Rangoon Next Big Offensive

Imperilled British Forces Battle To Stem Jap Drive

By Daniel De Luce

RANGOON, Burma. (AP)—Imperilled British forces battled Thursday to stem a Japanese drive across the Salween River by which the invaders have hurdled the greatest barrier between them and Rangoon, sea gate of the Burma Road and pathway to India.

Some qualified observers expressed belief the Japanese might attempt to exploit the crossing of the Salween as their next major offensive.

After having held them at Moulmein, on the east bank of the river at its broad, treacherous mouth on the Gulf of Martaban, the British acknowledged that strong enemy forces had achieved a crossing and that the city of Martaban presumably was in enemy hands.

Japs Suffer Losses

The plight of the British defenders was evident from the communique Wednesday night locating the crossings although it said the Japanese had suffered heavily in the hills east and west of Martaban.

British troops defending the railroad which curves north and westward around the gulf head toward this vital port were endangered between Martaban and much-bombed Thaton, the first railroad station to the north. Martaban is 80 miles by air from Rangoon across the gulf and 140 miles by rail around it.

The Japanese also were attempting to cross the Salween upstream at Paan, and on the east bank. The communique conceded that the situation there was critical although the British had counter-attacked and their positions were believed still to be intact.

Japs Disregard Losses In Drive On Singapore

By Will Hancock

BATAVIA, N. E. I. (AP)—A Singapore broadcast heard here Thursday said "the enemy is pushing his attack with the same fanatical disregard for losses as has characterized all his operations."

"Crack Japanese divisions, veterans of the war in China, have taken and are taking a hammering that will have considerable influence on the future course of the war," the broadcast said. "When the time comes to write the history of this second World War, one of the golden pages will be the defense of Singapore."

"Every hour counts, and still more every day," the broadcast continued.

"Singapore's defenders have no mountain fortress to which they can retreat, no natural obstacles to the invaders such as the terrain which has helped Gen. Douglas MacArthur's gallant defense of Bataan Peninsula.

"But Singapore's defenders have this in common with MacArthur's men—they have the same courage, the same fortitude, the same will to win every vital hour."

Attack Celebes Next

The last official reports from Celebes indicated the city plainly was marked for encirclement in the Japanese plan of campaign. For the invaders had won beachheads at Barombong, north of Macassar; Djenepon, below it on the southern tip of the peninsula, and at Balangnipa, directly across the peninsula from Macassar on the Gulf of Bone.

The peril is grave that the United Nations will lose the Dutch East Indies, these islands whose importance rises with the loss of Singapore and whose security is undermined by it, and there is no attempt here to deny it.

Singapore Is Warning That War Is Life Or Death Fight For Americans

"America Can Be Licked. Too Many Of Us Sitting With Hands Folded," Says Standley

By DeWitt MacKenzie

The agony of Singapore, and the consequent peril to all the rest of the Allied Oriental structure of defense which this now fallen giant bore upon its broad back, surely must be the final tragedy needed to drive home to us here in America the necessity of united and urgent action to meet this life or death crisis of the World War.

Admiral William H. Standley, new United States Ambassador to Russia, Thursday in San Diego summed up the present status of the conflict in the blunt language of an old-sea-dog:

America can be licked. x x x We've been too damned successful in previous wars. x x x Now, too many of us are sitting with our hands complacently folded while we wait for 'George' to win the war. x x x The only thing that will win this fight is unity of purpose and effort.

Axis Forces Claim Reds Driven Back On Donets Front

By The Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's high command asserted Thursday German, Rumanian and Croatian troops had driven back the Russian on the Donets River front where the Red Army have been storming at the gates of Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh" in the Ukraine, and other key cities.

The Nazi command said mixed Axis forces, "continuing their attacks, threw the enemy further back in spite of stubborn resistance."

It was one of the first times in many weeks that the Germans claimed they had again taken the initiative. Soviet front-line dispatches have noted a gradual stiffening of Nazi resistance after two months of steady retreat.

On the North African front, British headquarters reported imperial artillery fire had scattered a strong tank-supported Axis force in the desert near El Mechili and that British mobile units "continued their aggressive activities" in the main battle zone 40 miles west of Tobruk.

In general, the situation remained unchanged.

Russia claimed further gains by the Red Army against Adolf Hitler's divisions in the winter offensive and said guerrillas had wiped out 1,462 German soldiers during January in the Leningrad district alone.

British Royal Air Force bombers attacked objectives in Nazi-held territory Wednesday night for the second consecutive night.

Bombing raids against continental targets are among the factors hampering German shops and factories called upon to expand their output. Transport difficulties, shortages of labor, coal and electrical power are among others.

Career Girls Rally To Battle Victory Belles Of The USO

DALLAS. (AP)—The war became a very personal thing to the Career Girls Defense Corps Thursday—it all but declared war on the USO.

Some weeks ago some of the bright, fetching young women who work in downtown offices organized their corps. To everyone's surprise about 2,000 flocked into headquarters wanting to become Career Girls.

Pretty soon the United Service Organizations' local office was calling on them for dances for servicemen. Requests for their services also came from the Texas Defense Guard, the Red Cross, Civil Air Patrol, Civilian Defense office and the Selective Service Office.

One hundred and ninety seven of the Career Girls took up aviation (a surprising 81 per cent passed their first ground tests Thursday.)

The word was getting around the Army camps: Boys from Camps Wolters, Bowie, Barkeley, from downtown and even from Oklahoma began showing up at USO dances staged by Career Girls.

Then the bombshell. USO decided to compile another list of girls available for its monthly dances, and the Career Girls were left out, cold. The new girls will be called Victory Belles.

Wednesday night the Career Girls' officers met and decided on a showdown. It decided on a firm request for continuance of one Career Girl-USO dance a month. The USO hasn't spoken on that yet.

Until it does, one Career Girl suggested, the war will continue.

New-Car Sales May Get Release Soon

New car sales made before January 1, on which delivery had not been made before they were frozen by federal order, can now be delivered if they are properly established as bona fide, it was announced Thursday by John Nobles of the Midland tire and automobile rationing board.

The board will meet Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, in the county commissioners' offices in the courthouse, to accept claims and review any such sales.

West Texas-New Mexico Pipeline Sought By Miles

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Governor John E. Miles threw his weight Thursday behind a proposal to construct an oil pipeline between the Eastern New Mexico-West Texas fields and the Pacific Coast.

He authorized Santa Fe attorney I. E. Lambert to investigate the plan, which still is in the tentative stage. His authorization was by letter from Los Angeles, where he is convalescing from a recent critical illness.

Lambert estimated that a 900-mile line of 12-inch pipe could be laid across the Southwestern desert to Los Angeles and San Diego in six months at a cost of some $15,000,000.

"This country certainly needs a pipeline from the oil fields of New Mexico and West Texas to the Pacific Coast," wrote the governor.

Lambert declared such a line, if constructed, would "be one of the biggest things that ever happened to New Mexico, and it would also be of great benefit to Texas and to Arizona."

I have reverted to this subject of complacency because I am being pressed by people in many parts of the country to emphasize the danger—a threat which is doubly great because Hitler is making a supreme production drive in order to be ready for his spring offensive. All German industry and consumption have been geared to this one end. It is a race against America.

And they are needed in a rush—not at some indefinite time in the future. Our own grand boys are dying in the Philippines, and other grand British boys are fighting their last ditch in Singapore, just to delay the Japanese advance long enough to give the Allies a chance to get help to the Orient.

