FORTY-FIRST YEAR

POULTRY MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

Assured of the poultry meeting, we have been expecting for some time Mr. Christian of the Haskell Grain Co. this morning. The plan is to take place the night of the 28th at 7:30.

Correspondence which Mr. W. P. Wood had with Mr. W. O. Wood has informed him that in the contemplated lecture, there will be a play in four acts, entitled "The Country Boy and a Hen."

The purpose of the play is identical with that of the lecture, namely: to interest in better methods of management among the farmers and poultrymen. The facts are set into an interesting form with comedy to make it really an entertainment, as well as an education.

Wood will take the part of Phil, a successful poultryman. The characters are: Lett M. Russell, Red E. Serviss.

Let M. Russell is the poultryman who does not believe in better poultry raising and is the chief comedian with a few choice comments each time Phil attempts to show him better methods.

A play is given here through the efforts of the Haskell Mill and Grain Co. performance is free.

The play will be conducted an discussion upon questions brought by the poultrymen present. Every attempt will be made to sell, everything is there will be no advertising in the play.

Free tickets will be given free of charge. Free tickets can be had at Haskell Mill and Grain Co.

CO-OPERATIVE COTTON MARKETING

Changes in the cotton market during the present season, and particularly the gradual but costly decline in the past few weeks, demonstrate most forcefully the importance of cooperative marketing," according to L. B. Patterson, field representative of the Texas Farm Cotton Association.

"Co-operative marketing is the most effective medicine to counteract such conditions," he said, "and by so doing to see the steady gain in value that which can only be obtained in an organized way." Mr. Patterson brought out that the cooperative cotton marketing "individually" does not do as well as the cooperative marketing, still "does orders world cotton facts and figures by any barometer as to when the cotton is best and from what cotton center it comes; he does not get the benefit of expert grading and sales according to grade and with its varying premiums; he borrows money as cheaply as possible; warehouse his cotton at the same low rate; or secure protection at the low rate accorded the individual."

Patterson spoke highly of the step taken by the "individual" in not dumping their cotton upon the market, but "urged that for the full distance, and secure services and benefits of cotton cooperative marketing by affiliating with the association."

Munday Artists Entertain Haskell School Wednesday

The program for the general assembly of Haskell High School for Wednesday of this week consisted of a number of dramatic artists from Munday.

Upon invitation some time ago, Miss Lillian Aycock, teacher of Expression and public speaking at Munday volunteered to furnish the entertainment.

Miss Aycock, accompanied by Hubert Isbell, Rosaline Houser, Louise Aycock and Mildred Burnett, gave a very splendid and versatile number of readings. Each number was highly enjoyed by the entire school and the courtesy of the Munday artists is highly appreciated.

INDIANS PREPARE FOR ANSON TIGERS

The football game here Friday afternoon at 3:45 is the most talked of and highly advertised game to be played in West Texas this week end. It is generally conceded that the Indians and Tigers are two of the most powerful class B teams in West Texas. These teams will be battling for supremacy in this district.

Anson has lost no games to class B teams to date and Haskell fluked a loss to Hamlin. Anson beat the team that defeated Haskell 24-0. This does not mean anything however as the Indians are 6 or 8 touchdowns better than Hamlin the team that beat them. If Haskell can defeat Anson, the Indians will virtually be winners of this district.

The business men of the town have begun to talk closing for the game and will probably close for the game. The band will be out in full blast to cheer the Indians. Anson is coming 100 per cent they say. We shall have spectators from all over this section. There will be some 250 teachers in the city and many of them will avail themselves of the opportunity to see this football classic of the year. The local school authorities are predicting an attendance of 1500 or 2000 if the weather is clear and open.

From Abilene Morning News, Oct. 26.

Haskell on the north of the district is the scene of the week's greatest clash, with Anson, single unbeaten team in the section. The Tigers made an auspicious start in the conference race by downing Hamlin, 24 to 0. Hamlin at that time led in percentage standings having beaten Moran and nosed out over Haskell, 7 to 6. Since the loss to Hamlin, however, Haskell has played an entirely different brand of football, evidenced in a 25 to 0 win over Stamford and a splendid performance against Abilene last Friday.

Although beaten, 46 to 0, Haskell showed perfect physical condition by going through the four quarters without a substitution, and the Indians' backfield denied the Eagle defense for ten first downs, more than the total amassed by three previous opponents. Haskell probably constitutes a greater obstacle to the state champion Tigers than did Hamlin, and should the Curtis machine take this game, it will be an easy favorite for its second successive sectional title.

