IG team arrives Monday for QAFA/ORI!

Two-week inspection to test quality and readiness of wing shine as a team from the ATC Inspector General's Office arrives Monday to conduct a two-week inspection.

The inspection will include a Quality Air Force Assessment and Operational Readiness Inspection.

While here, the ATC/IG will hold a personal conference period at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Reese Library conference room. Special permission or appointments are unnecessary.

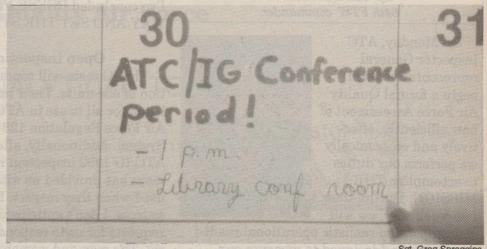

Individuals should put their complaints on a sheet of paper or an Air Force Form 1482. All military, civilian personnel and retirees are welcome. All disclosures will be held in confidence except to the extent necessary to my perspective" on Page 2.

Wing members will have a chance to take action. Matters listed in Table 1 of Air Force Regulation 123-11 cannot be processed by the IG.

> This is an opportunity for people to report fraud, waste and abuse. Anyone who cannot attend can call the ATC/IG work center at 6481 (after it is established) and make an appointment.

> IG personnel will conduct an inspection outbriefing, discussing the results of the inspection, at 10 a.m. April 9 in the Simler Theater. Wing officials remind contractors that they may NOT attend either executive or theater outbriefs, in accordance with Air Force and ATC regulations.

For more on the inspection, see "From

Sgt. Greg Spraggins

The ATC/IG will hold a personal conference period at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the library conference room.

From my perspective

by Col. David Love 64th FTW commander

On Monday, ATC Inspector General representatives will begin a formal Quality Air Force Assessment of how efficiently, effectively and economically we perform our duties to accomplish THE MISSION. During their two-week stay, we will also respond to realistic operational readiness scenarios designed to measure our capability to deploy and augment gaining commands in sustaining contingency operations. Additionally, you may also see a major accident response exercise, changes to exercise threat conditions, and a complete test of our ability to survive and operate.

Reese will meet the challenge

I am confident Reese will meet any and all challenges presented during these inspections. While the IG team will formulate and assign a rating based only on brief "snapshots" of each organization visited or individual contacted, I've had nearly one year to interact with many of you. During that time I've concluded REESE PEOPLE LEAD THE WAY AND SET THE STANDARD.

Open inspection agenda

The IG team will conduct an open inspection of our units. Their inspection criteria is listed for all to see in ATC Supplement 1 to Air Force Regulation 123-1, The Inspection System. Additionally, after reviewing all ATC/IG 1992 inspection results, I submit the team has provided us with the road map used when they inspect. Based on these two sources, I don't anticipate hidden agendas or requests for us to respond to unknown criteria. The men and women who inspect us are professionals, handpicked for this duty due to their expertise in given functional areas, high integrity and ability to judge fairly and call it like it is.

Your part

We've worked hard since early January with self-inspections, countdown calendars (QAFA Quips), inspection report crosstell, MAREs, ATSOs and wing recalls. You've already done the hard part. Now you'll have the opportunity to show off your specialty and highlight the importance of your job. When the inspector meets with you, take a couple of deep breaths and then work WITH him or her. That's right, extend the same respect and caring you would to any Air Force colleague. You haven't engaged the enemy and they aren't out to get you.

I know each of you will patiently and honestly answer questions-please, avoid the temptation to create or invent something new in the heat of battle. Finally, let's not forget about those nemeses: customs and courtesies and AFR 35-10. Let's shine!

My pledge

As we undergo these inspections, I envision my role as TOPCOVER. I have complete confidence in your capabilities, skills and ability to do the job right. The senior staff and I will work with our IG counterparts to ensure you are provided an opportunity to fairly and adequately showcase your programs. We will also coordinate to ensure your final appraisal is impartial, accurately assesses your area and fairly accounts for circumstances beyond your (local) control.

