

Brush Control Dem. On Jamison Ranch

A demonstration on brush and pricklypear control will be held Monday morning, June 22, 9:00 a.m. on the Barto Jamison ranch, according to James S. Norman, County Agent.

The demonstration will be conducted by Bobby Ragsdale, Associate Range Specialist with the Texas Extension Service. The demonstration will be held in the pasture where some applications will be made. Such subjects will be discussed as chemical control of mesquite, blue brush (chaperall), and pricklypear and precautions to follow using brush control chemicals.

Brush and weeds cause more production loss in Texas each year than soil erosion or all types of insects. Therefore, brush control is one of the biggest problems faced by the farmer and ranchman.

Undesirable trees and brush use up water and minerals which should be used by forage growth for livestock production. Brush controlled areas have produced twice as much grass as untreated ones even under drouth conditions. This means more pounds of meat per acre.

To get to the Jamison ranch, go 8.5 miles east of Rotan on State Highway 92, turn left (north) and follow the main dirt road about four miles to the first cattle guard; the demonstration will be held just inside the pasture. Coming from Hamlin on Highway 92, the turn-off is about 12.5 miles west of Hamlin.

Let Your Child Learn To Swim

Each year about 8,000 people drown in the United States. Children hold a great percentage of this number. Parents could lower this number by following a few suggestions.

(1) Do not let your child go in eating. (2) If your child can not swim keep him in shallow water. (3) Do not let your child dive into unknown water or shallow water. (4) See that your child is supervised while swimming. (5) Most of all, see that your child is taught how to swim.

This is a reminder that farmers may now apply for refund of Federal Tax on Gasoline used on the farm.

The claim will be allowed only if filed on or before September 30, 1959. Only one claim a year should be filed. The claim should be filed with the U. S. District Director of Internal Revenue.

The Claim Form 2240 and the instruction sheet on how to prepare Form 2240 can be picked up at the local county agents' office.

Cattle grubs, which annually cause over $100,000,000 loss to beef and dairy cattle producers, have been successfully controlled on non-lactating dairy cattle at the Tyler Substation. Dow ET 57, a systemic insecticide was used and a 91.5 percent grub control was obtained on herd replacements and nonlactating dairy cattle.

There have been no previous reports of using systemic grub control in dairy cattle although beef cattle producers have obtained 81 to 96 percent control with the systemics. This systemic has not been approved for lactating dairy cows because of the elimination of the pesticide in the milk. The Pure Food and Drug Administration has approved the use of this systemic on beef cattle, when the animals are not slaughtered within 60 days after treatment.

Forty-two animals received a single treatment of one part of the systemic to two parts of water administered as a drench at the rate of one ounce per 100 pounds of body weight.

The treatment administered on June 14 gave the highest percentage of control, 93.8, and the treatment on July 23 gave the lowest, 89.4. There was no significant difference in gain or loss of body weight of treated animals as compared with animals not treated.

These limited tests include the best time to treat replacement heifers and nonlactating dairy animals for grubs with systemics is early June. Dairy farmers could never treat the complete herd because of lactating cows. Non-lactating cows and young cattle may be treated in early June and all cows that go dry in June and July could be treated as they are dried off.

Can you think of any food that has gone up so little as milk since the war?

Average price for a quart of milk is only 30 percent higher now than 10 years ago, says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

However, the milk you're buying now is better than the milk you bought before the war. It's cleaner, safer to use, consistently tastes good and keeps longer.

Also, today's milk is pasteurized, homogenized and frequently has vitamin D added.

Better breeding and management of dairy herds has enabled dairy-men to keep the costs of milk fairly stable, says the Texas Extension Service dairy husbandmen.

Weeds often reduce pasture yields by 50 percent. They compete with the desirable plants for plant nutrients, moisture and light. They lower hay quality, harbor insects and diseases and increase labor and equipment costs. Therefore, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, weed control, either mechanical or chemical, is essential for best returns from productive pastures and meadows.

Courtesy is really nothing more than a form of friendliness.

