Disaster-Relief Legislation Passes In Congress

The U. S. House of Representatives June 27 approved disaster-relief legislation to help farmers offset the effects of weather-related crop damage.

U. S. Rep. Bill Sarpalius, a primary sponsor of the legislation, H.R. 2467, said the move may prove a life-saver for the economy of the 13th Congressional District.

"If we don't get this legislation signed into law, we're going to have real trouble in the district," said Sarpalius, D-Amarillo. "I'm very pleased the House chose to act quickly on this legislation. It gives us a real chance to contain the disaster."

Sarpalius said statistics indicate Texas 1989 winter wheat crop will drop to 55.8 million bushels, a 42 percent decrease from 1988 levels. Without disaster relief, he said, such a loss will have a ripple effect throughout the state economy.

"We heard testimony during our recent (House Agriculture Committee) hearing in Amarillo where bankers told us 25 percent of their customers were agriculture producers," Sarpalius said. "These bankers told us that — without disaster relief — none of those customers could escape financial hardship and that at least 10 percent of the customers would go out of business."

"If that isn't an example of adverse economic impact, then I don't know what is," he said.

Instead of letting the economy absorb such catastrophic losses, H.R. 2467 guarantees disaster-relief payments to farmers who lose at least 35 percent of their crop to inclement weather. Payments to individual farmers will be based on the exact amount of crop damage incurred and participation in government acreage reduction programs.

"These payments will guarantee some type of income is coming to the producers of our district, and that should keep problems from getting too bad," Sarpalius said.

H.R. 2467, which was approved on a voice vote, now goes to the Senate for consideration. Sarpalius urged members of the other house to take swift action on the bill.

"Producers, bankers and businessmen in rural America need to be making their financial plans," he said. "The quicker we can get this bill signed into law, the quicker we can get back to a more normal course."

Emergency Farm Loan Applications Being Accepted Now

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by adverse weather are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration office located in Floydada, FmHA County Supervisor Becky Via said today.

Briscoe County is one of many in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the flooding and severe storms.

Ms. Via said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent production loss to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Ms. Via said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until February 26, 1990 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Ms. Via said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U. S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U. S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Floydada is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Caprock Jamboree Was a Big Success

Thanks to the support of Briscoe County and the surrounding communities, the second Caprock Jamboree was a big success. Even the weather cooperated. The new shelter was a comfortable location for the groups of musicians and spectators alike, with some preferring to enjoy the shade of the trees as they visited with friends or met new ones.

Several local and area bands displayed a variety of musical talent to an estimated crowd of 350 to 400 people. In addition to those who attended from Briscoe County, there were music lovers present from Plainview, Fort Worth, Floydada, Tulia, Clarendon, Canyon, Garland, South Plains, Edmonson, Albany, Georgia, Tulsa and Chickasha, Oklahoma, and Snowmass, Colorado, to mention a few.

Permanent signs are needed on all highways entering Silverton and west of the flashing light where you turn to go to the lake; also north of the lake, as this will be a monthly activity to promote tourism in Briscoe County. If any club or organization would care to undertake this project, you can contact Janice Hill or John Francis.

The Quitaque Chamber of Commerce has agreed to furnish two large signs, one for each side of Quitaque. The signs will need to be made so the date and location can be changed each month as it will alternate between Silverton and Quitaque each time. The Briscoe County Activities Association will furnish funds for a large banner to stretch across the stage, with the labor being donated.

Donations are needed for advertising purposes and to purchase a public address system for Briscoe County to use when needed, so if you enjoy the music at the Jamborees, please remember to look for the donation

Thanks to those who donated at the last Jamboree!

The August Jamboree will be at the ballpark adjacent to the City Park in Quitaque on Saturday, August 5, at 7:00 p.m. Go early and eat with the Lions Club as they are going to donate the entire proceeds to the Public Address System Fund. Remember to take your own chairs.

If you are interested in being on the next program, please contact Janice Hill at 823-2131 daytime or 823-2456 after 5:00 p.m. Even if you don't need a full 30 minutes, you are welcome, and if you need a back-up band, any of the local bands will assist you.

GTE Southwest Rate Changes Begin July 19

Residential and business telephone rate changes resulting from the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) ruling on GTE Southwest Incorporated's Docket 5610 rate filing will appear on customers' bills beginning July 19, GTE Southwest President E. L. (Buddy) Langley announced today.