Finally, I look forward to attending the IG Inspection Results Outbrief April 9 at our base theater and joining you to celebrate your successes.

ATC surgeon talks about medical issues by Brig. Gen. (Dr.) Paul K. Carlton Jr. ATC Director of Medical Services and Training

Planning and staying within a budget is no different for a family of four than it is for ATC medical services. Both take into consideration funds available and known costs.

And the unfortunate reality is that, while national health costs are rising about 15 percent a year — almost four times the rate of economic growth — ATC medical funding is not keeping pace with medical inflation.

Today, one out of every eight dollars is spent on health care; that figure could soon reach one of every five dollars. Clearly, this environment makes it very important that we do everything possible to spend money wisely and provide maximum benefit for every dollar.

This year in ATC, we will spend over $200 million at 12 bases. Our facilities range in size from the largest Department of Defense hospital -Wilford Hall Medical Center — to the smallest clinic — the 71st Medical Squadron at Vance AFB. The work load figures for last year are staggering: 45,000 admissions, 2.5 million outpatient visits, 15 million lab procedures, 1.5 million x-ray films and 7 million prescriptions.

At Reese

At Reese, budgetary considerations have likewise been felt. As detailed in the March 19 Roundup, 64th Medical Squadron members have gone to great lengths to curtail operating expenses. In addition, the budget situation is impacting the care that can be provided on base vs. downtown; has eliminated the walkup, over-the-counter drug programs; and has necessitated the conversion of the 24-hour emergency room into an extended hours primary care clinic effective May 1.

This year, our purchasing power declined. Our shortfall has forced medical treatment facilities to look for ways to make operations more efficient and cost-effective.

The situation is similar to any family's budget when income is reduced by inflation job loss, or other unforeseen crisis. Families draw together to make it through — clothes repaired instead of replaced, a new car purchase is delayed and utilities are used sparingly. Sacrifices ensure basic needs are met.

In my view, that's our challenge in ATC. To ensure essential services, we're doing things a bit differently. Equipment purchases are postponed, work on facilities is limited to emergencies only, contracts are more closely scrutinized and some temporary overhires are being released. No one is very pleased, but for the most part, the actions should not be noticeable to our patients

We focus on cutting those services which are elective or have the least impact on our patients. Above all, we intend to focus on active duty members and their families — just as the law requires.

As we change, you must, too. There are three elements in my prescription:

☐ Know your entitlements. If you're not sure what CHAMPUS or Medicare provide, visit the health benefits advisor at your base hospital or clinic for information.

☐ Consider supplemental insurance. There are some gaps in both CHAMPUS and Medicare coverage. You can protect yourself by obtaining relatively low-cost insurance to augment your coverage under these programs. Your health benefits advisor is the place to start.

☐ Take responsibility for your own health. Watch your diet, exercise regularly and stop smoking. The best medicine - regardless of our financial climate - is good health.

Retreat rules explained

When retreat is sounded, stop, face the flag and assume the position of parade rest when in uniform or civilian dress. On the first note of the National Anthem, come to attention. When in uniform, render a salute until the last note of the National Anthem.

When in civilian clothes, come to attention and place your right hand over your heart until the last note. If you are in civilian clothes and have a hat on, remove it and place it over your heart until the last note is played.

When in a car, stop and sit at attention until the National Anthem is finished. (Courtesy of the Reese Professional Military Education Center)

ATC wins Secretary of the Air Force Safety Award

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (ATCNS) — ATC is the recipient of the Secretary of the Air Force Safety Award — the highest award in the Air Force safety awards program — for 1992.

Gen. Henry Viccellio Jr., ATC commander, accepted the award at Corona South 93, at Eglin AFB, Fla. The Secretary of the Air Force Safety Award is presented to the major command with the most effective safety program in all safety functional areas.

"Officers and airmen — more than 315,000 people passed through the 'schoolhouse' in 1992 — start their training in ATC. Our instructors provide the foundation for safety and professionalism throughout the Air Force," said Col. Gary Burchell, ATC director of safety.