HS-U Has New Military Science Instructor

ABILENE June 15 — Lt. Col. Charles W. Spann, an Army officer for 18 years, has been assigned to Hardin-Simmons University as professor of military science and tactics.

Col. Spann succeeds Lt. Col. Howard H. Burd, who will fill a post with the U. S. Army's headquarters for Europe, at Heidelberg, Germany.

This is Col. Spann's first assignment since his return to the U. S. from Korea late in March. He will head the Army ROTC program at H-SU.

A native of Reno, Nev., Spann entered the Army early in World War II. He served in the Pacific theatre during the war as a commander of artillery. He climaxed a series of campaigns by participating in the capture of Okinawa in 1945.

Since World War II, Col. Spann has served two tours of duty in Korea, the latest as a member of the Korea Military Advisory Group and senior advisor to the Korean Anti-Aircraft Brigade. He spent three years in Germany and France between his two assignments to Korea, and also was the Army's representative on the staff of the Western Air Defense Force at Hamilton AFB, Calif., for three years.

He expects to remain at Hardin-Simmons University for three years.

First Things First

More and more people—and with every reason—have come to believe that one trouble with this country's educational systems is that too much money is spent on unnecessary luxuries and frills, at the expense of educational necessities.

In the light of this, something that happened a short time ago at Portland State College in Portland, Oregon, has much more than local significance.

It was proposed that certain additions be made to the College Center—among them a bowling alley and a barber shop. But the student's own College Center Board voted the plan down, by a 4-to-1 majority.

In part, the Board's resolution read: "...facilities for student entertainment and personal services are in abundance in the Portland Metropolitan Area, thereby making it unnecessary and even wasteful for large amounts of state and student funds to be spent in these areas of the college....The students of Portland State are more interested in education than in services."

Community after community, the small as well as the large, have gone overboard in building almost unbelievably expensive plants. The primary educational need is to allocate as much of the available money as possible to purposes where it will honestly serve true educational ends—such as salary structures that will make teaching more attractive to competent and ambitious people.

Pat Riley and Ann Tillotson, members of the Intermediate Class of First Methodist Church, are attending the Stamford District Intermediate Camp at Butman Camp this week. Pat and Ann left Monday for the camp and will return Friday afternoon.

Mrs. James B. Day made a business trip to Abilene Thursday of last week.

Happenings That Affect Us All

Once again, the anxious eyes of the world have been watching a conference of the foreign ministers of the great powers. It has been a conference which was viewed with considerable gloom from the very beginning. Our Secretary of State, Christian Herter, made it abundantly clear before he departed for Geneva that he expected comparatively little to result and thus, in effect, warned the nation against a false optimism. The Secretary's anticipations have certainly been borne out. At the same time, the hope that some progress will be made, no matter how tortuously slow, remains.

In this connection, Reader's Digest, in its June issue, publishes a piece of unusual interest. It is taken from a book by Harry and Donato Overstreet called "What We Must Know About Communism" (W. W. Norton & Co., New York). The excerpt has to do with the Kremlin's view of what a conference is, and what it should accomplish.

The Overstreets write: "To the Communists, the delegates to a conference do not represent merely their nations. They represent one or the other party to the class struggle — a struggle which cannot be negotiated — Communists do not expect peace or even a lowering of tensions to result from a conference. To them high tension is the normal state of politics, and a conference table—even when called a peace table—is simply one more place where war is carried on."

Chapter and verse, from the highest Marxian authorities, are cited in support of this. In 1920, Lenin said: "It would be a great mistake to believe that a peaceful agreement about concessions is a peaceful agreement with capitalists. It is an agreement concerning war." This means, as the Overstreets phrase it, that "Communists negotiate not to seek a common basis for accord but to learn what they can from the enemy and about the enemy; and in the light of this, to get what they can in concessions or favorable agreements." And that, in turn, explains the Kremlin's expert use of delaying tactics in all meetings with the Western World's leaders.

