Miller Creek operating at 13 percent

By Geoff Baumgartner
 The Knox County News-Courier

KNOX CITY — The municipal water source for most of Knox County residents is operating at 13 percent capacity, said a state official speaking during a town hall forum hosted by local Republicans at the Bill Baker Auditorium on Tuesday evening.

"Miller Creek is at the lowest it has ever been," said Rep. James Frank, R-Wichita Falls, who represents constituents in Knox County, as well as those in Archer, Baylor, Clay, Foard and Wichita counties. "Three consecutive years of excessive drought, which is now considered a 'drought of record.'"

Most of the municipal entities that draw water from Miller Creek, which is owned and operated by the Munday-based North Central Texas Municipal Water District, has been operating under at least stage 3 of their respective drought contingency plans. The area has been declared a federal disaster zone, which opens up the cities and counties to apply for and receive emergency aid.

Each of the four Knox County municipalities — Benjamin, Goree, Knox City and Munday — have applied to the state and have received a portion of that aid in the form of $350,000 grants, which are being administered in tandem with the North Central MWD to identify and drill new water wells to serve as alternative sources of water for residents.

David Kuehler, executive director of the North Central MWD, said he board of directors is in the process of identifying up to 10 new underground water wells. He stressed, however, this was only a temporary solution that would at best provide a few years of relief.

 The Knox County News-Courier

MUNDAY — City Council members have approved a plan to increase the base water rate for customers served by municipal water lines by $5 a month.

That base rate is based on a 2,000-gallon minimum for the 585 meters serviced by the city.

In addition, the council has voted to not open the municipal swimming pool this year due to the extreme drought and water regulations.

In other business at the recent meeting, city officials are planning their budget for the next fiscal year and considering a proposition to contractually join the Knox County Visioning Group.

The council voted to adopt the proposed city budget for the next fiscal year, which was unanimously passed. Munday finished this last year with a $71,000 surplus, part of which will be utilized for road repair and development and was left over after the council had elected to pay city bills and utilities.

The meeting also featured a presentation by Jimi Coplen of the Knox County Visioning Group, who laid out systematic community and youth development programs and was also there to offer the city a contract to join the Visioning Group in their proposal.

The City Council seemed to be on board with Coplen's presentation and was open about entering into the contract with the Visioning Group in the future.

"If it is good for Knox County, it is good for Munday," said Mayor Bob Bowen.

After the presentation, County Judge Travis Floyd addressed the council about the spirit of community in an attempt to mend the relations between Knox City and Munday so these programs can truly succeed with the county acting as a whole.

Relay for Life 'Survivors Meal' unites champions prior to race

By Geoff Baumgartner
The Knox County News-Courier

MUNDAY — A unique event that heralds in the annual Knox-Haskell Relay for Life event is the Survivors Meal, held the day before the race, that celebrates those in the community who have succeeded in their brave battle with cancer.

This year's meal will be May 2 and is open to all local cancer survivors.

With Cinco de Mayo festivities in tow, this year's Relay for Life theme is "Loco for a Cure," and all events surrounding the race and fundraiser are geared along those lines.

Residents from Knox and Haskell counties have come together for Relay for Life events since 2008. Last year, more than $36,000 was raised locally for the American Cancer Society, and about 200 residents from both counties came together in that effort. Much of this money has come back to Knox and Haskell counties.

Leann Harlan, this year's event chairwoman, said much of the money raised is returned to the communities to assist cancer patients with transportation to and from treatment centers, lodging expenses associated with overnight doctor's visits and services that provide accessories such as wigs and scarves for women negatively affected by chemotherapy treatment.

"This year, we're hoping to recognize and celebrate the lives of even more survivors in our community during our special Survivor Dinner, Survivor Lap and Luminaria ceremonies," said Harlan, who is being assisted by 17 other volunteers.

This year's Relay For Life will be organized differently than in year's past. Instead of an eight-hour event, the committee has extended fundraising to a 12-hour event. Harlan said Relay for Life events can range from eight to even 24 hours long.