It isn't necessary that the Indies fall if reinforcements do arrive in time. The Dutch already have the nucleus of a really fine defense, and substantial assistance might enable them to hold out long enough to give Britain and America a chance to repair the unhappy situation caused by their being caught unprepared by the Japs. Reinforcements are said to be on the way from both countries, and the prayer now is that they may arrive in time.

Registrars who will be on duty during Selective Service registration day, Monday, at the old Presbyterian Church building on West Wall Street, in precinct 5, have been announced by C. C. Keith, secretary of the Draft Board. The group will meet Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, in the district courtroom of the courthouse, to get instructions in how to fill out registration forms. ## Honest Abe Lincoln Honored By Nations

By The Associated Press

Tuned to wartime activity, the United States Thursday honored its Civil War President, Abraham Lincoln, on the anniversary of his birth in Kentucky, February 12, 1809.

Three new fighting ships, two destroyers and a cruiser, were launched at Philadelphia and Cambridge, N. J., in brief exercises emphasizing the nation's war effort.

National Commander, Lynn U. Stambaugh of Fargo led the annual American Legion pilgrimage to Lincoln's tomb at Springfield, Ill. Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, placed a wreath by the tomb. He participated in a Lincoln's Birthday celebration at Springfield Wednesday night.

Midland Boy Thought Captive Of Japanese

Charles Walker Sapp, Midland high school graduate with the Marines at Wake Island, is presumed to be alive and a captive of the Japanese, the War Department has notified his mother, Mrs. J. L. Sapp of Midland. The report took the negative form, stating simply that he was not among the dead or wounded Marines.

Sapp joined the Marines in June of 1940, going direct from Midland.

Japs Bomb Rescue Ships After British Refuse To Surrender

Enemy Units Assisted By Warplanes Launch Powerful Mopping-Up Drive To Crush British Resistance Near City

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor

Bloody fighting raged nearer to the smoke-shrouded streets of Singapore Thursday as British troops, scorning a demand for surrender, fell back after bitter counter-attacks during the night while Japanese planes smashed at a fleet of 25 evacuation ships in Singapore harbor.

The Rome radio, whose reports often have been premature, broadcast a Tokyo claim that the Japanese flag was flying over Raffles Square in the center of Singapore.

Simultaneously, a Tokyo broadcast said Japanese troops in the northwest outskirts of the city had launched an attack to drive out the British "remnants."

The Tokyo report implied that there had been a halt in the offensive while the British rejected a demand for capitulation and that the battle for the city had not yet been won.

Seaboard Oil To Drill North Outpost To West Fuhrman Pool Wells

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware Thursday announced location of an extension test in the West Fuhrman pool of Southern Andrews County.

To be started with rotary next Tuesday, the scheduled 4,600-footer has been staked in the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 13, block 4-42, public school land. It is 1,994 feet from the west and 659 from the south line of the section. The try has been designated No. 3 M. A. Thornberry. Location falls about one mile north and one-quarter mile east of the same form's No. 2 Thornberry, producer offsetting diagonally to the northeast the discovery well of the pool. Fuhrman Petroleum Corporation of Midland No. 1 Lockhart & Brown, the discoverer.

"We were dive-bombed half a dozen times, but we are still afloat and may get away tonight," McDaniel said.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters said Japanese troops had penetrated far into British positions in a drive from Bukit Timah, only 5 1/2 miles northwest of the heart of the city.

"At dawn, strong Japanese army units assisted by the air arm launched a powerful mopping-up offensive to crush British resistance around the water reservoir in the central part of the island," a Japanese communique said.

"A Matter of Hours"

The Tokyo radio, declaring the conquest of all Singapore was "only a matter of hours," asserted Japanese forces were pushing deep into the city itself after occupying the famous Singapore racetrack in the northwest suburbs.

A Singapore broadcast, reporting terrific losses inflicted on the enemy, declared:

"Crack Japanese divisions have taken and are taking a hammering that will have considerable influence on the future course of the war."

"Singapore's defenders have no mountain fortress to which they can retreat, no natural obstacles to the invader such as the terrain which has helped Gen. Douglas MacArthur's gallant defense of Bataan Peninsula. But Singapore's defenders have this in common with MacArthur's men—the same courage, the same fortitude, the same will to win every vital hour."

On other fronts in the critical struggle:

Dutch Indies—Tokyo headquarters declared sea-borne Japanese troops had completely occupied Macassar, chief port and capital of Dutch Celebes Island, as well as the town of Gasama on Australian-ruled New Britain Island.

An Indies communique said Dutch troops were still fiercely resisting the Japanese invaders in various sectors of the 3,000-mile archipelago, but gave no details.

Aneta, the Dutch news agency, said Dutch forces on Celebes and Borneo were believed to be fighting desperately to stem Japanese drives against Macassar and Bandjarmasin. Borneo southeast coastal port—both armed at Java, the heart of the Indies.

Halt Thrust Toward Rangoon

Burma—Imperilled British troops battled to halt a Japanese thrust across the strategic Salween River toward Rangoon, the Burmese capital.

A British communique acknowledged that strong Japanese forces had crossed the river and that the city of Martaban, 80 miles by air from Rangoon, was in enemy hands.

In the 13-day-old siege of Singapore, hundreds of fires set by Japanese bombers and artillery bombardment raged in the city.

Virtually unopposed in the air, Japanese dive-bombers were blasting at British troops and rescue ships in the harbor.

When Five Agree--

No country ever did, and no country ever can, enter a war with a guaranteed, gold-edge, warranted blueprint in hand of just what life is going to be like after the peace. War on the modern scale is a tremendous, all-out effort which so deeply scars and marks national life, that no country can undergo it and emerge unchanged. Change we cannot prevent—all we can do is to influence to some extent the direction of the changes.

Unless the war is won, it is not too much to say that America has no future at all. So winning the war comes first.

That does not mean that we should meet the peace without a thought of what is to be done then. Unpreparedness at that point might result in a "Pearl Harbor of the Peace" and that would be no less disastrous than lack of readiness proved at Pearl Harbor itself.

It happens that many minds are at work on this phase of preparedness. Five detailed studies have been made of the prospects, and to a remarkable extent they all agree on the general lines of what we shall face when peace returns.

Assistant Secretary of State Berle; Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric; Owen D. Young of the American Youth Commission; Alvin H. Hansen of the National Resources Planning Board; and Stuart Chase for the Twentieth Century Fund—all these men of varying position and point of view have made reports on likely post-war conditions, and all agree to a remarkable extent on fundamentals.

Sudden deflation after the war, they agree, is a disaster that the country cannot and must not face. The vast industrial production facilities now being created must be used—to allow millions of men to come back from military service to face dark windows and smokeless chimneys is impossible and barbarous. This plant must be made to function, either in accordance with or regardless of traditional economics, in one way or another. As Chase puts it, "No nation in this dangerous world of 1942 is meekly going bankrupt because some textbooks say it ought to."

This implies some new techniques and views of finance, of economics, and of the whole social scene. It does not necessarily imply socialism or large-scale government domination of business. It does imply closer relationships, greater co-operation between business, labor and government, than we have ever seen.

None of these prophets has gone so far as to predict the actual pattern, but all make it clear that what we will face is a condition and not a theory, and that the measures taken will have to match the condition quite without regard to anybody's theories.

Oil In War Time

The oil industry was prepared for a long war before December 7, 1941. Today it is devoting its full energies and resources to the job of meeting the combined military and civilian needs of the country.