He also credits commanders as key to safety awareness. "Commander involvement is the cornerstone for establishing a positive attitude toward mishap prevention," Colonel Burchell said. "The ATC commander placed the responsibility for safety at the individual level by establishing mishap prevention as one of the major command goals."

The following ATC statistics, cited by the Air Force Safety Agency, contributed to capturing the award:

☐ Maintained a .16 Class A flight mishap rate: ATC flew more than 363,000 flying hours and made more than 1,780,000 take-offs and landings.

☐ Significantly reduced ground mishap rates for the third consecutive year:

- Fatalities down 33 percent.

- On-duty mishaps down 33 percent.

- Civilian disabling injuries down 27 percent.

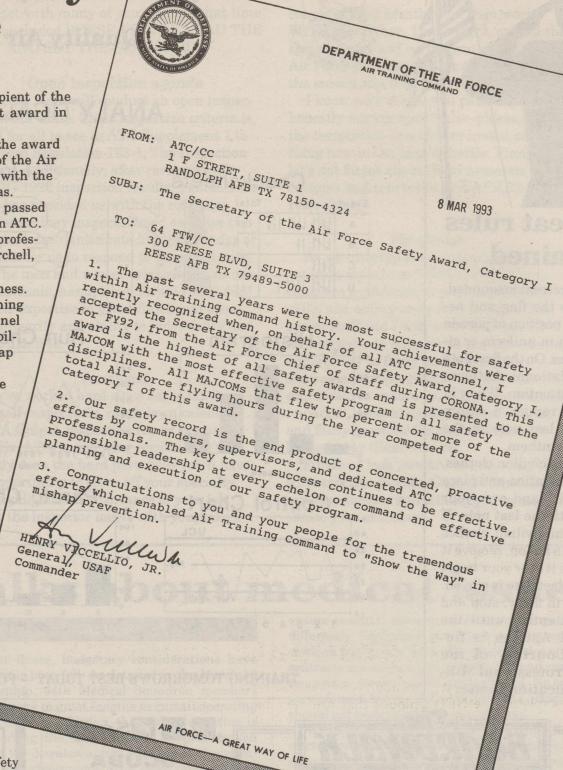

- Private motor vehicle mishaps down 31 percent.

- Motorcycle mishaps down 35 percent, and for the second consecutive year, no motorcycle-related fatalities.

- No Class A or B explosives mishaps for the 17th consecutive year and no Class C mishaps for fiscal year 1992, the lowest rate of any major command.

"The command's comprehensive safety programs minimized mishaps while commanders' proactive approach toward safety ensure each person takes into the Air Force a safe attitude - ultimately paying dividends throughout their careers," Colonel Burchell said.

"The trends over the past five years reflect superior safety efforts by every person and echelon of this command," the colonel said. "These record low mishap rates prove that ATC continues to 'Show the Way.'

OSS airman tops in ATC

Sergeant Zapata works in the air traffic con-

SSgt. John Zapata just can't lose lately.

During the last weeks of 1992, the 64th Operations Support Squadron NCO went on a "streak" that netted him honors as the top graduate at Reese Airman Leadership School and wing airman of the year. He quickly followed that up by earning a promotion under the Stripes for Exceptional Performers Program.

His good fortune was such that he commented on the possibility the he "ought to go buy some lottery tickets."

The trend remains unchanged, as the 25-year-old air traffic controller learned he had been named airman of the year in ATC and will now go on to represent the command at the 12 Outstanding Airman of the Year competition.

Sergeant Zapata's awards are just part of his credentials. His efforts have earned him recognition on the job, in the classroom and elsewhere. During the past year, he won the Gen. Gordon Blake Save Award for saving an imperiled aircraft. He was also wing airman of the quarter for April through June.