"We will once again join with our friends and neighbors whose lives have been affected by cancer to take turns walking a track for 12 continuous hours," Harlan said. "The transition from day to night and walker to walker represents the arduous journey through cancer treatment, reminding us that while cancer never sleeps, we are always there with our loved ones to walk beside them in the darkest moments."

Local cancer survivors who have not already received an invitation to attend the Survivors Meal are encouraged to call Becky Offutt, Kacy Sanders or Linda Adams at 940-864-3050.

Registration also is accepted online at relayforlife.org and enter the Haskell or Knox ZIP code and click on the Haskell/Knox event to sign up as a survivor. It is important for survivors to be registered, so their T-Shirt may be ordered in advance.

Relay for Life event will be from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. May 2-3 at the Munday High School track.

The public is invited to attend.

DPS Offers Safety Tips for Wildflower Fans This Spring

AUSTIN — Springtime in Texas is known for the beautiful wildflowers that blanket the fields and roadsides across our state, including the state flower, the Bluebonnet. Here are a few tips to help everyone enjoy the wildflower season safely and lawfully.

While there is no law against picking the state flower, laws do exist against damaging or destroying rights-of-way and government property. So even though picking a few flowers may be okay, individuals should not dig up clumps of flowers or drive their vehicle into a field of flowers.

Flower fans must also consider laws against criminal trespassing and make sure they are not on private property when stopping to enjoy or take photos of the wildflowers. Individuals should also be cautious of snakes, fire ants and other potential dangers while observing wildflowers.

DPS encourages motorists to be mindful of laws against impeding traffic and exercise caution when slowing down to enjoy the view; and if you decide to stop, choose areas with light traffic conditions.

For the safety of yourself and others, consider the following tips:

Signal before leaving or entering the roadway.

Park off the roadway (off of improved shoulders), parallel to the road in the direction of traffic.

Don't cross lanes of traffic on foot to get to the flowers.

Obey signs that prohibit parking on a particular stretch of roadway.

Remember that failure to follow the rules of the road any time of the year could earn you a ticket. So be careful, be practical and be sure to abide by our laws while enjoying the Texas wildflowers this and every year.

The Paperboy We got rain! Really!

The storm hit just as we were beginning to think it would stay north of town. Instead, we got to witness a couple of strong thunderstorms which resulted in 2.5 inches of rain at the house and hail. A lot of hail.

You know what? It's hard to argue against the high winds and hail when it brings that much rain that fast.

It's been such a long time since we got to witness such a display. Easter Sunday 2014 will be remembered for answered prayers around here and in other places in the area.

For those of you that missed the rains, let's hope the stormy night is a harbinger of things to come. How wonderful it would be to write about even more rain next week.

I had forgotten about the feeling you get after such heavy rains. I don't know what's stranger. Watching the storms, or forgetting the feeling. Either way, the collective mood around here changed in about three hours Sunday. I really wish I would have been at the coffee shop or down at the Coop to hear the farmers and ranchers Monday morning...

One other observation regarding the weather: Don't trust weather people or forecasts. Despite all of the technology and computer models, the weather is very hard to nail down. In fact, I'd say it's impossible. We went from a slight chance of showers to 2.5 inches of rain in 24-hours.

The weather folk have gotten much better through the years of letting us know what is happening in real time, but as far as forecasting from days out, they have a poor batting average.

It's the year 2014 and it amazes me that of all the wrecks that occur, nearly all the fatalities are because the person was not wearing a seatbelt.

Ultimately, that one choice ... that one habit ... will probably be the difference in life or death if you're in a bad wreck.

If you're driving, make your passengers buckle up. Why should you, as the driver, have to live with the guilt of a loss of life?

Tell your passengers that the car doesn't move until everyone is in their seatbelt. If all drivers would do this, there would be a lot fewer fatalities on our roads.

We got our boys a puppy this last weekend. What was I thinking?

This pup - a cross between a Golden Labrador Retriever and a Newfoundland - looks like a promising dog. Lord knows it's going to be pretty big. It might even be very big.

However, at a month old, she's a little crazy. Less than a week in the house and she's already the boss.

Hopefully, before her next round of shots, we settle on a name. Right now we're looking at Betty Davis, Katniss Everdeen, Mrs. Nesbitt and a couple of the usual suspects.