The rate changes will be effective February 23, 1989, the date of the commission's order. Most customers' basic local service rates and extended area service rates will be reduced approximately 17 percent. Customers in the Bangs and Weslaco exchanges will realize increases. Monthly rates for touch-calling will be reduced by 50 cents, while rates for all other custom-calling features will decrease approximately 10 percent.

As examples of the new rates, the average residential bill for basic local monthly service for a customer in Irving will be reduced from $18 to approximately $14.90; in San Angelo, from $10.40 to $8.60; in League City, from $17.55 to $14.55; and in Brownfield, from $10.15 to $8.40.

The rate changes also apply to local directory assistance calls and other services, including customer requests for operators to verify a line as busy or to interrupt a call, mileage charges for customers outside of the base rate area and rate-case surcharges.

Langley said there is "little doubt that reductions of this magnitude will have a dramatic impact upon the company. Undoubtedly, it will affect the timeliness of our response and the pace at which further service enhancements can be brought on line." But despite the commission's ruling, Langley said GTE Southwest's primary objective continues to be "to provide the very best service possible to all of our customers. We are committed to quality service at fair and reasonable rates."

To protect the company's financial health, GTE Southwest has reduced its 1989 capital investment program by more than $100 million and job positions in its Texas operations by 1,100. The company achieved the target job reductions, without employees having to leave the payroll involuntarily, by not filling 400 job vacancies, transferring some employees to other GTE units, offering a voluntary displacement program, releasing more than 200 contractors and offering an employee income assistance program for employees interested in early retirement.

Letter to The Editor

July 1989

Well, once again it is July; another year has passed us by—and it's my pleasure to renew the subscription about due.

Most names are familiar to me—like Burson, Bomar and Coffee, Vaughn, Strange and Montague, Webb, Schott and Seaney, too.

There are many more I recall; but haven't energy to name all nevertheless, they're dear to me and have a place in my memory.

However, so they won't feel missed,

I'll add the Perkins to my list—and also add the Sarchets, too—but for now I bid you all adieu.

GARLIC OIL
With Parsley and Chlorophyll

Garlic contains potassium, phosphorus, a significant amount of B and C vitamins, as well as calcium and protein. It's generally accepted that garlic acts as a diuretic, stimulant, expectorant, and sweat promoter. For centuries, it has been a common European remedy for colds, coughs and sore throats. European physicians have reported that garlic has two outstanding medical properties. One is that it tends to open up blood vessels and reduce blood pressure in hypertensive patients. The other property is antibiotic, and several researchers have found that garlic in large amounts can be effective against bacteria that may be resistant to other antibiotics. The addition of parsley and chlorophyll helps remove the aroma of this natural herb wonder, leaving no after-taste or bad breath. Contains no preservatives, no artificial color or flavor, no sugar and no starch.

June Brought Rains To South Plains Area

In June of 1989 the rains finally came to the South Plains of Texas. Accordingly the attendant cloudiness helped hold off normal heating so that temperatures averaged below normal. Silverton's average temperature for the month was 70.5 degrees.

The precipitation totals ranged up to and slightly over the ten-inch mark, while averaging 4.61 inches. That turned out to be some 1.76 inches above normal for the entire area. Plainview had the 10.09 inches and that topped the list as 7.07 inches above normal, while Tahoka reported the opposite extreme of 0.61 inch below normal. Most of the rainfall occurred in the first half of the month, sometimes with hail, but the main impact of the rain was the amount. In some northern counties, too much rain on already hail-damaged fields created major decisions for producers as to re-planting or not.

Silverton received 6.05 inches of rainfall, which was 1.44 inches above the South Plains average. This was 2.27 inches above the 45-year average for the month for Briscoe County.

Temperatures averaged 3.5

degrees below normal and ranged from 1.7 degrees below normal at Seminole to 5.4 degrees below normal at Tulia. Silverton's average temperature of 70.5 was 2.2 degrees below the South Plains average.

Maximum temperatures averaged 4.8 degrees below normal and ranged from 2.4 degrees below normal at Seminole to eight degrees below normal at Tulia. The highest report during the month was 106 at Seminole on the 18th. Silverton's maximum temperatures averaged 3.4 degrees below the South Plains average.

