All Around
The Town

PRIDE IN OUR TOWN

Are you proud of your hometown? Do you want to try to make it a better place?

In a recent Extension Service Program Building meeting, I was sitting next to Jimmy Davidson when he commented on how neat he thought the mural was on the north side of the Nance building at the corner of Highway 86 and Main Street.

This is something I'd taken for granted, but something I haven't taken for granted is the beautification project that one Silverton resident has been quietly working on, on his own time, for quite a while.

First, we noticed that he had painted a sign on the community center building.

Then we noticed that he was painting western scenes on the planter boxes located around town. At this point, Charles asked him if we could do a picture-story on his work. He replied, "Wait till I get finished."

Now we notice he has done a huge windmill and fence mural on the east side of the Caprock Grocery. It's great!

This young man is using his artistic talent like a "one-man gang-buster" and is painting western scenes in brown tones all over town.

He may not be finished yet, and I'm sure he isn't looking for recognition, but he's going to get some, anyway. He not only is an artist, but also is a very good painter. I was at a neighbor's house after he had finished painting the trim last summer, and you couldn't find a single tiny drop of spilled paint!

If you haven't guessed, it's Mark Eddleman I'm describing. When you see him, give him a verbal "pat on the back" for a job well done!

Mr. and Mrs. Berton Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall of Memphis drove to Vernon on Friday afternoon and spent the night with their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gillespie. On Saturday morning they all drove to Gainesville to a Renfro Cousins' Reunion which is an annual event. There were 57 in attendance and some cousins hadn't seen one another in many years. The time was spent visiting, eating and picture-taking.

The Hughes returned home on Monday afternoon, May 5.

New Faces Among Briscoe Officials

There will be some new faces among the Briscoe County officials after they are sworn into office January 1, 1987.

Since there are no Republican opponents declared for the General Election, Democratic nomination amounts to election.

Quitaque elected a new commissioner nominee for Precinct 2 Saturday. J. L. (Jack) Chandler polled 153 votes over the 146 votes received by incumbent Paul A. (Al) Ramsey. Ramsey defeated incumbent Chandler in the election four years ago.

Quitaque will also have a new justice of the peace in David Brunson, who polled 232 votes for nomination as compared with 69 for incumbent R. E. (Dick) Taylor.

There will be a new officer-holder in the county treasurer's office due to the retirement of incumbent Mildred Reid. Janice Hill outpolled Sandi Tomlin 765-167 to receive nomination to this office.

Incumbent County Judge Fred Mercer held off the challenge of Jimmy Burson, 558-407, for re-nomination.

Incumbent Bess McWilliams outpolled challenger Marsha Brunson, 626-338, to gain re-nomination as County and District Clerk.

Incumbent Commissioner of Precinct 4, Bryant Eddleman, outpolled challenger Doyle Stephens 138-72 for nomination to be returned to his seat on the commissioners' court.

Incumbent Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, James Edwards, outpolled challenger J. L. Self 402-258, for re-nomination to his office.

Virgil Crow was re-elected Precinct 1 Democratic Chairman; B. K. Blankenship was returned to the Precinct 2 Democratic Chairman post; Jack Sutton was re-elected in Precinct 3, and J. C. Fowler was re-elected in Precinct 4.

Jackie Mercer was re-elected as County Democratic chairman.

Clements to Head Texas GOP Ticket

Bill Clements ran second to Kent Hance in Briscoe County's Republican Primary Saturday, but state-wide won the nomination without a runoff to head the state GOP ticket in Texas this fall. Clements received nine Briscoe County votes for governor, while Hance captured 11 and Tom Loeffler garnered four.

Only 24 Briscoe County Republicans cast ballots in Saturday's primary.

Most of the Republican races were contested, and several runoffs will be necessary to determine the party nominees.

David Davidson led the race for nomination as lieutenant governor, but will be in a runoff with Aaron L. Bullock.

Ed Walsh led the voting for attorney general, but will face Roy R. Barrera in a runoff.

M. D. Anderson, jr. and Grady T. Yarbrough will be in a runoff to determine the nominee for commissioner of the general land office.

Bill Powers defeated Charles F. Trompler for nomination as commissioner of agriculture. Likewise, Charles Ben Howell won nomination as Supreme Court Justice, place 1.

John Thomas Henderson polled the most votes, but early this

INDIAN TRAILS AND CAMPS

Early Briscoe County History by the late Dr. C. E. Donnell. There were certain factors that made this area a particular and favorite place for the Indians.