Oil must perform many a task in war-time. Most obvious is that of keeping lubricants, engine fuels and furnace oils flowing out to the four corners of the country. In addition the industry has been called upon to increase its present production of 100 octane gasoline three times, to greatly increase the production of toluene, which is a basic material in the manufacture of TNT, and to produce the principal raw materials for the production of the great quantities of synthetic rubber now planned. The industry is confident of its ability to meet the demand.

It is possible that, due to transfer of oil tankers to our Allies and the destruction of other tankers by enemy action, there may be temporary shortages of oil products in some areas, which will make equitable rationing necessary. But the industry's production and refining capacity is the greatest in the world by a vast margin. It is indispensable to assure final victory for the United Nations.

Face Danger With Confidence

In a recent letter to members, President Koenike of the American Bankers Association, said: "The problems of war are not new to this association. It has served through two wars and has seen other critical days in its 67 years of existence. Some of the financial problems of this conflict will be new; others will be similar to those we have faced before. Whatever they are, we will solve them..."

"Bankers can render immediate service to national welfare through their day by day contacts with millions of their customers who will look to them for information and advice. We of the banking business can render no greater service to the nation at this time than that of bringing to the people calm counsel and sober judgment to the end that they may face danger with confidence and meet it with courage."

The people are learning just what private banking means to this kind of a country. The banker is the individual's expert adviser in helping him to meet the financial and investment problems produced by war. He is the Government's effective ally in selling gigantic quantities of Defense Bonds. He is the mainstay of productive industry, in making loans for the building of new plants and the expansion of old.

To Win The War

Struth Says Three Factors Cause Oilmen To Find New Reserves

NEW YORK.—Crude oil prices, allowable production of oil wells and the depletion allowance in Federal income tax laws are the three primary factors in prompting oilmen to find new petroleum reserves, H. J. Struth of Dallas, economist for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, told members of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers Thursday in New York.

Struth's conclusions were based on a study of economic influences in the oil industry over the last 26 years starting with the World War I period.

"The demand for petroleum and its products has increased three and one-half times over that of the first World War," Struth said. "Furthermore current and prospective after-the-war requirements necessitate finding at least three or four times as much new oil reserves as we formerly considered adequate to maintain a normal, uninterrupted supply."

At last year's rate of crude oil production, the United States' oil reserves represent nearly 14 years' supply, compared with nearly 18 years' supply in the first World War at then-current rates of demand and production. Under normal conditions, Struth said, it will be necessary to find from seven billion to seven and one-half billion barrels of new oil supply in the next five-year period to maintain reserves at their present level.

"The history of the oil industry shows that the search for new resources of oil supply is of greatest intensity and more productive of results when oil prices are at a relatively high level," he continued. "Practically all our most prolific oil-producing areas have been discovered under the impetus of rising oil prices. Smackover, Seminole, Oklahoma City, Kettleman Hills, Government Wells, East Texas and even Conroe were found as a result of sustained exploratory activity, spurred by rising price trends."

"During 23 of the 26 years covered by my study, the petroleum industry's exploratory activities have been pursued under the congressionally approved depletion provisions of the federal income tax laws. If oil producers had not been able through depletion to recover the tremendous capital expenditures involved in exploratory effort over this 23-year period, and if the price of crude oil had been the only incentive for such effort, it is extremely doubtful if the recorded achievements of the oil industry could have been realized. It is a well-known fact that over 30 per cent of the nation's oil-producing properties will never pay out. The only way the oil producer may recover at least a part of the capital he has invested in finding and producing oil is through the depletion provisions of our present laws."

Struth presented a chart showing a close parallel between annual revenue per well (made up of price per barrel times allowed production) and the number of new wells drilled. In the peak year of 1920 when more than 24,000 oil wells were completed, average revenue per well was $5,069. By 1931, revenue per well had declined to $1,751 and only 6,788 oil wells were completed. Another factor currently affecting drilling, he said, is a 21 per cent advance in oil field wages in the last five years, and increases in costs of equipment and supplies.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lull in the Philippine fighting was reported Thursday by the War Department which said the enemy evidently was reorganizing forces and awaiting reinforcements before resuming the offensive on the Bataan Peninsula. The invaders meanwhile have occupied the Island of Masbate, near the center of the Philippine Archipelago, a communique said, indicating the first recent extension of the Japanese occupation of the islands.

Nine Questions Will Be Asked As Men Register Monday For Service

Only nine simple questions will be asked those men who register on February 16 for possible military service under the provisions of the Selective Service Act, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, emphasized today.

Registration of the individual should require a comparatively short time, General Page said, pointing out that the registrant will not be asked to fill out a questionnaire, but only to answer interrogations about his identity, his place of residence and his mailing address. Also he will be required to list his telephone, if any; his age in years and date of birth, place of birth, the name and address of the person who will always know his address and his employer's name and address.

While it is important that registration be conducted as speedily as possible, General Page said that every registrant will be given ample time to respond properly to the questions on the registration card, which on this occasion will be green. White and blue colored cards, respectively, were used on the first and second Selective Service registrations.

No questionnaires will be given registrants when they register February 16, nor will they then be required to undergo any physical examination, General Page emphasized.

Questionnaires are given to registrants after their order numbers have been determined and reached by their local boards. Physical examinations are given only after the boards have passed on the general qualifications of registrants and have determined that they should not be deferred for reasons of interest to the Nation.

When registered, each registrant must answer, according to General Page, the following nine questions:

1. Name of registrant (he must give his full name, including full middle name, if any, and should have with him papers of identification showing it to be his true name);
2. Place of Residence;
3. Mailing Address (if other than Place of Residence);
4. Telephone;
5. Age in Years and Date of Birth;
6. Place of Birth;
7. Name and Address of Person who will always know your Address;
8. Employer's name and Address;
9. Place of Employment or Business.

When a registrant has answered all questions and signed his name to the registration card, he will be given a registration certificate signed by the registrar. This certificate must be in the personal possession of the registrant at all times, General Page cautioned. Failure to possess the certificate, or to show it to authorized persons, constitutes a violation of Selective Service Regulations and is considered prima facie evidence of failure to register, General Page said.

Forming Board To Muster Manpower

WASHINGTON (AP)—A manpower mobilization board authorized to muster all workers necessary for maximum war factory output was reported being formed today, with Paul V. McNutt as the probable head.

The white haired federal security administrator, former governor of Indiana and one-time High Commissioner to the Philippines, was said to have been selected by President Roosevelt over Sidney Hillman, head of the war production board's labor division, and Secretary of Labor Perkins, who have been mentioned for the post.

It was learned that an executive order creating the board was submitted to President Roosevelt a few days ago, but that the President had asked for a new draft to eliminate certain points to which he objected. Government sources said the order would be issued soon, but union labor officials said they thought Mr. Roosevelt would wait until he had consulted again the six-man CIO-AFL committee with which he met last Friday. A second meeting is scheduled for Feb. 20.

SERIAL STORY

KINGS ROW

BY HENRY BELLAMANN

THE STORY: Schoolroom in small town Kings Row brings together orphaned Parris Mitchell, 12 and foreign-looking, who lives with French grandmother; Drake McHugh, 15 and "all boy"; beautiful Cassandra Tower; tomboy Sandy Mounghan. Teacher Sally Venable nurses on sharp social lines that will groove their lives as they grow up.

CHAPTER II

THERE was one individual in that noisy playground crowd who felt something of this social difference, and who thought about it. That was Parris Mitchell.