Minimum temperatures averaged 2.1 degrees below normal and ranged from 0.9 degree below normal at Olton and the Muleshoe Wildlife Refuge to 3.7 degrees below normal at Paducah. The lowest temperature of the month was 46 at Friona on the morning of the 5th. Silverton's minimum temperature averaged just .9 of a degree below the South Plains average.

The first fire fighting organization in America was started in Philadelphia.

How can automatic teller machine cards be erased?

gram you choose. A financial aid counselor at either your son's high school or at a local college or university should be able to give you more details. For a brochure, call 1-800-831-LOAN.

I went to use an automatic teller machine, and the machine flashed a message that my card has expired, but I just got my card a month ago. I've read about ATM cards being erased—could this be the problem?

It is possible. Automatic teller machines "read" a magnetic strip on the back of the card. Any heavy magnetic field will erase this strip. If you carry a card in your wallet used to open the gate on a parking garage, your ATM card could be erased by the other card's strong magnetic field.

Credit cards also have magnetic fields, and can be erased as well. Often the strips are not completely erased, but are damaged enough to keep the machine from reading your card correctly.

The best thing to do is to carry your ATM card in the special protective sleeve your bank gave you with the card. Keep your credit cards, ATM cards, and other cards with magnetic strips separated, and do not let the strips rub against each other.

If you discover your card is damaged, report it to the bank which issued you the card for a replacement.

My son will be entering high school next fall, and his father and I are already searching for ways to pay for his college tuition. I saw a small ad for something called FamilyEd Loans, which are offered through a local college's financial aid office. How do these loans work?

FamilyEd Loans are private, long-term loans for educational purposes. The program was created in cooperation with Sallie Mae, the Student Loan Marketing Association, which is the largest provider of college loans in the nation.

Basically, these loans allow you to borrow on your signature without collateral, give you up to 10 years to repay and are available at competitive rates.

Yippie-Ti-Y-O, Git Along Little Dogie

by Dale Weisman, Tourism Division, Texas Department of Commerce

"Wheeeeww, cow! Wheeeeww, cow!"

The calls rose dreamily above the din of hooves - hundreds of hooves, both equine and bovine - clumping through scrub oak pastures, clattering across rocky streambeds, followed by whistles and whoops, the crack of a whip, the leathery groan of stirrups and saddles, the jangle of spurs.

I was on day one of the 16th annual YO Ranch Texas Longhorn Trail Drive held on the 109-year-old, 45,000-acre YO spread, an hour's drive west of Kerrville and two hours from San Antonio. The May afternoon was a scorcher, but the 50 Longhorn steers - rangy, majestic living legends with swooping horns - plodded ahead, unperturbed by the heat.

"The most pleasant times I've ever had were fooling with Longhorns," says Charles Schreiner III (Charlie Three to family and friends), a true Old West romantic, a visionary rancher who has spent the past three decades helping to save the Texas Longhorn from near extinction.

A soft-spoken man with a propensity for Germanic modesty, Charlie Three is reluctant to admit - much less brag on - the fact that he helped found the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America in 1964 and has built the nation's largest quality herd of registered Texas Longhorns. Today, an estimated 1,500 Longhorns roam the YO range.

"Without the rangy breed, there wouldn't have been a YO," Charlie Three is fond of saying. His grandfather, Captain Charles Schreiner, an orphaned German immigrant by age 14, became a Texas Ranger at age 16, built mercantile and banking businesses that still flourish and by 1880 acquired a 550,000-acre empire - the YO Ranch. During the twilight of the 19th century, Captain Schreiner drove more than 300,000 head of Longhorns from the YO Ranch up the Western Trail to Dodge City.

J. Frank Dobie, author of The Longhorns, called the cattle-drive era of the 1860s-90s, "the most extraordinary, the most stupendous, the most fantastic and fabulous migration of animals controlled by man that the world has ever known." The trails were like "rivers of Longhorns" as the "iron-sinewed, wild-living cattle" were driven to market. The gaunt, long-legged Texas Longhorn did not emerge as a distinct breed until the late-1830s. They were products of random mixing between Anglo-American stock and the half-wild Spanish Criollo (cattle of the country) brought to New Spain in 1521 by Gregorio de Villalobos.