Now an obvious question arises: Why, under these conditions, should we and the other Western powers negotiate with the Soviets at all? The Overstreets have a three-faceted answer to that. First, negotiations have an educational function — that is, "only by finding out what specific limited problems they are willing to negotiate can we judge the merit of their offers." Second, the incredibly tedious efforts to negotiate with the Soviets have shown the free world that we really are at war, even though it's still of the cold variety, and thus serves to unite the Western nations in a common cause.

The third reason given by the Overstreets could certainly be infinitely the most important in the long and difficult run we are engaged in. Here's what they say: "Finally, every conference earns for the free world a further margin of time: and time is far kinder to freedom than totalitarianism. Within the vastness of the Communist empire there are the millions of human beings who do not want to be there, who have never wanted to be there. The free world has not established outpost parties behind the Iron Cur-

Head On Naval Operation In Pacific

WESTERN PACIFIC (PHTNC)—Billy J. Head, commissaryman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Head of Rotan, Texas, took part in Operation "Granite Creek", May 25 to June 1, while serving aboard the attack aircraft USS Ranger in the Western Pacific.

"Granite Creek" is an exercise designed to test the effectiveness of the Navy's aircraft carrier striking force of the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Far East.

The Ranger, which along with other carriers is providing air might to this country's first line of defense in the Pacific, is on a routine tour of duty with the Seventh Fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Watson returned Friday from a ten-day vacation at Ruidoso.

tain. Yet it has psychological outposts there: conquered peoples; minds that resist totalitarianism; minds that have been educated to a point where they begin to want stretching space. Time is not kind to 'monolithic unity.'

Time, in sum, may prove to be the most potent weapon the free world can possess.

HS-U To Offer Guidance Training

ABILENE, June 15, Hardin-Simmons University has been authorized to offer training for persons in counseling and guidance by the State Board of Education. Dr. E. L. Bowden, head of the department of education, reports.

Approval by the state agency enables the university to offer training to students which will lead to certification as counselors in Texas public schools.

The program, which requires 36 semester hours of work on the graduate level, provides for a major in education and a minor field in psychology, Dr. Bowden explained.

In order to qualify for the training, applicants must have taught at least three years, it was pointed out.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Metcalf, Nancy and Sherry of Tulsa, recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Adams Sr.

WHAT MUST I DO TO BE SAVED?

This is the most important question ever asked by lost man and its answer is the most important answer ever given. Of course, the answer to it is in God's book, the Bible.

Note, the question is not what did Abraham or Noah do to please God nor what did the thief do to enter paradise for we live in the gospel age and they did not. The answer to this question must be the one given to those living in the gospel age.

What is the answer then? Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." (Mark 16:16). Certain persons are to be saved. Who are they? All those who obey. But how must they obey? As Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." It is not he that is baptized shall be saved nor is it he that believeth shall be saved. It take both to obtain pardon. A man must believe AND be baptized to be pardoned of alien sins. Every one who obeys becomes a Christian, a child of God, a member of the Lord's family, His church.

Have you obeyed the Lord? If not, why not do so today? Why delay? So much depends on what you do. We urge you also to worship with us Sunday.

McKinneys Entertain Relatives With Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Murl McKinney hosted a picnic supper Tuesday evening in the back yard at their home.

Present were, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Underhill and Dewayne; Mrs. Harold Roberts, Robin and Risa; Mrs. W. E. Partin, Sunny, Starmie and Armeta; Carl Underhill, Mrs. Lillie Underhill; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Underhill and Bobby of Phillips; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts and the hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. McKinney, Billie Joe, Monte, Scott and Susie.

Watch That Camel!

"If some folks have their way, in a few years the pill that could change America will be doled out to you," says a booklet just issued by the American Medical Association. "It will be a pill paid for by the government (out of your taxes) and prescribed by a doctor who works not for you—his patient—but for the government. This sugar-coated potion which some people are trying to cram down the nation's throat is called 'socialized medicine', or more euphemistically, 'compulsory health insurance'."