There is something about a dog that seems to complete a household. Even if that dog injects chaos into the situation.

Benjamin News

By Gladene Green

We woke up on Sunday to a cloudy sky, then the sun came out, and it looked like a normal spring-like day was ahead. Then around noon, the clouds gathered, and a light rain began to fall, and everyone was concerned about the annual fire department sponsored egg hunt at 3.

Well, the rain stopped, the sun came out, and the "hunt" went as scheduled with lots of youngsters on hand to fill their baskets. Adults were there as well, and lots of visiting took place, and the kids who found the prize eggs lined up to get their gold dollars.

When it was over, everyone left happy and continued their visiting elsewhere. Then the rain came about midnight, and although we only got about .42 of an inch, it was nice and appreciated. Maybe we'll get more. We don't want the severe weather, but it may take a little wind and hail to get the rain we so desperately need. Let's hope and pray nothing real bad happens.

Sunrise Service

The Sunrise Service was well attended Sunday morning. That is according to those who were there. I missed it — overslept! I hated it because I always enjoy it but just didn't make it this year. Jim Wright, Methodist pastor, brought the message. Breakfast followed in the Fellowship Hall, and again, those who were there said there was an abundance of good breakfast goodies. A wonderful way to begin a beautiful Easter Sunday.

Here 'n' there

There was quite a lot of visiting in the area this past weekend. There's no way to get it all in, but I will get some of it reported. Jan and Fred Carver had a pretty good crowd show up to help Dorothy Carver celebrate her 90th birthday. And lots more friends and loved ones met at the Munday Nursing Center for this very special event.

Jan and Fred's immediate family who were there were: John and Patti Carver of Taft, Laura Ann Carver of Austin, Jenny Sneed and Isabel of Canton, Mike and Tammy Lyles, and Kip and Joy Lynn Pool of Benjamin, Gary and Stasia Antilley of Wingate, Jacy, Jara, Talon, and Lexie Collins of Munday, Tyler Collins and Keely Johnson of Lubbock, Ryan Antilley of Trent, Cody and Cassie Wainscott of Liberty Hill, and Callie Laird and Ryder, and Ricky Joe Carver, Bella and Ashburn all of Knox City.

On Sunday, they all had lunch with Callie and Ryder in Knox City. All except Fred—he's battling this upper respiratory stuff, and just felt like he needed to stay at home and rest.

Visiting Hazel Stockton, Kim Moore, and Bud Conner during the weekend were Keith and Pam Conner and grandson, Carson Conner, all of Midland, Clay, Melina, Adaleah, and Ilah Kay Conner of Lubbock, Janet Reed of Benjamin and Big Spring, Samijo Russell and D.J. And Shelby Russell of Spur.

Wendy and Bubba Benson, Chastity and Lily of Royston were here on Sunday to visit relatives and attend the egg hunt. They and Dillon Benson had lunch with Imagean Young and Deann Lamb. It was good to see Bubba and his family, as I had not seen him and the girls since they moved. We see Wendy often, as she still works at the post office a couple of days each week.

I saw the Siemens girls and their families here on Sunday. They were visiting their parents, Tina and Kim Sealey and "taking in" the egg hunt. Visiting were Tina Silva and baby girl, Mary Ham and children, and Margaret Silva and daughters, all of Knox City, and Nathan and Nancy Beavers of Wichita Falls.

Cody Propps of Tarleton State University was here for the weekend with home folks.

Mary Young said she did not have any company nor go out of town during the weekend. Said she spent Saturday (all day) working in her yard. Her work pays off as she does always have a beautiful yard, despite dry weather, wind, and all the other obstacles that come our way.

Betty Bohannon is in Perryton today visiting with relatives. A nephew plans to return home with her for a few days' visit.

My Easter Sunday company included the following: Diane and Ashlee Evans of Childress, Beckie Smith and Randi, Dillon Keys, Liz, Nathan, Taylor, and Westin and Ruth Gladden, all of Munday, Cody and Kayla Taylor and Ryder of Seymour, Will Moorhouse of Snyder, Megan Kimbrough of Haskell and Texas Tech, and Mike and Debi Moorhouse of Benjamin.