All of the more important water courses coming from the plains had their Indian Camps and Trails leading from one camp to another.

other." The obituary of Cal Merchant who came to the Canadian River country in 1887 and who died at Clarendon March 10, 1948, contained the following statement.

The Las Linguas was probably the greatest trading camp anywhere in the entire Panhandle and West Texas.

The above statement coincides with that of the statement of the guide Henry Strong. Dr. Angie Debo, Canyon, Texas, History and Customs of the Kiowas, published in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Review, 1934, says, "The great fall hunt, made in early October when the buffalo were the fattest, was their time of harvest."

between the trees sometimes 15 or 20 feet apart."

Here was water, wood and grass and with their buffalo meat they could spend the winter easily enough. Toward spring they probably went eastward into the Indian Territory. As soon as the grass became strong enough the braves would make their raids on the settlers in Parker and adjacent places to get horses and mules.

In addition to these two important camps in what is now Briscoe County there were others of note at Roaring Springs, on the Blanco Canyon, the Yellowhouse Canyon and Moar's Canyon further south.

Dr. A. C. Traweek, Matador, Texas and who has been in Floyd or Motley since 1890 and who was well acquainted with Quanah Parker and his son Baldwin Parker, says, "That Quanah Parker always referred to Roaring Springs as 'My Big Spring'."

The location of the Briscoe County area was strategic. It was on the main trails from eastward and southeastward to the northwest and on into New Mexico and Santa Fe.

All Indian Camps were connected by trails. Explorers who came this way traveled them through the country from east to west. Just when these camps were established is not definitely known, but they are mentioned by Albert Pike who traveled through this region in 1832. Judge Aynesworth, Borger, Texas, now deceased, in some of his articles on the Marcy Expedition in 1852, says, "At almost every creek and especially the main rivers, and in suitable groves Indian signs and etc. were visible everywhere."

Another reason for the big trail through the southern part of Briscoe County was the abrupt escarpment. From the Quitaque Peaks north to the north bank of the Palo Duro Canyon the escarpments were higher and more abrupt than anywhere else along the borders of the Great Plains Area, making travel from east to west impossible at most points. This may be noticed at this date when it is observed that no highways pass near the Tule and Palo Duro Canyons from east to west between these points.

Texas history is full of such episodes as how the Indians, after their raids had been made on the settlements, came over certain trails. They would be followed by men to the Wichita River, near where the present city of Wichita Falls is now located and on northwest unless perchance the settlers gave up the chase. It was over this route that the soldiers under Col. Sul Ross came when Cynthia Ann Parker was captured and returned to her family down state. Charles Goodnight was reported to have been with Col. Ross and Mr. Tom Pollard who lived for several years near McLean, Texas told this writer of his having been with Col. Ross at the time.

This route brought them to the Pease River country. Either to Tongue River and the Roaring Springs area or to the Las Linguas north of the Quitaque Peaks. While I am on this river business I should like to correct once and for all time the difference of Las Linguas and Tongue Rivers. Many writers show a lack of the knowledge of the country. They evidently think because they mean the same that they are one and the same stream. Las Linguas is a small stream running out of the Las Linguas Canyon and empties into the Quitaque River just north of the ranch house of the old Quitaque Ranch of Adair and Goodnight. This Quitaque lower down becomes a part of the North Pease River. Tongue River is south of Matador and is in reality the South Pease River. The Old Trail that used to come this way crossed Tongue River near 12 or 15 miles southeast of Matador. More will be said of this Trail in the next paragraph. How it is so easily confused as to think they are one and the same river or creek. The two words Las Linguas, the Spanish and Tongue is English. The really both mean tongue or, the Spanish, the tongues.

Under the title, "Characteristic Similarity of Expeditions Into The Great Plains," by H. B. Carroll, published in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Review, 1937, Mr. Carroll uses the Santa Fe Expedition sent out by President Mirabeau B. Lamar in 1841. This is a wonderful article and illustrates his title well. It is not my province to discuss the article only as it relates to the Briscoe County area and definitely points out one of the many trails that headed this way.