Parris was, in his own dark way, a thoughtful boy. He was standing a little apart and was dreamily half thinking something of Miss Venable's thought. Inside they were all—well, kind of alike. But outside—here, everything was different.

Two or three girls were standing near, talking with their heads close together. He wondered why they always acted that way—as if they had secrets. Vera Lichinsky was one of them. She caught sight of him.

"You going down to Professor Berdorff's for your music lesson?"

"It's my birthday."

"Oh." She looked slightly mystified. Nothing ever interfered with her violin lessons.

"I've got a new Bach piece."

Vera made it sound important.

"I have a new Bach piece, too."

"Is it hard?"

"Yes. It's in four flats." She turned with an air of serious decision. She did not look back.

"Hello, Parris." Cassandra Tower hung back from the other girls who were walking away, their heads still close together.

"Hello, Cassie."

Cassandra smiled. "I heard you say today's your birthday. How old are you?"

"Twelve."

"I'm going to have a party next Saturday."

"Are you?"

"Yes. I'm going to invite you."

"I'd like to come."

"All right. I'll send you an invitation."

He walked slowly toward the stile which mounted the tall fence surrounding the school grounds. He did not see a little girl who stood outside watching him through the gap in the boards. She was smaller than Parris, and rather poorly dressed in a faded calico dress. She was extremely blond, and an expression of sweetness—half angelic, half sensuous—gave her a somewhat enigmatic charm.

"Hello, Renee."

They proceeded without further speech along the road toward Parris' home. Renee lived on the von Elh place. Her father, Sven Gyllenstein, was the overseer of the nurseries owned by Parris' grandmother. Renee and Parris had played together since they were babies. She was only a few months younger than Parris, but she was a grade behind him in school. Seemingly they took no notice of each other now. When he picked up a rock and threw it, she threw one also with ridiculously similar gestures. If he swung his book strap from one shoulder to the other, she did, too. Apparently she wished nothing but his company. She was always "tagging" along—always had been as long as he could remember.

As they neared home Renee spoke. "I'll be glad when school's out, won't you?"

"Oh, huh."

He opened the wicket gate and stood aside for her to pass through. She waved and turned into a lane that led to the overseer's cottage.

Parris opened the gate and stood aside for Renee to pass through. She waved and turned into a lane that led to the overseer's cottage.

adored him, and he adored her. His grandmother, Marie Arnaut von Elh, was wholly French. Her family came originally from Lorraine. She had been twice married, the second time to a wandering German aristocrat who had come to America to make a fortune. After various enterprises he had bought lands at Kings Row because of some fancied similarity of the soil to that of his native German province. He built a house of foreign fashion, laid out elaborate grounds, and manufactured sufficient wine to drink himself to death.

Marie von Elh was a resourceful woman. She employed French and German labor and turned the vineyards into a nursery.

Kings Row had never known quite what to make of her. She was a "foreigner," but obviously did not fit into the usual categories of what were always derogatorily referred to as "the foreign elements." She had the bearing and manner of an aristocrat, and her sense of humor was of the kind that often made the women of Kings Row uncomfortable.

Parris bore a striking resemblance to her.

"Bon soir, grandmere." He held her very tight and kissed her four times on each smooth cheek. He rubbed his face against her hair.

"Ma belle grandmere!"

"Mon enfant." She held him off and put up her forefinger. "Tu es fatigued?"

"Moi? Non. Pas du tout."

"Are you hungry?"

"Of course."

Madame called, "Anna!"

A short fat maid appeared so quickly that one suspected that she had been waiting at the door.

"Anna, dass Kind hat Hunger!"

The maid smiled broadly. "Was willst du—Milch, Brod—eine Pastete?"

"Was fur Pastete gibt es, Anna?"

"Kirsch—ganz frisch."

After the pie he went directly to his piano practice. The square rosewood piano was old, and the keys were yellow, but it was in good tune. Very slowly, very carefully, counting aloud as he practiced, he attacked the Bach piece "in four flats." He began again at the beginning for the 10th time when his grandmother came to the door.

"What is this that you play?"

"It is an Invention."

"Indeed. Is that something important?"

"Herr Berdorff says so."

"It is extremely ugly. It must be frightful to learn such a thing! Come with me—it is enough of this—invention as you call it—and it is your birthday. I have a present for you."

Parris lay in bed listening to the little sounds of the night. He was very happy. It had been a beautiful evening, and his present—all those books! His "belle, belle grandmere!" He had heard Anna say that Madame was growing old. Old! Some day his grandmother would die—sooner than other boys' mothers who were much younger. Terror seized him. He took the edge of the quilt between his teeth so he wouldn't cry, but it was no use—he was already crying.

No, no, no! Le bon Dieu would never permit that. He remembered once that his grandmother had shrugged her shoulders contemptuously at something Anna said about trusting the good God.

Was it—was it possible that his grandmother knew something she had never told him—that perhaps—perhaps there wasn't a bon Dieu at all, just as he had found out when he was a very little boy that there was no Santa Claus and no real giants?

He turned his face down into the pillow and pulled the covering over his head.

Dorm Ships
 Domec, official Japanese news agency, said the ships were preparing to rescue trapped British forces. Direct hits were scored on 10 ships, Domec said, with two left in flames. London military quarters said outnumbered British defenders held a line Thursday morning from the naval base, in the north, to Pasir Panjang, a village on the south shore, west of Singapore city.

An official communique, however, acknowledged that the Japanese drive from the west had effected "some infiltration."

Tokyo dispatches quoted by the Vichy (French) radio said "all urban territory, including the commercial port, are in Japanese hands."

Imperial Tokyo headquarters did not claim outright capture of the city but asserted Japanese troops had won "complete mastery over the main fortifications of Singapore island" after penetrating deep into British positions.

Refuse To Surrender
 Bloodily and gallantly, the outnumbered defenders of Singapore executed a pledge Jan. 27 by Prime Minister Churchill that the battle "will be fought to the last inch."

A note demanding surrender dropped Wednesday by a Japanese warplane, was ignored by the garrison commander, Lieut. Gen. A. Percival. He acknowledged, however, that his men were being driven slowly back on the western side of the island.

"The enemy's advance has been assisted by tanks and considerable bomber and fighter support," said the communique.

London authorities were preparing for loss of the $400,000,000 Asiatic bastion. Holding off of the invasion army until withdrawal of women and children was completed was apparently one aim of the defense forces.

In Washington congressional leaders said the United States must redouble efforts to get quantities of planes, tanks and guns to the East Indies, Australia and Burma.

Australian warplanes scored a direct hit on a Japanese transport Wednesday in a low-level attack off Gasmata, New Britain, Canberra

New Chromium And Aluminum Sources Found By Science

NEW YORK (P)—New American sources of chromium and aluminum can Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Both are due to American inventive genius in extracting metal by new processes from ores which formerly were worthless.

The chromium method promises 80,000 tons a year of a metal which has been almost entirely imported. Chromium is a hardener for armor plate and is necessary in stainless steel.

The new chromium extraction applies to considerable deposits near Yellowstone Park, in the Stillwater region of Montana. It is described by J. W. Peoples, U. S. Geological Survey; E. S. Newmann, U. S. Bureau of Mines, and Edward Sampson, Princeton University.

The new source of aluminum is alumite, with a promise of adding to the nation's resources a three-year supply of about 3,480,000 tons of aluminum.