Off duty, he made great strides in his education, earning his Community College of the Air Force degree. He also is very active in unit and community activities

"Sergeant Zapata's success has been the result of a lot of hard work, dedication and professionalism on his part," said CMSgt. David Ptomey, wing senior enlisted advisor. "He's very deserving of the ATC recognition, and I have no doubt he'll be a great representative of the com-

Wing NCOs graduate academy

Two wing sergeants recently completed the NCO Academy at Goodfellow AFB, Texas. Although it was challenging, both TSgt. Michael Davis and TSgt. James Dell spoke highly of the five-plus-week course.

"It was extremely challenging, but well worth the effort," said Sergeant Davis, 64th Operations Support Squadron. "It presented principles and techniques that are very helpful in my day-to-day duties, especially supervisory duties."

Sergeant Dell, 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, agreed. He said that while the curriculum bore similarities to NCO Leadership School, it was much more in depth.

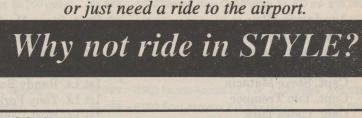

That intensity did not mean it was unenjoyable, however.

"It was a lot of work, but we had a good time too," he said.

OSI announces drug hotline

by SA Mack Gadsden AFOSI Det. 412

Air Force Office of Special Investigations Det. 412 has established a narcotics hotline which offers the public a private way to inform the local AFOSI office of any suspected drug use. In 1989, the President directed the Department of Defense to help support the national drug control strategy. Since then the AFOSI has played a big role in America's war on illegal

The AFOSI is the only Air Force agency empowered and capable of addressing the drug problem within the Air Force. Though many discount the drug problem in the Air Force, the facts support a different idea. During the first four years of AFOSI's Narcotics and Contraband Smuggling Enforcement Program. drug interdiction operations have accounted for the seizure of more than 100 million dollars worth of heroin, cocaine, "ice," steroids and marijuana. The program has also identified and helped prosecute more than 100 drug abusers.

The new hotline cuts the fear factor many people have of turning in the names of suspected drug abusers. This hotline is another way we can help support the national fight against drugs and callers are doing their part in getting rid of Air Force personnel who choose to use drugs. Dependent Dental Plan becomes reality Thursday

by Lt. Col. (Dr.) Frederick Guerra 64th Medical Squadron

The Dependent Dental Plan will become a reality Thursday. Government-contractor negotiations concerning member cost-sharing have been finalized and updated information brochures will soon be available. All types of dental care will be covered at the 50- or 60-percent level. We are monitoring the program's implementation very closely and will ensure that all base personnel are well informed.

You need to know that enrollment for your dependents is automatic if you have 24 months retainability. Deductions will appear on your March leave and earnings statement. Routine dental care as previously provided by the base dental clinic will no longer be available for active duty dependents after Thursday.

Since Congress funded the DDP at the request of sponsors, beneficiaries and all three services, they expect our dental resources to be in direct support of our active-duty population only. A recent program decision memorandum has reduced funded authorizations for the Air Force Dental Service. The basis for this decision was a perception that the Air Force provided a disproportionate amount of "space-available" care for active duty dependents. The clear message is that to ensure that your family members receive timely dental care they must be enrolled in the DDP.

Questions concerning enrollment may be directed to personnel customer service, 3276, or to our health benefits advisor at 3581.

From YOUR perspective

(Editor's note: The following is Wing Commander Col. David Love's policy regarding the Careline.)

As wing commander, I need to hear things from your perspective. Your inputs and suggestions can help Reese remain the pacesetter in the command. If you see something good, call me. If you have a problem that you feel needs my attention, call me. First, however, consider using your chain of command.

You may remain anonymous if you wish; all problems that are called in anonymously will be investigated and corrected if need be, but they will not be printed in the Roundup. Individuals who leave their name and number can get a direct response, and calls that are of base-wide interest will be printed in the Roundup.

Calls can be made to the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273.

Traffic on War Highway

Is there any way we can stagger the work schedule so that traffic isn't as congested on War Highway in the morning?