Irene Reed said her son, Donny, and two of his sons spent Sunday with her. Donny lives in the Wichita Falls area, and the boys live at Seymour.

Donnie and Barbara Ryder had Easter supper with her daughter, Rhonda Molina and family in Munday. Barbara said all her family was there, so they all had a great time.

Judy and Randolph Barnett's Easter weekend company were her son, Jim Bob, and Jenny Beth Conner and children, Charlie, Madilyn, Jaylee, and Calli Conner of Wofforth. They also visited Philomae Roberson and Corrine Parrish.

Visiting Kathy and Chad Rainwater and sons during the weekend were Toby Rainwater and children of Wichita Falls and Kyrin Shawn of Decatur.

The 501 Smart cats eschew oxymoronic food labels

If you want to know if something is OK to eat, it's good to have a test cat. Or a test dog. If your pet eats it and doesn't keel over, chances are the food hasn't been poisoned.

It's a handy trick I learned as a child, circa 1952, when my mother was reading the funny papers to me. In one of the not-so-funny strips, a blue-haired queen of some ancient country wouldn't eat what she was being served until it had been offered first to the palace dogs. I filed away the strategy for future use.

About 40 years later, I decided to see if my cat Isabella would lap up non-dairy creamer. I served it in a saucer to make it look like real milk. She sniffed it and walked away, tail vertical in disdain.

Fake creamer may not be harmful to humans or cats, but I'm taking my cues from Isabella anyway, spurning all synthetic choices and insisting on real half-and-half for my coffee.

In fact, if ever I get a tattoo, it's going to say "strong coffee, no sugar, half-and-half." Then, when senility sets in, the staff of the care facility will know exactly how I like my coffee even if I don't.

I'm not sure where I want that tattoo. But in the nursing home, placement doesn't matter. The staff sees all your tattoos when they give you a bath.

Just in case some don't read English and because I like illustrations, a bag of sugar with an "X" through it will enhance the message.

Come to think of it, I'll need a secondary tattoo to let them know I do want sugar on my oatmeal—brown sugar plus fruit and milk. It gets complicated.

It's all reason enough not to get frivolous tattoos. You could end up without enough skin space for the key infographics and important texts you want to get across to the people who someday will matter most to you—the ones in charge of your coffee and your oatmeal.

Back to half-and-half. Should it be hyphenated? Tattoo artists probably think so. They no doubt get paid per every jot and tittle.

But the more important issue is the exact meaning. It's sort of a made-up term anyway. Half what? To me it means half whole milk and half cream, more or less—like heavy cream but a little lighter, nothing against heavy cream.

So guess what I just bought by mistake. GUESS PAUSE.

A little carton of non-fat half and half. When it comes to food, beware all oxymorons.

Meanwhile, guess what they substituted for fat. GUESS PAUSE.

Corn syrup! Does that make sense? They've added insult to injury. It's as if they assume that someone who likes the taste of cream would accept a not-so-healthy sweet substitute in its place. It's the sort of marketing strategy and trickery that leaves me speechless. I feel like saying just one thing:

READ MY TATTOO!

Maybe I'll get it sooner rather than later.

Knox City holds prom for juniors and seniors

By Geoff Baumgartner
 The Knox County News-Courier

KNOX CITY - Knox City High School hosted its annual junior and senior prom last Saturday. While the recently constructed community center would have been ideal for the dance, the center was not available on the night, so the students elected to have the prom inside the Knox City gym. The sponsors were Coach Colin and Christy Howeth, Becky Jones, and Coach Jordan Carter. While no students arrived in limousines, several seniors did arrive in a pontoon-like float.

The theme of the prom was enchantment under the sea and each table was outfitted with a bowl and swimming beta fish. There was BBQ being served and that was accompanied by a candy and cheesecake bar.

While no prom king or queen were chosen, the kids still had a delightful evening full of electric slides, cambia, and the two-step.

The prom concluded at midnight, with various juniors remaining to help clean up.

Head Start readies for new applicants

The Knox County News-Courier

Munday Child Development Center, located at 941 Bowie in Munday, will be taking applications for the enrollment of children for the Head Start program that will begin in the fall.