The alumite deposits are at Enumclaw, Wash.; Sulphur, Cactus Range and Boyd, Nev.; Beaver and Marysville, Utah; Calico Peak and Democrat Hill, Colo.; and possibly at Quartzite, Ariz.

Conservative Dress, Frivolous Hat Fashion Edict

By Corinne Hardesty
117 State Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP)—Simplicity in frock and frivolity in hats, with a dash of color from our Good Neighbors south, seem to keynote spring fashions, judging by early season shows.

With a defense angle to everything including a permanent wave, two schools of thought about women's fashions have developed.

One side contends that women should be as conservative as possible in clothes, as to material, trimmings and cut. The other school contends that in such a dreary, war-torn world women should dress as gaily as possible and be general cheerer-upper.

Spring fashions should satisfy both groups.

For those who think that femininity will help win the war and lean to the side of "escapist clothes" there are the gay colors from Mexico and South America which have found their way not only into resort and play clothes, but into day-time costumes.

Perennial Blue, White Popular
Bright blue seems to lead, with various shades of light red, planned to lighten up that well-known "basic dress," close seconds. Some designers are fooling around with costumes in khaki color, but they admit it is a hard color for most women to wear and takes a good deal of living up.

Navy blue and white, the everlasting spring combination, will have the added lure this season of suggesting the patriotic. Set off with a dash of red, it makes a smart get-up.

On the fabric front cotton seems slated to win. What with synthetic fabrics being scarce (priorities take their makings) and all the silk we can get going into parachutes, cotton is destined to rule again.

Some designers promise plenty of light-weight woolsens. Others sigh over the convey situation and search for substitutes.

The suit and the suit dress promise not only to hold their present popularity, but to increase it. Suits are ideal as a "basic costume." They inspire an endless variety of blouses and accessories. Many designers predict they will be worn by everybody before the all-out effort is relaxed.

Glamour After Dark
The suit dress, short jacket, or long tunic, has the same advantages. The new spring ones have some frilly touches to help preserve the cherished feminine look in a world of uniforms and work clothes.

For evening wear women are going to make up for whatever severity they introduce in the daytime. The after-dark creations are of the wildest and gaudiest colors, as well as the softest and daintiest. They are slinky and bouffant, frilly and plain, and bear not the slightest resemblance to anything military.

Hats are "pretty, not silly," in the words of one designer whose collection included tiny little things to go over one eye, covered with flowers and veils.

Daytime hats, made to fit firmly on the head, and stay at their proper angle through a day of volunteer war work, will be a joy to women who have always felt insecure in the toy numbers of the past few seasons.

ONE-ROOM SCHOOL BOUGHT
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Educated in a one-room school, Burton H. Belknap, state supervisor of rural education, now owns one. He bought the 90-year-old structure near his home for $75. With the building goes three-eighths of an acre of land.

Angelo-Bulldogs Play Here

Thursday Night Cage Card Bills Top-Flight Games

Midland fans will have a chance to see the best basketball show of the season at the Midland gym Thursday night when the high school Bulldogs engage the San Angelo Bobcats in a 3AA conference game, and the undefeated Sloan Field Officer's team tackles the Crack Midland High Faculty team, crack Midland High Faculty team.

The last meeting of the Bulldogs-Bobcat cagers was in the San Angelo gym, and after leading at different times during the contest, Midland's tiny battling quintet dropped the decision. San Angelo gave the teams of the conference quite a scramble for leadership during the first half of the season, but have been dropped from the running since.

A greater Bulldog club has developed since the last meeting of the teams, so we still pick them to win—even over San Angelo. Two undefeated teams of hardwood artists will play the final game of the card which looms as tops of the season. Sloan Field's Officers, featuring Lieutenants Bill Day and Charles Brown in some fancy basket sinking, will have their hands full when they meet the High School Faculty team which holds two wins over Odessa's faculty.

Sloan Field Man Fights In State G. G. Tournament

Bob Sprouse, the socking Sloan Field heavyweight, is in Ft. Worth to represent the Odessa Golden Gloves district at the state tournament which opens there Wednesday night. Sprouse hasn't seen action in the big show yet this year, but is scheduled to swing leather Thursday or Friday night.

Hailing from Wheeling, West Virginia, Sprouse came through the years from middleweight champion of West Virginia in 1936 to light heavyweight champion in 1937, 1939 and 1940. He was defeated only by the man who won the championship in the 1940 national tournament at Philadelphia.

Sprouse will be in there mixing it with other enlisted men at the state meet, and from what fans of this section have seen of him, they think he will be one of the best.

Zale To Prove Whether Louis Took Anything Out Of Conn

Tony Zale, right, is middleweight champion, but Billy Conn, above, has sizable pull in weights and insists that he's hot.

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—William Conn returns to the big apple at the Garden, Feb. 13, for the first time since a lot of folks suspected he grew a bit careless in the 13th round against Joe Louis last June.

The difference this trip is that in place of conceding a large chunk of weight, Billy Conn is being spotted a dozen pounds or so by Tony Zale.

Conn has agreed to do 175 pounds, which he should make without undue trouble. Zale will come in at about 165. The Pittsburgh Kid towers over the middleweight champion and has a proportionable advantage in reach.

It is a classy 12-round match, which will prove, among other things, whether Louis took anything out of Conn.

If Conn has all of his old flash, he will be the first to be much accounted after a treatment by Louis, and Billy the Kid went farther than most challengers.

Zale could claim Light-Heavy Title As the outstanding heavyweight challenger, Conn risks much prestige in tackling Zale.

All he has to gain is a men purse, which is the answer to the match. This handicap meeting of a boxer and a better will pack the house that Tex built at from $1.15 to $1.50, which spells an $80,000 gross.

With Conn at 175 pounds, Zale easily could claim the lightweight leadership if his hand is raised. Gus Lesnevich only fought himself to a trick while Conn took a whack at the bigger fellows. The fact that the scrap is listed for no more than 12 rounds doesn't mean a thing. Gene Tunney sealed the heights after 10.

Zale Hits Either Way This is no picnic for Conn, and he knows it.

Zale, the former Gary steel-worker, goes down under a punch occasionally, but gets up to stir up plenty of trouble. Zale is one of the most unorthodox workmen you ever laid eyes on. He has a peculiar left uppercut and what used to be considered the bad habit of leading with his right.

But the boy who wrecked Al Hostak and trounced George Abrams packs a poke in either fist and is a body puncher from way back.

Zale has dropped only one decision since he got good, and claims to have been state the night he was edged by Billy Soose.

Though a slow starter himself, Zale gets under way rapidly in comparison with Conn. Both fairly roar down the stretch.

Conn has two easy 10-round tune-

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK (Wide World)—It was a swell gesture of the Boston Bruins to hand the "Kraut" Kids a whole year's pay, but you could expect that club to give its soldiers a good send-off.

Western Adams, the Bruins' president, has just received his commission as Naval Lieut. Art Ross, Jr., the manager's son, teaches advanced flying in the R. C. A. F. and another son, John, soon will be in the U. S. Army. . . . Other big league hockey clubs are doing equally well.

Red Dutton of the Brooklyn Amsks has two sons in England with the RCAF. Conny Smythe dropped out as head man at Toronto to rejoin the Army and his son Safford is in the Canadian Navy. . . . British flying students in the U. S. have given demonstrations of rugby as far west as Miami, Okla., but so far we haven't heard of their trying to popularize soccer, another British favorite which is supposed to be the best "conditioner" of all.