More than five centuries of natural selection have resulted in a hardy breed - the Rambo of cattle. Longevity, ability to thrive on marginal land, resistance to disease, ease in calving and leaner meat have elevated the Texas Longhorn from novelty to valued status among cattle raisers.

Practicalities aside, they are also a beautiful breed. Like pieces of Alibates flint, no two Longhorns look alike. There are brindles, blues, duns, creams, reds and sabinas - red and white peppered.

Blue jeans, leather chaps and vests, wide-brimmed felt hats and boots as dirty as dust-devils were standard garb for our crew of approximately 100 weekend wranglers, Rexall Rangers and a few obvious greenhorns like myself. A dozen working cowboys from the YO were on hand to keep both Longhorns and greenhorns in line. Many of the trail drivers were well-heeled attorneys, entrepreneurs and socialites from Dallas, Houston and Austin, but there was also a housewife from Michigan who loved every minute of her Texas adventure - thirst, ticks, sunburn and all.

Our mission seemed simple: keep the Bevos together. Drive them mile after mile through the most unforgiving terrain east of the Pecos. Although the odds were in our favor - two "trail-blazers" per Longhorn - it was still hard work balancing liquid refreshment in one hand and holding reins in the other. Several maverick-minded steers would steal away through thorn-infested thickets of cedar and shin oak, and what scritch-scratchy fun it was rounding them up.

Riding point on our trail drive was Marshall Kenny House, the "trail boss." Astride his horse, he was Texana personified, wearing yellow suspenders and a gleaming badge. He really is a U.S. Marshall in Dodge City, but he admitted, "I think I'm a Texican. I drink tequila on Poncho Villa's birthday." House and Charlie Three are long-time compadres, sharing a love of horses, Longhorns and all things Western, as durable and colorful a duo as the fictional Gus McCrae and W.F. Call in Lonesome Dove.

"When I'm riding my horse, I travel like a Comanche," House told me. "I ride for two or three miles, stop and look back. I feel the same way about everything I do. If you don't look back and know where you were, you won't ever know where you're going...."

Texas Governor Bill Clements wrote in his introduction to Long Days and Short Nights (a history of the YO): "It would be hard to write a history of Texas without including the Schreiner family, and the YO Ranch. It would be like leaving out Longhorn cattle, Sam Houston, the Alamo and the Dallas Cowboys."

It also would be difficult to imagine a YO without Longhorns and trail drives. To preserve and publicize the YO's ranching traditions, Charlie Three helped stage a mock Longhorn trail drive from the YO to Dodge City in 1966. In the 1880s, such a trip would have lasted two months, but they made it in a week by trucking the 90 or so beeves between cities along the way.

A decade later, Charlie Three and friends completed another trail drive, herding 76 Longhorns from San Antonio to Lubbock to commemorate the opening of Texas Tech University's Ranching Heritage Center. Since then, Charlie Three and his four sons (Charlie Four, Walter, Gus and Louie, who jointly manage ranch operations) host an annual Longhorn trail drive, which covers a 25-mile loop on the YO Ranch, includes an overnight camp-out and culminates in serious business—a Longhorn auction.

While the Schreiners love looking back to simpler times of cowboys, campfires and Longhorns, they also gaze keenly toward the future. Today, the YO is not only one of the largest working ranches in Texas, it's also the state's most famous multi-use ranch. Exotic wildlife conservation, hunting, photo safaris, tourism, summer camp programs, outdoor education and a ranch community development provide the YO with the economically so essential to survival in lean times.

Once threatened by extinction, the majestic Texas Longhorn is alive and well at the Y.O. Ranch, 22 miles northwest of Kerrville. The century-old, 100-square mile ranch is home to the largest quality herd of Texas Longhorns in the nation—approximately 1,500 head in all. Each May, the Y.O. celebrates the history and romance of the Texas Longhorn with a weekend Longhorn Trail Drive. Tourism Division, TX Dept. of Commerce photo.

The YO now boasts the nation's largest collection of naturally roaming exotic animals. From Axis deer to Zebras, there are an estimated 40 European, Asiatic and African species and more than 10,000 animals. Some species, such as Blackbuck antelope, Mouflon sheep and indigenous Whitetail deer, are hunted routinely, with proceeds used to fund the YO's conservation program. Other species like Zebras, Giraffes and Ostriches are "hunted" only by photographers and tour groups.

