SPS Customer Accounting Being Consolidated

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) has announced that as part of the continuing program to improve efficiency and reduce costs, part of Silverton's Customer Accounting is being consolidated with the Floydada office. Henceforth, the Silverton office will no longer have a full-time cashier.

In the future, payment should be mailed to P. O. Box 668, Floydada, Texas 79235. Payment can still be made at the Silverton office. A night deposit box is being installed for your convenience, allowing payment after hours or when the manager is out on service calls or other duties.

SPS will continue to serve your electrical needs; trouble calls or requests for service should be called to the Floydada office at 983-2162. After hours, please report service problems by dialing "O" and asking the Operator for Enterprise 84152.

Work Begins On 9-1-1 Service For Region

Three people from counties in the Panhandle are involved in the creation of emergency telephone service for the region. They are Jimmy Ross, Briscoe County Judge; June Rhodes, Friona City Commissioner, and Jay Spain, representing the Hereford Fire Department.

They and representatives of the six Panhandle telephone companies make up the 18-member advisory board of the Panhandle Emergency Communications District, appointed last fall by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission Board of Directors.

The board, chaired by Briscoe County Judge Jimmy Ross, operates under a state law passed last year which calls for the establishment of emergency telephone service throughout Texas by 1995.

"I've never been involved in a more important project," Judge Ross said. "This new emergency communications system will give all citizens a way to react more quickly to a cry for help, regardless of where it's coming from. I know my fellow Panhandle citizens will see the critical need for this system. To me, it's not a matter of 'how' but 'when'."

The calls will be answered at a public safety answering point, where the request for services will be routed to the nearest police, fire, or ambulance dispatcher.

Access to the three-digit number keeps the caller from having to look up emergency numbers in a phone book. The streamlining could make the difference between life and death in many cases.

Twenty-three counties in the region have a direct stake in the establishment of the system. County and city commissions will be able to join the system and allow the telephone companies serving them to add a monthly surcharge to phone bills. Surcharge revenues will be used to purchase equipment and operate the system. The state emergency communications law allows up to fifty cents for the surcharge.

The most immediate challenge for Judge Ross and other members of the board is visiting each county commissioners' court and city commission to explain the program. That process will take the next 90 days.

Precedent has already been set for 9-1-1 service in the Panhandle. The Potter-Randall County system will be in operation by late May.

Raise the flag for American agriculture.

Do yourself and other American farmers a favor. Fill out and return your Census of Agriculture report form by February 1, 1988.

It's vital to our farm economy.

Farm suppliers use it to make sure the goods and services you need are there when you need them. Congress and state legislatures use it to consider important farm legislation. Farm organizations use it. The federal government uses it to plan farm programs and determine the impact of farm legislation.

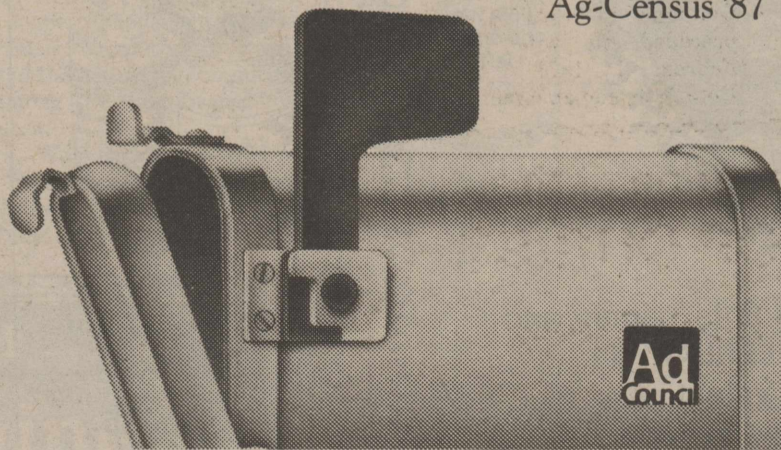

You can use agriculture census data, too. It's available at your local and state university libraries. You'll find facts and figures about every county in America. And you can use that information to better plan your own production and marketing.

You don't have to be a big operator to be counted in the Ag-Census. In fact, you don't even have to be farming now. But, if you receive an Ag-Census form in the mail, we want to hear from you.