The Head Start program serves 3- and 4-year-old children. It is designed to meet the needs of children by providing an environment which will help them develop socially, physically, intellectually, and emotionally in a manner appropriate to their age and stage of development toward the overall goal of school readiness and social competence. Children with disabilities are welcome in Head Start and are offered the full range of developmental services that children without disabilities receive.

The program works closely with other community agencies to provide services to meet the special needs of all children enrolled. The guidelines for participation in Head Start are established by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

To make application for the program, parents must bring the following documents: child's birth certificate, immunization record, and proof of income for the past 12 months, or 2013 1040 tax return. TANF recipients are categorically eligible for the program; however documentation of current benefits such as a letter from caseworker, case numbers, etc. must be provided. All information is considered confidential and will be used only for the purpose of establishing eligibility and defining the needs of the family and child.

While applications can be taken any time throughout the year, we encourage parents wanting their child in Head Start this fall to make an application as soon as possible.

Munday Child Development Center is hosting its Round-Up Day from 9 to 3 p.m. May 1. To complete an application, go to the Munday Child Development Center.

Call director Sheri Urbanczyk at 422-5363 for information.

Peaches, pecans survive winter's last pierce

By Robert Burns
Special to the Courier

There were varied reports of damage to wheat, forages and fruit and nut crops from the hard freeze on April 15 from Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service personnel throughout the Central, Rolling Plains, South Plains and Panhandle regions.

A statewide summary of damage to wheat in those areas is pending. However, Larry Stein, AgriLife Extension horticulturist for fruits, nuts and vegetable crops, was certain pecan and peach orchards were left mostly unscathed.

A large part of the reason for the lack of damage was due to preventive measures taken by orchard owners and managers, Stein said.

"After the late freezes last year, a lot of people were on guard this year and ready to do whatever they could," he said. "The big thing was watering before the freeze."

In 2013, the Texas peach crop was hammered by two exceptionally late freezes, one in late April, and for some areas, another in May. This year, an early March freeze caused some alarm, but most peach varieties had not yet bloomed and buds were tight enough to escape damage, Stein said. In 2013, the extreme drought meant many orchards were stressed before the freeze, making them more susceptible to damage.

Preventive measures can also include applying irrigation water to trees during a freeze, he said.

"You can run water during the time of the freeze," Stein said. "When water goes from a liquid to a solid, it's going to give off heat. And as long as that's happening, it's not going to get below 32 degrees (at the tree level.)"

Pecans were also mostly left unharmed, he said.

"There were actually a few trees that were nipped back in a few locations, in the lower spots," Stein said. "The good news is there was only a few primary buds were forced, and there will be secondary buds that will come that will make pecans. But a lot of the primary buds hadn't forced yet."

More information on the current Texas drought and wildfire alerts can be found on the AgriLife Extension Agricultural Drought Task Force website at agrilife.tamu.edu/drought.

AgriLife Extension district reporters compiled the following summaries for the week of April 14-21:

Rolling Plains

As the drought continued, pastures and cropland remained in poor condition. Farmers were preparing fields for planting, but often spent their time just trying to prevent dry fields from being blown away by high winds. Producers were considering dry-planting cotton fields soon, hopeful there would soon be a substantial rain. Ranchers were also left high and dry, with pastures having played out along with the winter wheat crop. Lack of grazing was forcing some producers to consider selling off the rest of their herd. Wheat began to head out; some was being baled for hay or put up as silage. Peaches appeared to not have suffered much damage from the April 15 freeze and were starting to leaf out by the third week of April, which is much later than average. A heavy rain was needed to fill area lakes and stock tanks. Burn barns remained in effect for several counties.

South Plains

Lubbock County received from 0.14 to 0.76 inch of rain on April 19-20. Other counties also reported rain. Mitchell County got from 0.5 to 0.75 inch. Swisher County reported rain in the eastern portion of the county, while northern and western parts of the county remained dry. The moisture will allow producers to work problem fields that had been too dry because of the risk of erosion from gusting winds. Many counties didn't receive any precipitation, and producers were pre-watering in hope of establishing a cotton crop. On April 15, temperatures dipped as low as 22 degrees and remained below freezing for several hours in some areas. Many orchard and vineyard operators took measures to prevent freeze damage, including controlled burns. Hale County also reported freezing temperatures, but the damage to winter wheat appeared minimal. Rangeland and pastures were in mostly fair condition, with ranchers providing supplemental feed at some locations. Cattle were in mostly fair to good condition.