A good many of us probably believe that the socialized medicine drive is dormant if not dead... after all, an all-out campaign to force it on the country was attempted some years ago and got nowhere, for the simple reason that the public at large was overwhelmingly opposed to the change. They are trying to bring it about on a step-by-step basis. Each year bills are introduced which would provide so-called "free" medical service to certain special groups. A current example is the proposed measure which would provide it to the people drawing Social Security checks. Obviously, if such efforts as these are successful, it will only be a matter of time until we have socialized medicine in practice if not in name. The parable of the camel who got his nose in the tent applies perfectly here. Ultimately, he fills the whole tent.

The AMA's booklet goes into considerable detail in showing what socialized medicine has produced in various countries — Britain, Austria, Germany and so on. The record, generally speaking, has been a sorry one. The standards of medical care have deteriorated, and the tax bills have zoomed. And that could happen here.

Mrs. Claude Thompson Jr., Glenn and Greg of Haskell visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sargent Tuesday and Wednesday.

MY DAD'S LAST PRAYER

My Dad was a very sick man, He soon was to leave this land, The extent of his pain and woes God in Heaven only knows.

Mother and I were there that day, When we heard him say, "Please read the Bible to me, Maybe God's plan I can see."

Mother read from the Twenty-third Psalm, The words seemed to be a soothing balm, To his aching body and broken heart, I think that he knew we soon most part.

As Mother closed the Bible and the words ended, He bowed his head and a prayer he extended To God up above. We bowed our heads and listened, And said a silent prayer, While on our cheeks tears glistened.

We heard him say, "Lord at your feet I lay This old tired body of mine, If it be Thy will heal it with power divine.

You know best Lord, but please be with me, Bless my loved ones and take care of my family. Watch over them and keep them close through life. Help them through all trouble and strife.

In Jesus Blessed name I pray. Amen" After these words he then Lay back with a peaceful look, That only comes from prayer and words from God's Book.

In just a few days God called him home, Never more in this world would he roam. Our hearts were heavy and sad, But always we will be glad.

That we were allowed to hear The last prayer of our Dad so dear. All through life I can hear him say, "Lord, this old body at your feet I lay".

We want to always live close to God, So that when this old body is shod, And when we cross over the river, We will be there with Dad forever.

Tea Honors Recent Bride

Complimenting Helen Jo Turner, who was married to Jimmy Waddell Friday evening, a tea was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Reese Tuesday afternoon, June 9 from 3:30 to 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Reese greeted guests and presented the honoree, her mother and Mrs. Willie Waddell, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

An arrangement of pink and white asters with baby breath in a low bowl, flanked by pink frosted candles in silver holders, centered the tea table, which was laid with an imported lace cloth over pink, accented with a large satin ribbon bow. Appointments were crystal and silver. Gladiolas and other flowers from the Reese yard were used in decorating the entertainment rooms.

Mrs. Barney Bigham directed guests to the serving table, where Mrs. Andrew Williams and Mrs. Lawrence Sparks served dainty sandwiches, sand tarts and Hawaiian punch. Other members of the house party were Mmes. J. E. Funk, W. McSpadden, J. D. Moore, Earnest Taggart, E. T. Warren and Fant Posey. Each member of the soiree party wore a white carnation corsage, a gift from the honoree, who also gave each a beautiful white linen handkerchief. Celia Dean Reese played piano selections as the guests assembled.

Mrs. W. A. Griffin and Johnny of Quitaque, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Griffin and two children of Denver, Colo., visited Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bigham and other friends here last week end.

Don't be too critical of your wife's judgment — remember, it was her decision to marry you.

Included in the Bible passages to be read is this verse from Ecclesiastes (3:14): "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever: nothing can be put to it; nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him."

No rest for this Chevy... round the clock the engine never stops!

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thriftmaster 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months!

Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action.

The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high.

Home Economics Hints
by Alice L. Kemp,

County Home Demonstration Agent TO CLEAN 'VENETIAN BLINDS'

Fast work is the key to success when you're cleaning venetian blinds. Extension home management specialists suggests the following materials for cleaning the blinds: A very mild synthetic detergent, a large container such as a bathtub or laundry tub; liquid wax, a soft brush, several clean soft clothes, and a good supply of lukewarm water.

