude protein, digestibility and animal intake, all of which lead to increased animal performance.

Crude protein in hay can be increased three to eight percent by ammoniation while digestibility can be increased from three to 23 percent. Feeding trials have shown an increase in animal intake of 20 to 27 percent.

In feeding studies, steers fed ammoniated hay gained one-half pound more a day than those on the same type of hay but untreated.

Cost varies from $8.00 to $14.00 a ton—about $3.65 for the plastic and $4.40 to $7.50 for 60 pounds of anhydrous ammonia (or about three percent of the weight of the hay). And the payoff is an increase in the hay's feeding value of $22 to $25 per ton.

Low quality hay is a prime candidate for the ammoniation, Shane Reagan of Silverton, has been elected Sophomore Class President at Panhandle State University. A graduate of Silverton High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Reagan.

County 4-H Pig Sale Is October 24

Briscoe County 4-H Pig Sale will be held October 24, 1984.

Sifting will begin at 1:00 p.m. with the sale beginning at 7:00 p.m.

The 4-H families will serve stew, cornbread, brownies and drinks at the concession stand beginning at noon.

Everyone is invited to come by and eat during the day to support the county's 4-H clubs.

emphasizes Harney. If hay has a crude protein of less than eight percent, ammoniation will pay.

However, Harney cautions against ammoniating sorghum type hays because of a potential problem in cattle fed such hay. Studies have found that the ammonia reacts with sugars in sorghum hays to sometimes cause wild behavior in cattle.

Keep treated hay covered for at least three weeks before feeding, recommends Harney. Since ammoniated hay becomes fairly loose due to a breakdown in the fiber content, it will not shed water well and should be protected from rain. So it's a good practice to keep the plastic on until feeding time.

Controlled Breeding Boosts Production

Controlled breeding allows a cattleman to pull a lot of loose ends together so as to increase overall herd production, says a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Controlled breeding makes overall calf management much easier. It makes for more uniform weaning and working of calves—vaccinating, dehorning and castrating—which reduces labor costs. It also eliminates the problem of exposing immature heifers to bulls. And a uniform group of calves often brings a premium price at the marketplace.

The Eskimo make and use wooden "eyeglasses" with only narrow slits for eyepieces, to protect their eyes from glare reflected by ice and snow.

★ Lloyd Doggett has always been one of Texas' leading advocates of a first class public education system. As a State Senator, he has been in the forefront of the struggle to improve the quality of teaching for our children.

PUTS TEXAS FIRST

★ In his eleven years as a Texas Senator, Lloyd Doggett has always put the needs and concerns of Texas first and the greedy special interests last. Lloyd has written and fought to pass 125 people-helping laws, including the Consumer Protection Act, utility reform, and the Human Rights Commission.

When it came time to stand and choose, Phil Gramm stood against you.

ELDERLY

★ Gramm led the fight to cut Social Security benefits out from under the most vulnerable people in our society. In fact, he has voted against Social Security on at least eight occasions.

EDUCATION

★ Gramm has been relentless in his efforts to remove all Federal assistance to education, going so far as to exclaim that educational assistance to the handicapped "(encourages) people to be handicapped."

PUTS TEXAS LAST

★ Gramm's record stands as a monument to callousness and insensitivity to the needs and concerns of ordinary Texans. He voted against helping drought-stricken Texas farmers and ranchers, border businesses hurt by the peso devaluation, and against loans to small businesses across Texas.

Kalahari Lions Break Known Rules of How Big Cats Live

What could cause lions—the most social of the wild cats—to leave their prides and become loners?

The desert. With its bleak landscape and months without rain, the African desert creates such stress that even the king of beasts changes its behavior, according to the current issue of "International Wildlife," a bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

Wildlife biologists Mark and Delia Owens, writing in "International Wildlife," spent seven years studying lions in the Central Kalahari Desert of Botswana, one of the largest, most remote wilderness areas left in Africa. Studying the lions and living in a 1,000-square-mile area with no roads and no other people, the Owens found that under the stress caused by drought, lion society breaks down, prides fall apart and new social groups are formed.

Dry seasons, with no rain at all, last up to nine months. The soil is poorer and the grasslands less productive than the Serengeti Plains of Tanzania, Africa's other great lion habitat.

"This bleak landscape and demanding climate often push the big cats to their limits," the authors write in "International Wildlife." "In order to survive the dry season, they change their behavior. Prides fracture into subgroups and leave their territories to pursue smaller, more elusive prey."

In the Serengeti Plains, prides are made of female relatives—grandmothers, mothers, sisters and their offspring—as well as any attending adult males. These family members hunt together, rear their young together, groom one another, and jointly defend a permanent territory. Strange females seldom, if ever, are allowed to join the group.