Recognizing that children are our real future, the Schreiners began the YO Ranch Adventure Camp in 1977 to promote environmental awareness. The camp is now used for summer camp (June through August), and outdoor education programs are offered during the school year.

The Schreiners keep their various enterprises in perspective with the knowledge that none of them - the Adventure Camp, exotic wildlife, the Longhorns - could exist without the land. The YO Ranch is the land, more than 60 square miles of scrubby limestone hills up on the Divide, a semi-arid plateau 2,500 feet above sea level that drains and divvies up the meager rainfall between the Guadalupe and Llano River watersheds. There are no flowing rivers or streams on the YO. But there are more than 50 squeaking, clanking, hard-working windmills pumping water from the Edwards Aquifer into those blessed stock tanks.

"Water...coool water." Those lyrics kept crooning in my mind as we eased our steeds up to each mossy watering trough. That day and the next, I learned something about horses: they have the uncanny ability to avoid stepping on prickly pear cactus. But they have no qualms about dragging those useless, saddle-sore appendages on their backs through every scraggly, low-hanging branch in sight.

Come evening, it was worth all the discomfort in the world to lean against hay bales, gulp ice tea, eat mountains of Texas barbecue and listen to bluegrass and country played on guitar and mandolin by Dusty Britches and Rusty Cox (yes, the names are real). Later, we revelled under the influence of the full moon. A towering bonfire crackled brightly. And countless hundreds of fireflies flickered in the trees.

In the morning we had "cowboy coffee," made by dumping a pound or two of grinds into a pillow case and boiling it in a huge iron cauldron over an open fire.

The company, food and music were grand, but my favorite memory was of riding horses. The first day of the trail drive, I rode a stumpy Paint named - you guessed it - "Paint." He (or she) was a sturdy, reliable mount but gave no thrills and chills.

On day two, I rode a nameless white horse that champed at the bit and needed no giddy-ups. The only command relevant to riding this horse was "Whooooo!" as we chased the wind and flew across open pastures. Within moments, fear turned into exhilaration as I loosened the reins and let the horse gallop faster while I laughed and sang yippie-ti-yi-ya like a dang-fool cowboy.

Thanks, YO Ranch.

Social Security in Briscoe County

by Mary Jane Shanes

In recent years we have stressed the need to plan for retirement as early as possible. However, it should be noted that the earlier one plans to retire, the more planning is required.

Age 65 is the age for full benefits from social security and is also used by much of private industry. However, most social security beneficiaries retire before age 65, and a recent study indicated that age 62 is the most frequent age of retirement in private industry.

Reduced social security retirement benefits have been available at 62 for men since 1961 and for women since 1956. Benefits are reduced for each month before age 65 a person receives retirement benefits. At 62, a person receives 80 percent of the full benefit rate.

Reduced benefits are available at 60 for widows and widowers. Payments to widows and widowers range from 71½ percent of the deceased spouse's benefit at 60 to 100 percent at 65.

People who work in some types of jobs—firemen, policemen, military service—may retire as early as age 55. In addition, some employers encourage workers to retire early as a means of cutting back on their payroll. This may mean several years of no earnings that could result in lowering the lifetime average earnings amount on which benefits are based. People who start a second job after retirement, as many do, not only earn extra income to meet current living expenses, they also protect their social security benefits for when they finally retire at age 62 or later.

People who retire before 65

generally have to worry about what to do about their health insurance coverage since medicare does not begin until 65. Social Security officials recommend that they retain their job-related group health insurance until they reach 65. A person may also consider joining a health maintenance organization with the provision that the coverage will be changed to supplement medicare protection at 65.

People who decide to delay their retirement until after '65 should note that a delayed retirement credit of three percent a year increases their benefit for each year after 65 they postpone retiring. These retirement credits will increase gradually from three percent per year for workers 65 before 1990 to eight percent per year for workers who reach 65 after 2008.

People who decide to retire early should be sure to check with their social security office. The information we can provide can make the difference between a smooth road to retirement or a rocky one.

For more information or to file a claim, call 1-800-2345-SSA.