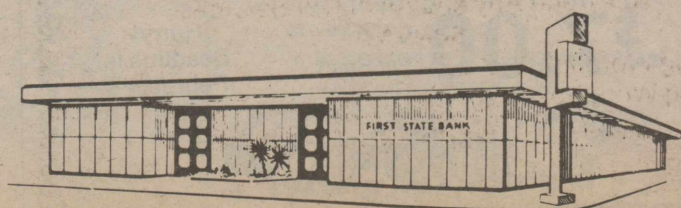

So fill out and return your Ag-Census form early. All the information you give is completely confidential. That's guaranteed by law.

CHILDREN AND READING

Many parents think teaching a child to read is the school's responsibility; however, child development specialists say the foundation for learning to read is laid in infancy with the early interaction between parent and child. Children know a lot about reading when they enter school because their parents have been teaching them since they were born.

Early childhood educators have found that reading with children is an important function for later reading achievement. Reading with a child, rather than to a child, allows talking about the story and answering questions, which are as important as the story itself.

This parent-child interaction applies to the content of the story as well as to the discussions about letters, words and phrases that help children become familiar with books.

Research tells us that regular reading with children 8-10 minutes a day for 4-7 days a week is associated with both high reading achievement and positive attitudes toward reading. The positive feeling that goes along with the shared time between parent and child also influences children's success in learning to read.

Many young children begin their learning-to-read process by "pretend" reading—turning pages, following lines of print with their fingers and retelling the story as they look at the pictures. Parents' role in teaching a child to value and appreciate reading is crucial in the development of this life-long skill. Parents model reading behavior. If you, as a parent, read for pleasure and information, your child is more likely to have positive attitudes and achievement in reading as well.

Some of my earliest memories are of my mother's teaching the ABC's as she ironed or cooked; my father's constant reading when he was home; the shelves of books in our home; the newspapers read daily; and my father's explanation of the derivation of words. Because of my parents' value of reading and education, I have been privileged to experience the importance of the parents' role in their children's school achievement.

I would encourage parents of infants and pre-school children to begin now to build the foundation for your child's success in school by communicating the interacting with your children in using language to develop their appreciation of reading.

The January production of a five million bale carryover had some observers speculating that USDA might announce a voluntary paid diversion program. But no mention of such a program was included in the January 21 announcement and Washington sources minimize the changes that one will be forthcoming later.

The advance payment for all commodities was set at 40 percent of the estimated total. The advance will come in two installments, half in cash at sign-up and half in generic certificates on or about May 16. For cotton that will mean a 3.2-cent payment at sign-up and another 3.2 cents in May.

The 1988 payment rate was projected at $1.53 per bushel for wheat, with 61.2 cents and 44 cents, respectively, to be made in two equal advances. The "0-92" option was authorized under the 1987 budget legislation is now pending in the Senate which would help solve the totally unfair Notch situation. It is the Notch Adjustment Act introduced as S.1830 by Senator Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

Under this Assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants of the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

WANTED Small and Unique Welding or Soldering Jobs "Affordable Prices" ROBERT GILMORE 106 N. Braidfoot

The U. S. Department of Agriculture January 21 released additional details of 1988 farm programs, including an estimated deficiency payment rate for wheat and a "0-92" option for payments and feed grain producers. Although USDA is prohibited by law from forecasting prices, the indication is that USDA projected an average price about eight cents above the loan. However it's worth noting that the deficiency payment rate estimate was made ahead of the January crop report and supply-demand figures that raised the expected 1988 U. S. carryover from 4.4 million to five million bales.

USDA in late October last year set the acreage reduction percentage for cotton at 12.5 percent, down from 25 percent in 1987. At that time the U. S. carryover was projected at 3.8 final payment rate will equal the two-thirds of the maximum. The 1987 deficiency payment rate for cotton was put at 16 cents per pound, about 12.5 percent acreage reduction to curb 1988 cotton plantings.

Notably absent from the announcement was any change in the 1987 deficiency payments, the amount of which for cotton won't be known until price and marketing figures are available for December, will all be made in generic commodity certificates.

Varsity Teams Split Games With Hedley

The varsity teams played their first district games of the season at Hedley last Friday night, with the Owls taking a 58-40 victory and the Owllettes dropping their match, 47-37.