This expedition was assembled around Austin and made off from Round Rock near there in May 1841 with cattle and other supplies. They go to Fort Griffin, cross the Brazos River and go north passing near the western part of Montague County. From here they go northwest over Indian trails to the Wichita River where they turn southwest and westward passing the narrows just east of the present town of Benjamin. The route followed from here to the northwest leads them over Cedar Mountain, or as we have called the country 50 years after, Little Arizona. They continued northwest crossing the Wichita River about where Guthrie is located; then, northwest via Tongue River, the present, Matador and northwest to the Quitaque Peaks and Las Linguas. He says, "They ran out of food by the time they had reached the Narrows and had to live like the Indians."

"An attempt to move northward from this point brought the expedition to the edge of the tableland they were on; that is to the edge of the secondary plain." Quoting Carroll. "Cinch means that the repellent, rough-hewn breaks of the Little Red Creek were reached. An encounter with the Kiowa Indians took place, whereupon the command dropped back to the Quitaque near the mouth of Linguas."

H. B. Carroll continues as follows: "General Order No. 20 of Bvt. Brig. Gen'l. H. McLeod,— Among other things, to increase our annoyance, our hunting parties, unless made too large to hunt game, are overwhelmed by hundreds of Comanches, who hover at a most provoking distance, and prance around, in defiance of our jaded steeds."

"An advance horse party ascended to the level of the Llano Estacado, crossed the Plains. To the west of the camp ran a long line of forbidding and grim-visaged bluffs of the Llano Estacado, then thought impassable for the wagons. Northward were the known impassable breaks of the Little Red. They ascended to the level of the Llano Estacado from Cottonwood Springs on the Linguish Creek,

Study Club Sponsors Silver Library Tea

The March of Time Study Club sponsored a silver tea on Friday, April 25, 1986, from 3:00 until 5:00 p.m. to benefit the Silverton Public Library.

Pauline Turner and Jewell Lyon were the hostesses, and served punch and cookies. The serving table centerpiece was made with Texas bluebonnets from Mrs. Stella Davis' yard; there was a Texas flag centered above the flowers.

On the desk of Librarian Claudine May, there was a display of the six flags of Texas and a Texas Sesquicentennial flag was behind the serving table.

Decorative napkins completed the Texas motif and those attending responded generously with their donations which will be used to buy new books for the library.

INDIAN TRAILS—

up what is known as the Mexican Trail, which ascended the Llano Estacado about one mile south of the present highway. Proceeding over the high plains, the command camped at the Tule Canyon and moved towards the present Tierra Blanco as their objective."

These horsemen finally after 13 days of travel reached Santa Fe. Pres. Lamar's expedition was ended.

The foregoing statements show certain things: There were Indian Camps and Trails here in 1841; they encountered the Indians and did battle with them; there was a marked trail through here at that time and it is this particular trail over which Mackenzie travelled when he subdued the Indians.

This trail over which the Santa Fe Expedition had come from Parker and Montague counties was the trail over which men came to Briscoe County prospecting. However, when they moved their families later, they came west from Matador along the Middle Pease River and on to the Plains of Floyd County. Those were the routes over which the people from Baylor and other counties came. The road was still crossing over the Cedar Mountain between Benjamin and Guthrie in 1891, 50 years after this expedition.

Other trails leading to the Plains were made by Indians in their travels eastward from Linguas into the Indian Territory. These gave rise to roads leading from Red River in the Childress and Estelline localities. Many came those roads. One other great trail was that which led from Fort Griffin and Camp Cooper and Phantom Hill near the present town of Abilene, Texas. This was as much an Indian trail as any that came this way. This trail was used by Mackenzie in his expedition of 1870, 1872 and 1874. This came by Double Mountain and on northwestward to the Blanco Canyon. This was the route followed by those coming to Briscoe from Stephens and other counties down that way. This soon became a prominent road down state in a very early date after Mackenzie subdued the Indians.

There was a trail which started on the Tule Canyon near what is and was known as the Chimney Crossing. This went south about one-half to one mile west of the Briscoe County line passing through the John Blackerby, W. W. Reid and Geo. Reid places and continuing south near the W. Ed Burlison place and on to the Blanco Canyon. There was no other reason for a road here except for use by the Indians going from the Tule to the Blanco Canyon.

The trail that we call the Mackenzie Trail was there before he was born but to honor him, who wrought, so well for this great section of the state, it is and should be called The Mackenzie Trail.

Mention has been made of the Comancheros, the Mexicans who traded with the Indians. J. Evetts Haley, Canyon, Texas, while in the employ of the W.T.S. College and the State University at Austin, Texas, made a very intensive study of the trails through these parts. In his article on the Comancheros published in his book, Charles Goodnight, Cowman and Plainsman, and also, in a similar article published in the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, January 1935, he gives a definite course for a southern and a northern trail.