Social Security beneficiaries should report their marriages even if the marriage will not change their benefits. Often other changes may be needed such as change of address, change of names on social security records, and changing the names on checks they receive.

Changing the address is important even for beneficiaries with direct deposit because the social security administration must mail notices to all beneficiaries several times a year.

A name change should be reflected on the social security card. The beneficiary must complete an application for the card and provide proof of the name change, such as a marriage license or marriage certificate. Photocopies cannot be used.

People with medicare may also need to show the new name on that card. All records should show the same name.

Another good reason to report the marriage is to find out when, and if, a beneficiary can qualify for benefits on the new spouse's social security record. If more money can be paid on the basis of the marriage, the beneficiary will be told when to apply. There is usually a one-year wait before the beneficiary can receive benefits on the new spouse's record.

Some benefits do not end with marriage. A widow or widower over 60 (or a disabled widow or widower 50 or older) will not lose his or her benefits with remarriage. A person receiving benefits as a disabled child, a divorced spouse, a parent, or a widow, or widower receiving benefits based on having child in care, will have benefits end unless the marriage is to certain other social security beneficiaries.

Questions about marriage and benefits can be answered by contacting social security by phone, mail, or in person. Beneficiaries should have their claim number with them if they call or visit the office. For best service, contact social security after the first week of the month.

For more information or to file a claim, call 1-800-2345-SSA.

GARLIC OIL

With Parsley and Chlorophyll

Garlic contains potassium, phosphorous, a significant amount of B and C vitamins, as well as calcium and protein. It's generally accepted that garlic acts as a diuretic, stimulant, expectorant, and sweat promoter. For centuries, it has been a common European remedy for colds, coughs and sore throats. European physicians have reported that garlic has two outstanding medical properties. One is that it tends to open up blood vessels and reduce blood pressure in hypertensive patients. The other property is antibiotic, and several researchers have found that garlic in large amounts can be effective against bacteria that may be resistant to other antibiotics. The addition of parsley and chlorophyll helps remove the aroma of this natural herb wonder, leaving no after-taste or bad breath. Contains no preservatives, no artificial color or flavor, no sugar and no starch.

A REASON FOR EVERYTHING

The giraffe was given a very long neck and legs so that he could feed on the leafy part of trees. The giraffe is the only animal that can not make a sound. We do not know the reason for this. God has revealed many things to us, but not all things. Men delve deeply into theology and find many things that cannot be answered, but God has given us the answer to all things pertinent to our salvation.

Attend church, study God's word and grow in faith.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to all those who were so thoughtful at the passing of our dear Joe. We thank every one for the many prayers in our behalf, and for the beautiful flowers, cards and memorials given in memory of him.

We deeply appreciate all our dear friends who came to be with us.

May God bless all of you.
Rhea Brooks and family

I would like to thank my "friends in Christ" for the love gift that you sent. It's friends like you that are special. Once again, thank you.

Mrs. Josie Cerbantes

A simple thank-you doesn't seem sufficient for all the many acts of kindness shown to us by our friends and relatives at the loss of our sweet little Pop. The phone calls, visits, cards, flowers and other memorials were very much appreciated. The food was delicious and we include a special thanks to the ladies who served it and cleaned up. A special thanks to J. D., Earl and the Rock Creek Singers.

Jack Hollingsworth and family
Jo Ann Clayton and family
Peggy Rowell and family

We wish to thank the many friends in Silverton and the surrounding area for all of the gestures of friendship—flowers, calls, visits, food and prayers during the time that Zollie Brown has been ill.

She so appreciated everything that was done for her during these past months and we so treasure the outpouring of love in this time of sorrow.

With sincere love and gratitude,

The family of
Zollie Mae Brown

For the many acts of kindness bestowed on me these past weeks, my family and I shall be eternally grateful. Each phone call, the many, many cards and notes, the array of flowers, plants and other unique arrangements, prayers of care and concern and your visits have each played a part in my recovery. The food brought to us since we've been home has been delicious.

Friendship is an asset and I thank you for that and the love you've given me.

Roberta Griffin

Thanks to all of you for the cards, flowers, calls, visits, get-well wishes and prayers while I was in the hospital. It is great to live in such a caring community.

Thanks again,
