Crippled US Destroyer Safe

Ship Twice Hit By Torpedoes Reported Safe

Pack Of Axis Subs Is Operating In Atlantic; Press Search For Them

ST. LUCIA, British West Indies (P)—The United States destroyer Blakeley reached port here Wednesday night after coming safely through an attack by a wolf pack of Axis submarines which precipitated a naval battle on Monday.

The Blakeley, crippled by a torpedo in a first submarine attack off Martinique Monday, was making the 20-mile run from Fort De France, where she put in Monday, to this island under her own power when the enemy attacked.

The detailed outcome of this battle, other than the Blakeley's escape, has not been disclosed.

Subs Destroyed
It was indicated, however, that one or more German submarines had been destroyed by United States planes, but whether in this encounter or in earlier operations following the first attack on the Blakeley was not made clear.

Naval authorities have been aware that a submarine wolf pack was operating in this area; hence the multiple attack on the Blakeley was no surprise.

This made it impossible to identify any submarine destroyed as the one which made the attack Monday, when a torpedo launched from within French territorial waters off Martinique crippled the destroyer, on regular patrol duty off the French island.

The Blakeley is known to have suffered loss of six men killed and 12 wounded (but the dispatch did not make clear whether in Monday's attack or the second one).

Fullerton Spuds New Test, Stakes Three In Andrews

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor
Fullerton Oil Company of Los Angeles has spudded a new test and staked location for three more in the deep Permian pool which bears its name in Northwestern Andrews County.

The firm spudded Wednesday its No. 5 H. M. Wilson, southeast edge test, and has cemented 13 3/8-inch surface pipe on bottom at 274 feet in red beds. The well is standing while cement sets.

Notices of intention to drill have been filed with the Railroad Commission for the three new tests. Fullerton has designated as its H. M. Wilson "B" lease all of section 20, block A-37, public school land, and has staked No. 1-B Wilson 660 feet out of the northeast corner of that section. It is a south offset to Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-11-37 B. E. Ralph estate, farthest west producer in the pool.

Magnolia No. 2-11-37 Ralph, northwest outcrop, is drilling past 3,100 feet in anhydrite.

All of section 16, block A-32, public school land, has been designated the Wilson "A" lease by Fullerton. No. 1-A Wilson, a short distance southeast of No. 2 Wilson, a pro-

Tom Hurt Dies In Midland Hospital Thursday Morn.

Thomas F. Hurt, 46, prominent business man and a director of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, died Thursday morning after a short illness. He was the proprietor of Tom Hurt's Men's Wear Shop in the First National Bank building.

Hurt became ill with an ear ailment about ten days ago and was removed to the hospital late Wednesday.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter, Miss Mary Virginia Hurt of Chapel Hill, Tenn., and a son, Jack Hurt, a student at Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

Hurt, a native of Tennessee, attended the University of the South in Sewanee. For a number of years he was in business in Tennessee before he became a traveling representative of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company's footwear division.

In 1939 he moved to Midland and opened the men's shop here. He resided at 811-A West Texas street.

Hurt took an active interest in civic affairs of Midland and several months ago was elected a director of the chamber of commerce. He was a member of the Rotary Club, Methodist Church, the Masonic Lodge and of the Shrine.

Funeral services will be held at 5:30 p. m. Thursday at the First Methodist Church. The body will be forwarded to Chapel Hill, Tenn., for interment. The Ellis Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Ickes Battling For Pipe Line

WASHINGTON (P)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes has asked the War Production Board again for priorities on steel to build the world's largest pipeline from Texas to New York, as a means of relieving the petroleum emergency in the East.

Disclosing this at a press conference, Ickes reiterated that so far as gasoline conservation was concerned, there was "no need, nor is it advisable" to make gasoline rationing nationwide, but added that this might be necessary to save rubber.

He has not abandoned hope for the pipeline. Ickes said, and he expected to appear personally before W.P.B. in behalf of the project.

"I'm going to wind myself up and make a southpaw speech," he declared.

WPB Chief Donald Nelson said recently that the country could have this pipeline only if it was able to sacrifice production of ships and tanks. Priorities for the project have been rejected twice, by the old Supply Priorities Allocation Board and the WPB.

The line would deliver 350,000 barrels daily to Eastern states, it has been estimated.

It has been estimated, one cheerful note to the Seaboard's motor fuel outlook, reporting that the railroads last week set a record for Eastward oil movement, using 50,000 rail tank cars to deliver 706,800 barrels daily to the 17 Eastern states and the District of Columbia.

Brazilian Plane Sinks Nazi Sub

RIO DE JANEIRO (P)—A high Brazilian source said Thursday that one of the Axis submarines recently destroyed off the Brazilian coast was attacked and sunk by a Brazilian plane piloted by a Brazilian crew.

It was said that two North American fliers, Lieut. Harry Schwane and Sergeant J. G. Yates, first sighted and attacked the submarine off the northeast coast on the afternoon of May 23, at the same time calling for assistance from land-based Brazilian air force planes.

The Brazilian planes, arriving shortly, joined the attack and one of them sank the raider, the Brazilian informant said.

Brazil is not at war with Germany and Italy although she has broken diplomatic relations with the Axis.

Men, Material Prepared To Invade Europe

Germans Claim Major Victory Over Russia; Battle Details Hazy

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor

Lieut.-Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, Assistant U. S. Army Chief of Staff, declared in London Thursday that the United States stands ready to supply "men and material on a large scale to a European battle-front," even as Adolf Hitler's field headquarters claimed victory in the critical battle south of Kharkov.

Gen. Somervell's statement, coinciding with a rising British clamor for direct action against Germany, said the United States was able to send men and supplies despite the shipping shortage and large commitments to Australia and India.

Russia has frequently urged Britain and the United States to open a second front against Hitler's armies this summer.

While the bloody battle of Kharkov swirled toward a climax, British desert armies struggled against a furious new Axis offensive in North Africa, a drive aimed at Egypt and the green valley of the Nile.

Egypt Fighting
British headquarters said tank-led Axis thrusts had been repulsed on both flanks of the Libyan battle scene, but an RAF communiqué acknowledged that Axis mechanized forces had advanced within 15 miles of the main British stronghold at Tobruk.

The RAF said British fliers bombed the enemy throughout Wednesday in the El Adem and Bir Hacheim areas.

El Adem is 15 miles south of Tobruk; Bir Hacheim 50 miles southeast.

On the Soviet front, the Russians reported that the Germans were staging "psychological attacks" in which the Nazis charged Red Army lines, firing wildly and shouting at the top of their lungs. In one such attack, 1,000 "psychologists" were left dead on the field.