Col. Penick to Meet with Poultry Raisers Saturday

Col. R. L. Penick will be in Haskell Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to meet with poultry raisers of this section who are interested in co-operative marketing of poultry and poultry products. The meeting will be held in the City Hall and all who are interested in the betterment of poultry conditions in this section are requested to be present for the meeting.

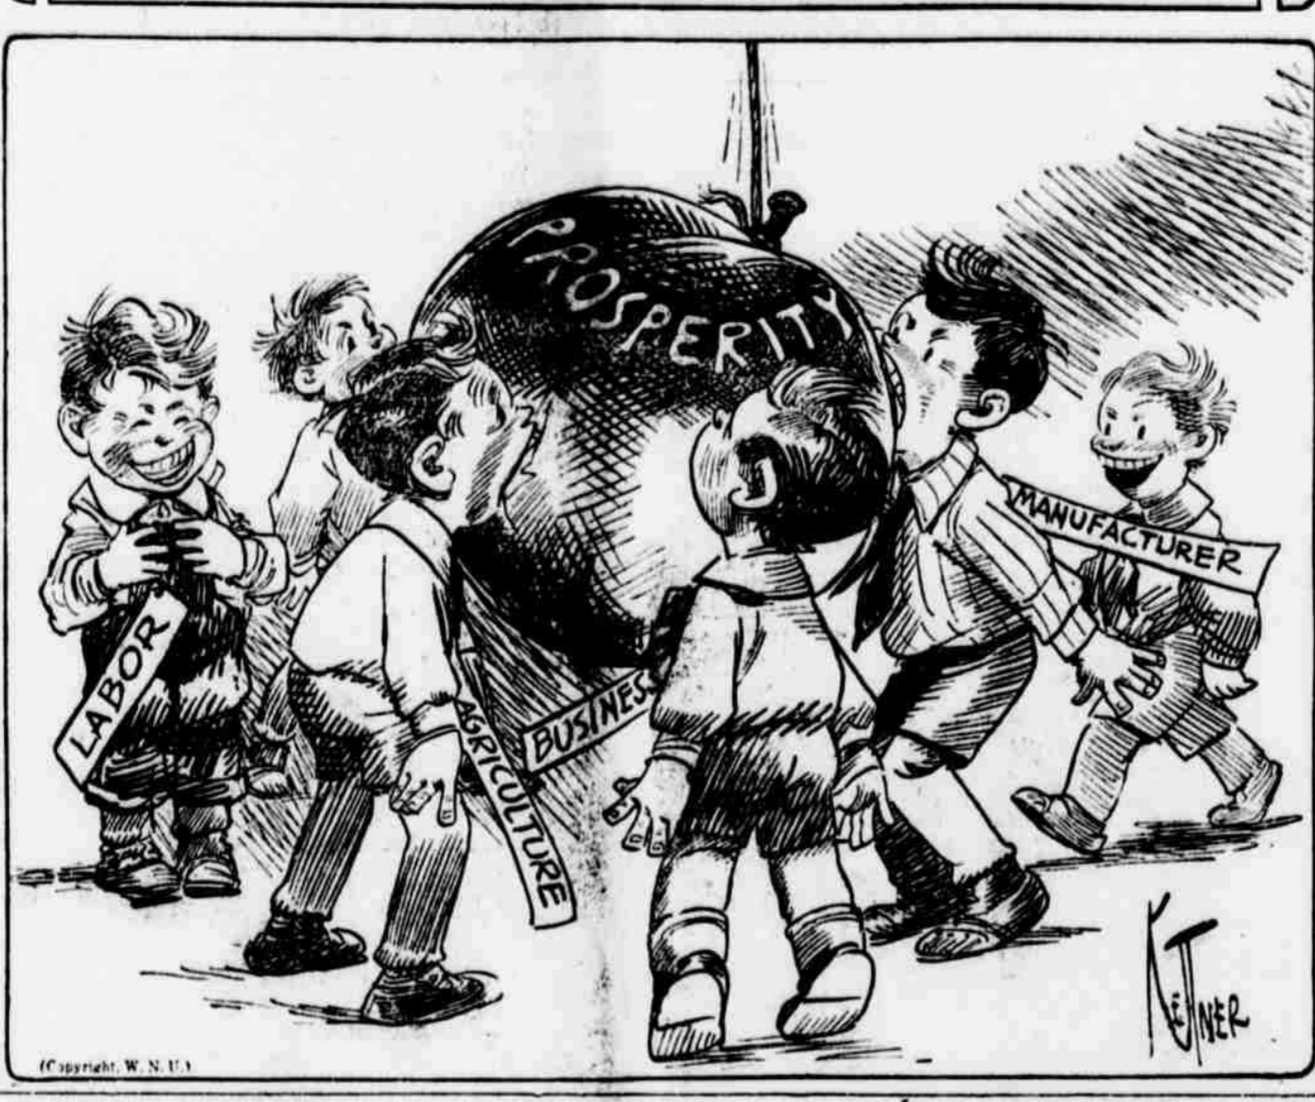

The marketing of eggs through the Central West Texas Poultry Association which was organized throughout Jones and Haskell Counties some time ago will start about the first of Nov. Those who are interested in the upbuilding of this association are requested to sign the marketing contract and join the Association.

Col. Penick states that interest in the co-operative marketing of poultry and poultry products has increased by leaps and bounds during the past few months and many towns have made requests to join the Central West Texas Poultry Association which originally was composed of six towns: namely, Stamford, Haskell, Rule, Hamlin, Leuders and Anson.

A meeting of the same character will be held in Rule at 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Poultry Raiser you are requested to be at one or both of the meetings Saturday.

Miss Annie Laura Duke of Stephenville, Texas is the guest of her sister, Miss Duke, teacher of expression at the Haskell High School.

TAYLOR COUNTY VOTES MILLION FOR ROADS

Taylor county voted overwhelmingly a $1,000,000 bond issue to complete its hard-surfacing program on cardinal highways and to criss-cross the county with lateral roads, Monday. The complete vote was 3948 for the bonds and 401 against, a majority of about ten to one. Only four remote country boxes voted against the issue. The city of Abilene voted 2918 for the bonds and 106 against.

The county will spend $700,000 as its share of concreting state highway No. 1, east and west; No. 30, north and south; and No. 1A, leading northeastward to a connection with Shackelford county's hard-surfaced system. The remaining $300,000 will be spent on lateral roads.

The million dollars will supplement a bond issue of $350,000 voted by the county in 1922. The concrete pavement on highway No. 1 east of Abilene to the Callahan county line is completed, and work is starting on a ten-mile stretch in the southern part of the county on highway No. 30. Grade and drainage structure contracts have been let on other stretches. Altogether 82 miles of federal and state designated highway in the county will be paved with concrete.

MISS GUNN RETURNS FROM CLUB GIRLS ENCAMPMENT