The Kalahari lions studied by Mark and Delia Owens behaved like those in the Serengeti during the summer rainy season, but when the rains failed, "some drastic social changes were demanded of the lions, changes that caused the very foundations of desert lion society to crumble."

The "family" pride, portrayed as the foundation of lion society, disintegrated in the desert. The prides, finding it increasingly difficult to kill enough large prey to meet their collective need for moisture and food, were forced to split into smaller and smaller subgroups. They abandoned their territory, and began hunting in twos, rather than groups of five or six. They roamed areas as much as 15 times larger than their rainy season ranges; they were forced to eat much smaller prey and go for months without drinking water.

Unlike the traditional male lions, who rely on their females to find food, the Kalahari males hunted on their own for months during the drought.

"Separated by great distances for weeks, even months, the former pride-mates could not communicate with each other," according to "International Wildlife." "We seldom heard lions roar during dry season, almost never in drought. The lion's system of long-range communication seemed to virtually disappear in these periods of trial by fire. Without it, the social cohesion that holds groups together, or ensures that its members will be reunited, was lost."

When the long awaited rains fell, the lions once again defended territories and lived in pridelike groups—though those groups were comprised of non-related lions who had banded together during the drought.

"The desert imposed solitude on its inhabitants," the authors wrote. But with the drought over, "the cycle of desert life began once again."

ATTITUDE TOWARD GUIDELINES

The retired fellow, resolving to help at home, took over some of the cooking chores. He took notes as he learned. Regarding oatmeal, his wife's guidelines were: "Be sure to measure both water and oats. Use a small pan. Stir carefully when cooking so it doesn't stick. Time it. When cooked, turn off gas, put on the lid and let it stand a few minutes before serving. Soak pan in warm water before washing."

Later, the wife glanced in his notebook. It read: "Forget oatmeal." The fires of resolve cooled. He thought the guidelines too burdensome.

Even Jesus' disciples, hearing challenging teachings, said, "This is a hard saying; who can hear it?" (Jn. 6:60)

"This is love for God: to obey his commands. And his commands are not burdensome" (1 Jn. 5:3, N. I. V.).

Jesus, our Example in obedience, said, "I do always the things that are pleasing to him" (Jn. 8:29).

"If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments" (Jn. 14:15). "Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you" (Jn. 15:14).

TASTY TEXAS TREATS

October—crisp, cool days, gold and red leaves falling from the trees, and pumpkins carved into jack-o'-lanterns. All of these things are exclusive to our tenth month of the year. Little ghost and goblins complaining of tummy aches from too much trick or treat candy is another frequent occurrence during October. For this reason and because of the concern to protect little trick or treaters from receiving tainted candy, many parents are using the option of at-home parties to celebrate Halloween.

These at-home parties can be very enjoyable for children if they are well planned. So children will not feel like they are "missing out" by not going trick or treating, it is a good idea to let them dress up in their costumes. Well planned games and activities are another important element. Perhaps the most important detail is planning the treats or refreshments.

Peanuts, honey and pumpkins are all agricultural products from Texas that are in abundance at this time of the year. The following treats from the Texas Department of Agriculture are sure to please, without being too sweet. Enjoy these treats with your little "ghostbusters" and have a safe, happy Halloween.

PEANUTTY BANANA BOBS

- 4 bananas
- 3/4 cups semisweet chocolate pieces

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup finely chopped peanuts
Peel bananas and cut crosswise into four pieces. Insert wooden stick in each piece. Place on baking sheet and set in freezer until bananas are firm (about two hours). Melt chocolate in top of double boiler with shortening, stirring occasionally. Dip bananas in chocolate mixture and then roll in chopped peanuts. GUN TIME

It's appropriate to recall, at the beginning of the hunting season, that sportsmen are killed every year by carelessness with firearms.

Hunters trip and shoot the hunter ahead, some shoot themselves while crossing fences.

Others are shot by "unloaded" weapons in cars. Some are shot by trigger-happy hunters mistaking them for wild game.

Safety with firearms can't be stressed too much; as the expanded population and more leisure time and money send more and more hunters into the fields, the danger of accidents increases.

Children must be disciplined, as well as educated, for, if not disciplined, they can't be educated. This is a point many parents in recent years (and some teachers) have lost sight of.

Proper disciplining in school is also a prerequisite for social order in the years ahead.

Schofield Promoted To Major General Last Week

Brig. Gen. Elvin J. Schofield, commander of the 90th U. S. Army Reserve Command, was promoted to Major General in ceremonies at the Fifth U. S. Army Quadrangle at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, October 10, 1984.

Lt. Gen. Edward A. Partain, Fifth U. S. Army commander, promoted Brig. Gen. Schofield.