Today's Guest Star
Art Cohn, Oakland (Cal.) Tribune: "Plans are practically complete for the first Pan-American Olympic games at Buenos Aires in November. You may expect an announcement any day now about the Sily Madigan de luxe tour to Argentina—via the Canadian Rockies."

Spring Training
Senator "Jim" Meade, who is vice president of the Buffalo baseball club, has done some checking up with the federal power commission and reports that minor league ball clubs won't have to worry about night games being curtailed unless there is a decided change in conditions. . . . Looking for more 300 hitters and fancier prices for them, the Texas League has adopted a livelier ball this year and at least two Piedmont League clubs have shortened their fences. . . . Homer "Dixie" Howell, who is slated to go to Havana with the Dodgers, has been playing ball there all winter.

Unless Dutch Leonard pitches the opening game for Washington this year, outfielder George Case will be the only Senator holdover from last season's first game. Eight others have been sold, traded or drafted.

Temple Winner In First Bouts Of G. G. Tourney

FORT WORTH (P)—Thursday night's fights in the 1942 Texas Golden Gloves boxing tournament bring 13 more teams into competition for state titles and free trips to the Chicago Gloves warfare.

In Wednesday night's battling Temple district's all-civilian team took a team title lead, even without Dick Menhaca, national champion who could not compete because of illness.

Temple's squad, including several lads from Allen Academy, won seven of eight bouts including one defeat. Abilene, Wichita Falls and Denison scored four victories each and Brownwood and Olney emerged with three. Camp Wolters and Mexia districts took one victory each.

In the only upset of the opening night, heavyweight Darrell Harris of Denison won a stirring decision over Bob Threl of Sheppard Field, who had been rated as a contender for the state crown.

There were eight knockouts on the 25-fight card. Most of the decisions were unanimous, but there was much close scrapping. Bantamweights Loy Billy, a Choctaw Indian from Camp Berkeley and Alfred Flores, Camp Bowie Soldier, pleased the crowd with a rousing contest.

Mitchell Dorsey, Temple lightweight; Eddie Russey, Wichita Falls welter; Tom Atira, Austin and Temple light heavyweight and other favorites were easy winners.

Movie Stars Play Singapore-- Before 7,000 In Dallas Golf Show

DALLAS (P)—Comedian Bob Hope and Singer Bing Crosby, who helped Dallas put on its greatest golfing show, went to Houston Thursday for their second Texas engagement in behalf of the Red Cross.

Seven thousand fans contributed $12,000 Wednesday in watching Hope, Crosby and Johnny Weissmuller, also of the films, join forces with thirteen professionals and amateurs of golf at Brook Hollow Club.

All three of the screen stars played on winning teams although Hope spent most of his time talking to the gallery. He shot an 86, 16 above par. Hope's partner, Johnny Dawson, Chicago, amateur, came in with a 74 to give his team a 1-up margin over pro Lawson Little and Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., women's southern champion. Little had a 76, Miss Suggs and 86.

Weissmuller paired with David Goldman, Dallas amateur, to win over Byrby Nelson, professional, and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas. The film Tarzan had a 78 and Goldman shot a 67. Nelson posted 75 and Mrs. Chandler 80.

Crosby's 74 and a 73 by Howard Creel, Houston amateur, won them a 2 and 1 victory over pro Jimmie Demaret and Mrs. Merryl Israel of New Orleans, Louisiana woman's champion. Demaret posted a 71 and Mrs. Israel an 81.

Ben Hogan, the top money winner among the professionals, matched Goldman's 67 and his partner, Mrs. Aniela Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, had an 87. Jack Munger of Dallas and Jack Tinnin of Houston, both amateurs, registered 75 and 70 respectively. The match was even.

Farm Loans Are Available Here For General Needs

Part-time farmers, farm laborers and every rural family with experience in food raising and land resources can enlist in the Food for Victory production program, Oscar M. Fowler, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration said Thursday.

Financial assistance is immediately available to all eligible families through this agency, according to Fowler, who urges those wishing complete details to contact him at this office in the court house at Midland.

"Every acre and every man is needed to produce the food America must have to win this war," said Fowler. "Rural families with land and farming equipment, regardless of whether they are regular farm owners or operators, can start all-out food production now by using the services and loan assistance of Farm Security Administration."

"Even the family which can't increase production of foods for market can raise a garden and foods for home use," Fowler continued, "and that means there will be more food for defense workers, armed forces and export to the other United Nations."

The FSA supervisor wishes to remind readers of The Midland Reporter-Telegram that loan assistance from the Farm Security Administration is available for the purchase of gardening equipment, seed, feed, cows, heifers, pigs and chickens, and to rent work stock and equipment, repair livestock shelters, fences and machinery, and to meet other needs.

Fowler has been assured that this new Food for Victory program has been streamlined with simplified forms which have been worked out to make these loans quickly available. He said the new loan program for the low-income families not now participating in the FSA program may amount to as much as $500 for each family and extend from one to five years at 5 per cent interest. Present FSA borrowers may get additional loans where needed to help them meet revised operating costs.

Japs Use Supplies MacArthur Sent To Them After Quake

WASHINGTON (P)—Japanese troops are using equipment General MacArthur mercifully ordered sent to Japan after the great earthquake of 1923 to attack his Army on Bataan Peninsula.

"Several of the specially built barges which the Japanese used in attempting landings on the west coast of Bataan have been captured," the Army disclosed in a communication.

"In them were lifesaving and other equipment marked 'United States Army Transport Merrit.' This equipment was part of the relief supplies given to Japan by the United States after the disastrous earthquake.

"In this connection it is interesting to note that these supplies were loaded on the Army transport Merrit in Manila for shipment to Japan under the direction of MacArthur, then commander of the Philippine Scouts Brigade."

Pay For CCC Boys Greatly Increased

J. S. Murchison, executive director of the State Department of Public Welfare, Austin, has just been advised by the directors office in Washington, that the pay schedule for members of the CCC has been changed, as of February 1, 1942.

"For several years the members of the CCC were paid $8.00 cash, sent $15.00 home to their parents and saved $7.00," said Murchison. "Effective this month changes allow the boys to get $12.00 cash, send $10.00 home and save $8.00. This is, of course, in addition to the food, clothing, medical attention, and training all members of the Corps receive."

Murchison observed there is a great need for applicants for the CCC. Texas is being called upon for over 3,000 new men this month and every boy who desires to make application should do so at once, the enrollment will be on February 20. Application should be made to the local office in each county of the State Department of Public Welfare.

"There are 8,000 Texas boys in the Corps now," said Murchison. "This is the smallest number in the nine years of its existence, but we are glad that there is so much employment in Texas that these boys must remain at home. However, the training in National Defense work is being increased in all camps and our boys are leaving camp to take good jobs in civil employment every month—our cooks, bakers, truck and tractor drivers are especially in great demand."

CHICAGO (P)—A telegraph company official picked up his telephone and heard the same question for the tenth time in 24 hours: "Where's this town 'Sans Origine'?" My son is with an American Expeditionary Force and cabled me from there.

Artist Thinks Army Buddies Good Models

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill. (U.P.)—Admirers of Sydney Engelberg's bar-room art down at the Sawdust Trail in New York will be glad to hear that the Brooklyn kid is doing all right in the army.

A soldier's life has not kept him from new successes in the army. A four-part mural composition in Battery C's day room at Fort Sheridan, showing life in the coast artillery during Louisiana maneuvers last summer, gives vivid testimony to Sydney's achievements with the brush and palette.