Last Friday, Miss Gunn, County Home Demonstration Agent, returned from several days visit to the Dallas Fair where she attended the Educational Encampment for the Club Girls and Girls of the state. The boys had attended the first week of the fair and the girls were attending this last week. Three hundred fifty three girls from eighty counties in Texas were enjoying a three day visit to the State Fair as a reward for winning prizes in canning, dressmaking and poultry raising.

The girls arrived Monday night, each with her quilt and pillow to take up quarters in the Educational Encampment Building which the boys and girls of the state bought for their very own building. Tuesday morning they saw all the exhibits and in the afternoon were given a free street car ride and a visit to the Zoo by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. Tuesday night the girls were guests of the Dallas Fair Association to see "Countess Martiza," a popular musical comedy of the season. Wednesday morning they were shown a style show of clothes for school girls by Tiche-Goettinger Company Dry Goods Store. Later they were shown through the Hunt Grocery Store and the Adolphus Hotel. Wednesday afternoon was spent at the races at the fair grounds Thursday was spent at the fair grounds seeing the commercial exhibits and enjoying free rides on the Merry-go-round, ferris wheel, the whip, lightening and other "crazy houses" of amusement offered by the carnival.

The annual encampment is a great event with many of the club girls and is only enjoyed by those girls who have done outstanding work in her county and has been sent by some organization to the fair where she is a guest of the management. Sleeping quarters and meals are provided free to the girls. Many of them are young and inexperienced in travel so are chaperoned by 23 of the county agents from as many sections of the state.

WELL SAVED PUPILS
 Importance of fire drills in a strikingly illustrated manner a four-room school house in Gooch, Ala., was burned the first of the season on which the pupils were put into service.
 The fact that fire drills had been held twice weekly since the beginning of the term, the 175 pupils were gotten out of the building a few minutes later was a mass of smoking ashes.
 It was discovered by one of the pupils who gave the fire drill signal that the pupils gathered up their things by the cloak rooms to secure wraps and were safely outside the building when the building was burning.
 The discipline developed by the pupils might have resulted in a great loss of lives. In such a danger of being trampled to death in a mad rush is sometimes even greater than that from the fire itself.
 The present peril, particularly in buildings, emphasizes the necessity of school boards and teachers to see that proper exits are kept clear and that pupils are thoroughly drilled in reaching them in an orderly manner. Hundreds of lives have met death in horrible accidents because of these common precautions.