Bankers Elect Doty As State President

SAN ANTONIO (P)—P. R. Doty, president of the First National Bank of Beaumont, was elected president, and Fort Worth was selected as the 1943 convention city of the Texas Bankers Association at the 38th annual convention of the association closed here Thursday.

Tom Sealy, club president, named Clint Lackey program chairman and appointed to his committee Percy Mims and Fred Wemple.

James N. Allison, Robert Hamilton and Ily Pratt were named members of a committee to draft a resolution on the death of Tom Hurt.

Pratt in a brief address praised Hurt's activities in Rotary.

Excessive Salary, Bonus Inquiry To Uncover Sensational Developments

WASHINGTON (P)—The Treasury, it was learned Thursday, will lay before a private meeting of Congressional leaders Thursday night evidence of excessive corporate salaries and bonuses, extravagant promotion expenditures, and other devices used to evade war taxes.

At the same time, the Treasury delegation, to be headed by Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and Assistant Secretary John L. Sullivan, is expected to discuss with the Congress means of punishing evasion cases or holding down salaries through drastic enforcement of some old, little-used statutes.

The Congressional group will be the members of the joint House and Senate Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Said Important
Since details were guarded, the nature of the Treasury's data could only be judged from the fact that they were to be presented by Morgenthau in person at an undisclosed nocturnal meeting place. One informed source, when asked if the material was "sensational," replied: "I don't think people will lay down their papers before they have read every word of it."

This also implied that the findings might be made public after the meeting.

Murray Ousted From United Miners Head

WASHINGTON (P)—John L. Lewis Thursday ousted Philip Murray, president of the CIO, from his $18,000 a year job as vice president of the United Mine Workers.

Lewis, president of the miners, declared the vice presidency vacant and was upheld by the UMW executive board by a vote of 17 to 1.

Lewis then named John O'Leary, Pittsburgh, to Murray's place.

Addison Wadley Addresses Rotarians

The early day business life of Midland was described, and compared with modern methods of merchandising by Addison Wadley in an address at the Rotary Club's meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Schreiber.

Wadley who has been in business here more than 45 years asserted he found the success of business depends on 5 per cent inspiration and 95 per cent perspiration. He recalled the business institutions here in the early history of Midland and displayed photographs of the business district.

Discussing his activities, Wadley told of his first work with a grocery, how he later was in the confectionery and ice cream business, and then how he entered the dry goods business. The history of Wadley's department store was related to the Rotarians.

In discussing his retirement from the store, Wadley said business now is "more of a bookkeeping than a merchandising problem."

Paul Barron in a brief address praised the principles of Wadley's which he said aided in making Midland the trade center of this large area.

Tom Sealy, club president, named Clint Lackey program chairman and appointed to his committee Percy Mims and Fred Wemple.

James N. Allison, Robert Hamilton and Ily Pratt were named members of a committee to draft a resolution on the death of Tom Hurt.

Pratt in a brief address praised Hurt's activities in Rotary.

Curtail Water Use Until Repair Main

Midland citizens were asked Thursday to curtail use of water until a break in the 16-inch main between the city and Cloverdale is repaired.

The trouble was described as a "pressure-break," and city employees hoped to have it repaired within a few hours.

Treasury Against Sales Tax Plans

WASHINGTON (P)—Treasury experts laid down a hammering barrage against sales tax sentiment Thursday as the House Ways and Means Committee sought to make up a $2,000,000,000 deficit it has piled up against the administration's revised $8,900,000,000 tax goal.

Despite the prospective shortage, department statisticians remained adamant against any form of a sales tax, primarily on the theory it would bring disproportionate hardships to the low-income families.

The Treasury staff launched its direct attack on either a manufacturer's or retail sales levy at an extraordinary meeting of the committee Wednesday night with statements by Randolph Paul, Secretary Morgenthau's tax adviser, and James W. Martin, University of Kentucky economist now a Treasury consultant.

Having tentatively disposed of new corporation and individual income tax proposals, the committee has run squarely into the alternatives of accepting Treasury recommendations for increasing excise taxes by more than $1,000,000,000 or adopting some form of sales tax.

Details of the Treasury presentation were not immediately available, but Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the committee told newspapermen that Paul had said that a tremendous increase in Treasury personnel would be required for administration of a retail sales tax.

He said the committee probably would discuss first the Treasury's excise program but he added that it was "absolutely certain that a sales tax is going to be considered by the committee."

Spence Jowell Is Laid To Rest

Spence Jowell, pioneer cattleman, was buried in Midland Thursday afternoon, following services held at the family home. Rev. W. C. Hinds of Amarillo, and Rev. Carl Clemens of Midland, officiated at the services.

Friends were in attendance from all sections of West Texas and New Mexico, and several relatives from other cities were here, in addition to the immediate members of his family, all of whom were here.

Jowell died early Wednesday morning following a long illness. Arrangements for the services were made by the Ellis Funeral Home.

President Calls On Nation To Avenge Axis Aggression

Congress Cheers As President Asks Redress For Attacks Suffered By Mexican Citizens From Axis Powers

By The Associated Press
MEXICO CITY—President Manuel Avila Camacho called upon an emergency session of Congress Thursday to declare Mexico at war with the Axis—the first declaration of war in her history—and place the nation immediately upon a fighting footing.

In a Chamber of Deputies alternately gravely silent, then ringing with the tumultuous cheers of "Viva Mexico," the President pledged all the resources of the nation to "collaborate energetically in saving America."

His appeal to the Congress and by radio to the nation declared that Mexican neutrality had been violated wantonly by the torpedoing two weeks ago of the Mexican ships Patrotero Del Llano and Faja De Oro.

An ovation of several minutes interrupted Avila Camacho when he said this "disloyal, sneaking and cowardly attack" had decided his government to "accept valiantly the realities" of the world situation and ask for a declaration of war against Germany, Italy and Japan.

The attitude of Congress was revealed quickly by Emilio Gutierrez Roldan, President of the Chamber of Deputies and presiding officer of the joint session of the two Houses.

"We shall give all the support necessary to our government regardless of sacrifices and privations to make safe the honor of our fatherland," he declared in response to the President.

New Standard Of Living

What all this rationing, this conservation, this price-fixing, this increased taxation, this enforced saving and this effort to control inflation amounts to is simply that the federal government is taking over the management of our standard of living for the duration.

In peace times this would be known as socialism or communism. In Europe it would be known as life under a dictatorship. The short and ugly name for it under a democracy is war.

If you are accustomed to worrying about your standard of living the way you worry about your hips or waistline, your falling hair, teeth and arches or your hardening arteries, you should decide whether you like it or not. If you discover that you can take a government standard of living all right you'll be that much more content.

