Wheeler Supt. Says: 'Welcome Back'

If last year is any indication, we are looking forward to an outstanding year here at Wheeler Schools! With the unwavering support of the Wheeler community, we have a great environment for students and staff. We are certainly blessed to live in such a committed and caring community, and each time I have the opportunity to share with potential employees, that is one of the first things I mention.

The first of August always brings excitement and expectations of another school year. Teachers begin coming in to prepare their classrooms, sports and band begin their practices, and the "buzz" of students up and down the hallways brings the building back to life.

To set the tone for the upcoming year, I would like to review and recognize some of the many accomplishments our students garnered this past year. Our band continued their streak, winning another UIL sweepstakes award for marching and concert band. This marks the third sweepstakes in four years. Along with the entire band, we had many individual students receive honors at contests and finished the year with gold medals for both a soloist and an ensemble at state competition. One Act Play advanced to the regional level garnering several individual awards along the way. The FFA finished another successful season with animals placing at major stock shows and state qualifying CDE judging teams. Our literary teams fared well at all levels;

Registration is from 7-7:30, followed by the run. Breakfast Burritos and Drinks will be available at the Visitors Center at 7:00 a.m.

The annual Parade down Main Street will be at 10:00

The Wheeler Times
Wheeler, Texas

Dear Editor, (of a good little paper)

As much as I hate to, this is to unsubscribe to your fine paper.

My Mom's Mother's parents were Hayes. Exactly when they moved to Allison I do not know, but their home (no longer standing) was a block or two west of the Co-Op. Their youngest son, Leon (wife Effie) lived south of them in a small, four room, bare light bulb hanging in the middle of each) for a while, then built a larger, three bedroom, two bath, nice big country style kitchen/dining room just south of there. It is still there. My Granny and Granddaddy lived down near Wolff City, Texas, but during the Depression moved to the Allison area. My great uncle Leon had been a rodeo star as a late teen and young adult, he had buried his money in the back yard, so when people started moving out to find work, he bought their land. He accumulated, by one account, over 5,000 acres, in scattered parcels. So he had places near where each family could at least have a roof over their head. In the '50s they supposedly found oil and natural gas under some of the land, so he made some money.

Their youngest daughter, Edith, moved to Amarillo, after the depression, to find work, where she lived until about '85. She subscribed to your paper, to keep up with the happenings around home. Once Edith's health started failing, Mom moved her to

To the Texas Plains Trail communities along US 83:

As the state's official heritage tourism program for the Panhandle and Plains, the Texas Plains Trail Region would like to commend every community along US 83 that conceived of, and participated in, the recent "Wild & Free On 83" promotion.

After taking part in the event over all four days in all five cities, we have the greatest admiration for the way your diverse places and people have pulled together to showcase what makes each of you special.

While it's the mission of our program to encourage you to preserve and use your heritage — and to boost your own tourism promotions with our resources — we rarely witness the kind of multi-city cooperation your group has shown in this campaign. We admire your collegial spirit, your top-notch branding, and your dedicated leadership and volunteerism in every participating city. We expect the payoff to be a synergy that no destination can achieve alone. The multiplier effect should yield dividends for all of you.

Thank you, also, for welcoming Highway 83 journalist Stew Magnuson to your venues via our sponsorship.

We look forward to partnering with you again next year. "Wild and Free on America's 83 — In my heart that old highway calls to me!"

here, where she still got your paper. Mom would read it because she attended elementary and junior high there in Allison. She still recognized some of the names. Once Edith fell and broke her hip, her mail was transferred to Mom's place. She kept your paper on the coffee table, so I would pick it up and read it.

Once Mom took sick in '17, her mail came here, along with your weekly paper. It got so I could recognize the kids by picture, without reading the names. You do a great job in keeping the communities informed, and as a former high school teacher, I enjoyed reading about them and their accomplishments. Well, most of those kids graduated this year.

We had a local paper (rag) that may have published the local events, but seldom about the individual accomplishments. They specialized in the ads. They got bought out by and even bigger rag (the Tulsa World), then died. I quit the World because it may be 6 pages of news peppered thorough it and 40 pages of ads, mostly things I did not want, or need.

I think the subscription is still in Mom's name, Marion Shepard, 2800 E. Dallas, Broken Arrow, OK, 74014. Keep up the good work. And Thank you.

and basketball. The boys' basketball team clinched a district title for the first time in nine years. Track finished the season with a good showing at the regional meet and ended the season with two state qualifiers. Tennis produced a back-to-back district champion in singles. And last, but certainly not least, the district raised test scores across the board for another year.

With that being said, WISD looks to improve and to continue to promote, "What's Your Plan?" and "The Mustang Way!" for our students. We will push students to begin thinking about their future, to set and to attain goals, and to become productive citizens within our community. The overall goal of our staff is to serve the children we receive each and every day.

In conclusion, I would invite everyone to follow us on Facebook at Wheeler ISD, visit our website www.wheelerschools.net, or join our ENotes system for updates. As always, we welcome parents and community members to take an active role in the education of our youth. This is "your" school.

We look forward to a Great 2019-2020!

Sincerely,
 Bryan Markham
 Superintendent