Panhandle

The week began with freezing weather, but temperatures rose above average by the week-end. Some areas received snow early in the week, with accumulations ranging from a trace to as much as 2 inches. More moisture was received later in the form of rain along with some hail. Soil moisture continued to be rated very short. Winds caused further soil erosion and raised wildfire danger. Farmers continued irrigating wheat and preparing for spring planting. Deaf Smith County reported that irrigated wheat required more water each day as the crop approached the flag leaf stage. Fertilizer was being applied prior to planting corn. Ranchers were managing spring calving while providing supplemental feed to herds. Many ranchers were taking stocker cattle off wheat pasture. Most ranchers reported good gains where stocking rates were limited.

"It would really lighten the load and help out the cities for a couple years, but the well program couldn't provide clean water for the cities for an extended period of time because the (Seymour) Aquifer itself is diminishing at a quick rate," Kuehler said.

Frank also briefed those in attendance at the forum Tuesday on the city of Wichita Falls' newly implemented cloud-seeding project and its success so far.

Wichita Falls did see a significant rainfall on March 15 following a cloud-seeding mission. The city received 1.84 inches of rain, and other areas showed a little more and a little less.

Wichita Falls officially received .39 inch of rain Sunday and .34 inch between midnight and 6 a.m. Monday. That brings the rainfall for Wichita Falls since Jan. 1 to 3.94 inches, which is 2.64 inches below normal.

While remaining somewhat skeptic of cloud-seeding, Frank continued to urge residents to be mindful of water conservation in their daily activities while mentioning new science that has produced a sealant, which people have been applying to backyard swimming pools to combat evaporation. He said the same technology is being looked at for large-scale applications at area reservoirs.

Frank said state officials with the Texas Commission on Water Quality are still determining if its new $2 billion reserve from the state's "rainy day fund" will be set aside for areas of the state severely affected by the drought.

Other members of Tuesday evening's forum panel included Mike McGuire of Rolling Plains Ground Water Conservation District, Benjamin City Manager Kim Sealy, Knox City Manager Sam Watson, and Munday City Manager Ricky Ake.

TEXAS COMMISSION ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF APPLICATION AND INTENT TO OBTAIN WATER QUALITY PERMIT RENEWAL

PERMIT NO. WQ0013616001

APPLICATION. City of O'Brien, P.O. Box 38, O'Brien, Texas 79539, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) to renew Texas Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (TPDES) Permit No. WQ0013616001 (EPA I.D. No. TX0075906) to authorize the discharge of treated wastewater at a volume not to exceed a daily average flow of 20,000 gallons per day with provisions to irrigate on 7.1 acres of land. The domestic wastewater treatment facility and irrigation site are located approximately 0.8 mile north of the intersection of State Highway 6 and Farm-to-Market Road 2229, north of the City of O'Brien on the west side of State Highway 6, in Haskell County, Texas 79539. The discharge route is from the plant site to China Branch; thence to Brazos River Above Possum Kingdom Lake. TCEQ received this application on March 28, 2014. The permit application is available for viewing and copying at O'Brien City Hall, 1002 Grand Central Avenue, O'Brien, Texas. This link to an electronic map of the site or facility's general location is provided as a public courtesy and not part of the application or notice. For exact location, refer to application. <http://www.tceq.texas.gov/assets/public/hb610/index.html?lat=33.39136&lng=-99.837377&zoom=13&type=1>

ADDITIONAL NOTICE. TCEQ's Executive Director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. After technical review of the application is complete, the Executive Director may prepare a draft permit and will issue a preliminary decision on the application. Notice of the Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the county-wide mailing list and to those who are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the deadline for submitting public comments.

PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting on this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ will hold a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider all timely comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments, and the Executive Director's decision on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments and to those persons who are on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision and for requesting a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court.