The responsibility of your government in managing your standard of living, rationing your goods and writing your tax bills, are primarily three:

1. The supply of civilian goods available for distribution among the people must be equitably apportioned. There must be no more of this X cards for congressmen stuff.
2. Price ceiling must be rigidly enforced. If bootlegging and black marketing of scarce supplies are permitted to start, not only inflation will develop, but chaos as well.
3. Every income group must be equitably taxed and assessed for savings. There can be no class exemptions.

What this full responsibility amounts to, according to some of the government economists who are planning for the management of your wartime standard of living, is that the average family in the next 12 months must be prepared to set aside some 40 per cent of its income for taxes and savings. That is an unprecedented amount. Before the war, any suggestion that the American people could set aside 40 cents out of every dollar would have been considered preposterous.

The way this works out for the average person now is something like this:

With total national income for the coming year estimated at $117 billion, to be divided among about 130 million people, that makes the gross per capita income around $900 a year. Put 40 per cent of that—$360—in savings and taxes, and it leaves $540 a year for the per capita spending money which will be left for the necessities on this government-managed standard of living.

Bear in mind that these are average figures. Some people will be considerably above those averages. A lot more people will be way below them. Also bear in mind that these are averages per person, man, woman or child. To fit them to a family, multiply those per capita figures by the number of people in your family. For an average family of three—mama, papa and the baby—it would work out as an income of $2700 a year, with $1080 of it going into savings and taxes and $1620 of it left for the family to squander.

Merchandising Today And Yesterday

The part played by retail merchandising in our national life has changed tremendously.

The merchant's job used to be relatively simple. He worked to reduce his overhead expense, to lower his prices, to improve his service and to otherwise contribute to a steadily rising standard of living for all the people. Merchandising was a competitive enterprise, and each store, bid for business on the basis of merit.

Today merchandising still works to better service and cut costs. But, on top of that, it must grapple with a long list of problems which were unknown a year or two ago. Prices have been frozen. Priorities have denuded the civilian market of goods which once were almost as common as air. And the list of shortages and scarcities grows ever longer.

Luckily for the public, merchandising hasn't simply thrown its hands in the air and given up. Instead, it has regarded each new problem as a new opportunity for public service and acted accordingly. Merchandising groups are working with manufacturers in developing suitable substitutes for metals and other scarce commodities, and very great progress is being made. In the food field, merchants are effectively backing the national nutrition program, which is designed to show housewives how to purchase and prepare meals which will give the family needed vitamins at reasonable cost. In all fields, merchants are taking every practical step to help the people adjust themselves to total-war conditions.

Retail merchandising was among the first industries to set aggressively to work to meet new and unprecedented problems. It is doing a big and vital job for us all.

Peace Looms In University Row

GALVESTON (P)—Prolonged discussion at the University of Texas Medical Branch will be straightened out without the use of strong-arm methods, in the opinion of university regents inquiring into the school's affairs.

Entering the seventh day of virtual morning to midnight sessions, the board continued hearing witnesses, largely school staff members, on both sides of a controversy in which Dean John W. Spies and a number of faculty members are aligned on opposite sides.

The regents, at a press conference Wednesday, declared their investigation was being conducted along democratic lines and asserted the disagreements would be acted upon in a similar manner.

They added it would be "pre-judging" the case if they expressed any opinion on whether court action was contemplated by any of the principals involved and reiterated they would not estimate when they would conclude the inquiry or take action.

Tire Conservation Suggestions Made

AUSTIN (P)—Texas' tire conservation program would be substituted for gasoline rationing at a rubber saving measure under a resolution by the Texas Safety Association.

In a meeting of its administrative committee, the association congressional delegation to give the tire conservation plan a chance to prove its effectiveness.

The Texas plan seeks voluntary compliance in tire conservation through share-the-rides, reduced speeds of 40 miles on highways and 30 in cities, more efficient use of mass transportation, staggered hours of work and elimination of non-essential driving.

Texas Farmers Far Ahead Cash Income

AUSTIN (P)—If farms had cash registers they would ring a merry tune in Texas.

Continuing its upward trend, cash income to Texas farmers hit $49,199,000 in April, 60 per cent more than in April of last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Thursday.

Sales of cattle which yielded $20,526,000 compared with $11,978,000 in April a year ago accounted for most of the gain.

Cash income for the first third of the year reached $160,379,000, nearly 70 per cent above the $94,968,000 reported in the first third of 1941.

The United States paid Spain $20,000,000 for the Philippines.

The Panama Canal was opened for navigation in August, 1914.

Mrs. H. H. Watson, 1701 W. Holway, was hostess for the bridge-luncheon.

A profusion of roses, pansies and jasmine made the party rooms festive.

After the luncheon, bridge and needlepoint were recreation for the group.

For the barbecue, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Girdley were hosts to five couples at their home, 1900 W. Missouri.

The barbecued lamb, prepared by Mr. Girdley, was served with accompaniments in the yard of the Girdley home.

Women Flock To Recruit Station

By The Associated Press
The Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, which is going to take 400 officers from over the whole nation, could get that many in Texas and still be particular.

Five hundred applied at Houston Wednesday, the first day application blanks were available. Twenty-two women were waiting when the office opened, and there was a line in front of the desk all day.

Two hundred put in their bids at Dallas. The office was jammed in the morning, and business was brisk all day. Among the applicants were housewives, teachers, models, clerks, stenographers, factory workers, a cafe owner, soda girls, car-hops and debutantes.

Many applicants said they had sons in the armed services.

A hundred applied at Fort Worth and 50 more telephoned, only to learn that blanks had not been received.

Three hundred filled out questionnaires at the San Antonio office. Women who are not selected as officers will have an opportunity later to serve as privates in the W.A.C.

Midland Observes Folger Coffee Week

Midland grocers and R. L. Smith, Folger Coffee Company representative, are sponsoring a Folger Coffee Week here from May 28 to June 6.

The grocers will feature Folger's Coffee this week as a special item. Banners and display prices have been placed in stores so Midland housewives will be thoroughly reminded of the event.

Smith and the grocers are very optimistic about the possibilities of Folger Coffee Week, for this event has proved to be a general trade stimulator wherever it has been tried.

Smith said: "I feel sure that the enthusiasm and effort centering around Folger's coffee week will draw shoppers into Midland from surrounding districts, judging by results of Folger Coffee Week in other towns."

Folger's coffee has been well-known for some time, but Smith explains Folger sales are still growing steadily. He attributes this increasing popularity to four factors: "Uniformity of Folger flavor at all times, extra-rich mountain grown coffees used in the blend, a distinctive flavor that is very appealing to all lovers of good coffee, and the extreme care taken by the Folger Company in every operation from the buying of the green coffee to packing and selling."

