Commissioners' Court Meeting Concludes With Party

Monday's meeting of the Briscoe County Commissioners' Court concluded with the presentation of a plaque in recognition of sixteen years of service as Commissioner of Precinct 1 to Shafe Weaver, who chose not to run for re-election this year. The presentation was made by County Clerk Bess McWilliams.

The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Weaver and courthouse employees, who brought in an array of cakes, cider and other goodies for the party that followed the presentation. Also present were Aaron Younger, Precinct 1 Commissioner-elect; Commissioners Bryant Eddleman, Jack Chandler and L. B. Garvin, and County Judge Jimmy Ross.

In a recent special meeting, Commissioners approved the donation of $500 to Panhandle Transit and the hiring of Boyce Hart as sheriff's deputy to replace the late Oliver Clark.

In Monday's regular meeting, the request of District Judge David Cave for health insurance for the court reporter was discussed. Commissioners mentioned the fact that Briscoe County employees have no health insurance program and weren't receptive to the idea of funding a program for the court reporter when they had none themselves. No motion was made on the question.

Bonds were approved for Briscoe County officials.

Alton Riddell appeared before the court to request that the lighting of the shelter be hooked up to the county's utility meter, and the Commissioners voted unanimously to do this.

Annual reports were given by Extension Agents Lynda Fogerson and Curtis Preston, and Mrs. Fogerson presented a certificate to Judge Ross for attending the Judges' and Commissioners' Conference October 12-14. It was noted that a program Mrs. Fogerson wrote on Nutritional Needs of Athletes had placed first in state competition and second in the nation during the past year. In her report, she highlighted activities for which she has been responsible during the past year. Preston recapped the agriculture projects, tours and demonstrations he has worked with during the past year, and expressed appreciation for the Court's support of Extension activities.

Treasurer Janice Hill reported on the need for a transfer of funds from the General Fund into the Courthouse and Jail Fund, and the Commissioners unanimously approved this.

Mrs. Hill also reported on contacts she has made with auditors in regard to the upcoming county audit. Gary Lancaster of Matador was unanimously approved as the county's auditor, and it was decided to pay him $500 extra to audit the individual county offices. Commissioners stated that they were well satisfied with Lancaster's work on the previous audit.

The Commissioners voted to pay line items and all the bills presented at the meeting.

High Honors Won at District Food Show

Several Briscoe County 4-H members received high honors at the District 4-H Food Show on the Texas Tech University campus in Lubbock Saturday.

Josh Brooks was awarded second place in the senior nutritious snacks and desserts division, and Patrick O'Neal placed second in the Junior II nutritious snacks and desserts division.

Ashleigh Wyatt received third place honors in the Junior II breads and cereals.

Other county participants were Molly Brooks, Marshall

McCammon, Trey Wyatt, Jarrett Pigg, Mac Chestnut and Cecilia Castillo.

Over 190 county winners from the 20-county South Plains District entered this competition.

Accompanying the group to Lubbock were Janinne Brooks, Joanie Pigg, Darrah McCammon, Gail Wyatt, Lee O'Neal, and County Extension Agent Lynda Fogerson. Lee O'Neal was a judge at the contest.

Patti and Magan Whittington, Becky and Danny Dunn, Kristi Smith and Sandy Perkins attended the Sunday afternoon performance of "Beauty and the Beast" at Clarendon College.

They were guests of Miss Leslie Schnauffer, head of the Speech and Drama Department at Clarendon College.

They enjoyed the performance of the Clarendon College Choir, of which Jeannita Stephens is a member, before the play.

Missy Pelfrey of Amarillo, daughter of former Silverton resident, Cheryl Cowart Pelfrey, was a member of the cast.

The play was especially adapted from the childrens story by Miss Schnauffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hardin, parents of Paula Garvin, were recognized. Mrs. Hardin assists in costuming each production.

Magan and Kristi loved the costumes, especially Beauty's gown. Danny liked the Beast's cave.

Tree Moving Day

Sometimes moving the Christmas tree outside at the end of the holidays isn't so easy, since the dried-out needles keep scattering on the floor and sticking to the carpet. If you've had this problem you know what a messy job it can be! Here's a suggestion you might find helpful: Place a sheet around the base of the tree. Fasten the ends together with safety pins. Now pull the sheet up over your tree and fasten it as the top with safety pins. Your tree is now all covered and ready for moving!