Quoting a few of his observations:

"In 1805, a Caddo told John Sibley that he had traded and visited in Santa Fe forty years before; apparently the trade was established by the middle of the 18th century, and grew in volume and significance with the years."

"Albert Pike, the explorer, left Bosque Redondo, on the Pecos, September 21, 1932 and crossed over the southern trail by way of the lakes to Yellow House Canyon."

"The northern trail came out of New Mexico by way of Tucumcari Mountain and forked near the Texas line. The left fork continued down the Canadian, along the Fort Smith road, to a trading ground at Las Tecovas, or Sanborn Springs, near Amarillo. The right branch turned to the southeast and followed the Palo Duro to a site near the present town of Canyon. Then, turned south to strike the Tule above the breaks, proceeding to the foot of the Plains on the Quitaque, and camp to camps on the head branches on the heads of the Pease Rivers."

Following this trail southeastward by way of the Double Mountain to Fort Griffin, you have a pretty definite idea of what was known as the Mackenzie Trail.

Settlers of Briscoe County, north part of Floyd and the eastern edge of Swisher County followed this trail to Amarillo for supplies crossing the Palo Duro Canyon almost due south of Washington Street some eight or ten miles from its intersection with 36th Avenue—the present highway from Canyon and the southwest.

What has been given in regard to these Indian Camps and Trails was not to discuss them in full nor to discuss the articles from which the information was taken. The purpose was to get a clear insight of them that we might see how Briscoe County was involved with them.

The Mackenzie Trail entered the county from the southeast just as the Quitaque Creek was crossed below its junction with the Las Linguas. Since being surveyed we will say it entered the county on section 24, block 3. From here it took a northwesterly course and crossed the corners or quarters of sections 23, 22, 15, 16, 11, 10, 8 of block 3; thence a little more westerly through sections 129 and 128 to Cottonwood Springs; thence northerly through sections 114 and 115 in Block G&M; coming up the escarpment near the southeast part of section one block B1; northwesterly through section one; then, nearly west through the south part of sections 9, 14, 23, 39; then, a little northwesterly through sections 54, 67, 68, 79, 94, 21, 22, 19, 18, 17, 15 to 202; thence, westerly around the head of the draws and Rock Creek through sections 202, 207, 208, 213 and 214 into Swisher County. From here it is about three miles to the head of the Tule.

Another important Indian Trail made its junction with the Mackenzie Trail south of Canyon Cito Blanco.

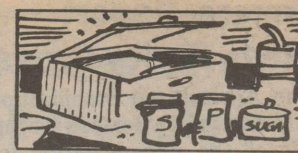

Beginning at this point this trail extended southeastward across the plains and descending the escarpment of the plains north of Tule Canyon above its entrance into the Prairie Dog Fork of Red River as it emerged from the Palo Duro Canyon.

This trail was mentioned by Col. Nelson A. Miles in his report which will be mentioned later. Col. Miles traveled eastward on this trail along Red River going to Fort Sill, Oklahoma in January 1875.

This was probably the trail that the defeated Indians took after Col. Mackenzie's campaign of September 1874, in which he killed 1450 horses and mules.

More Than 70% of Briscoe County Voters Cast Ballots Last Saturday

More than 70% of Briscoe County's voters cast ballots in the Democratic Primary election Saturday. A total of 979 votes were registered.

There were 1444 listed as

Record Striper Caught at Lake

A Mackenzie Lake record hybrid striper was caught Thursday morning by Don Montgomery of Amarillo. The fish weighed in at 11¼ pounds. Mr. Montgomery was using a white Mr. Twister grub.

Several nice smallmouth bass were caught this past week. Walleye and catfishing are still slow.

Crappie fishing is still good. Several nice fish were caught over the weekend using minnows and white jigs up Tule Creek in about ten feet of water.

Mrs. Christine Smoot of Olton caught a nice 5¼ pound largemouth bass using a minnow Saturday morning.

programs and to document crop acreage bases. Before program participants can receive price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits, they must correctly certify their entire farm after planting. The reports contain crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to the acreage conservation reserve.

To verify that the acreage reports are accurate, ASCS randomly checks farms and also provides aerial photographs for farmers to identify their fields.