The security police have instituted procedures to alleviate the morning traffic congestion, with the result that delays are now very minor. If you have specific recommendations to help make things even better, please pass them on.

Also, it has been the policy of the wing to allow unit commanders to grant flexible work hours as they see fit. If you think that you would benefit from a change in your schedule, your supervisor may be able to help.

Your suggestion was a good one, and I think that recent changes have, for the most part, taken care of the problem you reported.

Youth basketball program

There are very few children participating in basketball and other sports on base. Parents say that this is because of the garbage they had to put up with last year.

Registration fees are up $15, they are not allowed to use the gym for practice, and they were told they must have certain shoes to be on the floor.

I regret that you feel this way about the youth sports program. Since your call, gymnasium time has been made available Monday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday for practices and games. There were some scheduling conflicts early on due to military intramural basketball make-up games, but that issue has been resolved.

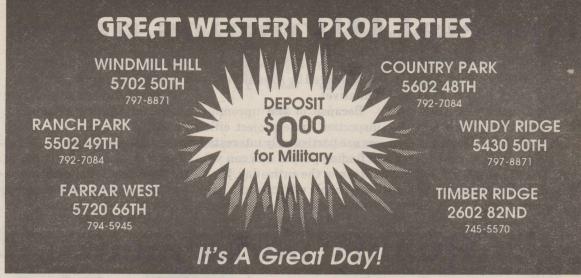

With regard to your comment about children's shoes, we originally intended that all players would be required to own a special pair of shoes that would only be used for practices and games. This prevents any dirt and rocks, picked up while outside, from damaging the wooden floors of basketball courts.

This idea was dismissed because it is not realistic to require parents to buy shoes if their children participate in the program. However, children must wear some form of rubber-soled shoes on the court. We also would appreciate shoe soles being wiped before running onto the indoor court. Our intention is to preserve the gymfloor, which was resurfaced one year ago.

Presently there are 81 children registered and participating in the youth basketball program. Registration fees for basketball are in line with MWRS youth center fees in ATC and compare favorably to the $35-$55 charged in downtown leagues.

The fees collected for basketball, as well as any other youth activities program, must offset expenses incurred by awards, shirts and labor.

Once again, thank you for concern for your children. We all need to look a little more closely at our programs, and with concerned citizens like yourself, we can work together and make a good program even better.

MSgt. Joe Slack, 64th Medical Squadron, encouraged wing members to participate in the event, saying that it is "a fun way to spend the day."

To sign up, call your unit first sergeant, Sergeant Slack at 3281, or MSgt. Walter Brown at 3438.

Quality performer

This week's quality performer, 2nd Lt. John West of the 35th Flying Training Squadron, could be described as a jack-of-all-trades.

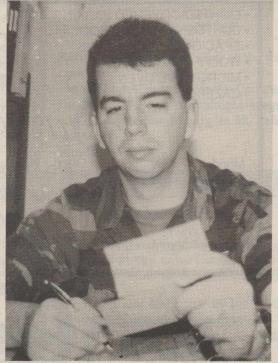

Lieutenant West acts as a liaison between his unit and all other base agencies, coordinating whatever logistical support is needed for the 35th FTS to accomplish its mission. He also is the officer in charge of unit administration, handling all correspondence for the commander and supervising two enlisted members.

The Indiana native also handles a variety of additional duties.

He is the unit security manager, cost center manager, equipment custodian, historian and project officer for all squadron fund drives.

Reese is Lieutenant West's first base, and he's been here for nearly all of his 14 months in the Air Force. He is a 1990 graduate of Indiana University and he plans to complete his masters degree with Wayland Baptist University later this year.

The lieutenant and his wife, Leslie, have been married nearly three years.

Notes

'Kite' watching

Wing members are asked to help the base control "Mississippi Kites," the birds which have nested on base in past summers and harassed passers-by.

Anyone who sees evidence of kite nests should call Dennis Tates, 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, at 3484 or 3171.

The nests are usually about one foot across, loosely constructed from twigs, and found in the notch of two tree limbs toward the tops of taller trees on base, usually the Siberian Elms.