The Houston, Texas, plant provides the Folger's Coffee in this community. However, Folger has two other factories, one in San Francisco, California and another in Kansas City, Mo. Out of these factories goes Folger's coffee to a vast number of housewives, fourteen great railroads, four airlines, the China clipper and outstanding eating establishments.

Housewives may play their part in Folger Coffee Week by dropping in to trade with their grocer sometime during the week, and buying a tin of Folger's Coffee.

Japs Suffer Big Plane Losses In Pacific War Zone

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia (AP)—At least 200 Japanese aircraft have been officially reported shot down destroyed on the ground or damaged by Allied planes in this theater in the six weeks since General MacArthur took command, a review of 41 communiques issued from his headquarters disclosed Thursday.

Wednesday, headquarters said, Allied interceptors tore into a squadron of 15 Japanese Zeros which intercepted the strike air-drome at Port Moresby, New Guinea, shooting down one and damaging six. One Allied plane was lost.

The Japanese returned to the attack again Wednesday night, "but without effect," the communique said.

Allied personnel losses, meanwhile, were reduced when the seven-man crew of an Allied bomber arrived safely at an Allied operational base after a 45-day trek through the swampy wilds of New Guinea. With them came an American fighter pilot who had been missing for 26 days.

Seeking To Stop Gas Rationing In South, Southwest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional action to block nationwide gasoline rationing was projected Thursday as Senator Connally (D-Texas) called colleagues from oil producing states together to organize for a fight against the proposal.

While Connally the group would predict what course the country would take, Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said he and others might seek to attach to pending legislation a rider specifically prohibiting the expanding of gasoline rationing orders beyond the 17 Eastern states now affected.

Inclusion of the rationing area has been considered a measure to conserve rubber and a Secretary of the Interior Ickes indicated in a letter to Senator George (D-Ga.) that a definite decision already had been made on the question.

"President Roosevelt has announced that gasoline rationing soon will be extended to all parts of the country," Ickes wrote George in explaining why Georgia could not be excluded from the presently-rationed area.

"President Roosevelt said at his press conference Tuesday that measures would have to be taken to conserve rubber, but did not specify what method would be used."

"This decision was not made because of a shortage in petroleum supplies," Ickes' letter continued, "but because of the necessity to conserve tires. The initial curtailment, due to deficiencies in means of transportation for petroleum products, had been applied only to the regions formerly served by tankers no longer available."

"Whatever the reason for the proposed gasoline rationing, Connally said it was going to be difficult to explain to the people of states where storage tanks are brimming why they could not have all the fuel they wanted."

Thomas said he was not convinced that any appreciable saving in tires could be effected.

"If people put their cars up in garages, the cars are going to deteriorate and the tires are going to rot," Thomas declared. "They need those cars to carry on the business and with plenty of gasoline on hand, there is no reason why they should not be driving them."

Worldwide Pool Resources Under Way For Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A gigantic pooling of economic resources on a worldwide scale, first for the winning of the war and later for the winning of the peace, is indicated in a lease-lend agreement consummated or in process of negotiation between the United States and more than a score of Anti-Axis countries.

The broad principles of lease-lend assistance and cooperation in the achievement of victory and establishment of a healthy world economy after the war were laid down in the agreement signed last February by Great Britain and the United States.

The draft proposal for a similar agreement with Soviet Russia was handed to Ambassador Maxim Litvinov by Secretary of State Hull and Wednesday the draft of a proposed lease-lend pact with China was transmitted by Chungking through Foreign Minister T. V. Soong, who is in Washington.

In discussing the proposals offered Russia and China, Secretary Hull told his press conference that the provisions generally were the same as those already entered into with Britain.

The 132,000,000 people of the United States have buckled down to the jobs of producing and shipping weapons of war for belligerent Allies aggregating more than 1,000,000,000 in population. In addition, defense materials are flowing to 16 American Republics with which the United States has signed lease-lend agreements.

The railroads carry more than 90 percent of all U. S. mail.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

THE ENEMY STRIKES

CHAPTER XV

TALCOTT accepted the print and as he scanned it his bewilderment grew. The print was a copy of a creased and rather smudgy original. It was the head-and-shoulders likeness of a man in uniform, a Ulan officer of the first World War. His head was closely shaved or bald. Under a bulging forehead his eyes held the fixed, glassy stare of unquestioned authority. His chin was short and square, his lips thin and cruel. He didn't look like Struthers; he didn't look like any Talcott could remember ever having seen.

"That's a photograph of Baron Gerhardt von Stampf," the slow, musical voice said. "A brilliant and unscrupulous agent. He speaks five languages as fluently and effortlessly as if each was his mother tongue. He was operating in Brazil until the recent shakeup there. We have reason to believe that he may be in the Islands."

"It certainly isn't Struthers," Talcott said.

"I don't like to think what a Nazi agent could do if firmly established nearby. We'll check on him thoroughly. And now," the cloudiness left his gray eyes as he turned to MacDowell, "you claim to be employed by the Standard Detective Agency, that your name is Patrick MacDowell and you are a resident of New York. You have your license?"

MacDowell was taken completely aback. He didn't recall having made any claims to this disconcerting individual; didn't remember that he had even opened his mouth. He fumbled through pockets and produced a card with photo attached, a motor vehicle permit and a few letters.

"These look all right. I want to know where you met Halsey and Struthers and what evidence you had as to their authenticity."

"This man! How the devil did he know about Halsey when his name I hadn't mentioned? Why, I met Halsey in Struthers' office. It was Struthers called the boss and asked for me. I worked with him before."

"Struthers was known to you?"

"Absolutely."
 "And Halsey?"
 "Halsey took me to Federal Chemical's offices. Right straight in to th' president's private secretary."

"And the secretary instructed you to arrest Talcott if the auditor requested it?"

"That's th' idea."
 "You didn't talk to anyone else at Federal Chemical?"

"No."

"The man at the desk frowned. 'Talcott notified the Company he was leaving; your call came from the auditor, not the company. A man whom you had just met in the auditor's office took you to the secretary. Have you any evidence that Halsey is actually an employe of Federal Chemical?'"

MacDowell gasped. "Huh? What more would you expect? He took me right in!"

"Anybody can go right in if they've got clearance," the gray-eyed man smiled faintly. He turned to Talcott. "Did you know Halsey before?"

"Only through letters."
 "Which could have been sent without the knowledge of the President. This may be a conspiracy to defraud the Company—or—" He paused, searched through his drawer again, found a blue sheet. He said, "You operate a distillation plant for the production of nitric acid. How much oil does it consume?"

"About a barrel a day."
 "How much stock do you ordinarily carry?"

"Two months' supply."
 "Any idea why Struthers would order five hundred barrels to be shipped immediately?"