DeLyn Patton led the Owllettes in scoring with 16 points. Adding points to the score were Kim Burson, seven; Tracy Tomlin, five; Julie Graham and Keeley Burson, four points each, and Gina Myers, one point.

The girls led 10-9 at the end of the first quarter, and then went cold and fell behind. "In the last quarter, after we had trailed by as much as 13 points, we rallied and caught up to six points behind. While we were doing this we lost DeLyn and Keeley to fouls, and weren't able to do it," said Coach Gary Childs. "I was extremely proud of the girls; they did everything we asked.

"We had lots of fun and there were lots of fans there. We appreciate fan support more than we can tell you," the coach added.

Silverton	10	14	24	37
Hedley	9	23	31	47

"We were a little off the pace at Hedley," Coach Kevin Cleveland said of the Owls. "But we had lost some games to bad weather and hadn't played in two weeks. It's hard to be sharp when we haven't had any games."

Neal Edwards led the scoring for the Owls with 16 points, and Wayne Henderson also scored in double figures with 10 points. Also scoring were Ricky Clardy, seven; Ryan Smith and Denny Hill, six points each; Jamie Frizzell, five; Jon Pigg, four, and Kendal Minyard, three points.

Silverton	14	33	41	58
Hedley	8	16	22	40

The varsity teams travel to Lakeview Friday night and have their rematches with Hedley here Tuesday night.

"We are going to need lots of fan support for these games," Coach Childs said. "Lakeview always comes up and plays a tough game against us, and we can't take any of them for granted the rest of the season."

Mrs. Garms Announces Candidacy For State Senate

Nancy Sample Garms announced her candidacy recently for State Senate, District 31, in the Democratic Primary.

At a news conference held in the heart of the regional medical center in Amarillo, Garms said she will draw on her professional background as a teacher, small business owner and lawyer as well as her personal background to bring credibility to the Senate seat.

"Everything I've been doing these past 48 years has prepared me for this job. As a wife, parent and now grandparent, I've made a strong investment in my family, church and community. In the public schools, I've worked as a teacher, counselor and

coach. This Spring I will return to class to teach at West Texas

State University.

"As an attorney, my peers saw fit to elect me president of the Amarillo Bar Association. Having served as a Legislative Analyst to the Governor, I learned my way around the halls of the state capitol," Mrs. Garms added.

Mrs. Garms' experience as chairman of the Amarillo In Motion campaign has given her many opportunities to hear the concerns of people as she has traveled throughout the region. "I did some talking, but I did a lot more listening. I've heard folks say that they want to be a part of the process of getting and keeping the Panhandle in motion. A vital part of that process is building a credible voice in Austin. I can bring that needed credibility to our Senate seat," Mrs. Garms emphasized.

"Folks in these 29 counties deserve heads-up, energetic leadership—the kind of leadership which will restore the confidence the rest of Texas had for us when Max Sherman was our Senator. Ten years is a long time to go without a Senate Committee chairmanship. We deserve the strong, informed leadership Max gave us," Mrs. Garms said.

"If the incumbent had taken care of business in Austin during the past regular session and the succeeding special sessions, we would not be forced to go to the polls next month and do what we sent him to Austin to do. In a news release from his own office, the current senator admits, 'Texas voters may be overwhelmed this November 3 when they go to the ballot boxes and find 27 propositions awaiting them'."

"In the coming months, I will be listening to the folks of this District. From what I've already heard, I expect to find a focus on the very issues which prompted me to enter this race—important issues like: the kind of education which will equip our children to compete for good jobs in the future; accessible, quality health care, especially for senior citizens; safe water into the 21st century; and solid policies which allow farmers and ranchers to manage their own business.

"This Senate seat does not belong to one political party, to one individual or to a special interest group," Mrs. Garms maintained. "It belongs to the people of these 29 counties.

"My platform includes addressing the concerns I hear from parents and business leaders about our educational system. I agree with the editorial staff of the 'Plainview Daily Herald' that 'this state must find a way to

Holts Are New Owners Of Teeple Fertilizers

David and Debbie Holt are the new owners of Ray Teeple Fertilizers, with the date of the purchase becoming effective being January 20, 1988.

The Holts are operating as H & H Fertilizer.