Chapel plans breakfast, film

The Ecumenical Men of the Chapel will hold its monthly prayer breakfast at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in the chapel annex. The group is open to all base people who want to grow in their faith and develop a prayercentered life. For details, call 3237.

On Wednesday, another part in the Lenten film series "Hidden Keys to Successful Parenting" will be Insurance season nears shown at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday in the chapel. Everyone on base is welcome.

TA available for spouses

The spouse tuition assistance program will not continue after July 31. However, some money remains available for the summer term and more has been requested, according to base education officials.

Both past and new applicants who are interested in the funds need to apply by April 15. Stop by the education center or the family support center for an application, or call 3634 for more information.

EWC plans meeting

The Reese Enlisted Wives Club will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the enlisted open mess. A makeover workshop is scheduled for 7:15 to 8:15 p.m.

All'EWC members and guests are welcome. Call Gladys Tharrington at 6463 for details.

Angel nominations due

Nominations for the "Angel" volunteer award are due to the family support center April 2. For nomination forms or more information, call Cheryl Ortiz at

For the first time in seven years, there will be an IDs can be replaced "open season" for Federal Employees Group Life Insurance from Monday through April 30. This will be an opportunity for federal employees to enroll or select life insurance options without medical certification. Employees who like their current coverage do not have to do anything. To make an appointment to change coverage, call Syrena Jurries at 3801.

Country dance lesson offered

Country and western dance lessons will be offered April 7 through May 26 on Wednesday evenings in the Mathis Community Center. Cost will be $36 per couple for a four-week course.

Call 3156 for details.

Employment computer open

The family support center has recently installed a computer in the library that can be of great help to people planning a transition to the civilian sector. The computer has résumé and federal employment application programs, among others, that wing members can use after hours and on weekends.

However, members must be trained on the computer before they can use it. Library hours are 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, and noon to 4 p.m weekends. Call Pam Appell at 3079 or 3305 for more information.

People with identification cards that are mutilated, coming apart, inaccurate or have an unrecognizable photo should stop by the customer service in the Reese CBPO or civilian personnel and get an application for a new one. Pass and ID also handles the issue of controlled area badges. For more information, call 6261.

ng members compete in duathlon

by Capt. Jim Stewart 52nd Flying Training Squadron

So you've been putting quite a few miles on the road, keeping the pounds off, feeling pretty good about yourselfand the speed of that new hi-tech bike has you feeling a little like Greg Lemond in the Tour de France. You're starting to wonder "How do I stack up against my peers? What kind of shape am I really in?"

That is exactly what 35th Flying Training Squadron instructor pilot Capt. Dave Sumrell was thinking when he headed south to sunny Del Rio, Texas, for his first ever duathlon.

The Big "D" Duathlon is a mid-length endurance event consisting of a 5-kilometer

(3.1 miles) run, a 30-kilometer (18.6 miles) bike ride and another 5-kilometer run. The duathlon is a new variation of another relatively young sport, the triathlon—a swim, bike and run event.

have to wonder for long. One hour, 29 minutes, 50 seconds and nearly 25 miles of Texas highway later, he had pulled down second place overall in the military category and first

Captain Sumrell didn't military overall in his men's 30-35 age group. An extremely strong finish in a field that included racers from as far away as New Jersey and California.

He summed up his success by stating, "I am primarily a runner. I ran the first five kilometers in a little over 18 minutes and the second one in 18.39. The race played up to my strengths."

Other Reese personnel competing were Maj. Sam Johnson of the 35th FTS, Capt. Jim Stewart of the 52nd FTS and Capt. Rod Layman, also of the 35th FTS. Reese was one entry short of the five required for team competition, won handily by Laughlin AFB.

The next duathlon will be held in San Angelo, Texas, in mid-April and a triathlon will be held in Del Rio in May.

If you are interested in becoming part of the Reese team, call Captain Stewart at 3971 or Captain Sumrell at 3642.