"Talcott lifted his eyebrows. 'Five hundred barrels! Not unless he was after priorities would shut off his supply.'"

"The man at the desk shut himself behind his eyes. One, two, three minutes passed in which his fingers drummed restlessly. Then, sighing, he said, 'We'll watch it. And I suggest that you watch yourself. It may be only two possible answers to the auditor's question. I'm rather hoping for the sake of all of us, that he's trying to take the Company for a ride. Good luck, Bill.'"

"HOWD that guy know about me?" MacDowell demanded when they again faced Emancipation Park. "What did he ask all them questions for? How'd he know about Halsey? Nobody said nothing to him about Halsey, not

"unless you got to him while I was asleep. And who is he anyway?" Talcott grinned. "I'm beginning to understand why Struthers picked you for this job."

"Huh? And what's how much oil you use got to do with all this, I'd like to know!"

"If I knew all the answers I wouldn't be going back with you." MacDowell lapsed to muttering. "It sure was mysterious. Walk up an alley and climb a flight of stairs and there, in a little room 600 miles from home, was a guy who knew all about you. Who knew all about Halsey before his name was even mentioned. A guy who asked dumb questions about how many barrels of oil it took to run a still. A guy who talked about international intrigue, as if anybody would want to get control of a stinking, desolate hunk of rock like Abas Island."

Suddenly a look of positive brilliance burst from MacDowell's face. "Hey! That guy!" he gasped. "That guy is a—"

But Talcott was yards away, striding toward the waterfront. Briskly heading for a crowd gathered on the quay, a group of natives and tourists and shopkeepers and sailors. The crowd was growing in volume. People were running to it across the small Park; running men brushed past MacDowell.

"Down there a woman screamed; the crowd bulged and parted momentarily and MacDowell saw a uniformed officer pushing them back from the launch that belonged to Federal Chemical Company's Plant Number Six. Another uniformed officer was in the launch, bending down. Well, maybe the cops could tell him something. Maybe they could tell him about the guy in the room that knew so much."

He had to run to keep up to Talcott. When they reached the crowd he saw that the people in it were scared. They were staring at the launch and the bent-down officer, jostling each other in their effort to see.

Beneath its tan, Talcott's face was white as milk. "What's wrong here?" he demanded so sharply that the officer looked up.

"This officer booked?" the officer demanded.

"I'm in charge of it."
 "Then you're the gentleman over to the Fort."

The officer stood up, and MacDowell, crowding close, saw Sebastian. Stretched out in the bottom, he was, his bandaged arm covering his face. Beneath the blade of his left shoulder was a glistening dark stain from which a knife-handle protruded.

Axis Attacking In Tobruk Area

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The armored battle initiated by a deep Axis thrust at the left flank of the British line in the Libyan Desert continues, British headquarters said.

A British communique said the battle raged over a wide section of the Libyan Desert. Tank-led Axis forces first attacked the British left flank in tow main columns "which were heavily engaged by our armored forces northeast of Bir El Hachem," the communique said, adding that detailed results of the action were not yet known.

Axis armored forces then struck "on the Bir El Hachem defenses," 50 miles southwest of Tobruk, where they were "repulsed with loss," the communique said.

Motion Picture, Oil Executives Vie For High Income Brackets Past Year

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Louis B. Mayer, the 57-year-old Russian-born movie executive who began his career as a Massachusetts theater operator, topped the field of America's highest paid executives again last year with an income of $704,426.50 as managing director of production for Loew's, Inc.

Trailing far behind Mayer, who received $7,373 more than in 1940 and whose 1941 remuneration included $548,425.60 as either bonus or share in profits, were a host of other motion picture executives, actors and actresses, industrialists and businessmen, a survey of annual reports filed with the securities and change commission showed Thursday.

Clark Gable Up
Clark Gable, motion picture star, received $357,500 from Loew's for second place, and Nicholas M. Schenck was paid $334,204.54 as president and director of Loew's.

Many of the annual reports, however, have been held up by the SEC for possible censorship purposes. Included in this group are Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who was second in 1940 with $478,144, and other top ranking steel masters whose firms are engaged in war production.

The figures do not represent the largest incomes in the United States since many persons who serve with small salaries or no salaries have big returns from investments. Many Over $25,000

Scores of the remunerations were well over the $25,000 which President Roosevelt told Congress last month ought to represent a limit on individual net incomes for the duration of the war.

Changing Jobs Now Forbidden In War Plants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of essential workers are forbidden to change jobs in war industries under government orders being drawn up Thursday to stop "pirating" of skilled men by rival manufacturers.

Orders being prepared by the War Manpower Commission for immediate issuance make the United States employment service the "sole hiring agency for critical skills in critical areas." The effect will be to prevent workers from changing from one plant to another without approval of the government agencies.

A spokesman for the Manpower Commission said labor "pirating" through offers of higher pay had become so widespread, especially in the aircraft industry, that it interfered with war production.

SAN JUAN, P. R. (UP)—Puerto Rico pineapple growers are deluged with orders for all the fruit they can produce. The Pineapple Growers' Association estimates that in 1942 fruit production will exceed 500,000 crates, about 60,000 more than last year.

Doolittle Raid Was Only Small 'Sample' Of Raids To Come

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—For the discomfort of the enemy—Berlin, Rome, Tokyo—Maj. Gen. Robert Olds asserted the personnel of the Doolittle mission which bombed Japan was "just an advance sample" of what all the thousands of bomber crews being developed in the United States will be able to do.

"Units graduating from the Second Air Force," he said, "General Olds never refers to bomber work as of pilots, or gunners or individuals, but as units and teams). "will be trained in their routine procedure so that any given entire squadron can be given a mission to bomb Tokyo, Berlin or Rome, and do just as good a job as the advance group of selected volunteers under General Doolittle did."

General Olds, who took command of the Second Air Force only 12 days ago, has completed detailed inspection of the world's most far-flung advanced bomber training organization and made his statements in an interview regarding the inspection.

Two other points were stressed: 1. Trained pilots and crews will be ready to handle all the bombers it is possible to produce. 2. It takes time to build an air force, and there is no substitute.

"The long range bombers coming off the American assembly lines now are built with the precision of a watch. As we expect, and demand, that they be handled with the same precision, in every respect," he said.

Joke On Josh, But Can't Josh Josh

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The name of but one Josh Lee will appear on the ballot for the Oklahoma primary election and it will be that of the incumbent United States Senator.

The state election board erased the name of the other Josh Lee, a 48-year-old farmer who had filed as a rival to the Senator for the Democratic nomination. Senator Lee challenged farmer Lee's candidacy on the ground that it was meant to divert votes from himself and that it impaired the integrity of the ballot.