Christmas In Italy

In Italy, instead of Santa Claus coming down the chimney, according to a legend, a kind, aged fairy queen, called La Befana, comes down the chimney with gifts for the children. Instead of listening for the reindeer patter, the children listen for the bell the queen is supposed to ring. Small wafers, called Magi Cakes, are eaten by Italians, with fried eels, pork and chicken at Christmastime.

Check Safety To Make The Holidays Bright

- Before hanging strings of lights, spread them on the floor and check for frayed or bare wires, cracked insulation, loose connections, and damaged plugs or light sockets.
- Check extension cords for wear or damage and don't run them across walking areas.
- Test lights before putting them on the tree. Unplug them before making repairs or replacing bulbs.
- Overloading circuits with too many lights can cause fire. Follow manufacturer's instructions about the number of lights allowed on one circuit.
- Choose a fresh, green tree, trim its base and keep it in plenty of water. If the needles are brown and break off easily, it could be a fire risk.
- If you buy an artificial tree, make sure it has been tested for flammability by Underwriters Laboratories (UL).
- Place your tree away from the fireplace or other heat sources and out of the traffic pattern.
- Never string lights on a metallic tree. Light strings with damaged insulation can electrically charge a metallic tree. Instead, shine unattached colored floodlights or spotlights on the tree.
- Always turn off lights before leaving home or going to bed. You'll save money and be safer, too.
- Never use lighted candles on a tree or near evergreens. And don't burn evergreens in the fireplace.
- Do not use inside lights on the outside. All outside lighting equipment, including lights, cords and plugs, should be waterproof and made for outdoor use. Also, hang sockets downward and don't leave a socket empty.
- When hanging lights on the rooftop or in tall trees outdoors, stay clear of electrical lines. Make sure you or your decorations don't come in contact with them.
- Should you receive a CB radio or television this Christmas, let a qualified serviceman install the CB base unit or television antenna for you. This delicate job is best left to the professionals.
- Be sure electrical toys are tested for safety. Look for the UL mark.

Mrs. Eliza Kingery Honored With Party on 90th Birthday

A party at the Senior Citizens Center in Roaring Springs Sunday, December 11, honored the ninetieth birthday of Mrs. Eliza Kingery.

Mrs. Kingery moved with her parents, Jim and Beulah Dye, in 1910 to Motley County from Fisher County, and they settled in the Darden Canyon community near Roaring Springs. She married L. E. Kingery December 21, 1913 and they made their home in the Darden Canyon community for 54 years. After the death of Mr. Kingery, she moved to Roaring Springs where she continues to reside.

All of her family except one grandson was present for the party.

Because she loves roses, Mrs. Kingery was given a rose corsage and her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren wore rose corsages or boutonnieres in varying shades.

Her birthday cake was decorated with roses and was served with punch and coffee. The guest registration book was made to resemble a bonnet, since Mrs. Kingery is well known as a bonnet wearer. She was presented a memory book which contained a collection of cards and letters that had been sent to her.

Among those attending the party were Anthony, Kathy, Kara and Shauna Kingery, Ted and Lavern Kingery, all of Silverton; Merle, Annette, Shalana and Nathan Roehr, Cedar Hill; Leon and Juanita Kingery, Vickie and Leann Carroll, all of Lubbock; R. E. and Dorothy Kingery, Corpus Christi; Bevis and Newt Dickson, Amarillo; Gell and Betty Kingery and daughters, Andrea, Jacqueline and Jennifer, Waco; Carl and Fran Brown, Chickasha, Oklahoma. Other relatives and friends attended from Midland, Odessa, Plainview, Roaring Springs and other Texas cities.

March of Time Study Club Presents School Program

March of Time Study Club sponsored a speaker for the assembly program in Silverton High School on Wednesday, December 7, 1988. Mrs. Iris Burson made arrangements for the program.

The speaker was a foreign exchange student, Norman Langhoff, from West Berlin, Germany. He is residing in Floydada with his host family, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ranier.