TO REQUEST A CONTESTED CASE HEARING, YOU MUST INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ITEMS IN YOUR REQUEST: your name, address, phone number; applicant's name and proposed permit number; the location and distance of your property/activities relative to the proposed facility; a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the facility in a way not common to the general public; and, the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing." If the request for contested case hearing is filed on behalf of a group or association, the request must designate the group's representative for receiving future correspondence; identify an individual member of the group who would be adversely affected by the proposed facility or activity; provide the information discussed above regarding the affected member's location and distance from the facility or activity; explain how and why the member would be affected; and explain how the interests the group seeks to protect are relevant to the group's purpose.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for reconsideration or for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

The Commission will only grant a contested case hearing on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on issues that were raised in timely filed comments that were not subsequently withdrawn. TCEQ may act on an application to renew a permit for discharge of wastewater without providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.

MAILING LIST. If you submit public comments, a request for a contested case hearing or a reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision, you will be added to the mailing list for this specific application to receive future public notices mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk. In addition, you may request to be placed on: (1) the permanent mailing list for a specific applicant name and permit number; and/or (2) the mailing list for a specific county. If you wish to be placed on the permanent and/or the county mailing list, clearly specify which list(s) and send your request to TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION. All written public comments and requests must be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, TCEQ, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, TX 78711-3087. A Southern staple: Common courtesy can be contagious

There are many things I love about the South. We're fiercely patriotic. We're neighborly. We're storytellers without equal. We're unabashedly and unapologetically faithful. We're proudly hospitable.

But here's what I love just a little bit better than all the rest: We believe mightily in courtesy and manners.

Now, this isn't to say that only Southerners are well raised or that all Yankees and other non-Southerners are rude. That would be untruthful because I have met some extremely discourteous Southerners while I know some beautifully well-mannered Yankees.

RONDA RICH

My husband and his father are two of the most courtly gentlemen I have ever met, and they are entrenched in Yankee-ness going all the way back to the Mayflower. You can't be Yankee-ier than they are. And you can't find anyone more gentlemanly than they.

My husband rises from his seat whenever a woman enters the room. He helps her with her seat, her jacket or opens the door. My father-in-law will speak always with gentility when I am in his presence. I hope that people outside of the South are still being raised like these two fine men. But here's one thing I know for certain: Where I come from, children are still being taught courtesy especially when it comes to their elders.

The other day Louise brought home the preacher and his wife for our usual Sunday dinner. The two of them and Tink and I were at the table when Jon, our family's 13-year-old, arrived. Jon is a normally bashful child. That comes from his father's family for his mother's family — we — have never been shy to speak.

With presence and without encouragement, he walked into the dining room and said, "Hello, Preacher Joe." He walked straight to the table, offered his hand in a steady grip, shook the preacher's hand firmly and looked him in the eye. "Good to see you," he said then turned to the preacher's wife and said, "Hello, Miss Phyllis." He smiled, shook her hand firmly and looked her in the eye. We all smiled broadly with approval.

He isn't the exception. Every teenager or child of each friend of mine calls me "Miss Ronda." They all say "Yes ma'am," "No sir," "please" and "thank you." This is the case across the South from the Carolina coast to the plains of West Texas.

Of all the things I adore about the manners of the South, what I admire most is that we respect our elders by calling them "Miss" or "Mr." combined with their first names. This, of course, is for the ones to whom we are close. Otherwise, we use their last name.

One of the pre-schooler twins dropped by the dinner table and Miss Phyllis asked her a question. Bree tilted her head and said, "What?"

"Bree, don't say 'what'," I corrected her. "Say, 'Ma'am?'"

She smiled shyly then repeated as she had been instructed. We also use "pardon me?" in such incidences.

My niece once said, "There's one thing about it — my children are going to be courteous and treat others respectfully." So they do. It is a worthy parental pursuit.

Sela Ward, the award winning television actress from Mississippi, wrote in her lovely memoir "Homesick" that it has been hard on her to raise her children in California where children are raised to be casual and even call their teachers by their first name with no "Miss" or "Mr." attached. She, like many Southerners, love the respectful, gentle manners of the South.