An Oklahoma law permits the election board to eliminate any filing for office which it finds to be "frivolous, fraudulent or not in good faith."

Tiny Bonham Cops Seventh Game For Yankees To Set Chance For 30 Wins

Brooklyn Dodgers Win Over Braves As Wyatt Out Hurls Jim Tobin
By Judson Bailey
Associated Press Sports Writer

The most coveted pitching goal in the major leagues is 30 victories in a season.

The feat hasn't been accomplished since Dizzy Dean and his great season for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934 and it hasn't been done in the American League since 1931 when Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove won 31 for the Philadelphia Athletics.

After Bob Feller traded his baseball togs for a Navy uniform last winter there didn't seem to be a pitcher with a remote possibility of gaining the pinnacle this season.

Yet, Ernie (Tiny) Bonham, big right-handed ace of the New York Yankees, apparently has found the right trail and his chances look about as good as Feller's ever did. Bonham bagged his seventh straight victory Wednesday, 8-3, from the Philadelphia Athletics. The crowd at Yankee Stadium, where he hadn't been scored upon all season, was hoping he would get his fifth shutout. He missed this, but he pitched an expert seven-hit game without allowing a walk.

He may not win 30 games, because there are only 24 weeks in a season and he may not get to work often enough. But with a team like the World Champions behind him he is not likely to lose many and at present he is right on the beam — approximately one-fourth the victories in approximately one-fourth the season.

The Boston Red Sox came out of a slump to overpower the Washington Senators, 10-1, in a night game. Oscar Judd limited the Nationals to six hits. Rookie John Pesky collected three of Boston's 13 hits and scored twice.

Chicago's usually weak-hitting White Sox collected 17 hits at Cleveland, but had plenty of trouble taming the Indians, 9-7. Three of the Tribe's ten hits were homers and it remained for relief pitcher Joe Haynes to win his own game by singling across two runs in the eighth inning.

The St. Louis Browns backed up Johnny Nigelling with extra-base hitting to beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-2. Walt Judnich led the attack with a homer, a double and a single.

The Brooklyn Dodgers increased their National League lead to six games by belting the Boston Braves 4-1, with a three-run ninth inning rally that settled a hurling duel between Whit Wyatt and Jim Tobin.

Bucky Walters pitched seven-hit ball as the Cincinnati Reds conquered the Chicago Cubs, 10-1, with a 13-hit offensive that included a grand slam home run by Gerald Walker to climax a seven-run spree in the fourth inning.

The surging St. Louis Cardinals moved into second place slightly ahead of Boston by routing the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, and Bob Carpenter pitched the New York Giants, to a 6-2 decision over the Phils in a night game at Philadelphia.

Sports Slants

By Shorty Shelburne

When racing fans meet for conversation about coming races or past races, there is one horse that stands out over all the rest. Whirlaway is the horse—and what a horse. He won the Kentucky Derby in 1941, setting a record which is far better than any in the history of the "Race of the Roses." Whirlaway won the Dixie Handicap this year, his only major victory. And now he is about to enter his second major race of the 1942 season—the Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park late this week.

Warren Wright, Jr., owner of Whirlaway and a host of other top flight race horses, is what might be classed as a West Texan. Wright has more than a million dollars invested in oil royalty in Crane County, one of the best of the Permian Basin oil areas. So, fans, that brings the top race horse of current times just about home to us.

Warren Wright, Jr., owner of the first place horse in the Suburban Handicap, says "Whirlaway is the horse, and Attention, our top source of race slants. It will be Whirlaway in front, Attention second, and Market Wise third."

"Whirlaway is a cinch for first, but I pick Market Wise for second, and Attention third," says Dad Gardner, our handicapper from Maryland.

"Whirlaway, Attention, and Market Wise look like the best three to me," predicts our new expert, Raymond Ayles. "There you have 'em, race fans. Predictions from experts who are at the 100 per cent mark in predictions for 'name races' this season."

Random Sports Story
Les Fleming, the Cleveland Indian swatter, has hopes that his 10-year-old kid brother will follow in his footsteps.

Harold Fleming, another brother of the Cleveland player and an Air Corps student at Nashville, said: "Our kid brother, Darnell, plays ball with Les every day at Beaufort, Texas, during the off season. Les wants him to be a ball player, too."

Harold predicted that brother Les would lead the American League in hitting this season. "It has been done before, and it can be done again. Younger brothers have made great ball players. . . look at Joe DiMaggio. He is a younger brother, and one of the greatest ball players of all time."

The Show Is On
The annual Texas-Oklahoma football game, a feature of the Texas State Fair in past years, will be played next fall despite cancellation of the exposition.

Ed Ollie, business manager of Longhorn athletics, said the contract for the game at Dallas does not expire until 1948, and that "we feel the game attracts fair visitors rather than vice versa."

Klutz Is No Klump
Casey Stengel of the Boston Braves speaking: "Do you remember Elmer Klump? He was a catcher I had in Brooklyn. He has gone, but now I've got a Clyde Klutz. I don't know which name is funnier, but this Klutz is a real good catching prospect. We drafted him from the Cardinals' Sacramento farm for $7,500 and it wasn't so long ago that Branch Rickey was willing to buy him for $30,000."

A guy with a "handle" like Klump of Klutz is bound to be a good catcher—at least as far as I am concerned.

Had It, But It Got Away
The First National Bank footballers had it, but it got away in the game with Piggly Wiggly Tuesday night. The Bankers led 2 to 0 at the start of the second inning, but the Safeway team landed, and like a troop of Uncle Sam's crack Marines, "had the situation well in hand" in short order. Twelve fatal runs were scored against the Bankers in that lone second inning. It was a tough break, boys, but you'll meet 'em again.

Hogan-Laffoon Take Second Round Notice In PGA Golf Tourney
ATLANTIC CITY (P)—The outstanding match in the second round of the Professional Golfers Association championship at the sprawling Sea View Club Thursday appeared to be the one between Ben Hogan and Ky Laffoon, each of whom has been a seven-day wonder among the country's big golf winners in recent years.

Either that or the match between Craig Wood, the National Open Champion, and Leland Gibson of Kansas City, little known in big-money circles but who has been shooting more than anybody's share of golf here.

Byron Nelson, the favorite, reached the second round without exertion. His trick stomach was troubling him and he wasn't quite satisfied with his game, yet the quiet spoken Texan still was so far superior to most of his rivals that he spent a good part of the last two days experimenting with his various shots.

Sammy Byrd, former big league outfielder, carried about the unanimous support of the gallery into Wednesday's feature match against Sam Snead. But in the end it was Snead, Buetaomfyvbf cc7g(P) Snead, the crack money player, who beat Byrd down in the afternoon and smashed him finally by a lopsided margin of 7 to 6.