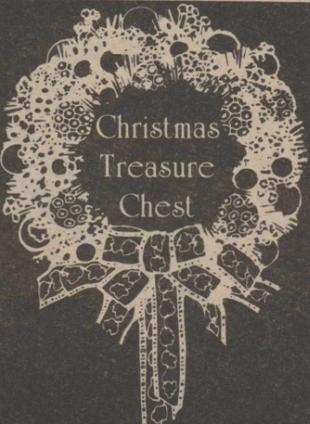

In Floydada High School, Norman is a senior and is in the Whirlwind Band. He takes Typing, Algebra II, U. S. Government, English, Speech and Homemaking, and is studying U. S. History at home. He was introduced to the assembly by Tara Nance, Silverton High School Student Council President.

The speaker used slides of scenes from his homeland, and also used map transparencies on an overhead projector to show where he lives in Germany and to explain the divisions of the country. He gave a brief history of the German nation and some of its problems. Norman was accompanied to Silverton by Mrs. Carol Reese, librarian in Floydada High School. Mrs. Reese and Norman stayed for lunch in the Silverton School cafeteria, as did some of the study club members. Mrs. Jackie Mercer served cinnamon rolls, coffee and cold drinks before the program.

Medicare Changes Do Not Require New Policies

Medicare supplement policyholders do NOT need to buy new policies because of the changes in Medicare that take effect on January 1, 1989.

State Board of Insurance rules require insurers to revise each policy automatically to avoid duplicating the new benefits provided by Medicare after that date.

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 eliminated the requirements that patients with long-term hospitalizations pay part of their daily Medicare-eligible expenses from their own pockets or with supplemental insurance.

Starting January 1, 1989, Medicare will pay for as many as 365 days a year of Medicare-eligible hospitalization after the patient has paid a one-time deductible of $564.

Before the new law, Medicare required patients to pay substantial daily "co-payments" when they were hospitalized longer than 60 days.

These co-payments are among the major "gaps" in Medicare that—until January 1, 1989—are covered by Medicare supplement insurance policies.

Since co-payments for hospital care will not be required after January 1, Medicare supplement insurance policies no longer may provide benefits to fill those gaps.

Insurance companies are required by State Board of Insurance rules to notify each Medicare supplement policyholder in December of changes made in their policies to conform to the new law.

The notice also must tell policyholders when premium adjustments resulting from the change in Medicare benefits will be made.

Because policies will be adjusted automatically, it is not necessary to buy a new Medicare supplement policy because of the change in the law.

Policies providing Medicare Part B benefits will continue to cover a patient's 20 percent share of Medicare-eligible expenses for physicians' services, home health care and out-patient hospital treatment.

Dropping an existing policy to buy a new one could be particularly harmful. This is because a newly purchased policy usually does not cover the policyholder's pre-existing medical problems for six months after its effective date.

An agent who tells a senior citizen that he or she needs a new Medicare supplement policy because of the changes in Medicare could be subject to disciplinary action by the State Board of Insurance.

Seniors should always exercise caution in purchasing Medicare supplement policies either from agents or in response to advertisements received in the mail.

The State Board of Insurance has a toll-free telephone line which consumers may call for information. The number is 1-800-252-3439.

In addition, the Board has published a brochure, "Medicare Supplement Insurance: A Guide for Texas Consumers," which may be ordered over the toll-free line or by writing to: State Board of Insurance, ATTN: Information Services, 1110 San Jacinto, Austin, Texas 78701-1998.

The Board's Market Conduct Division also has prepared an 8½-minute videotape on the changes in Medicare. Copies of the videotape may be borrowed by writing the Division at the above address.

Social Security In Briscoe County

by Terry J. Clements

Perhaps no recent social security issue stirs as intense feelings as does the "notch". And yet, it is one of the least understood issues. Even those who feel that they've been adversely affected by the "notch" don't understand it.

The "notch" generally affects people who were born from 1917 to 1921. Under the 1977 Social Security amendments, which corrected a defect in the old method of computing benefits established by the 1972 amendments, members of this group have a lower benefit rate than those born immediately before them. If the defect had not been corrected, future beneficiaries could have received benefits that would have been higher than their pre-retirement earnings.

At recent hearings on the "notch" issue before the House Committee on Ways and Means, Subcommittee on Social Security, the General Accounting Office (GAO) reported that its investigation showed that the 1977 amendments had stabilized benefit rates as Congress intended. Moreover, most "notch" people end up with a higher benefit rate than that of many retirees historically, and of those who were born after them.