Good manners, like rudeness, can rub off and even the well-trained can be improved. Despite age, you can learn and change.

One day last summer, Tink, referring to a nearby neighbor, said, "Miss Brenda's grass needs cutting. Her mower's broken so we need to cut it for her."

And, just like that, my Yankee husband slipped into a patented Southern sensibility. Bless his sweet heart.

Several Knox County officials and other courthouse employees "Purple Up!" on Tuesday by sporting various shades of the color purple in their shirts, blouses, sweaters, scarves, ties and caps. The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service of Knox County helped organize the local "Purple Up!" campaign in coordination with groups around the nation to bring awareness to the needs of children throughout the United States who have one or more active-duty parents serving in the military.

Knox promotes purpley program

By Wayne Hodgins
The Knox County News-Courier

BENJAMIN — April is the month to honor military children, and officials with the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service in Knox County are promoting a cause to raise awareness of the needs of military children and their families.

Through the Military Families Learning Network, a web-based professional development site for U.S. military service men and women, the "eXtension" network of land-grant universities throughout the country has many resources available to help raise awareness of the needs of military children and their families.

The "eXtension" site is a repository of information and resources from many experts throughout the Extension network as well as other experts from academia and various professional disciplines, said Lorrie Coop, coordinator for the local Extension office in Benjamin.

"The Military Families Learning Network has a variety of free print materials, webinars and videos of benefit to military families and their children, as well as those who care for service members who are disabled or wounded," Coop said.

To help draw attention to the needs of military families and those who care for them, the Military Caregiving portion of the eXtension website is providing social media messages with links to available resources for use in helping raise awareness, Coop said.

Several Twitter and Facebook social media-based messages were developed to appeal to younger people and introduce them to the variety of issues unique to military families and the families of wounded, ill or injured service members.

"Also, we want to encourage people to participate in 'Purple Up!' activities," said Coop, who helped spearhead such an event Tuesday, when many Knox County officials and other county employees were encouraged to wear purple to pay honor to the current and former members of the U.S. armed forces and to help bring attention to the needs of military families.

Coop said the idea of people "purpling up" is based on the fact that when all colors representing each of the U.S. military service branches are combined, the resulting color is purple.

To further support this effort, AgriLife Extension has developed a website for the public to find out what Purple Up! activities are going on throughout the state.

"The idea was let people see the variety and extent of programs observing the April 15 Purple Up! initiative and to recognize and honor military children, plus show Texas 4-H as a leader in Purple Up! efforts," Coop said.

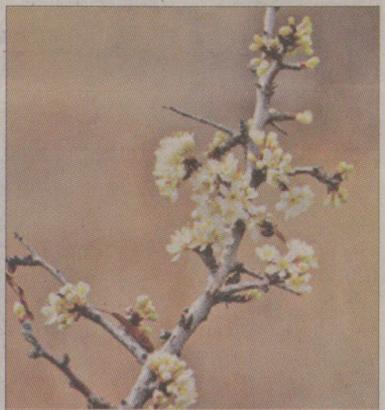

Wilder's Nature Adventures

By S.J. Dahlstrom

These are the spring blooms of the sandhill plum. This tree is small and bears little red plums in early summer that are sour-sweetish. In the spring, these small, white flowers bloom and then become the plums.

Do you see the bee on one of the blooms? That bee is helping the plant to produce fruit. As it works to gather the sweet nectar to eat, it spreads pollen from flower to flower. This pollinates the buds so the tree can make fruit.

Sandhill plum jelly is my favorite jelly that my mom makes. One time she burned the plums though, and the entire jelly batch was bitter. We ate it anyways, and it was still pretty good.

Wilder at wildergood.com.

A honey bee works to gather nectar from the flowering blooms on this sandhill plum. As the bee moves from bloom to bloom, it spreads pollen from one flower to the next. This fertilizes the bud, which will soon grow into the fruit — a plum.

S.J. Dahlstrom is a Garza County resident and author of the young adult fiction book series "The Adventures of Wilder Good," based on a 12-year-old boy who enjoys hunting, fishing, cowboying and just about everything there is to do outdoors. Discover more about