IN THE DAYS OF FORTY NINE
 The Goshen, Indiana, News-Tribune prints an old sale notice that was posted by a farmer of that community in 1849. He had sold his farm and was in the rush to California and Oregon. He was selling all his personal property, except two yoke of oxen which were retained to make the trip across the continent over the Oregon Trail. The things that he sold constituted the property of the well-to-do farmer of that day. No better understanding of the mighty changes that have occurred on American farms can be had than by comparing what he then sold with what a farmer sells today at a public sale. This was the sale notice:
 "Having sold my farm, I am leaving for Oregon, and I will sell all my personal property, except two yoke of oxen (Ben and Buck and Lon and Jerry). The following is only a few of the articles: Two ox yokes, one iron plow, wooden mouldboard, 1 60-gal. soap kettle, 80 sugar troughs, 1 barrel Johnson Miller whiskey, 7 years old; 60 gallons apple brandy, 40 gallon copper still, 2 spinning wheels, 1 large loom, 4 sides leather; 12 wooden pitch forks 6 head fox hounds, all soft mouthed but one; 6 Negro slaves, 2 men, 2 boys, 2 mulat

The number of 1/2-Ton trucks in use today is far greater than that of any other capacities—for these are the units used by thousands upon thousands of retail merchants to meet the requirements of modern delivery service.

And because Chevrolet offers the greatest value available in each of these two sizes—and because it offers the world's lowest ton-mile cost—both the Chevrolet Ton and 1/2-Ton trucks are leading the world in popularity.

Come in—and see for yourself what Chevrolet offers you in comparison with other haulage units. Then you'll know why Chevrolet is the world's largest builder of gear-shift trucks—with undisputed leadership in both the Ton and 1/2-Ton fields!

THE BILLION DOLLAR HEN

With more than a billion dollars a year to the credit of the business she creates, the American hen now stands third in the branches of the livestock industry. She accounted for about 16 per cent of the total value of all livestock and its products for 1920, and only the dairy industry with 40 per cent and the swine industry with 22 per cent rank higher. Dr. John R. Mohler, of the United States Department of Agriculture, addressing the convention of veterinarians, reminded his hearers that poultry diseases were important because the American hen is responsible for more than one third of the world's supply of poultry and eggs. The American hen collectively lays at the rate of about 760 eggs a second or 2,000,000,000 dozen eggs a year.

TREMENDOUS PRODUCTION FACILITIES

In their fifteen-acre factory, Atwater-Kent engineers and experts since the inception of radio have worked out manufacturing economies which smaller factories perhaps could not accomplish. These advancements have not only enabled them to make, but to improve, the standards of their products.

SHARING PROFITS WITH THE PUBLIC

The new prices are in keeping with the long established ATWATER KENT policy of sharing with the public the results of economies as they are put into practical operation. It is only right that purchasers should share in the results of up-to-date manufacturing methods in everything. This is a tendency of the time.

Frequent Bilious Attacks

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky. "I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples. My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed. My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells. One day one of my neighbors, who has used Theodor's Black-Draught for years, said he had noticed how bad my color was, and thought it would help me. I got some Black-Draught immediately and began to take it regularly until I got my system clear of the poison I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells."

Cartoonists Find Their Ideas In Foibles of Man, Says Briggs

When do artists and cartoonists find their ideas for those inanimate figures of pen and ink which grace the pages of thousands of newspapers in comic strips and funny papers? and split the sides of a nation with their droll antics? In these lugubrious brain children of such famous cartoonists as Briggs, "Bud" Fisher, "Rube" Goldberg, and the other pen and ink wizards, spring entirely from the imagination of their creators, or do they find their counterparts in real life in the fads, foibles and fancies of the average "Main Streeter"?

Clare Briggs

When a citizen will agree with Briggs that its "A Grand and Glorious Feeling" to find that the very summons received in the morning mail was intended for the man who had just been reading a cartoon, or after reading mournful predictions of higher-than-ever turndown prices around the first of November, to learn just before Thanksgiving that the price of that popular commodity is scheduled for a tumble the next day.

Speaking recently in New York, Briggs, whose "Mr. and Mrs." is a Grand and Glorious Feeling, "When A Feller Needs A Friend" evoke chuckles and a frown from the most dour pessimist, and that while inspiration and imagination are essential to the work of a cartoonist, a surprisingly great quantity of his work is done for other people, most of whom he has never seen.