The 1977 law was designed to protect the Social Security system by ending the unexpected drain caused by the rapid rise in benefits. That rationale still holds true. At the hearings, both GAO and Social Security officials testified that any effort to change the "notch" would be costly and difficult to implement. It would tend to extend the unintended windfall benefits to more groups of beneficiaries and would cost from $24 to $375 billion over the next 10 years.

Finally, it must be remembered that the problem lies with the old computation method, not the new one. People who get benefits under the new method are not getting benefits that are too low. Rather, people getting benefits under the old method are receiving benefits that are too high.

For more information about the "notch" or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

SOCIAL SECURITY IN BRISCOE COUNTY

by Terry J. Clements

Aged, blind, or disabled people receiving supplemental security income (SSI) may be institutionalized for many reasons and for varying periods of time, and they should know how a stay in an institution will affect their SSI payments.

Generally, a stay in an institution of less than a month will have no effect on SSI payments. A stay of a full calendar month or longer may affect the payment and, therefore, should be reported to Social Security as soon as possible.

In most cases, someone who enters a city or county rest home, halfway house, prison, or other public institution becomes ineligible for SSI. But there are some exceptions. For example, SSI recipients may continue to be eligible for payments when they enter:

*a publicly operated community residence which serves no more than 16 residents;

*a public institution primarily to receive educational or vocational training; or *a public emergency shelter. (Payments are limited to six months during any 9-month period)

Also, an SSI recipient who was working before entering a public institution may be able to receive payments for the first two full months after entering it.

SSI recipients entering certain medical treatment facilities may continue to receive full SSI payments for up to three months. The facility entered must be a public medical institution or a private medical facility where Medicaid is paying more than half the cost of their care. SSI recipients can qualify for these payments if a doctor certifies they are expected to be in the facility 90 days or less and they need to maintain and pay expenses associated with their permanent residence. They also must give Social Security evidence that they meet these requirements within 10 days after the close of the month they entered the facility.

Sometimes, recipients who do not meet the requirements to continue receiving a full payment may be able to receive a "personal needs allowance" of no more than $30. A personal needs allowance is payable only to recipients residing in medical facilities where Medicaid pays more than half the cost of their care.

Recipients in private institutions may receive SSI payments, but the care received could be considered income for SSI purposes. This income might affect the payment since eligibility for SSI and the amount of the payment are tied to income levels.

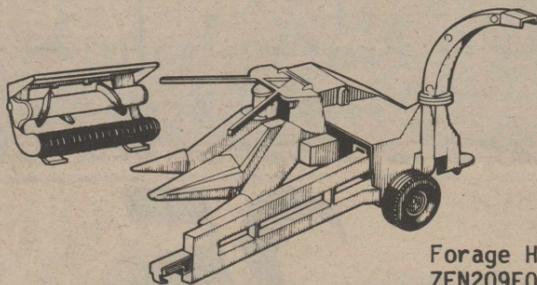

As you can see, the rules on how institutionalization affects SSI payments are somewhat complicated. Therefore, it's important for SSI recipients to tell us right away whenever they enter an institution. We can then determine what the effect will be and explain the effect to the recipient.

For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

FAMILY STRESS DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Christmas is traditionally a family time to be shared with those we love. This makes the holidays very stressful for those who lack special family members or those whose family will not be able to be with them at this season.

The holidays also bring painful memories for those who have lost loved ones or who have experienced a marital breakup during the past year.

Step families or blended families and single parents have special problems to deal with. Rivalry among children in blended families over "who is getting the most" or whose parent is the most "loving" can cause loyalty issues in these families.

Blending different family holiday traditions may cause resentments for those who feel they must accept "new" ways of celebrating. Recognizing that these problems are normal in this circumstance and attempting to make everyone feel special will help make the holiday go more smoothly for all family members.

For those who feel lonely at Christmas time, you probably cannot avoid loneliness but you can avoid being overwhelmed by the feeling. Plan special activities that are meaningful to you rather than allowing yourself to be alone and dwell on your loneliness. Arrange to be with others who also may have no family for the holidays. Do something for someone else less fortunate. Make a phone call, visit, bake some "goodies" for those who have less time than you have.