Highlight of the series is the "Dream Sequence," with road-weary soldiers dreaming away in their olive-drab army trucks, while feminine company appears in "a romantic interpretation of a soldier's longings," as the army describes it.

Other scenes are "Bathers," "Alert" and "Gun Firing." Private Engelberg's battery mates served as subjects.

Twenty-nine years old, Engelberg was eligible for release from the army last fall as over 28. He chose to stay in service to finish his mural.

RATS ARE COSTLY

Ships Will Be Named For American Patriots

PORTLAND, Ore. (U.P.)—The Oregon shipbuilding corporation has received names of eight American patriots from the maritime commission for the naming of future ships.

They are: Stephen A. Douglas, John Jay, Thomas Macdonough, William Dawes, Philip Schuyler, George Clymer, James Wilson (the associate justice of the supreme court under Chief Justice John Jay), and John Hart.

Boys Of Today Will Build Better Planes Of Tomorrow

The nation's model airplane builders of today will be the aviation experts of tomorrow, according to government officials who are showing new interest in encouraging the hobby. Two youths are shown making a scale model with plans sponsored by Air Youth of America, a private group aiding in the work.

By Jack Devlin NEA Service Correspondent

Light Amphibian Plane Inexpensive To Operate

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (U.P.)—Louis F. Beard, garage owner and aviation enthusiast, believes he has invented the answer to a poor aviator's prayer—an amphibian plane which can be operated inexpensively.

The machine carries only 11 gallons of gasoline, has a top speed of 65 miles per hour, and weighs less than 600 pounds.

Beard predicts that the machine will become more popular than the model-T Ford.

In a test flight recently, the mid-gate plane—22 feet long and a wing spread of 36 feet—flew over St. Petersburg, landed in St. Petersburg Bay, taxied to a nearby ramp and without stopping, lowered its wheels and rolled across the field into a hangar.

NEW YORK.—Little Johnnie Jones and his model airplane may yet become a No. 1 cog in plans to put American aviation on top and keep it there.

Experts, after paying no heed for years, have finally come to the realization during the national emergency that the 2,000,000 boys who have been tinkering around with guitars, ordinary models and gas-oline-powered jobs throughout the country present a bustling reservoir of valuable raw material needed for aviation-of-tomorrow.

Already, between 300 and 400 of the older youths are noising down jobs that pay $1200 a year, while they build highly accurate little models needed by Uncle Sam for testing purposes in wind tunnels at an experimental laboratory at Langley field, Va. The boys' ages range from 14 to 25.

Other boys, who have had experience in building airplane models as kids, are pouring into the aircraft manufacturing industry. As opposed to outright greenhorns, their model experience has stood them in good stead.

Some of the boys, upon growing older, have become pilots and mechanics. Airplane mechanics, especially, are greatly in demand.

Government Control Likely While the Federal Government has not yet taken over control of organizations sponsoring model building activity, some observers feel the day is only temporary.

Robert H. Hinckley, Assistant Secretary of Commerce in charge of civil aviation, has been giving the boys and their model-making all the encouragement he can. "When the Civil Aeronautics Authority was first set up," he said in a talk last March, "we discovered some appalling things. Germany at that time had more than a million boys, the 'Hitler Jugend,' in the primary schools building model airplanes. Over 100,000 boys were in gliding and soaring camps. 65,000 were being trained annually as pilots and mechanics, with a minimum of 25,000 being finished and put into service. And this was in the United States doing? Exactly nothing."

Since then CAA has inaugurated regional civilian pilot training centers for college and non-college students to help solve the problem. Needed to aid the program, he said, is more encouragement for the model builders.

That job was taken over two years ago by the Air Youth of America, of which Winthrop Rockefeller is chairman. The program was launched after the late Frank Hawkes, the racing pilot, told Rockefeller of the need for such an organization.

Since then Air Youth of America has developed model building instructors, prepared a wide variety of literature for students, and conducted a campaign to have schools put the Three R's of aviation in the curriculum. Philadelphia and New York are among cities where the courses are being instituted by school officials. Interscholastic tournaments are being held and scholarships are being offered in aviation schools.

Small Dutch Forces Have Prepared A Hornet's Nest For The Japs

Have Rushed Plans To Hold Indies Against Invading Jap Armies

By J. Percival
Special to NEA Service
BANDOENG, Java.—The Japs will have to wrestle with a death-buzzing Dutch hornet nest before they can achieve their goal of plundering and ruling the Netherlands East Indies.

Racing time, the Dutch have turned the islands of the fabulously rich archipelago into an armed fortress and concentrated their efforts especially here on Java, where General Archibald P. Wavell is making his headquarters as supreme commander for the Allies in the Southwest Pacific.

While the invaders may have gained footholds at outlying points, they now face a defense designed to be as effective as a blitzkrieg. Secret airbases have been built in the jungle, out of reach of ground troops, and in positions from which powerful air squadrons can be sent to bomb enemy naval units, troops and supply ships proceeding through straits narrower than in the Mediterranean.

Straits between the islands have been heavily mined and important centers are defended with heavy modern guns, crack soldiers and a civilian populace trained to combat parachute troops. CRACK AMERICAN PLANES ARE READY

The Royal Netherlands Indies Air force, which is at present much stronger than the Royal Australian Air Force, is equipped with American Glenn Martin bombers, other useful bombing types, and Curtiss Hawk Pursuits and Curtiss Interceptors. The Curtiss Interceptors can outspeed and out-maneuver any aircraft which can be brought against Java's industrial centers and cities. Large squadrons of crack

The Dutch have assembled the finest fighting equipment throughout the Indies, including the latest U. S. fighting planes, and the most modern anti-aircraft guns, as illustrated in these photographs. The natives have long been treated with such consideration that they are loyal to the core, and there are no better fighting men. The heads of the Dutch fighting forces escaped from the European battle grounds and have taken up their stations with their men in the Indies, offering the personal leadership of some of the best military men of the world.

new Brewster fighters are being delivered.

The Royal Netherlands Indies Navy has a number of Consolidated P. B. Y. 5 flying boats purchased in the United States to reinforce its Dornter flying boats and seaplanes. The P. B. Y. 5's have an outward patrol range of 2,000 miles.

The Dutch consider the defenses of Java to be impregnable. The sea approaches to Batavia and Sourabaya, for instance are strongly defended. The shores of the harbor of Batavia look like Singapore. Barbed wire entanglements reach out into the sea, and there are many big guns and machine-gun pill boxes.

Elaborate precautions have been taken against parachute troops, and infantry borne in huge air transports. All flat ground has been dug up, is covered with obstructions, or there are barriers, logs, old cars and huge rocks nearby which can be immediately used.

The canals have had poles driven into their bottoms at regular intervals, and any attempt to alight in a flying boat or seaplane would meet with disaster. The airbases are strongly defended with soldiers. Detachments of mobile troops with motor-cycles, tractor machine

There are about 8,000 ARP workers in Batavia, and 50,000 throughout the island of Java. Another 5,000 are working in Sumatra, Lombok, Bali, the Celebes, Halmahera, Borneo and the other islands.

The Netherlands Indies army has grown a great deal since Holland's Minister for Foreign Affairs stated in Paris just after the invasion that it was 100,000 strong. Equipment for this army has poured into Java.

Major General van Oyen, chief of the Netherlands Indies Air Force, told me that there is no shortage of man-power for training. When Holland was invaded it was no longer possible for Dutch youths in the Indies to complete their education in Europe. Many of these youths are now being trained by the Air Force here. Dozens of new Ryan monoplane trainers with Menasco engines are now operating from many training fields.