The first step is brushing off all surface dust. Use the dusting brush of your vacuum cleaner or a clean soft cloth for this job.

Once the dust is all off, whip up a suds in the bathtub or laundry tub. Use water and a mild synthetic detergent which should be completely dissolved.

Place the entire blind in the suds and brush gently with a soft brush or cloth. Work fast. Rinse fast also, using clear lukewarm water. Two or more rinsings may be needed.

Dry the slats with a soft cloth, then hang the blind up at the window so the tapes can dry. While it is drying, the blind should be extended all the way down. Give the tapes a good stretch. When the tapes are completely dry, apply a thin coat of liquid wax to the slats. The wax will prevent dust from sticking to the shade quite so readily. And when the slats are dusted, they will be cleaner.

Speed is especially important if the slats are made of wood. If the wood soaks up water, it may warp or paint may peel. Handle your venetian blinds with care so that you chip no paint from the slat.

Washing and Storing Electric Bedclothing

With warm weather here again, comes the problem of washing and storing electric bedcoverings.

Automatic electric blankets and bedsheets should be washed, not dry-cleaned, according to extension home management specialists. Dry-cleaning fluids may injure the wiring system.

Before washing, be sure to disconnect all controls from the electric blanket or sheet. If there are spots or stains, wash these first gently with solution of soap or detergent and water. Use lukewarm water for washing—about 100 degrees F. Wash one blanket at a time. Remember, agitation of the bedcovering in the washing machine for too long a period may break the electric wiring. Below are suggested methods for washing in either an agitator or tumbler-type automatic washer.

Agitator-type Automatic Washer. Fill the washer with warm water. Add 1 cup of mild synthetic detergent, and agitate until dissolved. Stop washer. Immerse blanket in washer, and close cover. Do not agitate. Let blanket soak 10 minutes and spin out water for two minutes. Remove blanket. For line drying, hang lengthwise over two parallel clothes lines, preferably in the shade. When an automatic dryer is used, preheat 5 to 10 minutes using large bath towels to absorb and equalize the heat. Add the blanket and allow to tumble about 15 minutes. Complete the drying on the line. Press bindings with steam or dry iron set at low heat.

Tumble-type Automatic Washer. Place blanket in washer. Fill washer with warm water, adding 1-2 cup low-sudsing detergent. Then stop washer. Soak blanket for 5 minutes; then tumble it 1 minute. Advance dial so water drains out. Then advance dial a second time, and let washer fill for deep rinse; run for 1 minute. Finally, turn dial to give final drain, for 2 minutes, or until drain hose stops. Remove blanket; dry as directed for agitator-type washer.

Store blankets in airtight boxes or plastic bags. Do not place moth-proofing chemicals in the electric blanket storage box or bag, as the chemicals may damage the insulated wiring.

VACATION HINT

When you stop in the middle of your vacation this year to remember friends or family back home, why not give the "wish you were here" greetings a new twist.

Do it with a Long Distance call. It's more fun that way, and you can catch up on the news at home, too.

And remember to call station-to-station. It's cheaper — you can make three calls for the price of two.

BUSY TELEPHONES

With school out for the summer, telephones in many houses will probably be getting a real workout.

There'll be calls from the children's friends at most any hour of the day—to round up the group for a game, to arrange to meet at the movies, or to compare notes on a new bike or the latest record album.

Whatever the call, the telephone is always there to help teenagers—and small fry, too—have more fun during vacation.

If you have children whose friends keep the phone ringing at a merry clip, make it easy for your youngsters to answer without running through the house. Extension telephones will do the trick.

Why not call the telephone company for a home extension telephone today? The cost is low, just $1.00 a month plus installation.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

The One Permanent Thing

Long ago, a wise man said that nothing is permanent but change.

The American economy—an economy which is based on free and open competition—constantly provides striking examples of that principle.

For instance, Chicago used to be known as the stockyards capital of the world, and with good reason. In the World War I era its yards accounted for a spectacular 17% of the country's entire commercial livestock slaughter. But last year, according to an article in the Wall Street Journal, Chicago's share of the business was under 3%, as major meat packers continued their exodus from the city.