Some people look back on the year with feelings of disappointment or unhappiness or a sense of failure for a lack of accomplishment. Depression is common during this time of the year.

Look realistically at the past year. You may have set unrealistic goals for yourself. Determine to set goals for the next year which will be challenging but attainable. Count your blessings. Think of all the good things of your life during the past months rather than focusing on the things you wish had been different.

In the midst of the joy of the holiday season, let us all remember those who are less fortunate or have special burdens to bear at this time and try to make their holiday more enjoyable. We will lessen our own stress by helping others.

A manned rocket reaches the moon today in less time than it took to travel the length of England in a stagecoach.

Life's roughest years

Being a teen-ager can be torture . . . a lot of the time. And the early twenties don't flatten out that smoothly. There's a desperate loneliness about having problems your kid-brother hasn't encountered and your parents must have forgotten.

The loneliness is worst if your folks gave you nothing to believe in — or if they turned you off when they tried to share their convictions with you.

No one has to stay away from God. Many a young searcher has found his faith, found himself, and found his family in his quest for spiritual certainties.

Sunday morning there's more to do than lean on a tree.

Snow December 8 put High Plains cotton strippers in "Park" only 10 percent or less short of the finish line. However the final turnout, guessed in various quarters at from 2.7 to 3.1 million bales, isn't apt to be greatly affected, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Meanwhile, many producers will be using the time-out from field operations to consider 1989 farm program options. And, for all but the rare individual not interested in program participation, the first order of business is to establish eligibility for program payments.

Under the new legislation every farm operator, owner or other farm-connected entity, regardless of status in prior years, must secure a new determination of eligibility for payments in 1989. In short, as Johnson puts it, USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) "by law has declared everybody ineligible until proven eligible."

Although the general program sign-up doesn't open until December 19, county ASCS offices have the necessary forms for eligibility determinations and are urging producers, owners and others to apply now, before initiating normal sign-up procedures.

Acceptance of that advice not only will facilitate the work of ASCS personnel and county committees, but will be to the advantage of producers as well, Johnson says. County ASCS committees have 60 days to make determinations, he explains, and if the determination is unfavorable the producer or other entity will be given an opportunity to make whatever organizational adjustments may be needed to reverse that decision. "So the earlier an eligibility determination is made, the more time the producer will have to make necessary changes before the end of the program sign-up period April 14."

Essentially, the burden on entities seeking payment eligibility is to furnish proof that they are "actively engaged in farming," which entails making a significant contribution of land, equipment or capital in addition to active personal labor and/or active personal management. Active personal management is defined as management critical to the profitability of the operation. Active personal labor is defined as the smaller of 1000 hours a year or 50 percent of the total physical activity necessary for the farming operation.

There's much more, of course. Too much to detail in this space. Suffice it to say that the process is complicated enough that all eligibility applicants should begin at an early date.

The 1989 cotton program per se calls for a 25 percent unpaid acreage reduction with the option to plant at least 50 percent of permitted acreage and receive 92 percent of deficiency payments. And, from December 19 through February 3, producers may (1) sign up to plant from 10 to 25 percent of each program crop's permitted acreage to soybeans or sunflowers or (2) exchange for oats any portion of the farm's program crop acreage base. Under each of these choices, the farm acreage base will be protected.

Other cotton features include a 50-cent base loan, a 73-4-cent target price and the availability of a 6.4-cent per-pound advance deficiency payment at sign-up.

SOMEONE HAS TO SET THE STANDARDS.

They're a cut above... a different breed of car dealer. They're your local neighbors... your High Country Chevy Dealers. And we want you to know what makes us different.

We don't have to tell you what a great value every Chevrolet car and truck is. More people in the High Country area have bought Chevys over the years than any other make.

But more than that... a Chevy dealership in our part of the country is a badge of integrity. It's a commitment to customer service and satisfaction that you simply won't find anywhere else.

In any field, someone has to set the standards. And here, the standards are set by our dealership. Fair prices, trouble-free service, a great selection... you get it all!

The exciting new 1989 Chevrolets are now on display, and there's more new than ever before. Stop in soon and see the great line-up for '89.

Someone has to set the standards.