"We at H & H Fertilizer have one goal in mind, and that is to be a professional fertilizer supplier that you can depend on for the highest level of service and integrity," Mr. Holt said. "I will try to call on each of you personally, but until then please feel free to give me a call at 847-2221."

They will be offering the same services to which the customers of Ray Teeple Fertilizers have become accustomed, including soil sampling (at no charge to the customer), and a complete line of insecticides and herbicides including the Pro-5 or bulk Treflan on which there will be savings again this year. They also will handle a complete line of liquid fertilizers that can be custom blended to the needs of your soils, as shown by the soil samples. They will carry anhydrous ammonia and dry fertilizers.

"We will do our 'dead level best' to earn your respect, your confidence and your business. We will count it a privilege to serve you," Mr. Holt added. They will appreciate the continued patronage of all the customers of Ray Teeple Fertilizers.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt have also purchased the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Teeple, and will be conducting the operations of the fertilizer business from there.

Informal Bible Study To Begin Here

"I find that most people, regardless of their religious background, have an interest in learning more about the Bible. The Pastor's Class, beginning February 8 at 8:30 a.m. on Sunday mornings at the First State Bank's Pioneer Room, is an opportunity for people to discover some insights in the Word of God," said Jim Browning, pastor of First Baptist Church and leader of the class.

"If you are not currently attending Sunday School somewhere, you are invited to attend. The class will be kept very informal so you are welcome to come in your work clothes. No one will be asked any questions on the Bible, to read any scripture, nor be asked to pray. The opportunity is for you to come and learn more about the Bible."

Fingernails grow faster than toenails. The average growth rate of nails is 1 1/2 inches a year.

finance education which will be equitable to students in all school districts, while at the same time retaining local control and accountability."

"Economic diversity is a must! The Texas economy is closely linked with the economy of Mexico and we need to focus on efforts like those urged by U. S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen. Bentsen is pressing for a trade agreement with Mexico, the third largest purchaser of U. S. exports, which he says is 'the best way to help our border economy'."

Mrs. Garms focused on a recent nationwide study by extension services which reaffirmed that the number one concern of U. S. families is rising health care costs. "How have the current policies and laws impacted our regional, small hospitals?" Mrs. Garms asked her audience. "With so many in danger of closing, we must find a better balance between this legitimate concern and the availability of the tremendous health care facilities and resources we have in this region."

We have started the Cookie Sale this month. We will be delivering them in the middle of February. We will be having a Cookie Sale booth at Nance's Food Store for those who missed ordering the cookies.

Our Plainview Service Unit director has resigned. The Council is looking for a replacement. Our leader, Lois Hill, recently attended the Plainview Service Unit meeting. She was elected to be one of the delegates to go to Caprock Council Annual Meeting in Lubbock on April 18.

The Caprock Council will be hosting "Texas Rendezvous '88" in Lubbock this year. Our troop is planning to go. So our troop is planning to have a brisket sale in April to pay for this.

On January 8, Fred Strange came to show us stamp collecting. We really did enjoy seeing the many different stamps the Post Office puts out. We would like to thank him for taking time out of his schedule to show us his stamps.

We have been meeting on Friday afternoons instead of Monday afternoons because of the Junior High basketball games. We will not meet January 29, but we will meet on February 5, in the Scout Hut at 4:00 p.m.

This year we will be doing the flag service. We want to thank the Girl Scouts for letting us do the service this year. If you don't know what the flag service is, I'll tell you. We will put an American flag at your home or business seven times this year, and install a holder or ground pipe for only $10.00 a year. Call 823-2297 for an order or to ask a question. Be a proud American; show everyone your support for our country and the men and women serving our country and those who lost their lives for world peace and freedom. We want to thank the ones who have already placed orders.

Last Thursday night, Tommy Davis and I went to Plainview to attend this month's Roundtable. Other leaders in the district attended. We discussed new national policies concerning liability for Scout leaders. We made plans for this year's Camporee that will be held at Caprock Canyons State Park in April.

I want to thank everyone for the nice compliments on the Scout news. I feel it keeps everyone informed on our doings and it helps our newspaper.

Most rabbits are nocturnal creatures, preferring to eat and play from dusk until dawn. During the day they rest and sleep.

The new TEHA Chairman to replace Eunice McFall is Bena