Key reason for that, the paper says, is that farmers increasingly send their animals to more conveniently located plants closer to the producing areas, which saves on labor and other costs. In the last ten years alone more than 1,000 new packing plants have sprung up across the country. And these new plants, for most part, are more efficient and economical in operation than the old ones.

Fundamental changes such as this benefit all concerned in the long run. The livestock producer gets job better service and a higher return for his animals. The packers are able to do the huge job of supplying this nation with meat at a peak of efficiency. And the consumer gets a top-quality product at the lowest feasible price.

'As It Looks From Here'

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — SINCE 1953, 17 States have repealed their so-called "Fair Trade" Laws or had them rendered unconstitutional by the courts.

THERE IS NOW PENDING in the Congress a Federal Fair Trade Measure. It has been approved by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, but not yet cleared for action by the Congress.

CONGRESSIONAL BACKERS OF THE BILL, particularly Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, say that a Federal law would provide consumer safeguards by curbing unfair pricing practices. Supporters also contend that unregulated competition leads to monopoly and higher prices.

OPPOSITIONERS SAY THAT SUCH A LAW would hinder competition and result in higher prices to the consumer because of price-fixing restraint.

THE FACT REMAINS that this is seemingly a fairly good illustration of States' rights. Many who have felt this was a matter to be determined by the State now are persuaded that a Federal law is needed.

ONE OF THE MOST OBJECTIONABLE end results, should such a law be passed, would be an invitation for the Federal Government to bring all retailers under the Minimum Wage Laws. If minimum wages are increased to $1.25 per hour, it would be argued that retailers should be brought under it because they operate under a so-called national "Fair Trade" Law.

CERTAINLY, SHOULD A FEDERAL Fair Trade, price-fixing law be enacted, merchants would operate under more rigid regulations and would be less free to exercise initiative essential to business promotion and growth. Another certainly is that it would take many more Federal employees to administer such a law, and particularly should retailers be brought under the Wage and Hour Law.

THIS IS THE SORT OF THING that can't be fooled with on an experimental basis. Once it is enacted, probably the only way it could be removed in case it worked as unsatisfactorily as many predict, would be for the courts to hold it unconstitutional.

BIG QUESTIONS ARE LOOMING UP as to our trade policies with Soviet Russia. The British have announced a five-year trade agreement with the Soviets, while at the same time the United States is vetoing practically all requests of U. S. firms for shipment of goods behind the Iron Curtain.

MANY PEOPLE ARE WONDERING how realistic we are to forbid United States goods to go to the Communists while the British can sell complete plants to produce chemicals, synthetics and a variety of other goods which compete with our own.

THE BRITISH ARE NOT the only nation having considerable trade relations with the Russians. Some nations have shipped to Russia exactly the same articles which we, in turn, have sent to them. It is a pretty ridiculous situation.

The man who attempts to bag two birds with one stone rarely bags much game.

June Is Dairy Month

June is designated as Dairy month. The reason is that during this 30-day period production of milk, cheese, and butter reaches its peak.

Throughout the state 4-H dairy projects are contributing their share to the over-all peak production month. More than three-quarters of a million 4-H Club members across the nation are engaged in two specific dairy award programs.

Some of the boys and girls are raising their own dairy animals under the guidance of Extension Service specialists and county agents. They are learning about production, sanitation, marketing and showmanship. Another group is specializing in dairy foods demonstration, learning of themselves and then showing others why and how dairy products are essential to a balanced diet and good health.

A total of 12 college scholarships will be presented to the nation's top winners to be announced next fall during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Other awards include expense-paid trips to the congress, wrist watches and gold-filled medals.

The Oliver Corporation, Chicago, will again provide 4-H awards for the dairy animal project winners, while Carnation Company, Los Angeles, will present awards to the dairy foods demonstration winners.

Both programs are under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ross Hale and son of Pampa, spent several days here last week with his mother, Mrs. Darthulia Hale, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bigham.