The 90th U. S. Army Reserve Command, headquartered in San Antonio, is a major Army Reserve organization. On October 1, 1984, the command doubled in size to include more than 100 units and an authorized strength of over 8,000 Reservists in Texas and New Mexico as a result of the re-organization of Fifth U. S. Army.

In civilian life, Schofield is Senior Vice President-marketing of National Bancshares Corporation of Texas and of the National Bank of Commerce of San Antonio.

Schofield graduated from Silverton High School and obtained a BBA and an MBA from West Texas State University in Canyon.

Brig. Gen. Schofield received his commission in May 1959 through the Reserve Officers Training Corps. He has spent 24 years in the military, three of which were on active duty as a Transportation Corps officer stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He has been a Reservist with the 90th U. S. Army Reserve Command since August 1970. He has commanded the organization since January 1984.

Ranch Ruins, Grub, Cowboys Allow Peek At Settler's Life

A day at the ranch, including Indian camp sites, half-dugout ruins, a line camp, chuckwagon grub, buck-skinners and cowboys, is on tap for history buffs October 27 at the old Mott division of the Matador Ranch.

Reservations must be made for tours which will begin about every 30 minutes from the cattleguard 20 miles east of Floydada or 12 miles west of Matador on US 62/70. A sign will mark the turnoff for the heritage journey sponsored by members of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

The day is planned as a heritage project on Texas history with an emphasis on West Texas life from the Indian to the nester. Groups already signing up include junior historians, Texas history students, scouting and heritage organizations.

The look at the past begins with Indian campsites where Wayne Parker, a descendant of Comanche war-chief Quanah Parker will paint a few faces and will show how to follow animal and people signs.

At the half-dugout ruins, Linda Moore will head up activities that might have gone on when the homestead first was built into the Chimney Creek canyon wall.

Today, the fireplace and two walls remain near a giant pecan tree that shades the rocks marking the hand-dug well.

ELVIN J. SCHOFIELD

Behind the dugout, other rock walls indicate what could have been a spring house for keeping food.

From the dugout, visitors will move to the chuckwagon for a sampling of cowboy grub, hard-tack, son-of-a-gun stew and beans. Fiddling and cowboys will complete the scene.

County Farm Tour Slated October 18

At the buckskinner tent, history buffs will get a lesson in how it was to live off the land while learning about hunting methods.

The Cottonwood Mott line camp, named for the motte of trees growing around its weeping springs, could provide the drama of any wild west movie with its story of a shootout between cowboys over the singing of "Yankee Doodle" too soon after the Civil War to suit one of them.

Both died in the shootout and were buried side by side in a grave 18 inches deep. A new wagon sheet, torn half in two, provided their shrouds and coffin.

Visitors won't be able to see the graves, however, since the bodies were dug up and moved later. But the stump of a tree, said to contain lead from the shootout, is preserved for history.

When 15 corporations were formed to sell the Matador, J. C. and W. E. Burleson joined with Bundy, Harold and Vance Campbell to buy the Mott corporation.

Marisue Burleson Potts, a member of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and Bundy Campbell will be among the hosts for the field trip into history. Donations of $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for youngsters is asked for the day's outing.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. S. C. Burleson at 806 983-2977 or by writing Route L, Quitaque, Texas 79255.

Speakers for the morning session will be Dr. Kirby Huffman of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and David Webster of the Soil Conservation Service in Hereford.

Tour stops will be at the farms of Perry Brunson, David Kellum, Wayne Stephens, Jerry Bean and Jerry Baird.

The word delta describes a stretch of land, usually shaped like a rough triangle, built up by mud and sand at the mouth of a river.

CARDS OF THANKS

We would like to thank our parents and the people who came and helped with our Chalupa Supper during Homecoming. We appreciate your support.
Class of '86

Thank you for your concern
while Leroy was in the hospital and since he has been home. The visits, cards, telephone calls and most of all your prayers.

All of your deeds of kindness have meant so much to us.

Sincerely,
Leroy and Lola Mae Shipman
2207 W. 19th
Plainview, Texas 79072

We would like to thank each of you who came to the benefit dance. A special thanks to Caprock Country for providing the music, the Young Farmers for cleaning the show barn, the use of the Show Barn, and the ladies for working at the gate.

The Silverton Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Ass'n.

I came to Tulia as FmHA
County Supervisor July 15, 1969, serving Swisher and Briscoe counties. I have appreciated working with the farmer, rural resident and other lenders. Efforts were made to be fair with everyone, including my co-workers in Farmers Home Administration. The policies of the administration were honored.

My family joins me in thanking all of you for the courtesies shown us. We love Swisher and Briscoe counties. May God bless you.

George H. James, jr.

The United Methodist Youth would like to take this opportunity to thank their parents, church members and those in the community who helped in the fund raising efforts for our trip to Dallas. The winner of $50 worth of groceries was Sandy Harris.