"I have been asked," said Briggs, "where I get my ideas. The average person may be surprised to learn that most of my ideas come from the average person.

"Last summer I went on a fishing trip to Lake Archambault, in the Laurentian hills of Canada. I relaxed myself to mental and bodily exhaustion, having left instructions that no mail was to be forwarded to me.

"One evening I returned to my cabin and found two large sacks packed with mail addressed to me, which proved to be mostly greetings from all over the country. One of my companions observed grimacingly, 'Somebody's always taking the joy out of life,' to which I heartily agreed.

"A heavy downpour spoiled the next day for fishing so a white

FRANCES ARMS

Frances Arms Possessor of Exhaustive Collection

New York City—Where did it start and where is it going? Ask these two questions in any gathering of jazz enthusiasts, and the resultant discussion will be as intense and combative as that aroused over the right or wrong of the Marines in Nicaragua, or the fair and foul of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight.

Frances Arms, a singer of vaudeville headline fame, as a hobby, has made a collection of articles on the sources of jazz. Miss Arms, who in her tours, has traveled from coast to coast and abroad, has gathered her material from magazines, newspapers and books. The collection will eventually be presented to the musical library of a leading university.

"I believe that the material will be valuable to research students, but it will by no means settle the question of the origin of jazz," declares the singer. "So far, I have found competent authorities completely at odds over the original source of modern music, with the collection presenting almost three thousand different versions.

"Here are a few of the many opinions of the beginnings of jazz. One authority believes that the negro slaves of the first American settlers in and around Philadelphia and Boston, hearing their masters sing English ballads, translated the songs into their own African rhythm, and this was the foundation of our present jazz.

"Another writer holds that jazz is easily traceable to native African war songs. Directly opposing this version is that of a musician who has spent several years in the intriguing study of the disputed question, and supports his theory that jazz rhythm is identical with that found in ancient Hebrew chants, with seemingly indisputable evidence of similarity.

"There are many leaders of jazz orchestras and composers who believe that jazz was originally brought to America by the sea captains and sailors with their interpretations of the weird to-m-tom music of the South Sea islands.

"Each song gives credence to a different version. 'Take 'At Sundown,' the popular fox-trot of the day—it might well be descended from an English ballad or it might have come from Mediterranean shores freely translated into our American rhythm—as a matter of fact it did neither really. It is as original as any musical composition can be. By what its haunting strains were inspired the author declares ignorance. Analyzing gets us no here.

"And there you are—none the wiser on the original source of this modern rhythm," laughs Miss Arms, commenting on her remarkable collection. "Jazz is the one American word that is the same in all languages—other people have adopted it as it stands and have made no attempt to translate it. There is agreement here, that the name 'Jazz' is an excellent nomenclature, but I doubt that there will ever be agreement on its genealogy."

Yes, Willard Mack is right, Luckies are best," says Paul Berlenbach

Popular pugilist tells his manager, Benedict Sterns, that Lucky Strikes are the finest cigarettes.

Willard Mack, Noted Author, Producer and Actor, writes:

"We people of the theatre are, as a rule, extremists. This is the reflex action from overworked nerves. When a man smokes forty cigarettes a day, as I do, he must be sure of his brand. I smoke Lucky Strikes because I have found they are soothing to the nerves and at the same time they cause no throat irritation. My voice is always in perfect condition and I am never troubled by any coughing which might be annoying to me in my work as an actor."

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It has... all the 'punch' in the world... a smart push in the back every time the accelerator pedal is trod upon. Throughout its whole range, the response to throttle seems to be precisely the same. 'Soft spots' are simply not to be found."

"... it will walk away from the traffic signal faster than anything Hudson has ever built... It will step out of line and jump into the lead from any speed without the slightest hesitation."

"But further, all this is accomplished without a vestige of that tinkle-tinkle business under the hood that Englishmen know as 'pinking' and American engineers as the gas knock or detonation. Apparently this present Hudson engine just isn't going to 'ping' when the throttle is quickly opened, or when the car is driven hard against a hill."

"Under precisely similar conditions most any other modern engine will detonate when running on ordinary fuel..."

"The Hudson motor does what it does on any old fuel at all, it is said, and assuredly does it on the run of pump fuel that is sold at base prices every where."

BUICK'S remarkable freedom from vibration is due primarily to three vitally important factors. First—the inhezent smoothness of the Buick Valve-in-Head six-cylinder engine. Second—rubber engine mountings, front and rear.