Sports World Contributing Millions Of Dollars To Army And Navy Relief

The sports world is definitely doing its part in the War program. Thousands of dollars have been contributed to Army and Navy Relief funds from boxing, baseball, racing, and other events.

Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis has contributed all of his purse from his last two fights to these Relief Funds, and baseball games for the same cause are being played.

New York tracks alone will contribute more than $1,000,000 to the Army and Navy Relief. Race tracks of the United States have set their goal at $2,000,000.

"When the sports world speaks, it says something," says a noted sports writer in summing it all up.

The sports world is saying it with dollars, too. Following is an example of what is being contributed:

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK.—When, in connection with war relief, the Turf Committee set $2,000,000 as racing's minimum, much was said and written about promises.

"We'd like something tangible," shouted the critics.

All right, here it is. Saturday, June 6, will be Army-Navy Day at Belmont Park. The entire receipts, over and above the cost of purses, will be contributed to war relief.

Jamaica, with its spring meeting concluded, will match the sum of Belmont Park's donation.

Aqueduct probably will turn over the day of the Brooklyn Handicap.

The Butler family, which controls Empire City, and Arlington Park Chicago, will go to bat July 4, which is a terrific racing day.

Day selected for Belmont Park's contribution is marked by the 74th running of the famous Belmont Stakes, final and most coveted of the Triple Crown events for 3-year-olds.

The 30th running of the National Stallion Stakes will also be run that afternoon, six other events completing the card. A special Army-Navy Handicap for older horses will supplement the renewals.

Ordinarily, Belmont Park would attract a jam, particularly with Al-sab, the people's horse and one of the most remarkable of all time, starting. With the added patriotic significance now given the occasion, this should be the greatest race day in American history.

On the basis of track profit on the same day last year, when 30,914 bet $1,482,161, the earnings this trip should certainly appropriate in excess of $100,000. This year is running considerably ahead of last.

A crowd of 30,521 wagered $1,934,483 at Belmont on Saturday, May 23.

Army-Navy Day should give racing its first $2,000,000 mutual handle. Winning owners will donate generous proportions of their rewards. Allied and accessory interests will contribute. Employees may work free, gratis and for nothing if they can afford any care to do so.

Belmont and Jamaica will start New York off with at least $250,000.

New York will have contributed $500,000 before the ponies move to Saratoga in August, if they go to the Spa at all. An equal amount will be raised in the fall. Thus New York alone will give more than $1,000,000 from track profits. The nation can't miss exceeding $2,000,000 with considerable to spare.

Chicago's Lincoln Fields just kicked in with $50,000, swelling racing's contribution to date to $277,000.

Not a few trainers are giving $100 every time they bring in a winner.

When the sports world speaks, it says something.

The circuit had a tough time lining up six sumps to work for $150 a month and expenses and apparently the wolves are afraid to get too tough or those six will head for the Army or Defense fields. . . Horsemen at Belmont complain that they have to pay $38 a ton for the stuff they feed their nags—who said that ain't hay?

Phil Fans Give Lober Ideas For Lifting Club

PHILADELPHIA (P)—The Phils can get out of the National League cellar, says one of Hans Lober's grandstand coaches, by playing ball like bridge — "leading with their aces."

Since the 60-year-old Lober became manager of the downtrodden Phils this season he has been bombarded with letters, postcards and nightly telephone calls.

"They've been calling up at all hours of the night," said Hans. "One of them came up with a new wrinkle."

"He asked me if I ever played bridge and went on to say that in bridge you lead with your aces, so why didn't I lead my aces. That is, lead off with my best hitter, Danny Litwiler, and so on down the line."

"I thanked him for the idea. But, say, in bridge you don't always lead your aces, do you?"

Now, after four months in uniform at Jefferson Barracks and Lowry Field, Bob has put on 27 pounds without gulping a single banana. . . Checking over the list of Texans who recently were decorated for bravery in action in the Pacific war zone, Amos Menton of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram learned that ten of the bombers of Tokyo were former college and high school athletes and three other ex-footballers had received awards for valor.

Texas Loop Goes On Big Home Run Spree Wednesday

By The Associated Press

Home runs featured Texas League play Wednesday night as Dallas won from Oklahoma City 6 to 5, Fort Worth downed Tulsa 8 to 5, San Antonio beat Beaumont 9 to 1 and Houston edged Shreveport, 9 to 6.

Ed Kazak, Houston second baseman, was the ace home run hitter—or maybe the deuce. He slammed two balls out of the Sports park and sent five runs across the dish.

It was Charley Metro's homer in the third that prevented Al Lam-acchia from getting a shutout in the San Antonio-Beaumont game.

Merv Connors' two-run homer in the first inning gave the Dallas Rebels a lead which they kept throughout the game.

Bubba Floyd had three singles and a double in four trips; Sig Grynska, Indian shortstop, had a triple and two singles in five times up.

Ed Greer went the distance for Fort Worth, allowing nine hits. Meanwhile, the Cats hammered two Tulsa pitchers for 13 blows. Glenn Gardner, who started, yielded four runs in the third and was relieved by Frank Marino.

New American Woman Will Emerge From World War

Bing Crosby Honors Bombardiers Here

Midland Army Flying School will be listening in at 8 p. m. Thursday night when Bing Crosby and his program salute the world's largest bombardier college.

In barracks, dayrooms, reading rooms, and half-a-hundred other places the personnel of MAFS will have its ears to the radio from the opening Bombardier song to the close of the program.

To Corporal Robert Mayhew, of the MAFS band, the program will mean much. Mayhew, formerly of Paul Whiteman's band when Bing Crosby was in it, probably is the main reason the bombardier school gets the salute.

It is Mayhew's idea. He likes the school here and told Bing so, even asking his friend to do a bit for the bombardiers.

Jack Mayhew, a brother, who is a musician with the Trotter orchestra on the program, will play a solo for the MAFS and brother Robert.

Crosby's friend Mayhew here is one of the trumpeters of the "Hell from Heaven Swingsters," post dance band. He played in what likely was the greatest Whiteman band of 36 musicians including Crosby, Henry Busse, and Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey.

Cowboys Ride Herd On Army Supply Depot

PUEBLO, Colo. (U.P.) — Western cowboys are riding herd on something far more valuable than steers these days on the plains near Pueblo.

They are serving as mounted guards at the huge army ordnance depot near here and Maj. Harold Horpe of Kansas City, who at 29 is the youngest ordnance depot commander in the nation, says they are far more satisfactory than automobile patrolmen.

Besides their greater maneuverability, the cowboy guards can patrol the miles of arroyo-etched prairie without using precious tires or gasoline.