Although the defenses of the Netherlands Indies have reached a high pitch, the Dutch are not yet fully satisfied. Defenses are still being strengthened as much as possible but the outbreak of war here and the start of invasion attempts make delivery of additional equipment difficult.

However, it is surprising to note the number of anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank rifles, large calibre anti-aircraft machine guns and automatic infantry weapons which the Dutch have already obtained from various sources.

In addition, during the last two years a number of large, strategic airbases have been built in the Netherlands Indies between Darwin, Australia and Singapore. These airbases are designed to be of great value for the quick movement of aircraft between Darwin and Singapore after they have been either shipped or flown across the Pacific.

In anticipation of every bombing assault, warning posts are arranged in circles around Java. They are in the rice fields, near the tops of volcanoes, on mountain ridges, on outlying islands, and some small local also act as "spotters". They are manned night and day.

The return to popularity of that old-fashioned material, lawn, in dresses that are distinctly new-fashion, is foretold by one buyer just home from market. Example of this trend is a simple dress of red ground with contrasting figure. Trimming is, appropriately enough, the lace edging which mother liked when she was a girl.

There's something about voile, lawn, batiste, and similar materials that always wins our vote for a cool and infinitely feminine summer frock. Old-fashioned or new-fashioned, we're for them.

Is our face red? Our lament about nylon hose being obtainable only in light shades was scarcely off the press before we were shown Midland-purchased hose that are dark.

Our mistake! and we're glad to be informed of it for we are glad that the dark hose are available.

About the only advantage we, personally, can see to this go-to-work-in-the-dark war time is that it is easy to find a parking place in the business district, so early in the morning. ("Silver lining to every cloud"—it's an ill wind blows nobody any good—and similar Polly-Annaish expressions, you understand.)

If you're tired unto death of looking at plain old scrambled eggs every day in the week, give them a tasty zest by cooking with peeled green chili peppers. A friend told us of this dish and we've tried it with enjoyment.

Unless you have a cast-from-throat, however, be a wee bit stingy with the peppers. The "Good Neighbor" policy may well be modified a bit when Latin-American seasonings are concerned.

Pin Your Fame On Pinwheels

If you're in a whirl about what to serve that's special-extra, pin your cookery reputation on Pinwheels. The way they look coming hot from the oven is shown above and the tested recipe for making them is given below. They're good as a fancy bread for breakfast, just right for dessert (with sauce or cream), they're glistening and flavorful because of the karo they contain, and can be reheated twice over!

Spicy Pinwheels

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour	1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt	3 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons baking powder	1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon shortening	1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
	1/2 cup dark karo

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on a slightly floured board and knead gently for 30 seconds; roll 1/2-inch thick. Cream together butter, brown sugar and cinnamon. Add karo and beat until well blended. Spread 1/2 of karo mixture over dough and roll as for jelly roll. Cut in 1-inch slices. Spread remaining karo mixture in a greased pan (8" x 8" x 2"). Place rolls in pan cut side down. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 15 mins.; reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 15 mins. longer. Remove from pan at once. Makes 12 pinwheels. If desired, add 1/2 cup chopped nutsmeats to above karo mixture.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

Carl Robertson of Cleveland, an old-time auction bridge player, who well remembered the days before the negative double, when bluff no trump bids made the bidding very difficult for the opponents. He carried his no trump habits into contract, and was so successful that a whole school of players was developed that played the "Cleveland System".

The basic principle of this system was the exact converse of what is preached by most writers on contract today. It was: As an opening bid, prefer one no trump to any other bid.

Naturally this practice landed the bidders in many hazardous three no trump contracts. It was useless to play the Cleveland System unless you were very skillful in the play of the cards, for the players of this school had all been fine auction players.

Robertson was a particularly daring player. I will remember kibitzing him when he sat South in today's hand.

On the opening lead, his ace killed East's jack. There might seem to be no hope but to run the six clubs and two diamonds and hope for a miracle after that. With perfect nonchalance, Robertson returned the three of diamonds.

West was puzzled, and suspecting some kind of trap to drop two honors together, he played low. That let the nine of diamonds win for the needed game trick.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

If they mean what they say American women are a little too ready to give things up "for the duration."

One woman says, "I'm going to give up entertaining." She does not stop to figure out that her decision to cut out all entertaining will not help win the war, unless she unconsistently about devoting the time saved to war work and spending the money saved on defense stamps. She thinks it is enough just to be giving something up.

It would be far more sensible if she would decide to entertain more simply than she has in the past—but to go right on being hospitable until there is some good reason why she can't manage to have her friends in now and then.

Another woman says that she isn't going to give any more presents. It would be a lot more sensible and detract less from the joy of living if she would just try to give useful gifts.

Still another woman decides that she will give up all recreation and devote the time to war work. If she follows through on that she is likely to be fed up with war work much sooner than the woman who reserves a little time for herself.

SACRIFICE FOR A REAL REASON

The sensible woman isn't giving up anything just to be giving something up. She knows that as the war goes on she will have plenty of reason for giving things up. But right now she finds that she can do about what is expected of her in the way of war work without cutting out everything she used to

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Grandpa always sits at the window anyway, so I'm using his whiskers till the curtains come back from the laundry!"

SIDE GLANCES

"You're the prettiest, so when we start our war I'll be the general and you can be the spy!"

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

MANY OF THE DINOSAURS WERE UNABLE TO CHEW THEIR FOOD, AND HAD TO SWALLOW STONES, SO THAT THEIR FOOD MIGHT BE GROUND FINE IN THEIR GIZZARD-LIKE STOMACHS... AS OUR CHICKENS OF TODAY MUST DO! GREAT NUMBERS OF THESE STONES HAVE BEEN FOUND IN WYOMING, NEAR DINOSAUR FOSSILS, AND COLLECTORS CALL THEM GASTROLITHS.

enjoy. She may cut down on her entertaining, but less expensive and more practical gifts, and weed all outside activities that she can give up without regret—but she doesn't just decide impulsively to give up this or that for the sake of making a sacrifice.

She is saving her sacrifices for the time when there is a real reason for them—and when they will do more good than just making her feel self-righteous.

BIG WORLD

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (UP)—The world is pretty big after all in the opinion of Mrs. O. L. Hainey, 59, and Mrs. Myrtle Brown, 58, sisters who met recently for the first time in 39 years although they lived within 50 miles of each other.

Mrs. Hainey said the last time she saw her sister was at the funeral of their father at Lynn, Kas., in September, 1902.

HUNTER HUMILIATED

KENNA, N. M. (UP)—Carrying a powerful, long-range rifle, G. H. Thurman drove 150 miles to the mountains to go deer hunting. His young son and another boy wandered to the outskirts of Kenna carrying small 22-caliber rifles. The boys returned home with two huge deer. Thurman came home empty-handed. He refused to be quoted.

Clothes Rationing Satisfactory

LONDON (UP)—A pool of 20,000 persons in 47 towns and 75 country districts indicates a general satisfaction with clothes rationing regulations. Two-thirds of those questioned held that the 66 coupons allowed for a year were sufficient. The poll showed bachelors used their coupons faster than any other group.

INTENSIFY HOPS CULTIVATION

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP)—New York State is expanding the hops industry to replace the European supply. Testing of new strains has been intensified at the New York agricultural experiment station at Waterville. Last year the average yield was 975 pounds per acre, an increase of 325 pounds over the preceding three years.