Briscoe County farmers who have not reported their fall-seeded crops may do so between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

eligible to vote in Briscoe County, but some whose names are still on the list have moved, and at Quitaque election officials said that more than one hundred names were on the voter registration list who no longer reside in the county.

Add these to the 24 who cast ballots in the county's Republican Primary, and this indicates that close to 75% of eligible voters went to the polls Saturday.

There are 184 eligible voters listed in Precinct 1; approximately 436 in Precinct 2; 444 in Precinct 3; 228 in Precinct 4, and 52 in Precinct 5.

Ninety-eight cast absentee ballots, and these were from all precincts. The number of votes cast in each of the Democratic precincts was: Precinct 1, 123; Precinct 2, 279; Precinct 3, 298; Precinct 4, 155; Precinct 5, 26.

This is a much better turnout of eligible voters than was seen in many area counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Olive and their grandson, Jeremy Olive, of Petersburg visited Betty Olive Sunday afternoon.

4-H Members Take Top Honors In District Roundup

Briscoe County 4-H members took several top honors in speaking contests at the South Plains District 4-H Roundup Saturday on the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock.

First place awards went to the Beef Cattle demonstration presented by Will Sperry and Krisse Pigg; the Consumer Life demonstration by Casey Frizzell and Wil T Bomar; the Food and Nutrition demonstration by Peni Fogerson and Julie Towe; and the Horse demonstration by Christa Tucker and Josh Brooks.

Placing second in the Clothing demonstration were Ashleigh Wyatt and Brandi Brunson. Bengi Hughes received third place with his public speaking entry on American Agriculture.

Others receiving recognition ribbons were the Safety demonstration of Mac Chestnut and Ruben Hinojosa and the public speaking senior division entry on Texas by Celeste Sperry.

These 4-H'ers had participated in the County Contests on Tuesday night of last week in the Pioneer Room at First State Bank in order to earn the right to enter district competition.

District Council members, Jamie Frizzell and Kristy Fogerson, took part in the awards program for the district event. Jeannita Stephens assisted with one of the contests.

Kathy Frizzell and Janice Hughes attended the District 4-H Adult Leaders Association meeting and luncheon in Lubbock as county delegates.

Accompanying the group to the contests, in addition to those already mentioned, were Jackie Sperry, Donna Pigg and Cora Chestnut of Quitaque; Marsha Brunson, Paula and Molly Bomar, Patsy and Braden Towe, Garner and Dorcas Garrison, Dirk and Cindy Aaron and Lynda Fogerson, all of Silverton.

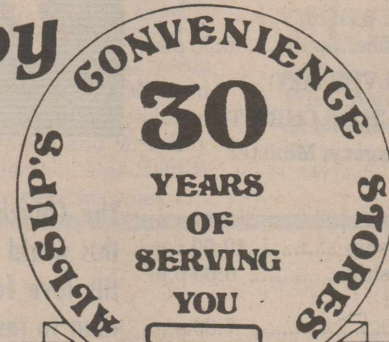

Old cars, scrap tires and construction rubble provide better refuge for marine life than natural reefs, says National Wildlife magazine. Fish need privacy for spawning and protection from strong ocean currents and discarded junk does a better job than nature of providing protection.

Discouraged amateur paleontologists struggling to find fossils may need to look no farther than an anthill, says Ranger Rick magazine. Harvester ants, found in the western United States, store bone chips and other hard objects in their mounds. Why? Some hypothesize that such artifacts protect the mound from wind and rain or act as little solar heaters, insulating the ant's eggs and larvae.

Mention cricket and you think of an insect about the size of a paper clip. But in New Guinea, there are crickets longer than ten inches with a wing span to match, says International Wildlife magazine.

Pointing the way

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Early churches used steeples to make the building higher than all others in the city. People could see God's House from any direction, and could easily find their way to a place of worship. Today, with many office buildings towering into the sky, churches are not always the tallest buildings. However, churches still point the way to God, and provide a place of worship.

News From The Ag Shop

What a weekend! FFA convention, 4-H contests, state and local elections, track and volleyball all squeezed into a little weekend. Some of our kids say there is nothing to do in Deadwood. BUNK!

The FFA chapter is pleased that the Senior Boosters hosted the election returns in the Ag shop. There was an excellent turnout of voters and parties interested in the results. We hope the facility was adequate and we invite you back anytime.

The students are presently learning the different methods of grafting trees. We are using practical application methods and in about two to three weeks we will see the results in our grafting techniques.