The Pueblo cowboy guards, officials say, are the first ever used to guard a modern war plant.

The bronzed guards wear old-fashioned six-shooters strapped to their hips and carry lassos on their saddles. They say they are ready for anything—but so far they have not run up against anything tougher than prairie rattlesnakes. They shoot them just for practice.

*May Revolutionize Public Service, As Performs War Work

By Marguerite Young
NEA Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—There is, or there will be, a new woman in the life of most American towns—pretty important women, too, Dr. Mary Shattuck Fisher of Vassar College believes. The educator thinks this woman, who is the volunteer war worker turned into a new type of public service doer, will number 4,000,000 to 5,000,000, throughout the country, before the war ends.

She will be to community welfare what the practical nurse is to the care of sick people, Dr. Fisher says, and she's likely to make a permanent change in her town's life.

Dr. Fisher is going to train several hundred volunteers herself, this summer, at the Summer Institute for Family and Child Care Services in Wartime, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. A practical approach will infuse the training—Dr. Fisher has four daughters of her own, aged nine to 20. She is a quick, blonde woman with the unphotographic complexion which comes from highly mobile features and fine shifting color.

MUST COORDINATE WORKERS, VOLUNTEERS

"Strangest paradox of the war," Dr. Fisher told me, when she came down to lecture the other day, "is this: everywhere the professional teachers, public health nurses, recreation specialists, pushing themselves beyond endurance, and everywhere other people, particularly women, desperately wanted to help but unprepared. The answer is obvious. Train both types to work together."

The town and the whole country surrounding Vassar are typical war-boomed industrial and farming territory. They have all the typical headaches too. Day nurseries, hospitals, clinics, work camps, factories, recreation centers, and defense councils are hard put to help children and adults, in a quickly expanded and war-pressured population, over the bumps of war-disrupted family life.

Their Mothers have war jobs . . . the nation's new volunteer war workers will see that they are not neglected.

"But any community can lick this situation if it gets things organized so as to bring together the paid professional and the volunteer who needs only to be trained to work professionally," Dr. Fisher went on.

"She is getting into something entirely different from pre-war 'welfare' work. This is no matter of the social register, 'busy-work,' the inevitable struggles for prestige, and the feeling always cropping up that people who receive help are somehow inferior."

"This new volunteer" call her the "professional volunteer" because she will be trained—must do a strictly businesslike job. More, she has to be prepared to work efficiently even beyond conventional business hours, because wartime family needs just don't squeeze into the nine-to-five pattern.

"The whole community will have to back up this volunteer. She and the paid professional together will have to get facts quickly and accurately."

"How many pre-school children are there in our neighborhood, or our town, to be looked after while the mother works? At what hours? Where are they? What's to do for the most-overworked women? How to teach who, and what, about nutrition?"

"Those used to be personal matters. They still are. But now they're public problems also. And nobody is better equipped to solve them than the private homemaker or housewife, once she learns some professional attitudes and the technique of respecting the privacy and observing the dignity of the family."

INSTITUTE PLANNING SUMMER PROGRAM

The Vassar Institute, from the end of June to August, will be a

*"Send Off" Programs For Selectees Should Be after Induction

Parades and other patriotic "send off" demonstrations by the neighbors of men inducted into the Army through Selective Service can now be planned with certainty because of the new induction procedure arranged by the War Department and the Selective Service System, General J. Wait Page, state director of Selective Service announced.

The new procedure, which becomes operative in Texas July 10, assures a two-week furlough, at Government expense, for ever selectee who is accepted by the Army, General Page pointed out, and sets a date for each group to report back to its Selective Service local board headquarters for transportation to an Army Reception Center. This date, General Page emphasized, is the one for which local demonstrations should be planned. He said:

"Since all of the men assembling at the local board office after a furlough period have been accepted for military service and ordered to active duty, none will be faced with the embarrassment of returning home as rejected following such ceremonies. The local communities also can make their plans for these 'going away' demonstrations with definite knowledge that the men are going into active service, which was not possible under the former procedure when group departments of selectees were for the purpose of induction depending upon passing the Army physical examination."

working demonstration of how to do these things. About 500 men and women, some professionals and some volunteers, will work with and in the existing public and private agencies.

Adults will learn general principles of community organization from a long list of high-powered officials concerned with civilian lecturers, including government protection and morale. Each adult will do intensive work in some particular community service—nursing, child care, adult recreation, nutrition.

"This new volunteer, has quite a job to do," Dr. Fisher remarked, "and if its done right it should lift the whole level of community life. And, that achieved, I doubt very much that we'll go back to pre-war ways afterward."

How to get a town going, similarly, without benefit of a Vassar Institute? Dr. Fisher said, lightly, enrollment hasn't closed yet at her college. "And anybody who cannot come can write and ask us about it—we enjoy telling."

paired off in eight groups, each team playing 32 boards against its opponents. At the end of the match, the team with the minus score was eliminated. Knockout rounds continued for several days.

In today's hand a little psychological play was made that helped win points for the declarer's side. On the opening lead West had to play the seven of clubs. The normal play now would be for the declarer to take the heart finesse toward West to save the spade king from being led through if the finesse should lose. But declarer realized that if the finesse failed, a club would be returned and won by East, and it would be obvious that North had plenty of clubs. East then would shift to a spade. So declarer planned to let East in first, instead of West.

On the opening club lead he faked with the six-spot, and led the eight of hearts and let it ride. East took his queen, and remembering that encouraging seven of clubs, he continued with a club. Now the declarer actually won 10 tricks in the play of the hand.

Furniture Men Turn Machines To War Work

WASHINGTON (UP)—The furniture industry — America's second largest producer of consumers' durable goods—is converting rapidly to production of varied war items, including wooden airplanes and gliders.

The industry normally turns out furniture valued at about $1,000,000,000 annually. It currently holds war contracts valued at more than $500,000,000, and the War Production Board expects this figure to be stepped up considerably.

At least three wood-working plants already are producing airplane parts from plywood, and eventually at least 12 additional firms are expected to go into this production.

A major part of the industry is expected to start turning out wooden planes, which tests have shown are ideal for training purposes.

Fuel Shortage Causes Switch To Electricity

MASON CITY, Wash. (UP)—War forced many persons to adopt less modern means of heating, but in Mason City, near Grand Coulee dam, the citizens got a real break.

The town is to be completely electrified including electric heating for homes, to conserve fuel oil and other heating supplies.

Engineers decided to switch the dam-construction town to an all-electric basis to utilize the output of the 10,000 kilowatt generators which could not be tied in with major distributing lines.

In addition to conserving fuel oil during a time of scarcity, the changeover will bring the government an annual credit of $15,000, this to come from savings in heating public structures and from residence heating revenue.
